AROUND HOME.

The schooner Celia has given up fishing for the present.

Mr. George J. Fernald is building a floating stage for a boat-landing, to be supported by air tanks.

Work was commenced on the steamer Appledore, Monday, getting her ready for the summer business.

Steamer Naumkeag has been undergoing repairs at South Newmarket. On her return she will tow two vessels down from that place.

Persons buying lobsters of dealers on the street can get them in good condition from Mr. Wm. Quinn, who has them boiled fresh every morning.

Some of the sea-going men around Spring hill were much exercised at the flag over the seamen's Bethel rooms on Sunday, it having been hoisted upside down, and at half-mast. It was fixed all right in the evening.

Frank Miller's Weekly is dead; it could not long outlive its founder; and there never was but one Frank Miller. He was the only printer we ever met who would insist upon it that a printer was just as good as anybody, and that nobody had a right to appropriate his time and services without paying for it.—Granite State Free Press.

The schooner "A. B. Higgins," forty-five tons register, well found, and specially suitable for fishing, is to be sold by auction at noon to-day at Commercial wharf, Boston. Particulars can be learned of Mr. R. B. Beaumont, at No. 67 Daniel street, Portsmouth agent of the South Shore S. S. Co.

The schooner Ceres, already reported as run into off Cape Cod on the night of the 1st inst., on her trip from Hoboken to this port, was going at eight knots an hour when she was struck by the schooner Ellen Baxter, a much larger vessel, the captain of which next day settled for the damage done.

Fishing schooner Z. S. Wallingford, of Gloucester, in attempting to go to sea from Newburyport on Sunday drifted ashore near Salisbury beach point. The captain of the life-saving station succeeded in mustering two of his crew (the captains only of the life-saving stations are on duty after April 30th) and proffered assistance, which was declined; but on the flood tide the wind came out from the eastward and the sea got up, and the skipper was very glad to have aid, which was rendered by the life-saving men, and a gang on the beach under direction of two Newburyport pilots. She was kedged off after considerable hard work, and ran up the river to Black Rocks creek, where she was beached, half full of water. Only about a week before she was ashore at the same place where she was so nearly wrecked on Sunday.

Capt. George W. Towle of Newcastle, accompanied by his wife, started on the 16th of December last on a visit to their son, Capt. G. Frank Towle, of the 19th Reg't U. S. Infantry, whose company is stationed at the Quapaw reservation in the Indian territory; they arrived home about a week ago, having greatly enjoyed their winter's sojourn in the far west, and visited the most remarkable points in that wonderful part of our country within a circuit of hundreds of miles. Capt. Towle's health has been much improved by his trip, and he looks younger than he did five years ago, though his beard has bleached out considerably within a year past; he is enthusiastic over the possibilities of the west, and the advantages it offers to energetic young men, and says if he were twenty-five years younger than he is he would "up stakes" and travel toward the sunset to make a home, in brief order.

In another column will be found the advertisement of Maggie Mitchell's appearance at Music hall as Fanchon.

Mr. Edward N. Russell will occupy the cottage on the Dow farm, near Wallis' sands, during the summer months.

Mr. John S. Perry has returned from his trip west, much improved in health, and pleased with his jaunt and the places he visited.

The Boston & Maine railroad laid a section of the double track, which is to extend the length of the road, at Newmarket junction last week.

We are informed that on Sunday before last, at the evening service in the Unitarian church, two devout worshippers (of the male persuasion) were seen carefully scrutinizing the choir through opera glasses. Whether or no they applauded at the right points during the singing and preaching, we forgot to enquire.

The Land League meeting at Franklin opera hall this evening, will be interesting to those who attend. P. J. Flatley, Esq., of Boston, who will deliver an address on the land question of Ireland, is said to be an excellent speaker. The National band of Dover will furnish music. All are invited, and the presence of ladies is especially desired.

Schooner Hattie N. Reed came in below on Monday noon with about three thousand pounds of young halibut, averaging some seventy pounds each. One thousand pounds were sold to dealers in this city, and the remainder were slivered and salted on board the vessel. They were of the white variety, caught off Cashe's ledge, and said to be of excellent quality.

The new boiler lately put on board the steamer Clara Batemen is of larger capacity that the one formerly in use, and is allowed to carry ninety pounds of steam. Capt. Rand states that on the trip from Boston to this port he could not discover that the boiler leaked any, and competent judges say it is as good a boiler as was ever turned out by the Atlantic Works.

Mr. Amos Pillsbury, formerly master mechanic on the Hartford, Providence & Fishkill railroad, has received the appointment of superintendent of rolling stock on the Eastern railroad. Mr. Geo. H. Nutter, late night telegraph operator at the Western Union telegraph office in this city, and also in charge of the weather signals, left for Chelsea, Mass., Monday morning, to accept a position in the Eastern railroad company's telegraph office there.

On Saturday, as Mr. Thomas J. Morrison was delivering goods on South street from a wagon, the transom-bolt came out, letting the shafts down against the heels of the horse, which immediately organized a runaway expedition, and banged the wagon up against a post in front of the Nelson house so vigorously as to threw Mr. Morrison over his (the horse's) head. The horse turned down Salter street, but not liking the looks of the salt water at its end stopped in season to avoid a bath. Mr. Morrison was not hurt; the horse had one hind leg badly cut, and both shafts of the wagon were broken.

MATRIMONIAL.

Quite a pleasant and interesting affair occurred at the residence of Mr. Martin Hoyt of this city on Wednesday evening of last week, when and where a large company of the nearest relatives of Mr. Charles W. Walker and Miss Emma L. Hayes (including the families of Messrs. Chas. W. Stimson and Dan'l. B. Hayes of this city,) assembled to witness their marriage. At eight o'clock the bride and groom appeared to their assembled friends, and stood before Rev. Mr. McGinley, of the North Parish church, who in a very appropriate and pleasing manner performed the marriage ceremony. Then followed the usual congratulations and wishes for the happiness of the newly-wedded pair; and an enjoyable musical entertainment by members of the family was next in order, prominent among the performers being Martin Parry Tobey of Eliot, Maine, and Misses Jeannette E. Hoyt and Fannie P. Hoyt of Newington. On Thursday forenoon at eleven o'clock Mr. Walker and his wife took the train en route for Philadelphia, stopping over at Salem, and taking dinner with Mr. Harry Shapleigh. Mrs. Stimpson of this city, Mrs. Parsons of Portland, Me., Mr. C. D. Hayes of Boston and Miss Mary A. Walker of Manchester, N. H., accompanied the bridal party.

Mr. Walker is the son of the late Chas. W. Walker of this city, and is one of the comparatively few Portsmouth boys who have continued to follow the sea after having once set out, in modern days. He has been several voyages in deep-water packet ships, and for the last four years has been in the steamship Indiana, one of the American Line of steamers plying between Philadelphia and Liverpool. Capt. Sargent, of Kittery, is in command of the Indiana, and Mr. Walker is the second officer; he is highly esteemed by the company and especially by his commander, who predicts further success for him in the near future. Mrs. Walker is the daughter of Mr. Daniel B. Hayes of this city, and a graduate of the Portsmouth high school, of the class of '74; she has been a successful teacher in some of our city schools, and also in some of the surburban towns.

On Monday forenoon of this week Mr. W. H. Dickinson, a well known stock broker of New York city, was married to Miss Sadie F. Butler, daughter of Mr. Jerome C. Butler of this city. The ceremony took place on the navy yard, at the residence of Major George Butler, U. S. M. C., commanding the marine guard at this yard, and was performed by Rev. W. A. McGinley. The bridal pair held a reception at the residence of the bride's father on Middle street in the afternoon, and took an early train to Boston, on their way to Washington.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

[Dist. of New Hampshire: Lowell J.]

MONDAY, May 9th.

The May term of this court commenced in this city on Monday. The docket was called in the forenoon.

Brooks K. Wheeler, Esq., of Hillsboro' Bridge, was admitted to practice as an attorney.

Wilbur vs. Abbot: question as to costs allowed the defendant. The defendant claimed a greater sum than had been allowed by the clerk. The court sustained the decision of the clerk, holding that there was no statute allowing costs for briefs and printing, as claimed by the defendant, but disallowed by the clerk in revising the taxation. Chas. R. Morrison for pliff.; S. C. Eastman for deft.

Inge vs. Hodgdon was continued on motion of defendant's counsel, by reason of defendant's sickness. Chase for pliff.; Pike and Parsons for deft.

John W. Wheeler vs. Liverpool, London & Globe Ins. Co.; action entered at this term, removed by the defendants from the state court of Rockingham county. The defendant moved to remand the action to the state court, on the ground that the state court had refused to remove the case and that the motion for such removal was not seasonably made in that court by the defendant. Decision reserved. Marston for pliff.; S. C. Eastman for deft.

Court adjourned to Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, May 9; Batchelder J.

Fernando Manson, for an assault on Frank Muchmore, was fined $1, costs $5.76, which he paid.

Theodore B. Ragusky—the last time he was before the court he was Napoleon Bonaparte something—a peripatetic bummer, was up under the "vag" law; sentence, four months at the county farm; costs $10.24.

Franklin C. Hoyt, up for drunkenness, had his case continued to May 10th.

Hannah Sweeney, for violation of the Sunday ordinance, (selling liquor to Franklin C. Hoyt,) was fined $10, costs $5.76. Paid.

FREEMAN G. BEAL.

Freeman G. Beal died at his residence in this city on Monday. Mr. Beal was a native of Portsmouth and a graduate of the high school, where he had the reputation of being a fair scholar. After leaving school he entered the counting room of James P. Bartlett, Esq., with whom he continued for some years. Afterward he became book-keeper and clerk at the shipyard of Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew on Badger's island, with which firm he was somewhat connected in business at the time of the decease of Mr. Fernald, and the consequent cessation of the business of that firm; after which he was appointed clerk of the Union Ship Building Co. at Noble's island, remaining until the closing up of their business. During the war he served as paymaster's clerk in the navy, performing his duties satisfactorily. For some years during the democratic administrations in this city he was elected clerk of the common council. In his earlier days he was quite a prominent Odd Fellow, and was connected with other societies. He was always affable and gentlemanly in his manners, and agreeable generally to those with whom he was brought in contact. His age was about fifty two years.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

We publish the following for the information of those easy-going souls who with sublime simplicity ask "What is the need of societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals? will not the owners of horses, oxen, cows and sheep take good care of their own property?" Assuming that there can be but an affirmative answer to their "self-evident proposition," the trusting beings close their eyes and tightly shut their purses, in the blissful consciousness that they have saved the dollar which it would cost them annually to be members of the anti-cruelty society.

Asst. Marshal Franklin Cole, as a special agent of the N. H. S. P. C. A., was last week sent to prosecute some offenders in the town of Danbury. At one place he found five horses, six sheep and sixteen head of horned cattle with the winter's accumulation of manure piled four feet high in their stalls; consequently the poor creatures were kept in a condition too disgusting and painful for particular description. The barn was in the last stages of dilapidation, and so opened to the weather that it afforded no protecture to the suffering creatures who were confined within, exposed to the fury of the elements during the cold winter just passed. Add to the miseries thus endured the tortures of hunger, thirst, and in several instances the sufferings incident to reproduction amid such horrors, and the picture is one which might have been imagined by Dante or Dore. (A neighbor bought and sent for one of his cows, which was found covered with a snow-bank, in which her young calf was found frozen to death.) Mr. Cole found only thirty pounds of hay in the barn. The trees, shrubs and bushes along the roadside and in the pastures attested conclusively to the straits the poor cattle were reduced to from starvation; every leaf, twig and small branch that they could reach in their hunger had been eaten to appease the importunate demands of nature. Every branch less than an inch in diameter had been devoured, wherever they could range in search of food. As might be supposed, the owner and master spirit of this brute pandemonium is a coarse, brutal individual who is looked upon with terror and apprehension by the peaceable farmers in the neighborhood. The fellow's wife attempted to intimidate Mr. Cole, and dissuade him from prosecuting her husband, by assuring the officer that her worser half was "a hard boy to handle," etc.; those who are acquainted with the quiet but efficient assistant marshal will have no difficulty in guessing exactly how much effect such warnings had on his nerves and conduct.

Another case almost as bad was investigated in Alexandria. A yoke of oxen were used to hold back a two-yoke team in going down steep, rough hills; they were attached to the back of the loaded sled, and the yoke was drawn forward against their heads and throats in their efforts to prevent the too rapid descent of the load, so forcibly that it had entirely worn away the ears of the oxen, and chafed through their horns so that the piths were exposed to friction in actual contact with the yoke, and were inflamed and dripping with blood. Their bodies and legs were torn and lacerated, and their dewclaws were torn off. They frequently fell in the road, from pain and exhaustion.

Mr. Cole promptly procured the necessary warrants for the arrest and trial of the inhuman perpetrators of these barbarities, and if impartial justice is dispensed in Grafton county the jail will soon receive two more tenants.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Trochers" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have stood a world-wide reputation, and are the staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. m,th & f oct1an82

Naval Affairs.

The Army and Navy Register of May 7th says: "Captain James J. Kane, U. S. N., attached to the receiving ship Franklin, will assist at a public reading in Norfolk, May 11th. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the purchase of an organ for the Franklin."

Paymaster C. F. Guild has reported his arrival home from the U. S. S. Alaska, and is settling his accounts.

Political.

One by one the "radical lies" of the past are being vindicated. When the Ku-Klux outrages were unfolded in republican newspapers, the whole democratic party, north and south, denounced the horrible statements as "radical lies." A few years later the members of the Ku-Klux confessed their crimes, and it was seen that the only defect in the "radical lies" was that they did not paint the picture black enough. After the Ku-Klux came the ballot-box stuffers with their hands full of tissue ballots. When the republican newspapers exposed this crime the same democratic chorus was heard again shouting "radical lies!" Now Wade Hampton confesses that the "lies" were simple truth, and the leading democratic journals of the south cry amen to him. Let the penitential work go on.—N. Y. Tribune.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

Mary Anderson flatly denies the story that her step-father, who is also manager of her property, has defrauded her.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

The members of DeBeauplan's French opera company were left destitute by the elopement of the tenor, Tournie, with the soprano, Madame Ambre, and a subscription has been started to get funds to send them home to France.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

John Nelligan rowed over the falls at Holyoke, Mass., Sunday, and was drowned. Supposed to be a case of suicide.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken, they were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie P——, Rockport.

A six-days foot-race commenced in New York on Monday, the entries being John Hughes, John Sullivan, George Hazael, Ephraim Clow, E. Gilbert, Daniel Burns, George Barbour, Henry Wakefield and Philip Mignault. To be entitled to a share in the gate money the pedestrian must cover 500 miles. John Ennis is the manager of the affair.

"Wait a Little Longer."

So we are told sometimes. Things will come out all right, people say, if we wait awhile. That don't do with disease. The longer you wait the worse it is. It's no use to plant corn in November. Do you "feel a little bad?" Strike the trouble right away. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is what you want. It will at once relieve the bowels, stimulate the liver and cool your skin. Take one dollar in your hand and stop at your druggist's, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

John Davidson, baggage master of the depot at Newton Centre, Mass., was arrested on Saturday for larceny of goods from the baggage room. On searching his house, stolen articles to the value of $150 were found.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,83

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock. The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other. The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the product of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities. Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities. Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one. The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $105,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent. Glimpses of Southern life.

CENTREVILLE, TENN., May 7th.

The two principal churches in this place are the Methodist and Christian, or Campbellite. The Christian church has many followers in this section of the country, and its members hold to one another and to their church with Freemason-like tenacity. As is probably known, they allow any of its members to preach, and have no regularly-ordained preachers. While they have for many of their preachers men of common education, still some of them are as educated as any minister in any denomination. Here they have no fixed Sundays for the regular preachers, though they have services of some kind on every Sunday. Whenever a regular preacher comes, what are called "protracted meetings" are held, preaching in the morning and night, usually lasting a week and sometimes two weeks. Their main points of belief are repentance and baptism, and upon these two subjects are founded all their law and gospel. They accept the Old Testament as a historical work, and the New Testament as their spiritual guide. When a person desires to live a new life and professes repentance, he is asked if he believes in Jesus Christ, his work, mission, etc. The next day he is carried to the river or some deep creek and is baptized—not sprinkled, but immersed. No baptism is saving with this denomination except that of immersion. According to their idea Hell is the abiding place of those who are not baptized by immersion. A minister recently held a protracted meeting in this neighborhood. He is quite a famous man of the denomination, and is looked upon in this state and in Kentucky as their leading light. He is called the "Blind Preacher," but is better known as Brother J. F. Smithson. He was in the confederate army during the war, and while in hospital at the age of eighteen lost his eyes from lack of proper treatment while he was having the small-pox. Since that time for fifteen years he has been preaching. He is very plain spoken in his manner, and does not hesitate to score the members of his church as well as those of other churches. While very rapid in his delivery, still he enunciates distinctly. Desiring to find out how rapidly he spoke, he repeated to me from memory the 103d Psalm. He repeated it in just ninety seconds, and there are 343 words in it, some of which are quite long.

There is a law in this state to the effect that in an unincorporated settlement where there is an incorporated school, no liquor shall be sold within five miles of the school. In this town is an incorporated academy. Up to this winter this was an incorporated town. The friends of temperance, morality and good order have long desired to have the liquor traffic in this place ended. Just after the legislature met, a petition praying for the repeal of the charter of this town was carried to the legislature by the writer. The legislature granted the petition and repealed the charter of this town, as well as a score of others in this state. Quite a stand for temperance has been made in the state, as is shown by the number of charters repealed by the last legislature. This law, known as the "Five-mile law," has been the most effective law for temperance that this state has ever had. Its provisions are such that it is $100 fine and three months imprisonment to either sell or give liquor away where it is in operation. The repealing of the charter of this town took effect last Saturday night. Of course the saloon keepers did not feel very happy over the repeal of the charter. Last Saturday being the last day of grace for free rum, the people from the country and tipplers elsewhere carried liquors away by the jug-full. Towards midnight most of the negroes in town were drunk, and one of the saloon keepers gave them two boxes of fire crackers and they fired them in bunches all through the centre of the town, making quite a pandemonium. As this was the only remaining town in the county which had not had its charter repealed up to the present, the county has not an incorporated town now! It will be impossible to obtain any liquor now anywhere in the county. Quite a number of schools have been incorporated in the county this past winter, for the purpose of preventing liquor being sold in those particular neighborhoods. As only five persons are necessary to obtain a chartered school, it will be comparatively an easy matter to prevent liquor being sold in any community where it is not desired to have it. Last Monday was county court day; it was the most quiet of the sort that has been known here for many years, on account of liquor not being sold.

There is an organization in this town known as the "Independent Bloomers." Its three members are the wives of three of the leading citizens of this place. The object of the Bloomer club is that of fishing. They have patent lines, reels, hooks, minnow traps, etc. They have a darkey for a driver and waiter. They dress in calico dresses and large sun-bonnets, and go in such a dress as to be in comfort. They start early in the morning and go five to seven miles from here, and remain until dark. They carry their dinner with them. The fish they have caught thus far this season have cost them about $1.50 per fish. Though coming back frequently with poor luck, and wet by rain or chilled by wind, they always say: "We had a splendid time." Their husbands thus far have failed to see what sport there is in fishing all day and not have a bite.

We are in the midst of the blooming of roses, which makes the air rich with perfume. The roses, other flowers, and the multitude of birds, especially the mocking bird, make these warm spring days very enjoyable. A. B.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

—The Warsaw (Wyoming county, N. Y.,) Democrat relates that a Genesee deacon, about to offer a temperance prayer, was headed off by the leader of the meeting, who said: "Brother M—is a trifle inconsistent; his cellar is full of cider." Brother M— subsidered.

G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon.

This favorite brand of pure Whiskey is bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, 35 Hawkins St., Boston. Possessing ample capital, this firm does not put up this brand of their best and purest goods until it has become mellowed by age. They control the entire production of this brand, and allow no adulteration whatever. It is a pure whiskey, and as such can be prescribed by physicians or purchased for domestic use from druggists and grocers everywhere.

The Senate.

The Senate on the 9th inst. confirmed a number of appointments of postmasters in Indiana. The nomination of W. A. M. Grier of Pennsylvania to be third assistant postmaster general was withdrawn by the President, Mr. Grier having declined the position. The judiciary committee have agreed to report adversely on Stanley Matthews' nomination, but his friends say he can be confirmed.

News and Notes.

The German corvette Nymphe, from Bermuda, arrived at Norfolk, Va., on the 9th inst. She will remain eight or ten days, and then proceed to Boston and Halifax, N. S.

At the locomotive works at Providence, R. I., Monday evening, John Donovan, aged twenty years, was stabbed with a file by Frederick Glover, and died almost immediately. Fooling led to fighting, with the fatal results, but some ill feeling had existed before this affray."

The London Times says: "It is stated that there is no chance of an arrangement between the rival Atlantic cable companies, and the prospect is that there will be competition at a shilling per word tariff.

Thomas Tripp entered his father's house at Newport, R. I., Saturday night, and stole two watches, some money, a gun and other articles, and made his escape. Sunday he was arrested in Fall River, Mass. He had previously forged two notes for small amounts. The police had been looking for him for some time for this last-named offence, but heard nothing from him until his father reported him at the police station Sunday morning for burglary.

At Victoria, Vancouver's island, small-pox is raging on the American barque Henry Buck, from Hong Kong with 300 Chinese passengers. They are quarantined in the outer harbor. The first and second mates and one Chinaman are at the pest house on shore. The captain's wife and several passengers are stricken down. The passengers are mutinous, and as there are no quarantine accommodations ashore, the Dominion government has been appealed to, but will make no provision for vaccination.

William Ross Wallace, who wrote the song "The sword of Bunker hill," died in New York on the 5th inst. He was born in Lexington, Ky., in 1819.

Hon. Elisha H. Allen, who represents King Kalakana of the Sandwich islands at Washington, is visiting his old home in Bangor, Me. Forty-four years ago he was the rival of Ex-Senator Hamlin for Congress. They had previously been leaders of rival parties in the state legislature.

The liquor dealers of Hartford, Conn., being compelled to close up Sundays, propose to have the entire Sunday laws enforced. The Sunday laws of the state are very rigid, and the members of the association propose to attempt their full enforcement. They publicly announce that they will proceed against all hotel keepers or drug store proprietors who sell liquor on Sunday, and it is understood that there is a private agreement to go beyond the liquor traffic into other fields which come within the scope of the Sunday regulations. They will attempt to stop the Sunday sale of milk, the running of horse cars, the sale of cigars, tobacco, and of Sunday papers, and any other kind of business which long-obsolete statutes prohibit—statutes whose repeal has several times been attempted in the state legislature, and as often defeated by the votes of the "rooral deestrict" members.

In New York, on the 9th inst., Judge Spier of the superior court handed down a decision on a motion in the suit brought by Rufus Hatch against the Western Union telegraph company, to prevent the issue of $15,526,590 increase of capital stock. Judge Spier decided in favor of the plaintiff, and continues the temporary injunction previously granted, restraining the distribution of the increase pending final judgment.

Mrs. Garfield is quite seriously ill from nervous prostration,, and is said to be threatened with malarial fever.

Frank Downs, a boy belonging in Augusta, Me., disappeared some days ago and caused quite a sensation in the town. He was subsequently found in Portland, where he had shipped on a coasting vessel. He has been a greedy devourer of slime novels.

Jennie Jewell of Oakdale, Mass., eighteen years of age, drank bedbug poison for water, Saturday evening, from the effects of which she died.

South Adams, Mass., is suffering severely with small-pox, over fifty cases having occurred since the first one appeared. Four now cases were reported Monday morning; two deaths occurred within the previous twenty-four hours. A woman from Cheshire took her brother home on Saturday, he being probably fatally ill with the disease. The inhabitants are thoroughly alarmed.

The total number of daily journals in the United States, found by the census officials, was 962, which includes eighty dailies suspended, and 114 established during the year. The aggregate daily circulation is 3,581,187, and the aggregate annual circulation 1,127,337,356. The people of the United States pay out annually the sum of $26,250,100 for their daily newspapers.

Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria and Princess Stephanie of Belgium were married at Vienna on the 10th inst.

Eight hundred barrels of menhaden were taken off Long Branch, N. J., last week, by steamers belonging in New London, Conn. This is the first menhaden catch of the season.

Judge Lowell received a despatch from Gen. Butler on Monday afternoon, that District Judge Colt of Rhode Island had been capsized in a boat in Bristol harbor. He was badly exhausted, but was considered out of danger.

—The bridegroom at a Muscatine (Ohio) wedding put on his hat and overcoat immediately after the ceremony, said "Good-by" to his wife, explained to the guests that he had no intention of living with her, and coolly departed. She made a lucky escape.

—William Ged, the inventor of stereotyping, was a Scotchman. He was a jeweller in Edinburgh. So long as he adhered to his original vocation he was permitted to prosper. When he ventured to exercise his ingenuity by facilitating the printer's art, he was doomed. On his making known his discovery concerning printing, the trade deemed their art in danger, and formed a combination for his destruction. Master printers, journeymen and apprentices united against him as a common enemy; they loaded him with invectives; they reproached him with ignorance and assumption. The arrows of calumny hit him on all sides. Who could long withstand such an array of hostilities? Poor Ged, who ought to have made a fortune out of his discovery, sank under the load of persecution, and died of a broken heart.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s 4g ja25

An Annual Occurrence.

Every year about this time we refer in the columns of all the leading newspapers throughout the country a stunning announcement that over half a million of dollars will be given away to some persons who shall send $10, $5, $2, or $1 to M. A. Dauphin, No. 212 Broadway, New York City, N. Y., or same person at New Orleans, La., for a whole or a fractional part of a ticket in the Grand Semi-Annual Distribution, to be made on June 14th, at New Orleans, La., by the Louisiana State Lottery, under the exclusive management of Generals G. T. Beauregard of La., and Jubal A. Early of Va. The management pays the Charity Hospital at New Orleans, La., over a million of dollars for the privilege.

—A man 101 years of age has been discovered in southern Ohio, who swears, drinks the strongest kind of rum, has smoked for seventy-two years, chews plug tobacco, uses snuff, and in other ways enjoys life.

—A Rockland, Me., girl had her corset torn off by a stroke of lightning, and was uninjured, but the young man who called to borrow a book had his right arm shattered, and a piece of corset steel blown into his liver. He said he didn't know she was loaded.

—If an editor omits anything, he is lazy. If he speaks of things as they are, people get angry. If he glosses over or smoothes down the rough points, he is bribed. It he calls things by their proper names, he is unfit for the position of an editor. If he does not furnish his readers with jokes, he is an idiot; if he does, he is a rattlehead, lacking stability. If he condemns the wrong, he is a good fellow, but lacks discretion. If he lets wrongs and injuries go unmentioned, he is a coward. If he exposes a public man, he does it to gratify spite, is the tool of the clique, or belongs to the "outs." If he indulges in personalities, he is a blackguard; if he does not, his paper is dull and insipid.

—M. Muntz, a French scientist, has lately examined spring, river, sea and rain-water, and snow. He finds alcohol in all except in very pure spring water. By comparison with water holding known quantities of alcohol, rain-water and the water of the Seine are estimated to contain about one gramme per cubic meter. Snow and cold rain seem to contain a little more. The proportion in sea water is much the same. There is evident reason to suppose that alcohol exists in the state of vapor in air. This diffusion of the substance in nature is easily explained by the destruction of organic matter by various agents of fermentation. On this hypothesis one should find a good deal of alcohol in the ground.

Important.

AROUND HOME.

The schooner W. H. Y. Hackett of this port, on her last trip carried into Gloucester 117,000 pounds of fish, instead of 90,000 as at first reported.

Tuesday forenoon was hot; Tuesday afternoon was cool, and a half-dozen little two-cent thunder-storms were scattered along through the evening.

Harrington, the ventriloquist, whose memory occupies a pleasant spot in the mind of many a child, is dead, at the age of seventy years. Six weeks ago he performed in York, which was his last public appearance.

The managers of the recent twenty-seven-hours go-as-you-please race in Dover contemplate the holding of a ten-hour race in that city on Memorial day. The affair is to take place under the big tent formerly known as the "Gospel Temperance tent."

The house and barn of Asa S. Clark, in Wells, were burned early Monday morning, with nearly all their contents; loss $2000; insurance $1400. Mr. Clark had been up all night with his sick wife, and on going to feed his horses before lying down, accidentally broke his lantern, and in a few minutes the barn was blazing.

As the steamer Allentown was proceeding to sea on Monday afternoon she was swept by the tide against the large buoy off the navy yard. The buoy bumped along the steamer's port side for her entire length, and probably got a slight rap from her screw, as it was in a sinking condition on Tuesday, and the anchor-boy was sent from the navy yard to pick it up.

Case State vs. Town of Newington, for not keeping a road in proper repair and open to public travel, was heard by Judge Clark in the town house at Newington on Tuesday, without a jury, by agreement of the parties. Acting County Solicitor G. C. Bartlett appeared for the state, and Calvin Page for the town. Judge Clark's decision was in favor of the town, which seemed to give general satisfaction to the large number of citizens present.

Mr. E. C. Staples, proprietor of the Old Orchard house at Old Orchard beach, with two associates, has begun to survey the line for a railroad to tap the Eastern road and run to the beach. The road will be about two and a half miles long, and broad gauge, so that a through car can be run over the Eastern road and directly to the beach without change. This will be a great convenience to the large number of summer visitors to the beach.

Complaints having been made to the selectmen of Seabrook of the illegal sale of cider by several persons in the town, the alleged sellers have been warned to stop, under penalty of prosecution, the town having voted to enforce the anti-cider law. Police have been appointed as follows: George Chase and Hiram Gove on the main road; Daniel T. Souther and Abram Souther, at South Seabrook; Samuel Boyd on Walton road; Francis Beckman at the depot, and as superintendent of the lockup.

A sheriff from Rochester came to this city early Monday afternoon, in search of a man who had broken into a house, and stolen a number of silver spoons and forks, and a gold necklace. At six o'clock that evening the plunder was in the hands of our police, and not many hours later the thief was captured by the Rochester officers. He was arraigned at Rochester on Tuesday forenoon, but stoutly maintained his innocence until a telegram was received from Asst. Marshal Cole announcing the recovery of the property, when he at once pleaded guilty, and was committed for trial.

The schooner Rover's Bride was towed up to Noble's island on Tuesday for convenience in making repairs.

Abbott Locke, of Seabrook, is putting up a hall to be called Locke's hall, in the building opposite his store at Seabrook Depot; the building has been used for a shoe factory, and select dances have been held there during the winter.

Officers Grant and Bullock, of Biddeford, on Friday of last week captured two barrels of ale at one place, and five gallons of whiskey at another. On Saturday one of the same officers seized ten gallons of gin and two gallons of whiskey from one of the express companies.

We understand that the friends of the recently Rev. O. M. Cousens have raised about four hundred and fifty dollars in Bridgton, and that the ex-preacher is to open the Universalist church in that town as an independent preacher. This will be likely to create a division in the Methodist and Congregational churches in that village, as the ex-parson counted his friends among those attending both churches.—Biddeford Times.

City Marshal Grant, of Saco, has sued the proprietors of the Portland Argus for libel, and attached the property of the concern to the amount of $10,000. The Argus accused some one, name not given, of improper conduct in relation to a town pauper named Cora Sherwood, and it is to refute this charge that the suit is brought. The Argus intimates that the case will not be settled, but will be tried in court next month.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

[Dist. of New Hampshire: Lowell J.]

TUESDAY, May 10th.

The grand jury was empanelled, and Geo. W. Benn, Esq., of Dover, was appointed foreman.

No civil case was ready for trial to-day.

In case Wood & Carter vs. Scott, action of trover, marked for trial, a judgment was rendered by agreement for $450, with no costs.

Hon. Chester B. Jordan of Lancaster was admitted to practice as an attorney.

The grand jury reported in the afternoon, four indictments.

James Clark of Jefferson, for being a retail dealer in liquors without payment of the special tax, was arraigned; plea, nolo contendere.

Sullivan T. Bickford, of Milan, stealing a letter from the post-office of Milan, of which he was postmaster; plea, nolo contendere. Hon. Ossian Ray made some suggestions in behalf of Bickford, referring to his former good character, and stating that the money taken had been restored to the owner. Sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor in the jail at Lancaster for eighteen months.

J. Charles King, alias Charles Varnum; retail dealer in spirituous liquors at Pembroke; plea, not guilty.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, May 10; Batchelder, J.

Ann Childs was examined on a charge of violating the Sunday ordinance, but the evidence was not sufficient to convict her.

Franklin C. Hoyt was brought before the court on a continued case, for drunkenness. As he had given evidence against the persons who sold him liquor, and promised to leave town if let off, he was dismissed.

PROBATE COURT--LEAVITT, J.

MAY TRAINING.

Tuesday was the day for the annual "May training," under the militia law of the state. The City Guards, Capt. Ford, marched to the vicinity of the south cemetery at about two o'clock, and spent several hours there, in drill; they mustered only about eighteen or twenty muskets, but what there were of them presented a very neat and soldierlike appearance, and went through the exercises in a very creditable manner. This is the only company of foot soldiers the city can now boast of, those "crack" organizations, the Heavy and Light artillery companies, having given up the ghost.

The Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. Coffin, proceeded to the Plains, where the Portsmouth contingent was joined by the members of the company from Greenland and Rye, forty-two saddles being filled during the inspection drill. The out-of-town members were dismissed at the close of the drill, which of course reduced the number of the company, but it still made a fine appearance on its return to town.

CHANGE OF SAILING TIME.

By reference to the advertisement in another column, it will be seen that a change has been made in the sailing days of the steamer "Acushnet," and in her hours of sailing. Instead of leaving Boston each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at noon, and this city each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6:30 o'clock A. M., the steamer will hereafter until further notice make but two round trips each week, leaving Boston on Tuesdays and Fridays, and this city on Wednesdays and Saturdays, starting at nine o'clock in the forenoon from each place. The company found that it would be difficult to adhere closely to their advertised programme if the boat should attempt to keep up three trips a week, while by making only two trips all the arrangements can be easily carried out. The change in the sailing hours we think a very judicious one, as by leaving Boston at nine o'clock the passage up the Piscataqua after dark will be avoided, and the number of passengers from this city will no doubt be much greater when they can start in comfort at nine o'clock than it would be if they were compelled to be ready at the unchristian hour of half-past six.

THE LAND LEAGUE MEETING.

The meeting at Franklin opera hall, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Portsmouth branch of the Land League, was attended by a good audience. Col. Wm. H. Sise was chairman; P. J. Flatley, Esq., of Boston, delivered an eloquent and interesting address, forcibly appealing to the sympathies of the audience in favor of the oppressed people of Ireland, and was followed by William H. Hackett, Esq., of this city.

"FANCHON."

On Monday evening next, at Music hall, Maggie Mitchell will appear as "Fanchon," in which character she has won more triumphs than in any and all others, though her success has been great in "Mignon," "Lorle," the "Pearl of Savoy" and other kindred plays. She has been a marked favorite with the public for many years, and more a favorite in this play than in any other. A metropolitan critic thus speaks of this play and actress:

"Fanchon," to the theatre-goers, must ever be associated among their fondest and purest stage recollections, and Maggie Mitchell must always go with their recollections. In her hands the play becomes a sweet pastoral hymn, accompanied by the music of the very heart strings. The fragrance of the innocent peasant life is wafted around a touching story told by this artiste in accents of mingled mirth and sadness. Maggie Mitchell has not changed. She is the same memory's dear Maggie Mitchell that she has always been. Not that she has become monotonous; on the contrary, she is looked for each successive season, just as the season's first, purest and freshest flowers—never tiring of their aroma, their brightness. To attempt to review the play would be folly. She alone can tell the simple story. Like the holy legends of the olden time, the story, with its pure moral, will cease to be told—for profaner lips must not dare it—when the first teller tires of relating it. The story, its scenes and characters, are only what this little being, the center-piece of the frame-work, makes them. She is its soul, its mind, its being. "Fanchon" and Maggie Mitchell must ever remain one and inseparable. In their wedlock is the narrative's strength.

THE COMMERCE OF PORTSMOUTH.

The following is a statement of the amount of duties collected at this port during each calendar year from 1790 to 1880, inclusive. By this it will be seen that from 1791 until 1833 our foreign trade flourished. From 1798 until 1831 the amount collected each year did not fall below $50,000, except in 1813, when the amount was more than $40,000. The amount collected that year was chiefly on prizes captured by American vessels and brought into this port.

—Portsmouth Journal.

One evening last week the watchman at the Hotel Wentworth, Newcastle, saw a suspicious-looking animal enter a drain connected with the house, and supposing it was a skunk, got one of the carpenters employed on the place to make a box-trap, which he set at the end of the drain, baiting it with a nice bit of meat. In the morning the trap was sprung, and the objectionable animal was inside; and not knowing how else to safely dispose of the creature, the watchman made a line fast around the trap, dragged it down to the water, held it under the surface until the struggling inside ceased, and then turned out upon the sand his pet cat, limp and lifeless. The uncommon vigor of the language which the watchman used in bewailing the loss of his pet checked any possible jeers which the other men might have mingled with their condolences, and after informing them that pussy had a family of five kittens on the haymow in the barn, he tossed the dead animal on the beach. An hour or two later, on going into the barn to look after the kittens, pussy-cat was found on the haymow all right, purring with great satisfaction as she attended to the wants of her young ones.

JENKINS. In Kittery, April 16th, at the residence of her son, Edwin S. Appleton, Mrs. Nancy Jenkins, aged 84 years and 7 months. She was the youngest and the last of a family of four children, two brothers and two sisters. Her father, John Stevenson, was born on the Isles of Shoals in 1750. At the breaking out of the Revolution, the people were ordered to leave the Shoals or join the loyalists. They chose the former. Mr. Stevenson marched from York with a company of Continentals, and was at the battle of Bunker hill, and served seven years, till peace was declared. Mrs. Jenkins' first husband was Capt. John Appleton, who sailed many years in Jacob Sheaf's employ, and died in 1822, in the West Indies. Her second husband was Capt. John Jenkins, one of the owners of Seavey's Island.

Political.

It does not lie in the mouths of democrats to crow over the Brady exposures in the post-office department. Why were not the exposures made, the guilty removed, and a reformation instituted by the democratic Congress? An investigation was begun, nearly all the facts now known were brought out, and—nothing was done. Too many democratic senators and representatives had fingers in the pie. Despite the protests of a few members, the additional and unlawful $2,000,000 demanded by Brady were voted, and the investigation was dropped. —Buffalo Express.

New Hampshire Items.

Samuel S. Holt, a locomotive engineer and a native of Rochester, fell from an engine on the Nashua & Rochester road, Saturday, near Fremont, as the train was passing over a bridge, and was killed. The train was stopped, and his body fished out of the river. He was thirty years old, and very highly esteemed. He leaves a widow and one child.

An important suit, involving about $150,000 of gratuity voted by the city of Keene to the Manchester & Keene railroad, was heard at Manchester on the 10th inst., before Judge Smith of Dover, Judge Smith of Manchester and Judge Putnam of Portland, Me., referees. Hon. Wm. P. Frye of Maine is one of the parties in interest.

Fred Foss at Strafford was attacked by two black snakes, in a pasture, on the 30th ult. He shot the smaller one on the spot, and the other sprang for him. He sought refuge in a house, reloaded his gun, and shot the pursuing one, which measured five feet eight inches in length, and three inches in diameter.—Dover Democrat.

A Strange Pair of Wild Geese.

William C. Johnson, living on South Green street, for a number of years past has kept on his farm wild geese which have come to be quite tame, and by clipping their wings has prevented them from flying away, as he supposed, although in some manner quite a number of them have disappeared. This spring three wild geese alighted in the river; one was shot, and the other two flew up to Mr. Johnson's grounds, and settled down among his flock. Every morning since, when it is feeding time, they have been on hand, as tame as any of his flock, and more voracious eaters. During the day they fly away to the river again, and there they are so shy that the gunners cannot approach them. The geese are so regular in coming to the house that Mr. Johnson has concluded that they were once of his flock, and are of those which have in times past disappeared, probably by their wing feathers growing out again. Such a theory would account for the strong instinct which the birds, usually so shy, have for coming to the house to be fed.—Newburyport Herald.

—"John Smith has killed a man in Kentucky." The Chicago Times hopes that this chance to get rid of the infernal scoundrel will not be neglected.

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.—Harrisburgh Patriot.

—"Eloquent!" said a Chicago lawyer of his partner. "He's able to reason the kick out of a mule. Why, here a while ago business was dull, and he decided that Mrs. Dasher ought to have a divorce, and he'd go into court and get it for her, and then charge for it. Somehow she heard what was going on. She galloped down to the court house to stop him, as she didn't want a divorce. She got there just as he was making his plea for her. And, mind you, she was mad at him, but he argued with her, she listened to him five minutes, and became so convinced that she ought to have a divorce that she walked right up where the jury could see her and shed three pints of tears while he recited her wrongs. And when he won the case she embraced him, and said he should conduct all her divorce cases. I call that eloquence."

Health and Happiness.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

—Still another paper-making material has been discovered — bagasse, or the refuse cane-stalks left over from the process of manufacturing crude sugar. Hitherto it has been used only as fuel to heat the evaporating pans that the syrup is boiled in; but it is found to yield paper fibre in the proportion of a ton to every hogshead of sugar. The new fibre is said to be of good quality, and bleaches well.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

Mohammed Pacha in Boston.

The following, which appeared in the New York Evening Post about 1860, is just as good now as it was then:

To the Gifted Abel Ben Hassan, Melody of my Existence:—

I have not visited Boston during my recent sojourn in this land of liberty and light, and am therefore entirely qualified to write you an epistle with that city as my subject. If I had ever set foot in Boston I might labor under those burdens of prejudice which too often rest on the mind of the traveller who visits a strange town, and views its customs and institutions with a stranger's gaze, but remaining as I do in New York, I can survey the Athens of America with an impartial eye.

In this regard I have the same advantages as those possessed by my fascinating young friend and fellow-lodger at the St. Nicholas, Tompkins Effendi, who makes considerable money by writing, in his hotel, epistles from foreign parts, which are published in the leading journals of the day, under such titles as "Our London Letter," "Our Abyssinian Correspondence," "Three Days Later from Patagonia," "Interesting Intelligence from Kamtschatka," "Important Advices from Lake Ngami." In these lucubrations of Tompkins there is nothing of the haste, prejudice, ill-feeling and partizanship which so frequently disfigure the letters of correspondents who are resident in the localities whence they write. He views the manners, events, gossip or revolutions of London, Abyssinia, Patagonia, Kamtschatka and Lake Ngami with as much candor as that exhibited by my Lord Macaulay in his historical treatment of the Tories. He is calm, conservative, honest, incexorable, and, therefore, instructive; and I am glad to say that his efforts have added largely to the circulation and influence of the leading journals hereinbefore mentioned.

Boston, my delicious Abel, is the centre of the intellectual universe, around which the lesser luminaries of thought revolve, and shine with reflected light. Boston is the brain of the Western Hemisphere, so largely and rapidly developed that accidental hydrocephalus is to be feared. The great river of thought streaming down from Confucius, Moses, Buddha, Socrates, Kepler and Bacon, has spread out into a pool in Boston Common, and the Men of Boston paddle in it in the summer and skate on it during the winter. The Men of Boston have renounced the world and the flesh. They have given up such base pursuits as commerce, manufactures, and money-getting of every sort. They never drive shrewd bargains or fast horses, but employ all their time and energy in the business of self-development, like the frog in the fable, with such success, that all outside oxen are thrown completely in the shade and dwindle into inferiority. The import trade of Boston is confined principally to green tea; the exports of Boston consist chiefly of lectures, written by the Men of Boston, and delivered at different points in the country by travelling agents, bred in Boston, intellectual bagmen, who make a very handsome thing of it. I have heard of one of these distributors of knowledge who realized a fine income by reading throughout the land an essay on the Physical Characteristics of the Tub of Diogenes, a subject which of course afforded an opportunity for a humorous attack on hoops, and a masterly refutation of the Platonic theory of Eon.

The Women of Boston are even more intellectual than the Men of Boston. They never eat (in public,) and heartily despise the waste of time involved in dressing in good taste. Their conversation is profoundly learned, and to those who can understand it, very entertaining. When talking with the Men of Boston they employ Latin as a vehicle of narration, Greek to define the nicer shades of philosophic analysis, and Sanscrit as a channel for the flow of their emotions. When conversing with men not of Boston, they make use of the Boston dialect of the English language to convey their theories upon such pleasing topics as the Digamma of Homer or the authorship of Junius.

But when I remember, light of my optics, that you were once Professor of the Theory and Practice of Rhyming in the poetry of Bagdad, I imagine that you will be more interested in a notice of the poetry of Boston, than of any other literary feature of that remarkable town. Looking up at this subject from my distant stand-point, I venture to divide the poetry of Boston into three classes:—

1. Lyrical.
2. Hexametrically narrative and moral.
3. Transcendental.

The lyric poet addresses the young, whose hearts are tender, whose heads are by no means adamantine, whose tympana are quick to detect and appreciate the melody of alliteration and rhyme, and who consider love of the opposite sex, when served up with a garnish of moonbeams, lilies, rivulets and rosebuds, as the nicest thing in life. He writes a song, well knowing that when the words are wedded to music, the little defects in the character of either will be swallowed up in the bliss of the nuptials, so that the combination will have a honeymoon of popularity with the young gentleman and lady public. He builds his verses, commencing with the cornice, thus:—

.....chose,
.....chime
.....roses
.....tide?
.....quiver,
.....glide
.....river!

.....ray
.....brighten;
.....play
.....lighten;
.....time
.....chose,
.....chime
.....roses!

You can readily perceive how this cornice of rhyme can be underpinned with a structure of some sort, more or less imposing, and how the architect can come to be considered a great genius. Indeed, I should say that this style of composition is not confined to Boston, for I have heard of several bards in New York, who have achieved a fine reputation in the same way.

The Hexametrically Narrative Moral Poet of Boston bestrides a Pegasus that always goes at a canter, a gait agreeable to invalid horsemen. His lines are pleasant, melodious, soothing, generally descriptive of common life, full of ingenious comparisons, metaphorical conceits and Scriptural allusions, which everybody can understand and admire, even if read 'twixt sleep and wake. And to all his verses he appends a fine moral sentiment, and when people read this they feel "good," simply because they have repeated and assented to the moralities of the poet, thus deriving as much satisfaction as if they had gone out and done a noble deed, without any of the trouble that generally attends the doing of noble deeds. The following lines from an unpublished poem, entitled "Mehitable of Androscoggin," will give you some idea of the Hexametrically Narative Moral:—

Dark is the gulley, and jagged the tall palisades that surround it,
Tall palisades of rock, of preternatural vastness,
Seeming the picket fence of some huge pre-Adamite garden
Built by some gardener giant to keep out the Ichyosaurus.
Crowning the crest of each wall hang the healthy ever-green cedars,
Stretching their arms across the gorge, and forming a lattice
Through which the sun lets down his lambert luminous ladders,
Quite like the one seen of old by the slumbering husband of Rachel,
That is, exceedingly like, if you only happened to think so.
Brawls through the gulley a small but impetuous torrent,
Small but pretty and brisk, with a plainly audible murmur—
Just like a pretty young housewife, a lovely and busy young housewife
Sparkling and laughing and scolding all day in the kitchen and parlor;
Down below is a dam, which, of course, makes a wide-spreading mill-pond,
Furnishing power to turn the wooden wheel of a sawmill.
Lowly and wide, and brown and rough, is the venerable sawmill—
All day long the saw flashes up and down in the sunlight—
Flashes as bright and sharp as the famous falchion of Judith,
With which 'tis said that she cut off the head of the huge Holofernes.
* * * * * * *
Josh who tended the mill (a prying and log-rolling person)—
Josh sat eating his luncheon, his simple digestible luncheon,
Pork and molasses, and cheese, and apple-butter and doughnuts.
Why does the basket fall, his mouth open widely with horror—
Open portentously wide, with horror instead of with hunger?
Sees he a maiden, faithless yet fair, Mehitable Perkins,
Sitting against a young man, the stalwart long-haired Jeremiah!
There they sit by the brook on a large flat stone in the gulley,
She, the maiden fair, is blushing and smiling and crying—
Jerry the stalwart youth has got his right arm right around her.
Both parties seeming to fancy their novel and pleasant position.
* * * * * * *
Joshua rose in his wrath, emitting a large imprecation, Swearing to go and fracture the skull of his rival,
the long-haired.
But thinking twice, sat down, and said to himself in a whisper,
"Jerry is bigger than I be, therefore I guess I'll forgive him."
* * * * * * *
Sweet and strong is love, the love of a man for a woman;
Thrilling the body and soul, like wine, with a magical fervor;
Better and greater and nobler the spirit of self-abnegation, Smiting the rocky heart, so that forth flow the streams of forgiveness;
Streams of mercy unfailing, of noble, heroic forgiveness.

The transcendental poet of Boston is a much greater poet than those I have mentioned. He lives in Boston because the muddy vesture of decay compels him by sheer force of gravitation to abide somewhere on this planet, and he thinks Boston the most congenial to abide in; but if he had his own way he would buy a country seat on the tail of Donati's comet. His poetry is called transcendental because it transcends the comprehension of everybody except the men and women of Boston. To them it is suggestive—to all the rest of the world quite unintelligible. It is of course written for posterity, in the expectation that posterity will be able to see much further into a milstone than the present generation who live outside of Boston. The following specimen verses will, perhaps, afford you food for thought:—

VISIONS.

If Galileo thought he saw
A prancing parasip bite the sky
In sweet defiance of the law,
It all was clearly "in his eye."

If peaches palpitate and sob
Beneath the kisses of the sun,
If placid tangents strive to rob
An urchin of his hot cross-bun;

If Delphic dolphins analyze
The powers of poetic speech,
If hydro-chloric acid flies
Its kites beyond a mortal's reach:

Oh, then, let lees from Bombay
Dispense abroad their fiery leaven,
And ripe revolvers blushing say,
We rather fancy Vishnu's heaven!

Very powerful, my graceful leopard, is the charm of mystery. If those lines could be understood, the public would say, "Pshaw! we can write just as good poetry as that, it we chose to try." But since they are incomprensible, the public say, "Vishnua is sublime—vague, perhaps—but sublime; we do not understand its meaning, but a meaning it must have. It is our fault if we do not comprehend the vastness of the bard's conceptions. Are they vauge? So are the nebulæ; yet, when the nebulæ are examined they are resolved into stellar swarms, wonderful in brilliancy, majestic in movement. Great is Vishim—great is the transcendental poet of Boston, nebulous, yet great."

Faithfully thine, MOHAMMED.

Thousands of Drunkards

Are made annually by the use of medicines called tonics and bitters, containing a large portion of rum and other kinds of spirits, (all of which should be labelled destruction and death). Dr. Kennedy has put up the "Favorite Remedy" in form of a syrup, without one drop of spirits. Hence, it may be given to persons of all ages, of either sex, who require a medicine to purify the blood, regulate the liver, kidneys or bowels, or to give tone and strength to the system. Sold by all druggists; $1.00 a bottle.

—Garrick heard a noise in the street one morning. "What's all that?" he asked. "A temperance procession," was the answer. "What nonsense," he cried; "I don't make such a row when I get sober."

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken, they were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie P——, Rockport.

—Miss Lucia Zarate, a dwarf, exhibiting in London, commands a larger salary than any other woman in England.

Awful Talk.

A paper that claims to be the representative of the democratic party at the National Capital ought not to be found speaking of Brady as "a man of standing, character and position, who can be relied on to tell the truth." We confess to a little astonishment.—Boston Post.

Perhaps the Post's "astonishment" will decrease somewhat when it learns that the "paper" referred to is the subsidized organ of Brady and the star route thieves, receiving its dividends with the rest of them. That's the kind of newspaper "representative" the democratic party has at the National Capital referred to by the Post. As to Brady himself, it is a part of the bargain to swear him through as "a man of standing, character," etc., and truthful every time. Perhaps the editor of that "paper" described as "the representative of the democratic party" in Washington would like to enlarge his "representive" capacities by getting into Congress from the first district of New Hampshire.—Dover Democrat.

Can it be possible that our democratic brethren are referring to Stillson Hutchings, of the Washington Post and Manchester Union? We trust not.

The Anti-Jewish Movement in Russia.

A letter from Russia says it would be vain to attempt to describe the situation at Elizabethgrad. The town looks as if it had been devastated by a hurricane. Whole streets are literally razed. All the Jews' houses and shops have been sacked. Bonds have been stolen and destroyed. People hitherto well off are beggars. Thousands of Jews are homeless, and are subsisting on charity. Many were seriously wounded, and several killed. The local authorities have forbidden the opening of subscriptions for their relief.

Disturbances at Kief began on the 8th inst. Several Jews were injured, and some booths and shops were pillaged. The military restored order, and arrested five hundred persons. The disturbances were renewed on the 9th, but were suppressed by the troops, when a woman was killed and several other persons were injured.

The significance of the anti-Jewish uprising in Russia is much underrated. It extends throughout the Ukraine, which is full of Jews, between whom and the peasantry there has been an undying hatred for centuries. It is purely social. It is the beginning of a social war, and may assume frightful proportions. There are 3,000,000 Jews in Russia.

News and Notes.

A statue of Stonewall Jackson was unveiled at New Orleans on the 10th inst., in the presence of several thousand people. Jackson's widow and daughter were present, and Jeff Davis made a speech, and was enthusiastically cheered.

A school teacher in Ohio turned a colored scholar out of school because, as he said, he "did not teach darkies." The school district trustees refused to interfere, but judge Baxter gave the boy fifty dollars damages. The suit was brought against both teacher and trustees, but the judgment was against the teacher only.

The negro reverence for the name of Lincoln would seem to be by no means abated. A Washington paper asserts that the war department is crowded every day with colored people of every grade, from the city swell to the Virginia plantation hand, all anxious to see and shake hands with "Massa Linkum's chile." He receives them all, and is said to always take a little time for a chat when a particularly old-fashioned man or woman calls.

John H. Starin has sold his railroad transportation business to W. H. Vanderbilt for $1,000,000. The business consisted in the transfer of New York Central freight about New York harbor, and has grown from small beginnings to a fleet of thirty or forty tugs and lighters, all under a flag carrying a star and the word "in," familiar to any one who has crossed a New York ferry. Starin himself is a hale, healthy business man, with a red beard under his chin, and the manner of a man who has come up fast and finds the result satisfactory.

Margaret B. Day, of Newburyport, supposing herself the widow of John Foss, she being a pensioner on his account, married James Day, losing her pension thereby. As Foss was not dead, the supreme court has declared the second marriage void, and she will go on the pension list again and receive $2,000 arrears.

The coroner's jury in the case of the death of John Donavan, at the locomotive works in Providence, R. I., May 9th, have returned a verdict of murder against Frederick Glover. Both were under twenty years old.

One of the wealthiest settlers in Australia is Jem Mace, the noted champion of the prize ring, who landed in Melbourne two years ago with $50. He has made a fortune by speculating in mining stocks.

Miss Mary J. Studley, who committed suicide by jumping from a steamer between Boston and Rockland, was a sister of Col. J. M. Studley of Providence, R. I. She was highly educated, had been a teacher for several years, and was the author of the well-known book entitled: "What shall we do with our girls?"

The newspapers grieve because when Mr. Bob Ingersoll lectures on a Sunday evening the hall is thronged with people who gladly pay the cost of a ticket of admission to hear him,—yet on the same evening the majority of the preachers are addressing audiences which do not fill half the seats in their churches. The obvious remedy would seem to be for the preachers to charge an admission fee.

There is great dissatisfaction among the Irish in London at Cardinal Manning's order forbidding any Catholic club rooms to be used for the meetings of the Land League.

A United States naval officer has made a report to the department of his visit to Chio, and says that in his opinion the number killed by the earthquake is probably about 5,000 or 6,000. The natives exhibit a most astonishing indifference to the sufferings of their own people.

Orders were issued on the 10th inst. from the post-office department to discontinue steamboat mail service at once on eight designated routes in the south and southwest, by which $75,000 per year will be saved.

The trial of Charles Merrill, for the murder of his mother at China, Me., began May 10th in the superior court at Augusta, Me.

Miss Fanny Parnell was given a reception at Lowell, Mass., by the Ladies' Land League of that city, on the evening of the 10th inst.

Colonel Thomas A. Scott, the railroad magnate, is dying in Philadelphia.

Ohio democrats are talking of Ex-Senator Thurman as their candidate for governor.

Charles Johnson and John Anderson, two of the crew of fishing schooner Mary Ellen, of Rockport, Mass., who were lost in a fog while out in a dory on the 28th ult., tending trawls, on the western banks, were picked up next day by the schooner Arequipa, of Gloucester, and landed at Halifax.

At Pittsfield, Mass., May 10th, James Welsh, a boy of fifteen years, was caught on a shaft at Russell's mill, where he was at work, and killed, his head being smashed and his feet torn off by striking the floor as he was whirled around the shaft.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Quinnebaug sailed from Gibraltar for New York on the 7th inst.

The Kearsarge sailed from Hampton roads for Port Royal on the 7th.

The Dispatch arrived at Washington on the 8th, with the Yorktown Centennial commissioners on board, from a four days' trip down the bay.

The steamer Yantic, and training ships Portsmouth and Saratoga, were below at Norfolk on the 9th, and would go up to the navy yard for repairs. The steamer Speedwell arrived from Washington on the 9th, and went into the dry dock to have a new propeller put on. The steamers Alliance and Pinta, and the practice ship Dale, are repairing at Norfolk. Work on the Canandaigua has been suspended.

The Kearsarge arrived at Port Royal on the 10th inst.

Sailmaker Nicholas Lynch is detached from the Washington navy yard, and placed on waiting orders. Sailmaker H. Hanson is ordered to the Washington yard.

Political.

The Memphis Avalanche strikes the true inwardness of the star route business, as far as some of its political aspects are concerned, when it remarks: "There was not so much known a year ago about the star route deviltries as there is now known. What little leaked out a year ago was covered up by a democratic Congress, because the democrats had some of the perk." The New York Star, Tammany organ, suggests that Hon. W. H. Barnum of Connecticut, Mr. Tilden's man, is the chum of Mr. Dorsey, and may therefore know something about the star route frauds.

—"The poor ye have with you always," but the rich go away in the summer time.

—A Virginia revival preacher on closing his meeting congratulated himself. Waving his bony hands above the congregation, he shouted: "I have done a good work here! I am like the celebrated Napoleon, who, upon an occasion of great success, exclaimed: 'Sic semper tyrannis—I came, I saw, and I conquered!'"

HOLMAN'S PAD

ACTS BY ABSORPTION THROUGH THE NERVE FORCES AND THE CIRCULATION.

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine!"

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Horace McIntire, of York, killed fourteen foxes during the past winter.

The first cherry-blossoms noticed in this vicinity this year, that we have heard of, were seen on the 10th inst.

Schooner Grace Choate came into the lower harbor on Tuesday of this week, with a light fare of salt fish.

The nickel-plated guard-rails for protecting the new plate-glass windows in the front of Fay's store are very showy.

Company C, 1st Reg't N. H. National Guard, of this city, will attend the inauguration of Governor-elect Bell next June.

Work at putting up the long-promised gates at the Concord railroad crossing on Market street was commenced on Wednesday.

The largest fare of fish taken by a wherry on any one day this spring, was 4300 pounds, caught by Frank Cook and Clarance Caswell at the Shoals.

"Harper's Magazine" for June is now ready for distribution to subscribers, or for sale by the single number, by Willis G. Myers at the Congress block bookstore.

The gondolas on the river are all employed, carrying assorted cargoes of freight, wood, ballast, stone, etc. One or two new ones have been put on the Piscataqua this spring.

Tickets for reserved seats at Music hall next Monday evening, when Maggie Mitchell will appear in her favorite character of "Fanchon," go on sale at Preston's this morning.

Several shops on Water street—a barber's shop and two or three small stores—have closed their doors within a few days, owing to the falling off of business occasioned by the of end "winter fishing."

Mr. Editor: Does it come under the duty of the officials of this city to stand on the corner of the city building, and make remarks on persons passing by which would be insulting could they convey their intentions in the English language? G.

The stable near Union bluff, York beach, used by Grant & Stewart's line of stages between York and this city, was burned on Monday night of this week, a stage being also consumed. Loss about $500; partly insured.

The Times of the 11th inst. says: "Mrs. Ellen Greenwood, widow of James Greenwood, who was burned to death in the Kearsarge mills, and who some weeks since sued that corporation for $10,000 damages, has to-day withdrawn her suit and settled with the company for $2000."

Rev. Frank Haley, for about three years past minister of the Seabrook and Hampton Falls Congregational church, preached his farewell sermon on the 8th inst. He goes to Boscawen, in this state. The Second Adventists have held meetings in the Christian church at Hampton Falls for several Sundays past.

The Boston Post of the 10th inst. says: "The engagement is announced of Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, of Boston, formerly of Portsmouth, N. H., and Mrs. H. C. Simes of Newport, R. I., the marriage to take place in June. Mr. and Mrs. Nowell intend to sail for Europe on July 2d by the steamer City of Berlin, to spend the summer with Mr. Nowell's sons. Mrs. Simes is the only daughter of Mr. M. Cottrell of Newport."

One of the staunchest little fishing crafts that sails from this port is the sloop boat "Zuetta." She was built at Bristol, Me., is twenty-seven feet long over all, nine feet beam, five feet in depth, has a mast eight and a half inches in diameter, and carries ninety yards of canvas. Her owner, Mr. Osier, says she is one of the most desirable of boats for fishing purposes.

The round—or rather oval—table, about which the selectmen of the old town of Portsmouth used to sit in solemn conclave years ago, is now in possession of a private individual of this city. The table was constructed at the establishment of Hon. Langley Boardman, and is a good piece of workmanship. Mr. Boardman is recollected by the oldest portion of the citizens of Portsmouth as not only carrying on an extensive furniture manufacturing business, but as one of the most prominent politicians of the state of New Hampshire at that time. The old town elections of Portsmouth were very exciting, and Jefferson ball was oft-times very tumultuous; but there are people even now who believe that the old board of selectmen conducted business just as well as the present mayor and board of aldermen, and common council, who sit around more pretentious tables. The wonder is that the city organization should have ever allowed a relic of the town to have gone out of its possession into the hands of a second-hand furniture dealer, and thence be bandied about. V.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

[Dist. of New Hampshire: Lowell J.]

WEDNESDAY, May 11th.

United States vs. J. Charles King alias Varnum, indicted for being a retail dealer in liquors at Seabrook without payment of special tax. Defendant acted as his own attorney, and relied upon the position that he had a license for some other person, transferred from Massachusetts, which appears to have been transferred a fortnight after the arrest of King. The respondent stated the fact of this transfer, being a witness in his own behalf; and for a young man, claiming to have no knowledge of the law, (which in itself was apparent,) made quite a good attempt at his defence, in his brief address to the jury. The tax receipt shew that one Burke was licensed to carry on business in Massachusetts; and under Mr. Burke, King claimed to sell. The court held this to be no license to the defendant. The question was whether business was done under Burke, as his agent or otherwise, or for King's own profit. Verdict, guilty; sentenced to pay a fine of $100, and to be imprisoned in the jail at Manchester for thirty days.

James Clark, who pleaded nol. con., was sentenced to be imprisoned in jail at Lancaster for thirty days, and to pay a fine of $100.

Case United States vs. Dominique was marked not to be brought forward. Wells and Burleigh for deft.

In Hughes vs. Elsher, parties from Dover, the defendant moved for a non-suit; pltf.'s counsel did not appear. The jury will come in on Monday, June 6th, when the case is to be disposed of by trial or otherwise. Copeland for pltf.; Wheeler and T. J. Smith for deft.

Cases of First National bank of Newburyport vs. Jno. Dearborn, and same vs. same and Frank E. Dearborn, trustee, were dismissed, on the representation of the death of the defendant, and that his estate was being administered in the insolvent form. Clark for bank; Frink and Batchelder for deft.

The petit jury were excused until June 6th.

Equity case Russell vs. Russell and others, wherein a demurrer had been filed, and which had been set down for hearing, was at the request of the defendant's counsel continued to the October term. To be heard the first case. Bryant and Sweetser for compt.; Hatch and Burrows of Plymouth for deft.

New Hampshire Items.

Lieut. M. A. Shaw died in Lowell, Mass., on the 10th inst., at the age of forty-nine years. He was born in Alstead, and was a lieutenant in the 18th Reg't N. H. Vols. during the rebellion.

At Concord, May 10th, in the case of Nancy Shirly of Manchester vs. the Amoskeag corporation, a verdict was taken by agreement, complainant being awarded fifty dollars. Other suits of the same kind (for damages occasioned by flowage) are to be tried, unless compromised.

Joseph Coffin of Farmington was thrown from his carriage on the 7th inst.; his jaw was broken and he received other severe injuries, which it was feared might prove fatal.

An Immense Man.

Dr. Cutting, state geologist of Vermont, has concluded a unique series of tests of building stones, with reference to their fire-resisting qualities. He sums up the result in a recent number of the Underwriter. He declares, in substance, that no known natural stone deserves the name fireproof. Conglomerates and slates have "no capability" of withstanding heat; granite is injured beyond cheap or easy repair by even so mild a heat as that which melts lead; sandstones, including the variety called brown stone, are better, and limestone and marble are the best in this respect. But even they are injured by a continuous heat of 900 degrees, and by a heat of 1200 degrees are changed into quicklime. Therefore it would seem that no stone buildings are fireproof, and some of them, Dr. Cutting says, are as much damaged by fire as even wooden structures are. Brick, on the contrary, is usually uninjured, and is often rather improved by heat, until it is melted. But as most brick buildings are trimmed with iron or stone, the damage is often considerable, even when the walls stand. To avoid this Dr. Cutting recommends soapstone trimmings, which are open only to the objection of expense. But although brick stands heat so well, it is objectionable because its power to resist pressure from dampness or frost without crumbling is less than that of stone. Nevertheless, as brick is in fact only a kind of artificial stone, the search for an ideal building material is not hopeless, but it must be prosecented rather by the maker than by the quarrier of stone.

A French Fish-Story.

The Courrier, a French paper in San Francisco, has the following well-joined story:

A singular history of trouts grateful.

A rich proprietor as the interior had made to establish a pond artificial, where round themselves agglomerated three thousand trouts.

This proprietor is the father of a girling of from five to six years. She had taken the habitude of to go each morning to give to eat to the trouts, at the aid of crumbs of bread. These fishes were become so entamed that they skipped out of the water for to attrap the crumbs which the infant held in the crevice of her hand.

It arrived one day that she lost the equilibrium, and she fell, the head the first, in the pond, of which the water was enough profound.

At the cries emitted by the girling the father was run himself. But what horror! He saw his infant extended without movement at the surface, where she floated as a cork.

What was not the surprise of the father in seeing that she had been supported by a mass compact of trouts. The fishes had ranged themselves under her body, as to sustain and prevent her from to drown.

If this history is truthful, the fishes are not so much deprived of the intelligence as one is pleased himself to believe.

Reclamation of Florida Swamps.

A Philadelphia company, at whose head is Hamilton Disston, the chief of the famous firm of saw manufacturers, has made a contract with the state of Florida to perform a couple of engineering feats which will make this land of flowers and fruit of more importance in the economy of the country. The direct proposition is to drain the Everglades; an indirect one, to construct the long-talked-of ship canal across the peninsula to connect the Atlantic with the Gulf of Mexico. The two enterprises jointly make up a work of engineering about as magnificent as our Hoosac tunnel. But, unlike Massachusetts, Florida is wise in its generation. Accordingly, instead of offering the ambitious projectors of this scheme public pay the state merely authorizes the company to do the work, and lets it carry it through on its own hohk. The term "Everglades," it should be understood, is applied to most of the southern third of the peninsula, or, say, to south of latitude 27 1-2 degrees. This area is little more than a big swamp, which needs only to be drained to become wonderfully productive soil. Over 13,000 square miles, or a quarter of the area of the state, and nearly as much territory as is in Massachusetts twice over, is embraced in the Everglade region. North of the centre lies Lake Okeechobee, which is about forty miles long and thirty broad. A few miles west of the lake, the Caloosahatchee river begins its course of seventy-five miles to the Gulf of Mexico. The Philadelphians propose to cut a canal from the lake to a point far enough down the river to drain all the water in the lake and the Everglade swamps which border it out into the Gulf. The nature and slope of the country are such that engineers say this will not be a very difficult job. To raise the money it is proposed to issue 1,000,000 $10 shares of stock, and to sell them readily by giving each subscriber the right to an acre of land for every $10 put in. Exactly how Florida has been induced to give up her territory in this way does not appear; but it is reported that the operators will be given half the land reclaimed. There can be no question that, if the vast marsh is once thoroughly drained, some magnificent land will be opened to agriculture. It is said that enough sugar can be produced in the reclaimed Everglades to supply the whole United States.—Boston Globe.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable LUNG Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. tu,th & f 6JAn82

—Just as a passenger on a Hudson river train had finished regaling his neighbors with an account of a runaway match, his attention was called to the fact that the happy pair were occupying the seat immediately in front of him.

—An artist who has searched far and wide for a facial expression which would indicate fear, daring and mental suffering, all at once, was seen this morning rushing down street shouting "Eureka!" Just in front was a young man taking his first public ride on a bicycle.

—There is nothing more damaging than the witness that proves too much. Miss Edgeworth tells us somewhere of an Irish peer, who, travelling in France with a negro servant, directed him, if questioned on the subject, always to say his master was a Frenchman. He was punctiliously faithful to his orders; but whenever he said, "My massa a Frenchman," he always added, "so am I."

"THE MINSTREL BOY."

[The following lines on the recent death of Mr. James Holbrook, a widely known tambourinist, clog-dancer and "end man," were written by one of his former companions on the day of the deceased minstrel's funeral.]

"The minstrel boy" from this life hath fled;
"In the ranks of death you'll find him."
A travelling life by him was led,
With his tambourine beside him.

With Baird's minstrels he took the lead,
None in the "profesh" could "beat" him;
He was as good as the best, indeed,
And the "boys" all liked to meet him.

As a cloggist, he was unsurpassed,
As all who saw him, said;
But he his END has reached at last,
And now lies with the dead.

Building Stones.

Chang, the Chinese giant, now exhibiting in this country, is an affable, courteous, educated, gentlemanly creature, with the best of manners. His right hand sparkles with five huge diamond rings, one of them a present from the Emperor of Austria, bearing the imperial crest; another a present from the late Emperor of Russia, and the rest presents from nobles and people of different countries in the world which Chang has visited. He is a thorough scholar, speaks seven different languages, among them the English, with the fluency of a native. His height is within four inches of nine feet; his weight is 364 pounds. He is not a fleshy man, as most giants are, but spare in proportion to his build. He has been in the show business for twenty years and has seen all the countries over the world and all the noted people. He is a high-priced giant, because he is imposed upon everywhere. To tailors he is a prize, to landlords a terror. In New York he went to get measured for a suit of clothes which at the most extravagant calculation would not have cost the average man over $60, but the tailor charged him $185. In the same city, when he first arrived there, two months ago, his agent procured board for him at a down-town restaurant. The proprietor charged him $4.75 for one meal and told him, after he had paid his bill, that he could not board him at that rate, as he would break him up in a month if he attempted to do it. Subsequent negotiations with the agent induced him to take him at the rate of $200 a month, but in three weeks' time the proprietor pleaded with the agent to be relieved of the contract, as Chang was eating him out of house and home.

Each to his Trade.

A wealthy English parvenu, who began life with a lapstone on his knee, invited Kulak, the great pianist, to dinner, and immediately after the meal insisted on his playing for the company. Kulak complied, and invited the snob to a dinner at his residence on the following Sunday. After the meal Kulak astonished his guests by placing a pair of old shoes before his rich parvenu friend. "What are these for?" queried the latter. Kulak replied: "Last Sunday you did me the honor to invite me to dinner, and insisted upon my paying with music. I have returned the compliment, and require my shoes to be mended. Every man to his trade."

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—A Detroit florist is getting up "a language of vegetables." If you hit a man with a turnip, that means: "I don't think much of your relatives way back for seven generations."

"Wait a Little Longer."

So we are told sometimes. Things will come out all right, people say, if we wait awhile. That don't do with disease. The longer you wait the worse it is. It's no use to plant corn in November. Do you "feel a little bad?" Strike the trouble right away. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is what you want. It will at once relieve the bowels, stimulate the liver and cool your skin. Take one dollar in your hand and stop at your druggist's, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—Grammar is no object to an old hen, and she doesn't care whether she "sets" or "sits," so long as she gets a brood of chickens to cluck after and worry her soul about.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it did no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I consider my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

Honest Medicine.

FAVORITE REMEDY

Recommended by Clergymen, Statesmen and Others.

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' and found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

Hamburgs and Leghorns.

There are six different species of the Hamburg fowls. Of the Leghorns there are the White and Brown, although there are other species recognized by the poultry fraternity. Of the two Leghorn varieties the latter are more prolific, but smaller in body, producing medium eggs of good quality and in remarkable numbers. To say that the Browns are good layers is not sufficient; they are extraordinary. I have had both side by side. Both are beautiful fowls, and both are valuable. The White Leghorns are nearly as large as the Black Spanish in size, with very clean, snowy plumage when purely bred. They have plump bodies, round, full breasts, with a bold, upright, haughty carriage that at once challenges admiration. They lay large white eggs, quite as large as the Spanish, to which class they belong. They are not quite as prolific as either the Brown variety or Black Spanish, but still are much superior to what are termed common layers. They are shy birds, and cannot be handled to advantage. It is now becoming a little difficult to find them in purity.

The Hamburgs are also an old breed. The Black variety has the most popularity and is universally known, although of late it has been superseded by the Spangled sort. A solid, or self-colored fowl is the parent, whatever the color. Union of the two produces the mottling in color. Hamburgs and Leghorns are both termed non-sitters. The Hamburgs lay rather round, medium, white eggs, and are prolific. It is a noteworthy fact that all the non-sitters are rather more delicate than the sitters. The treatment, feeding and care are precisely the same for any variety of continuous layers, difference in size considered. There may, however, be one or two exceptions named in regard to the Dorkings and Dominiques. The former are quite delicate, and, although sitters, they are also fine layers, while their large bodies are superior for the table. The Hamburgs are not quite as large as the White Leghorns, but have full, round, plump bodies; rose, double, or branching combs, and slate or lead-colored legs. The skin is white, which with some is an objection; still the fineness and sweetness of flesh cannot be impaired thereby, and this quality is especially prominent when served on the table. They are generally quiet, busy fowls about the yard, and when well fed and cared for are ornamental. The Silver-Spangled variety is the most frequently met with, but for some cause they are seldom found in the farming districts. In fact, among farmers, none of our fine continuous laying breeds are found in perfection; and yet none other are, in the long run, so profitable for farmers' use. It can safely be claimed that, one year with another, pure-bred fowls are the most profitable. Mongrels may answer for a short time, but they do not hold out for eggs and flesh like the pure-bred either in quality, quantity or uniformity.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

—A West hill woman calls her husband "Darkest Hour," because he comes just before morning.

G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon.

This favorite brand of pure Whiskey is bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, 35 Hawkins St., Boston. Possessing ample capital, this firm does not put up this brand of their best and purest goods until it has become mellowed by age. They control the entire production of this brand, and allow no adulteration whatever. It is a pure whiskey, and as such can be prescribed by physicians or purchased for domestic use from druggists and grocers everywhere.

—The nurses in the Chicago small-pox hospital struck for an increase of pay, and when their commitee suggested a hearing before the board of health, the increase was granted with great suddenness.

Health and Happiness.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

—A London servant girl is represented as saying: "Hard weather, indeed, sir; I wish the Lord would take the weather in his own hands again instead of trusting it to them Yankee probability men. We might then get something fit to live in."

The Cowpens Monument.

The monument built near Spartansburg, S. C., to commemorate the battle of the Cowpens, was unveiled in the presence of twenty-thousand people on Wednesday, the 11th inst. Gov. Hagood on South Carolina presided and introduced the speakers. Rev. A. Toomer Foster of Charleston opened the proceedings with prayer, reading from a prayer book found on the battle field. Thirteen hundred volunteer troops of South Carolina were reviewed by Gen. Henry Hunt, U. S. A., who had as aids several descendants of Gen. Morgan, the hero of the Cowpens. Speeches were made by Senator Hampton, representing Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee; Hon. Thomas W. Higginson, representing New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut; and Hon. William H. Travis, representing New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. Music was furnished by the Fifth United States Artillery band. The granite base and pedestal of the monument were built by the joint contributions of the old Thirteen States and Tennessee, and the bronze statue of Morgan surmounting it was contributed by Congress.

A Mystery at Lowell.

A tragic mystery, bidding fair to rival the "trunk tragedy" in Lynn, was unearthed in Lowell, Mass., on the afternoon of the 11th inst. A man named Loring Loker was employed to remove an accumulation of ashes, dirt and debris in a vault in the rear of Appleton street, which had been unused for about two years. After proceeding to some depth, he exhumed the partially decayed body of a woman, entire but for the loss of considerable flesh, and having long hair disconnected from the skull. The vault is attached to the dwellings of two prominent citizens, both of whom have held numerous offices. As the vault can be opened from a narrow alley running between Appleton and Winter streets, the theory prevails that the body was brought there surreptitiously some dark night, and deposited to conceal a crime.

News and Notes.

At Enola, Ark., May 10th, seven persons were poisoned at dinner by eating bread containing arsenic. The sufferers were William Reynolds and his wife and daughter, Dr. Brown, Mrs. Trum, and a German laborer and another man employed on the place. Mr. Reynolds, the German and the doctor were fatally poisoned, but it is hoped the others will recover. How the arsenic got into the bread has not transpired.

Three schooners, the Anna B. Jacobs, Charleston and Mary A. Wilson, started to go to sea from Newburyport on the 11th inst. without pilots, and all went aground, the first-named on the half-tide rocks, the second on the middle grounds, and the latter on the south flats.

George F. Woodman was on the 11th inst. brought before the police court in Newburyport, on a charge of unlawfully piloting in the coal steamer Panther, the charge being brought by a pilot who holds a branch from the state of Massachusetts. Mr. Woodman holds a United States license. Decision was reserved.

The snobbery of the hotel keeper of Springfield, Illinois, who refused to entertain the colored singers of the Fisk University, was more than offset by the kindnesses of private citizens, including Ex-Gov. Palmer, the most prominent democrat of the city, who attended the concert and made an address of welcome.

Several members of the Land League in Ireland who were arrested under the coercion act on the charge of intimidation, and subsequently discharged, were re-arrested on the 11th inst.

A despatch from Constantinople says: "It now appears that Ex-Sultan Murad is implicated in the murder of Abdul Aziz, but will not be tried because he is insane. The Sultan, despite reports to the contrary, is determined to bring all the other perpetrators of the crime to justice."

A break two hundred yards wide is reported in the levee at Alsatia, La., and the water is pouring through with great velocity. Immense damage is feared as the result, as there is little prospect of closing the break.

Nine thousand dollars worth of gold chains, stolen at a Baltimore hotel recently from a salesman of Enos Richardson & Co. of New York, were recovered in Philadelphia on the 11th inst., on the payment of $2,500 to representatives of the thieves.

All the masters of European steamships running to New York who have overloaded their vessels with passengers, have been indicted.

News has been received at Dover, Me., that Rev. Mr. Norris, who went from Foxcroft to Burtoph as a missionary, has been killed by the natives.

A contract has been made with the Wilson line of steamhips to bring 80,000 Scandinavians to the United States. It is said the emigration from Norway and Sweden to farming lands in the west is rapidly developing, and applications for transportation during the winter months were so great that a contract with one company became necessary.

J. R. Gauthreau, formerly civil sheriff of New Orleans and an officer in the confederate army, in jail at Toronto, Ont., for stealing $1,500 from an auction room in that city, cut his throat in his cell, Tuesday night, May 10th. The wound is severe, but not necessarily fatal.

Thirty-six small-pox patients at South Adams, Mass., were removed to the pest-house on the 10th inst. There were eleven cases left in quarantine in other parts of the town. One case has been discovered at North Adams, and another case in Cheshire.

The house of Michael Conniton, at Pigeon Cove, near Rockport, Mass., was struck by lightning on the afternoon of the 10th inst. On the same afternoon lightning struck in several places in Marblehead, one building being slightly damaged, and three men injured, one of them very seriously.

New Hampshire Items.

On Tuesday, the 10th inst., ten young cattle of a drove fell dead from heat and want of water, on Amherst street, Nashua. Four of them had been driven but four miles, and the drove was in charge of a man who has been in the business nearly fifty years, and never had any such accident happen before.

A barn at Barrington belonging to Mrs. Mary Foss, with several tons of hay, a cow and horse, and another small building, were burned early in the morning on the 9th inst. Insured.

Chas. Jackson, of Strafford, a few days since stole $50 in money, besides notes and mortgages, from the residence of his father-in-law, Asa Seward. Jackson was arrested in Durham, and taken to Strafford for examination.

There are three mica companies at work in Groton, near Rumney, employing about one hundred men, and they will have more soon.

Deerfield, like other towns in the state, is suffering from the emigration of its young men, who are leaving the farms and going to the cities. The population in 1870 was over 2000, but has now fallen to 1,600, a decrease of twenty each year. Some farms have been entirely deserted, and many are nearly so.

There is a woman in a country town of New Hampshire, says the Lawrence American, who shoes her hens every spring in planting time, sewing a broadcloth covering around their feet. By the time this wears off the "garden sarse" has grown beyond the reach of their claws; the hens present a peculiar appearance of "stepping high" when they endeavor to locomote.

A little steamer, the "Natt Head," has been launched on the river at Manchester, and will probably run to and from Hooksett.

A North Danbury correspondent writes of a highway which on the 10th inst. was impassable because of snow drifts.

—A medical sportsman: At dinner the host introduced to the favorable notice of the company a splendid truffled pheasant. "Isn't it a beauty?" he said. "Dr. So-and-so gave it to me—killed it himself." "Ah, what was he treating it for?" asked one of the guests.

—"How to attract editors" is the title of a newspaper article. Why, bless your heart, editors are so exactly like other men that a pretty woman, modest, shy and all that, will attract them as easily as a magnet does an iron filing, and the proportion of the attraction is about the same; the pretty woman, like the magnet, has all the advantage.—New Haven Register.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, May 11.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 1604; Sheep and Lambs 7600; Swine 10,230; Veals 124; number of western cattle 1042; eastern cattle 92; milch cows and northern cattle 160.

Prices of Beef Cattle per 100 lbs, live weight—Extra quality $6 37 1-2 to $6 75; first quality $5 62 1-2 to $6 12½; second quality $4 87 1-2 to $5 50; third quality $4 37 1-2 to $4 75; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 to $4 25.

Brighton Hides 8c per lb.
Brighton Tallow 5c per lb.
Country Hides 7c per lb.
Country Tallow 4 to 4 1-4c per lb.
Calf skins 12 1-2c per lb.
Northern Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 25 to $1 75 each.
Western Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 50 to $2 25 each.
Spring Lamb Skins 50c each.

The trade for beef cattle has been dull, prices having advanced fully 1-4c per lb over those obtained one week ago for the same grade of beeves. Cattle cost higher at the west, and there was but a few western cattle sold as low as 5c per lb live weight. Butchers say that at prices for which cattle have been selling for to-day there is no money in the business, as they are higher than the markets at Boston will warrant a profit for them, beef commission houses selling western dressed beef at less than butchers can afford to sell the same grades that are slaughtered in this vicinity. From Maine there were a few milch cows and store cattle, which found a ready sale, most of them being sold early in the day.

Western Cattle—Only a few pairs offered on the market for sale this week. A few pairs each week at this season of the year is all the market requires. We note sales of 1 pr, girth 9 ft 8 in, live weight, 2260 lbs, for $82½; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 8 in, live weight 2260 lbs, for $75.

Milch Cows—Extra $80 to $70; ordinary $25 to $45; springers $18 to $55 per head. We quote sales of 2 cows and calves at $50 each; 1 Jersey cow and calf for $55; 2 new milch cows $67 50 the two; 2 cows and calves, new milch, $50 each; 1 cow and calf $46; 1 springer $55; 1 new milch cow $55. Not so large a supply in markets as has been coming of late.

Swine Cattle—Sales of 6 stockers, average weight 667 lbs, 15 cts, average weight 900 lbs, at 4 1-2c per lb live weight; 5 stockers, average weight 772 lbs, at 4c; 7 stores, average weight 1200 lbs, at 4 3-4c per lb live weight.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were owned by butchers, western sheep costing 6 1-2 to 7 1-2c, western lambs from 7 to 8c per lb landed at Brighton.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices 6 3-4 to 7 1-4c per lb, live weight, spring pigs $3 to $5 50 per head. Sheats 7 to 10c per lb, live weight.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wise and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. AROUND HOME.

Harpers Magazine for June is now on sale at the news room of Moses Brothers.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Co., of Dover, pays a dividend of five per cent June first.

At East Eliot, during the thunder-storm on the evening of the 11 inst., hail-stones as large as walnuts fell.

Men are at work this week repairing Liberty bridge, under the superintendence of Mr. Wm. F. Fernald.

Schooner Lexington, which was run into off Boon island some ten days ago by a coasting vessel, and badly damaged, has been repaired, and is ready for sea again.

A mare about four years old was found running loose at the north end of Market street, Thursday, by the police, and stabled. The animal was shod on the forward feet only.

At a special meeting of the church and parish at Newington, held on Sunday, the 8th inst., after the afternoon service, it was voted to invite Rev. Mr. Batchelder of Stratham to act as their pastor for the ensuing six months.

The newly-organized American band, seventeen pieces, Critchley leader, made their first public appearance on Thursday evening, and serenaded Mayor Sise. They played quite nicely, and had the oysters at the colonel's expense after the serenade.

A Concord paper says "The veterans of the 'Fighting Fifth' will be pleased to know that Mr. Tenney has received orders from Major Cross of Lancaster to execute one of his best life-sized portraits of their gallant colonel, the late Edward E. Cross, to be placed in the capitol."

A party of ladies and gentlemen from Dover, by invitation of Chas. H. Trickey, Esq., came down the river in the tug Ann on the 12th inst., leaving Dover at twelve o'clock, noon, and returning from this city by the 3:10 P. M. train over the Portsmouth & Dover railroad. The party were much pleased with the trip.

The sale of tickets to "Fanchon" commenced at Preston's on Thursday, and a good many persons secured the chairs they prefer. Of the many plays in which Maggie Mitchell has won popularity, "Fanchon" is and always has been the popular favorite, and a large audience will assemble in Music hall next Monday evening. If you have a choice of seats you had best secure your tickets in time.

A dispute has been standing for a long time between Hon. Charles W. Woodman and the city of Dover, relative to the ownership of a piece of land near the Dover hotel, on which a reservoir was built several years ago, the lot being subsequently fenced in by Mr. Woodman. On the evening of the 10th inst. Mayor Murphy on behalf of the city took forcible possession of the disputed property, removing the fence. This action will probably lead to a suit in the courts, and a final settlement of the title to the land.

The contract for building a new county almshouse for Strafford county to take the place of the one burned some months ago, has been awarded to Fall & Moulton of South Berwick, Me., at $40,000; the contractors to whom the job was first awarded having failed to furnish the required bonds. The building is to be put up according to plans and specifications furnished by F. N. Footman of Great Falls, and will accommodate two hundred and fifty persons; and by utilizing the attics, which can easily be done when necessary, the number of inmates can be raised to three hundred.

Schooner Canton, of Kennebunkport, about seventy tons register, went on the rocks at that place a few days ago while going down the river with a load of ship timber, and bids fair to be a total loss. She is owned by Bradford Oakes and others, and was recently repaired.

Mr. George Herbert of this city has formed a business connection with G. C. Richards & Co. of Boston, extensive dealers in all kinds of fresh fish, and will carry on the fish-buying business on an extensive scale under the firm name of George Herbert & Co. The premises occupied by the late John Dixon have been leased for a long term of years, and the facilities for carrying on the trade will be increased as fast as necessary.

Mr. Editor: The designation "officials" seems rather general in its terms, and your correspondent "G" ought to specify his charges to the mayor, when doubtless the evil complained of would be remedied. But how about salaried officers like the marshal and assistant marshal leaving the city with its numerous cases of unheeded crime, its groggeries, its brothels and like sources of ill, to be absent on a tour in the upper part of the state, seeking cases of ancient horses or overworked or underfed cattle? Can we afford to pay these officers liberal salaries, and have their positions sinecures? Can the city get along with such officers at a distance, earning large fees while their salaries go on at home? If so, why not reduce the number of the police force? Certainly the sheriffs and their deputies, or the local constabulary, ought to be able better to apprehend and secure the punishment of offenders at a distant part of the state, than can the Portsmouth police officers; and the idea seems to be gaining ground that if these men have time enough to be absent from the city and not neglect their official duties, then such duties must be so light that a fewer number could perform them. Can we not economize in this direction, and relieve our TAX-PAYERS?

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, May 12th:

Bills amounting to $2509.15 were ordered to be paid.

H. H. Ham asked permission to sublet a part of the store under the city rooms. Referred to the committee on city lands and buildings.

Marcellus Eldredge asked leave to set telegraph poles on Islington street. Referred to committee on streets, to report.

An invitation from the Memorial day committee, for the city government to take part in the exercises of the day, was accepted.

Request of George Cox that he be compensated for being thrown out of a wagon through his horse taking fright at a steam fire engine, was referred to the committee on claims.

Request of Mrs. Thacher Emery for repairs of fence between her property and the Pleasant street cemetery, was referred to the committee on burying grounds, to report.

The committee on streets reported favorably on the petition of E. W. Cochrane for permission to make a driveway from his new stable to Congress street. On the petition of C. H. Mendum and others for a new street at the west end, the committee recommended leave to withdraw. Both reports accepted and adopted.

Horace J. Trafton was elected inspector of petroleum.

The matter of the extension of drain at Puddle dock was referred to committee on drains.

The aldermanic conferees on the appropriation bill reported that no agreement had been reached by the committee of conference concerning the striking out of the appropriation of $2000 for a reservoir on Court square. A message was received from the Common Council, stating that they had voted to refer to the joint committee on fire department, with the mayor added, the question as to the advisability of laying a pipe from the State street main of the aqueduct to the reservoir on Market square, or building the proposed new reservoir. The aldermen concurred in such reference, in so far as regards the reservoir on Court square; and in this the council concurred.

Adjourned for one week.

HOUSE WRECKED BY LIGHTNING.

During the heavy thunder storm on the night of the 11th inst., the house owned by Mrs. Catherine Welch, at Spruce creek, Kittery, was struck by lighting at about half-past ten o'clock. From appearances the bolt separated, it having struck the roof in quite a number of places, and passed through to the cellar, on its way tearing off laths and plastering, splitting boards and splintering beams, throwing several windows out of place and breaking most of the window-glass in the house, and causing havoc in all directions. From the cellar it passed to two trees about ten feet from the house, splitting the sill of the house on its way out, and splitting both the trees after it got out; and finally passed into the ground, which it tore up for some distance. Our informant could make no estimate of the amount of damage, but says the house looked to be thoroughly wrecked. The occupants of the house were Mrs. Welch and her son and daughter. The lightning passed through Mrs. Welch's chamber, she being in bed at the time, and she received a shock from which she had not fully recovered the next evening. Her son, Mr. Melvin Welch of this city, was occupying a room up stairs, and was unceremonious ly tumbled out of bed to the floor, though he experienced but a slight shock, of which the effect soon passed off. Miss Welch is not reported as having received any injury at all. Persons who have looked through the house consider the escape of the occupants from instant death as nothing less than wonderful.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.

The following report of a case of cruelty to animals, ending with a query as to the efficacy of the societies for the prevention of cruelty, appeared in a recent issue of the Lakeside News:

A case of extremely cruelty to animals is reported from Alexandria. It is said that a man (?) living in Danbury near the Alexandria line, is heartlessly starving his cattle. He owns from twenty to thirty head. At present he has no more hay than ought to be fed to them in a single day, and they have eaten the wood work within their reach to appease their appetite. More than this, appearances indicated that the stable had not been cleaned out during the winter. It is also said to be a fact that he has had five head of cattle on a farm in Alexandria that have been fed and watered only once in two days during at least a part of the past winter. What is the use of our great societies for the "Prevention of Cruelty to Animals?" H.

The next issue of the News contained an excellent answer to the question, and a spirited vindication of the S. P. C. A., by a lady who wields a vigorous pen. We give it here:

LAKE VILLAGE, April 26th.

Ed. Lakeside News: Your correspondent from Bristol, in reporting a case of cruelty to animals in Danbury, this state, asks what is the use of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals? Please inform "H" that if he will give the name of the monster he reports as starving his animals, to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, he will soon know what it can do and what it will do. The society is not supposed to know what is going on in Alexandria and other places so far remote, unless some live person will report the matter? Inform the society of the bare facts, "H," do not be afraid of losing a vote by so doing. MARGARET S. COOPER.

The confidant assertion of the lady that the society would attend to the case if it was reported to any of its officers, was fully justified by its action in the matter. An agent of the society was quietly at work on that, and another case in the vicinity of Alexandria, before either article appeared in the News. Both offenders have already been made to realize the potency of the New Hampshire statute for the protection of dumb animals.

Dignity of Labor.

The day will come—and may I do something to help it hither—when the youth of our country will recognize that, taken in itself, it is a more manly, and therefore in the old, true sense, a more gentle, thing, to follow a good handicraft, if it makes the hands black as a coal, than to spend the day in keeping books and making up accounts, though therein the hands remain white. Not but that, from a higher point of view still, all work, set by God and done divinely, is of equal honor; but where there is a choice I would gladly see a boy of mine choose rather to be a blacksmith, or a watchmaker, or a bookbinder, than a clerk. Production, making, is a higher thing in the scale of reality than any mere transmission, such as buying and selling. It is, besides, easier to do honest work than to buy and sell honestly. More honor, of course, to those who are honest under the greater difficulty. But the man who knows how needful the prayer, "Lead us not into temptation," knows that he must not be tempted into temptation even by the glory of duty under difficulty. In humility we must choose the easiest, as we must hold our faces unflinchingly to the hardest, even to the seeming impossible, when it is given us to do.—George Macdonald.

Naval Affairs.

The Vandalia, from Norfolk, arrived below at Boston on the night of the 11th inst., her errand being to tow the Ossipee to Norfolk for repairs.

The Trenton, flagship of the European squadron, sailed from Port Mahon for Palermo and Castellamare on the 26th of April. On the same date the Galena was cruising in Greek waters, and the Nipsic was at Tunis.

Commander John A. Howell has been ordered to duty as assistant in the bureau of ordnance at Washington.

The Naval Institute prize for 1881, consisting of $100, a gold medal and a life membership of the institute, for the best essay on "Types of armored vessels and unarmored cruisers best adapted to the needs of the United States," has been awarded to Lieutenant Edward W. Very, U. S. N.

It is said that the officers of the Minnesota are disgusted with their situation at Newport, R. I., and that the schoolship will soon be ordered to the station on the Thames river.

—"I find that with light meals my health improves," said the Esquimaux; and down went another candle.

—Paper dinner-plates are now in use. "By and by," says the Syracuse Herald, "they will print the news of the day around the rim and serve them fresh at every meal."

THE IMPERISHABLE PERFUME.

Murray & Lanman's FLORIDA WATER,

Best for TOILET, BATH, and SICK ROOM.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

"Register of the Non Commissioned Staff, United States Army, Corrected to March 1881. Published by the Army and Navy Journal, 240 Broadway, New York."

The non-commissioned officers attached to the various staff departments have been very much gratified by the publication by the Army & Navy Journal of a very compact and handsomely printed register, giving their stations, date of appointment, and the records of their services in the army, so far as these could be obtained. This register brings to light many facts of interest to those immediately concerned, and to all connected with our army, as showing the material of which it is composed. The Nestor of the non-commissioned staff would appear to be Ordnance Sergeant James M. Brooks, stationed at Fort Preble, Me. He entered the service in May, 1834, forty-seven years ago. Another ordnance sergeant, Geo. Bromley, of Fort Mifflin, Penn., entered nearly a year later, March 30th, 1835. Hospital Steward Walter Newburn, Fort of Brady, Mich., entered nearly as soon, July 20th, 1837. Fifteen altogether were in service before the close of the Mexican war, and 161 in the military service before the close of the war of the rebellion. This is certainly a very fair representation of veterans in a body of 454 men—more than one-third. Some of these were commissioned officers of volunteers. Others are veterans of the Florida war and the Mexican war, as well as of the rebellion; and the Indian campaigns in which they have served are innumerable. We have also one or two veterans of the Crimea, and the English campaign in India at the time of the Sepoy outbreak. The navy has two representatives among these non-commissioned officers, one old salt having had his service in the Swedish navy. The University of Tubingen honors us with one of its graduates, now dispensing drugs as a hospital steward at Fort Garland, Colorado. The "Register," which is corrected to March, was issued on the 2d of April, and already several hundred copies of it have been sold. It is put at the nominal price of twenty-five cents a copy, to cover the cost of its issue, and is sent by mail prepaid at that price.

"The Story of Ireland" is told by Dion Boucicault, and sent forth in a neat pamphlet of twenty-four pages from the publishing house of James R. Osgood & Co., of Boston. The pamphlet contains a brief outline of leading events in the history of the country, and pending the present question about Ireland is of interest to all who desire information as to the land tenure of this oppressed people. The portrait of the author is upon the title page. Price ten cents.

A Paper Carpet.

A description is given of a paper carpet now made in England, and designed to imitate parquet flooring, the paper being printed in patterns to imitate different woods from photographs, so that, as it is stated, the resemblance is absolutely perfect. The floor is first prepared by being made perfectly level, and the crevices filled up with plaster of Paris; over the surface, as thus prepared, hession is stretched, and on this, first lining paper and then the patterned paper is pasted, the whole being finished with a coating of a peculiar kind of varnish, described as wonderfully hard and wear-resisting. This kind of carpeting can be kept perfectly clean with the greatest ease, and though the wear of paper carpeting may be thought problematical, the inventor states that he has had rooms covered with it for sixteen months, without showing any appreciable signs of wear. Its appearance, also, is very satisfactory to the eye.

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.—Harrisburgh Patriot.

—The steamer R. R. Springer recently made a very quick trip from New Orleans to Cincinnati, and the suspicions of the inspector of steamboats at Cincinnati were aroused. Accordingly he instituted an examination on the steamer, and found the weights on all the five safety valves moved out to their utmost limit. The engineer acknowledged to carrying 170 pounds of steam, when he is not allowed to go above 156 pounds. That steamer is a good one for travellers to avoid.

EXTRACT.—For persons suffering from exhaustion of the powers of the brain and nervous system, from long and continued study or teaching, or in those cases of exhaustion from which so many young men suffer, I know no better medicine for restoration of health than Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

EDMOND CLAY, M. D., Pugwash, N. S.

—Millinery item: "Ma," exclaimed the boy, gazing down into the back yard, where the young lady next door was talking to his sister, "come and look at the bonfire." She came and looked, and then exclaimed: "My son, that isn't a bonfire, that's a spring bonnet."

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 650 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first class hotel in the city. [illegible]

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their first mortgage bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

Frank G. Caverly, of Strafford, while driving a pair of horses attached to a plough on the 11th inst., received a kick in the face from one of the horses, and had his left cheek bone and upper jaw badly smashed. It is considered doubtful if he recovers.

Joseph Cilley of Dover was thrown from a horse's back, on the 11th inst., striking the ground heavily and being rendered insensible. His injuries were feared to be fatal.

A summer residence, the property of Boston parties, situated on Milton plains, near north-east pond, was set on fire by an incendiary, Monday night, the 9th inst., and with its contents burned to the ground. Loss $500; no insurance.

On Tuesday night, the 10th inst., during the violent thunderstorm which prevailed, the dwelling of Mr. Frank Foss at Strafford Centre was struck by lightning, badly damaging it and setting it on fire, but the fire was extinguished before destroying the building. The family were alseep in the house, but none of them were injured, although considerably frightened.

Five thousand young trout were sent to Farmington from Plymouth, May 12th; as many more to Lake Village, and about 10,000 to Newport.

On the 11th inst., at Milford, the thermometer marked ninety-two in the shade at two o'clock in the afternoon. At Plymouth, on the night of the 11th, a heavy rainfall raised the streams higher than usual in the spring freshets.

Sanborn's drive of about 500,000 feet of lumber, with twenty-five men, arrived on Thursday last at Livermore Falls, after a tedious passage, having been nearly a week on the way. At that place they had to wait for the high water to subside, having been previously delayed by low water. Their destination is Concord.

The farm house of John W. Thompson, in Farmington, was burned May 11th, with nearly all its contents. The fire is supposed to have caught from the chimney. Loss $2,000; insurance $1,000. The barn and other buildings were saved by the neighbors.

Up to the time of going to press the stands at Exeter are still announced in tributed.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Harper's Magazine" for June is beautifully illustrated and of high literary merit. Mr. Parton contributes a remarkable article on "The Trial of Jeanne Darc." Much has been written and said of the "Maid of Orleans," and she has since her strange career had as strange a fate in her reputation. Mr. Parton's article is the result of study of the subject, and is written in his striking style. "The White Mountains" is the opening article, and it has eighteen fine illustrations. The humming birds are described and their portraits given. Lisbon is made real by thirteen illustrations, and there are several poems of more merit than the average of magazine poetry. It is a more than usually interesting number of one of the best and oldest of our monthly magazines.

"The Life of Elbridge Gerry Brooks," to be issued in a few days by the Universalist Publishing House, Boston, is a book that will claim the attention of readers irrespective of sectarian lines. Novel in plan and presentation, it aims to be in some sense a departure from the customary "Memoir" style, and seeks to subordinate the mere details of an active minister's life to the events of which his life-work was a part. Dr. Brooks was a prominent minister in the Universalist church for nearly half a century, and his labors in its behalf were earnest and untiring. One volume, 12mo, 247 pages, price $1.25.

Thousands of Drunkards

Are made annually by the use of medicines called tonics and bitters, containing a large portion of rum and other kinds of spirits, (all of which should be labelled destruction and death). Dr. Kennedy has put up the "Favorite Remedy" in form of a syrup, without one drop of spirits. Hence, it may be given to persons of all ages, of either sex, who require a medicine to purify the blood, regulate the liver, kidneys or bowels, or to give tone and strength to the system. Sold by all druggists; $1.00 a bottle.

Thomas B. Rogers, a wealthy farmer of Orrington, Me., was found dead in the woods, hanging from a tree, May 12th. Suicide.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken, they were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie L——, Rockport.

A XIX Speech.

The convention of the United States Brewers' Association met at Brandt's hall in Chicago, May 11th, and were welcomed by J. H. McAvoy for the Chicago Brewers' Association. An address was delivered by Herman B. Scharmann, of Brooklyn, N. Y., acting president of the association, who presented a vast array of figures to show the steady increase of the brewing business. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1863, the aggregate production of fermented liquors was 1,765,827 barrels, while for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, the production was 13,347,110 barrels—an increase since the internal revenue department took cognizance of the business of nearly 12,000,000 barrels. After noting this great increase of business the address also deals with the dangers that threaten it, which are also increasing, and refers to the law recently passed in Kansas, forbidding the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages, and to temperance movements in Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, North Carolina, South Carolina and New York. After referring to temperance laws as "pernicious, mischievous and degrading enactments," Mr. Scharmann said: "It is for us to show, and by means of our association, that there is a limit to this foolishness; that the majority of mankind are quite able to take care of themselves; and that the faults of the few are by no means a good reason for punishing the many. The practical suggestion I would offer is that your executive be empowered to extend aid and encouragement to its members in any state, when such laws rob them of their privileges and property, to fight them to the very end by proving their unconstitutionality, and by holding them up to the execration and ridicule of all reasonable people." The acting president's speech appears to have been quite frothy.

The convention on the 12th passed a vote condemning the prohibition movement, and also voted to establish an academy for scientific brewing.

A Big "Call."

The secretary of the treasury, on the 12th inst., issued a call for the entire amount of the five per cent loan outstanding. He also announces that an amount not exceeding $250,000,000 of this loan may be continued on the same terms as the six per cents are, the balance being reserved from this privilege with a

The Senate.

The entire executive session of the Senate, on the 12th inst., was devoted to further consideration of the nomination of Stanley Matthews for appointment as associate justice of the supreme court. The principal speakers were Senators Edmunds, David Davis, Logan and McMillan, in opposition, and Senators Sherman, Pendleton and Beck in advocacy of confirmation. At the end of the discussion a vote was taken on the question of confirmation, which resulted in twenty-two yeas and twenty-one nays, so the nomination was confirmed. The affirmative and the negative votes were about equally divided between the two political parties.

The closeness of the vote on Matthews' confirmation recalls, to persons familiar with the history of the supreme court, the fact that Justice Clifford was confirmed in 1858 by the same bare majority of one.

The Boston Traveller of Friday evening says: "Mr. William E. Chandler has decided to solve one of the difficulties in the present senatorial situation. There is excellent authority for the statement that his nomination to be solicitor general of the United States will very soon be withdrawn from the Senate at his own request."

News and Notes.

The Lowell "mystery" has been cleared up. A thorough investigation has shown that the remains of a woman found in a vault were put there by a medical student, after dissection.

Two of the small-pox patients in the pest-house at South Adams, Mass., died on the night of the 11th inst., making ten deaths that have occurred from the disease since its first outbreak.

Milton Hart and Jesse Register fought a duel with knives at Atlanta, Ga., May 12th. Both were fatally wounded.

The monks of the Monastery of St. Francis, near Cresson, Pa., have rescued from two tramps an eight-years-old son of Charles Green, whom they had kidnapped at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Christian F. Rapp, principal of a Cincinnati school, married one of his young lady pupils. Three days after marriage she disobeyed him, and from force of habit he whipped her. She has sued for divorce.

Frank Walworth, who murdered his father in New York state some years ago, and was discharged from prison on the grounds of ill health and threatened idiocy, was admitted to the bar at Ithaca, N. Y., a few days ago. It was not the prisoners' bar, nor the thirsty man's, but the counsellors' bar.

Rev. Adirondack Murray is reported as living happily on his farm near San Antonio, Texas.

Lish Coates, a colored man at Dublin, Ga., has been arrested for whipping a woman so severely that her death is momentarily expected. He was released a few weeks ago from the penitentiary, where he was sent for four years for tying a negro woman and whipping her to death.

Seven hundred dollars per letter is what Uncle Sam's mail costs on one of the star routes in New Mexico. This is what the contractors called "building up the country."

Edward Worcester, only son of Aspiel M. Worcester of Columbia, Me., was drowned at Saco on Thursday last.

The first cargoes of this year's mackerel arrived in Boston this week. The schooner J. S. McQuinn took in about 40,000 fresh ones, taken about fifty miles south of Barnegat, and which sold at $1.25 per hundred by count. The schooner Lizzie Williams took in 240 barrels of salt mackerel, which sold at $4 for each 200 lbs. in fishermen's order.

Fishing schooner Carrie S. Dagle, Capt. Richard Richardson, of Gloucester, is missing. She was seen two days before the gale of April 15th, on the western banks, with 50,000 lbs. of fish on board. She was leaking badly, but the master declined offers of assistance, stating that he could easily make a port. It is feared that the gale set her to leaking worse, and she went down. Her booby hatch has been picked up by schooner Messina.

Naval Affairs.

Medical Director J. M. Brown is detached from duty as a member of the retiring board at Washington. Medical Director F. M. Gunnell is ordered to duty on the board. Passed Asst. Surgeon Henry G. Beyer is ordered to special duty.

Lieut. Giles B. Harber is detached from the Tennessee, and ordered to the torpedo boat Alarm.

Master Wm. E. Babcock is ordered to duty in the hydrographic office.

Capt. Richard L. Law, chief of the bureau of yards and docks at the navy department, has tendered his resignation. Admiral E. T. Nichols will succeed him.

—St. Louis is alarmed because Chicago boasts of "bacteria" in its drinking water. The St. Louisians don't know what bacteria are, and imagine it to be a fancy friend, in his youth, with girls coming into the office, resting their hands on some type that was set up, and "pying" it. Such a thing occurred once in the Advertiser office in Geneva, N. Y., and the editor, a young man named Parker, decided on revenge. He never swore, but appeared pleased. He followed the girl relentlessly, and made himself her friend, apparently. For two years he pursued that poor innocent girl, but at last the time came to wreak his vengeance, and he married her. Both are living to this day. Few young men would go to such extremes to get even with a girl who "pied" type, but he was a man of fiery disposition. We often told him that temper of his would make him trouble, but he did not believe it.—Peck's Sun.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s Ag jas82

AROUND HOME.

Schooner E. H. Creed, belonging to Laighton Bros. & Co., sails for the Shoals to-day with the mooring gear of the floating stage.

Sagamore bridge is receiving needed repairs. Some lumber hauled there for this purpose is said to have surreptitiously departed.

A large tree on Mr. Albert Manson's premises at Kittery was struck by lightning during the storm on the night of the 11th inst., and considerably shattered.

Mr. Horace G. Vaughan, of the firm of Vaughan Bros., bakers, is to remove to Manchester to engage in the baking business there with Mr. C. F. Vaughan. The firm of Vaughan Bros. will be continued in this city by Messrs. Joshua M. Vaughan and Jere. Towle.

One of our Dover point friends, when on his way home Tuesday afternoon, the 10th, discovered doubled up under a tree, seeking shelter from the rain, a Portsmouth man encased in a linen duster, light summer pants and straw hat. He was coming to Dover, and did not think it was likely to rain until he would arrive at his destination. He was thoroughly soaked to his skin.—Dover Democrat.

The City Guards, Capt. James E. Ford, and the Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. E. D. Coffin, have accepted the invitation to parade on Memorial day; it is hoped that the Odd Fellows' Encampments, whose handsome uniforms and correct drill add so largely to any occasion in which they participate, will also take part in the exercises of the day.

The schooner G. W. Raitt, Coleman master, from Rockland with lime, and the Laura Robinson, Luce master, from Perth Amboy with coal, both bound for Dover, arrived at this port on the 12th inst., and the lime schooner was towed up the Cocheco in the afternoon by the tug Ann. The collier did not arrive soon enough to save the tide, and had to wait until next day before proceeding to her destination.

Mr. Charles E. Walker, in the repairs of his wharf, preparatory to the building of a coal-pocket, is using steam in driving the spiles, and is doing some quick work. On Thursday one of the spiles was driven seven feet in thirteen minutes. On Friday the engine was moved and the driver hoisted, but the spile not being placed in position the driver went into the water, nearly burying itself in the mud. On the low tide a hook was attached, when it was drawn out and placed again in position.

Maggie Mitchell will appear at Music hall on Monday evening next, as "Fanchon, the cricket on the hearth." Nothing of real value can be added to this announcement, in the way of inducing people to attend, for the little actress is a noted favorite, and Fanchon has always been her favorite character with the public. The advance sale of tickets has been very large, but good seats can still be secured at Preston's; how it will be on Monday we cannot say, so intending purchasers will do well to get their tickets to-day.

Friend William Hill, of North Berwick, for many years a prominent business man of that place, died on the 12th inst. at the age of about eighty years. Besides being largely engaged in the manufacture of woollen goods he was president of the local bank, and in other ways identified with the business and prosperity of the town. At the time of the long fight between the Boston & Maine railroad and the Eastern, so ruinous to the latter, he was very active in influencing the Boston & Maine to build the extension from the South Berwick junction to Portland. He was for many years president of the Cocheco railroad, now called the Dover & Winnipesaukee road.

Capt. Levi Downs, late of the schooner Mary E. Caswell, has succeeded in getting the whole of a new fishing boat taken up, mostly by Portsmouth parties. The new vessel is building at Hodgdon's mills, Boothbay, Me., and is said to be of fine model and very strongly constructed; she is expected to be ready for fishing by the last of June. She is of about sixty tons, and is not yet named.

Three young men, students of Harvard college, Cambridge, left Boston Wednesday afternoon, reaching Lawrence about four o'clock, by the way of the Boston & Maine railroad, carrying with them a canoe which was somewhat novel in its construction and antique in appearance. After arriving at that place the canoe was raised on their shoulders and the trio then started for the water's edge, where they were to embark for this city. After reaching here the excursionists are to take the cars for Exeter, N. H., when they will again take the water and "paddle their own canoe" for Portsmouth, N. H. The gentlemen were equipped and prepared to encounter all obstacles that may come before them.—Newburyport Herald, 13th.

WOODBURY LOCKE.

Mr. Woodbury Locke died very suddenly on Friday afternoon, while out for a drive. He had been out in a top-buggy as far as the Eastern railroad bridge above the Plains, and was returning by way of Middle road, when as he neared the residence of Mr. McCarty he was seen to fall back in the buggy and toward its side, the horse immediately turning out of the road to the wall, and stopping. Mrs. McCarty sent her son to see what the matter was, and he finding Mr. Locke insensible, led the team into the yard, Mr. Locke gasping but once after that time. Medical aid was summoned, and the cause of death was pronounced to have been disease of the heart. The body was taken into the house, and afterwards brought in to the city by Sewell W. Webber and Charles Dempsey. Mr. Locke, though not lately in good health, was in excellent spirits just before starting on what proved to be his last drive, and remarked to a friend that he felt like a young man of twenty-five years.

Mr. Locke was a native of Newcastle, but came to this city when quite a young man, and engaged in the livery stable business on State street in the stable formerly occupied by Edwin R. Locke, on the site of the house now occupied by Dr. E. Richter. He afterwards purchased and removed to the stone stable on Fleet street, and a portion of the City hotel estate adjoining. After the burning of the hotel he enlarged his stable yard, and had an entrance thereto from Fleet street. He had for many years been in successful business on this spot. He was a shrewd man, well posted in all that pertained to the livery business, and always gave close attention to his occupation. He recently purchased part of the wooden block opposite his stable, and intended to erect thereon a substantial brick dwelling, but being unable to purchase the other part of the estate, sold the part he had bought. He was full of energy, and was popular with his customers; and his opinion in regard to horses was frequently sought by intending buyers. In his domestic relations he was a kind husband and affectionate father. To the outer world he appeared as a despiser of shams, and with an appreciation always of the substantial in men and things. He leaves a wife and one daughter, who have the sympathy of our community in their sudden bereavement.

A HARD EXPERIENCE.

On Friday morning at about two o'clock, as Capt. Wm. F. Shields and Mr. Christopher Killinbeck were coming from up the river, where they had been to buy a boatload of fresh herring for bait to be used on their fishing trawls, they accidentally struck one of the piers of Portsmouth bridge with such violence that the boat was broken and sank immediately, leaving the unfortunate men to struggle as best they could with the fierce current sweeping through the bridge.

Mr. Killinbeck was able to reach a cross-timber, upon which he succeeded in climbing, and there remained until aided to reach the roadway above.

Mr. Shields caught one of the upright piles, and by literally holding on with his teeth and finger nails was able to resist the strong tide which threatened to carry him to destruction. After great exertions he secured a better hold, and was able to clasp the slippery post with his arms; then, taking a few moments to regain his breath, he began the almost hopeless attempt to climb to the top of the bridge, which he succeeded in doing, although he was nearly exhausted when he gained a foot-hold where he was safe.

Having extricated himself he turned his attention to his companion, who was still in a dangerous position from which he could not escape without help. Hastening to the toll-house Mr. Shields procured a long rope, and making a loop in one end it was lowered to the imperilled man, who slipped the bight under his arms and was soon drawn to the top of the bridge by his friend, and others who had hastened to the rescue from the toll-house.

The loss of the dory and its load of bait, for which they had just paid $12, falls heavily upon the two fishermen, as they both have large families to support. It was a remarkable escape, however, and the poor fellows were glad to get off with their lives.

Since the foregoing was in type we learn the dory was picked up in the lower harbor on Friday, and restored to its owners.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, May 13; Batchelder, J.

John Hanscom, for an assault on Phebe H. Hanscom, his alleged wife, was sent to jail for thirty days, costs being taxed at $6.90.

John Hanscom and Phebe H. Hanscom, charged with keeping a disorderly house, were held in $200 each to await the action of the grand jury in October.

Elizabeth Murphy, an inmate of the Hanscoms' place, for drunkenness was fined $10, costs $6.90.

Oliver H. Cook, for an assault on Clarence A. Parmenter, was fined $1, costs $9.18. Paid.

BACK TALK.

Ed. Chronicle: Let me appease the apprehensions of your correspondent, "Tax-payers," whose contribution to your local columns Friday morning indicates that its author struggles with dire forbodings of impending calamities, whenever a member of our police force is absent from the city engaged in enforcing the law against cruelty to animals. It is hoped that hereafter when the anti-cruelty society engages the services of one of our officers, out of town, they will give your timid correspondent a secure refuge within the protecting walls of the Old Ladies' Home, or hide him in the store of a non-advertising merchant, during the absence of his natural protector, the blue-coated guardian of the public peace.

He seems very wise in regard to the existence of "numerous groggeries, brothels and like sources of ill," but quite otherwise in relation to one of the most active and energetic reform of the age. Let him act upon the advice he gratuitously offers another, and "specify his charges" against the groggeries and brothels, to the mayor, "when doubtless the evil complained of would be remedied."

A judicious exercise of the police in the cause of abused dumb animals will render them more prompt and skillful in the performance of their ordinary duties when called upon to restore and maintain order in times of great public excitement and danger, or in the ferreting out of crime.

OBSERVER.

Ed. Chronicle: A correspondent signing himself "Tax-payers," in your issue of the 13th inst., finds large fault with the Portsmouth police for aiding the long-named society of this city in enforcing the anti-cruelty law in other towns, and says "certainly" "the local constabulary ought to be able better" to enforce the law in their own towns, than can the Portsmouth police officers. The answer to this is that "certainly" the "local constabulary" of many country towns do not enforce this law at all, however "able" for the work they may be! He further asks: "Can the city get along with such officers at a distance, earning large fees while their salaries go on at home?" I answer, their salaries do not "go on at home;" for when any officer, from the marshal down, has been on one of these errands of mercy, his salary has been stopped all the time he was away, as the records of the office show. Again he says: "The idea seems to be gaining ground that if these men [the police] have time enough to be absent from the city and not neglect their official duties, then such duties must be so light that a fewer number could perform them." The intimation here is that the police force is depleted when an officer leaves the city; this is incorrect; on every occasion an experienced supernumerary goes on duty when a regular officer goes off, and draws his pay. If "Tax-payers" really knew the first thing about the matter on which he wrote so oracularly, his article does little credit to his ingenuousness. It may perhaps not be improper for me to add that I am neither a member of the long-named society nor of the police force, and that I am not and never have been a candidate for membership in either; also, that I am a TAX-PAYER.

We are assured, from a source which precludes a question of doubt in our mind, that the indignation of our correspondent "G," as expressed in a communication to the CHRONICLE of the 12th, was due to a misapprehension on his part, no reference whatever—not to mention insult—to him having been intended by the persons he rebuked.—Ed. Chronicle.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The committee on Memorial exercises on Friday evening chose Col. J. Horace Kent chief marshal for Memorial day, and in reply to the notification of their action received the following:

Samuel Dodge, Esq., chairman citizens' committee, and W. W. Smith, Esq., commander Storer Post, G. A. R.:

Gentlemen: Your entirely unexpected notification this evening that I had been chosen as chief marshal for the decoration services of Memorial day, I recognize as a distinguished compliment, and appreciate it the more inasmuch as it is for the second time. I wish that some other and more worthy and competent comrade or citizen might have been selected, but as you have had sufficient confidence to make me your choice I gratefully accept the position and aim at your service, with this proviso—that we remember that perfect organization, union, and harmony of action, are the prerequisites of success. Trusting that the day will never cease to be commemorated, I am, etc.,

J. HORACE KENT.

LIGHTNING'S DANGEROUS SPORT.

On the night of the 11th inst., at Gonic village, Rochester, lightning struck a telegraph pole near the Boston & Maine railroad station, and followed the wire into the ticket office, where it "cut up" generally. It demolished the windows, broke a lamp and set a box of paper on fire, emptied an ink-stand without upsetting it, melted all the wire in the office, stuck the rubber with which the wire was covered all over the walls, and threw books and papers into a confused heap. The station agent had taken the precaution to connect the ground wire before going to supper, but it failed to perform its assigned duty; he is very glad he obeyed the call to supper so promptly, as he was but a brief time absent from the office when the lightning took charge.

A Curious Fact.

Aunt Matilda is a good deal exercised at the lack of judgment displayed in newspaper advertising. She says she is a pretty close observer, if she is a woman, and she has noticed that the storekeepers who are always overrun with customers, doing a flourishing business, and who don't seem to need any advertising, are just the ones who do advertise; while those who have no trade, and need to advertise, never do so.—Boston Globe.

MASONIC MUTUAL RELIEF.

At the adjourned meeting of the Strafford County Masonic Mutual Relief Association, held in Dover on the evening of the 10th inst., the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President—S. S. Chick, Great Falls.
Vice Pres.,—C. W. Woodman, Dover.
Secretary—Wm. R. Tapley, Dover.
Treasurer—John T. W. Ham, Dover.
Trustees—Abner Oakes, South Berwick; C. W. Woodman, Dover; John R. Holbook, Portsmouth.

The annual reports of the treasurer and secretary were then read. They show that at the present time there is a membership of five hundred and eighty-eight, with a permanent fund of $4,156. Seven members died during the year, and the amount paid for relief was $8,218. The association was organized on the 13th of January, 1873, since which time the relief paid out amounts to $54,497, averaging $12 per $1000 per annum to each member. The association is in a very prosperous condition.

Warm Spring Weather.

Thursday, the 12th inst., was a remarkably hot day throughout most of the northern states and the Canadas. A despatch from Toronto says the mercury reached ninety degrees, the highest point recorded during May since the observatory was established in 1841. In other places in Canada the mercury registered eighty-five to ninety. At different points in New Hampshire and Vermont the thermometer rose to ninety and ninety-two. In New York city the heat was intense, and many cases of sunstroke were reported, but the thermometer did not register over ninety. At South Amboy, N. J., the mercury rose to ninety-seven, and at Red Bank, N. J., to ninety-four; several persons were prostrated by the heat, and one man died. At Washington there was great suffering from the intense heat. Fourteen cases of sunstroke were reported in New York city and Brooklyn during the day, six of which proved fatal.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

Rev. Father Donohue, a Catholic priest of Plymouth, Pa., was chloroformed by burglars last Thursday morning, and his house robbed of $800.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

It is reported from Burton, West Virginia, that on Friday night, May 6th, four men broke into the house of one McMasters, a newly married man, seized and bound him, and then in his presence subjected his wife to outrages too horrible to relate. Grant O'Neal, and James and John McGaffney have been arrested as three of the perpetrators. The excitement is at lynching pitch.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Gen. Grant on Thursday last signed a new contract at the city of Mexico with the Mexican government, embracing extensions of the Mexican Southern railway. It will be submitted to the Mexican Congress.

"Wait a Little Longer."

So we are told sometimes. Things will come out all right, people say, if we wait awhile. That don't do with disease. The longer you wait the worse it is. It's no use to plant corn in November. Do you "feel a little bad?" Strike the trouble right away. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is what you want. It will at once relieve the bowels, stimulate the liver and cool your skin. Take one dollar in your hand and stop at your druggist's, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

A two-years-old child of James Melvin was burned to death in Fall River, Mass., on the 12th inst., by the explosion of a kerosene lamp.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it did no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I consider my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

Merrill, the matricide of China, Me., was on the 12th inst. convicted of murder in the first degree, the jury taking just six minutes to come to an agreement. The murderer goes to the state prison for life.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. sep19,6m

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now offered market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS Why Suffer Needlessly With the convulsing, spasmodic tortures of fever and ague and billious remittent, when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, acknowledged to be a real curative of malarial fevers, will eradicate the cause, so much suffering. No less effective is this benignant alterative in cases of constipation, dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, and in general debility and nervous weakness. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

THE RED MASK. A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad. All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician. There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain, it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

SULPHUR BITTERS. THE BEST AND GREATEST SPRING MEDICINE. It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why are you troubled with Humors? Why look yellow and sallow? Why have Headache and Dizziness? Why lay and toss on your bed of pain with Rheumatism? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are all shattered, and needs some soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Why do you not take a cheap glass of pure Sulphur Bitters to-day? It costs but little, and will do you good. Why do you not take Bitters to-day? It is composed of simples only, and is perfectly combined in such proportions as to make it Nature's GREAT REMEDY. The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE. A. P. ORDWAY & CO., Chemists, Lawrence, Mass., Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas. SULPHUR PLASTERS cure pain in the side. KAUFMANN'S PILLS do not gripe. 25 cents.

Notice. THE SUBSCRIBER gives notice that she has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of John Maisbenden, late of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham, deceased. Daily Chronicle.

Uncle Tim's Talent.

Uncle Tim held up his saw, and squinted along the teeth to see whether it was "losing its set." He failed to decide, in his surprise at finding he was taking aim at the minister, who stepped in range just at that moment on the street side of the fence. His eyes came into gear again as he laid his saw on the wood-pile and stepped up to the fence, saying, "Well, it is queer. It's only a minute ago I was thinkin' about you. 'I was thinkin' what a good sermon that was you gave us last Sunday mornin', an' how I would tell you so the first time I saw you." Uncle Tim was the wood-sawyer and day's work factotum for the village. Unlearned, as he was, the minister always missed him if he was absent from church—he was such a helpful listener. And to Uncle Tim's compliment he replied, "You told me you thought it was at the time, in the way you listened to it; though, for that matter, you always seem to be interested. I don't suppose you know what a comfort such a hearer is to a minister. If all the congregation were like you, I think it would turn my poor sermons into good ones." "Thank you," said Uncle Tim. "I don't always get the hang of everything that's said, but I should get less if I didn't give attention. An' I always say to myself, 'The minister, he works hard to write his sermons, an' if folks don't listen to 'em, its pretty discouraging.' An' I says, 'You can't put much into the contribution-box, Tim, an' you can't talk in prayer meetin', but you can count one in listenin'; you can try to 'preciate what other folks do.'" "The talent for appreciating is an excellent one to have," remarked the minister. "Well, as I look at it, it's one as isn't denied to anybody," said Uncle Tim. "An' if its the only one I've got, I'll try not to wrap it in a napkin. When Deacon Mason does me good by one of his experience talks in prayer-meetin' I think it's no more than right he should know it. P'raps he has times of thinkin' that he can't say anything worth while, an' it stan's to reason that he can talk better if he's doing somebody some good. An' when Widder Hatch is makin' such a gritty fight to keep her children together, an' give them an education, I think mebbe, it makes it a little easier for her to stand up to it if a neighbor drops a word of 'preciation once in a while." The minister said nothing, but there was a look of "'preciation" on his face, and Tim continued: "The other day I see the young school-ma'am was lookin' worn out and sober like. I 'magined them big boys from the Holler was worryin' the life out of her. An' I didn't know how I could help that. But at noon I just went down to the school-house a purpose to tell her how nice my gran'son was gettin' along with his 'rithmetic. An' his father was coming round to drink cups of tea, for cheerin' her up—she did. An' when I see Sanford's boy take a little Irish girl's party that other boys were tormentin', an' they jeerin' him, I went up to him an' I says, 'Uncle Tim's nothin' but a wood-sawyer, but he knows enough to see that you've got the stuff of a gentleman in you.' You see old folks don't notice the young enough. An' there's Jim Brady, a drinkin', card-playin', shoot-in'-match creetur', who goes around a good deal like a dog without any owner. He know folks despise him. But Jim's right handy with tools, an' when I take my saw to him to have it filed, an' tell him he does that job better'n any other man I know, I think it helps him to have a little more respect for himself, I do. You see it's dreadful easy to look at faults—at faults in children, an' faults in hired folks, an' faults in tavern-keepers, an' faults in prayer-meetin's. But as I look at it we'd do a great deal better to think more about the good things in 'em."—Selected.

The Way of Transgressors.

Josephus K. Turner was a popular and prosperous young lawyer at Titusville, Penn., twelve years ago. He embarked in a scheme for the extensive swindling of the government through the pension department. He persuaded his sweetheart to help him, and she personated the wives of numerous mythical dead soldiers. He was convicted in twelve cases, and sentenced to twenty-four years' imprisonment. On his way to the prison he plunged through a window of the car, though he was ironed at his wrists and ankles, and the train was going thirty miles an hour. He fell into a frozen stream, breaking through the ice, and it was supposed that he was drowned; but he really escaped with a broken shoulder, and for more than a month skulked in woods and barns, suffering frightfully from cold, hunger, and his unset shoulder. He could not break off the shackles, and was at last betrayed by a blacksmith whom he asked to do the job. After serving five years of his sentence, he was pardoned. Going to Berner Springs, Michigan, he started life anew among strangers, and acquired a good legal practice. His experience in rascality ought to have been a sufficient warning against exploits in that line, but it was not. He is now under arrest for forgery.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

—Respectful obedience to church authorities is rarely lacking among Roman Catholics, and the case of St. Peter's church, at Brownsburg, Indiana, is therefore singular. Father Donovan refused to raise the money to pay a church debt, though ordered by Bishop Chatard to do so, and the Bishop promptly excommunicated him. The priest dutifully closed the church for two months, but last Sunday, sustained by his whole congregation, he resumed the regular service. "For the time being," he remarked, "we will report directly to the heavenly throne, without asking for the mediation of that fellow (Bishop Chatard) at Vincennes."

This favorite brand of pure Whiskey is bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, 35 Hawkins St., Boston. Possessing ample capital, this firm does not put up this brand of their best and purest goods until it has become mellowed by age. They control the entire production of this brand, and allow no adulteration whatever. It is a pure whiskey, and as such can be prescribed by physicians or purchased for domestic use from druggists and grocers everywhere.

Insurance in New Hampshire.

The advance sheets of the annual report of the insurance commissioner of New Hampshire, Hon. Oliver Pillsbury, covering the business of the year 1880, have been issued. It appears that in addition to twenty-one home mutual fire companies of very limited resources, and the New Hampshire stock fire company, all of which carry risks to the amount of about $15,500,000, there were licensed sixty-eight outside fire companies during the year. These carry risks in the state to the amount of $52,700,000, and it is believed that manufacturers' mutuals and special-hazard underwriters carry at least half as much more, of which no report is rendered. The statistics show the value of property consumed in the state to have been $978,400, being about $200,000 less than during the previous year. Of this amount the insurance companies paid about $412,000. The outside licensed companies received in premiums $428,819.57, and paid on losses $247,631.23, being about fifty-seven per cent of the amount of premiums. The commissioner bewails the destruction of so much property by fire, and while he regards over-insurance as the greatest procuring cause, begetting carelessness and inviting fraud among the insured, he argues against "valued policies" so-called, which require full payment without regard to the value, and which are adopted as a remedy for the evil of over-insurance. He predicts that the effect of this intended remedy will greatly facilitate fraudulent operations, and reward the criminals at the expense of the public who do all the paying. Twenty-one life insurance companies were licensed during the year. These companies wrote 2,600 policies, insuring $2,122,203. This was an increase over the previous year's policies of 1,655. The companies received in premiums $248,688.05, and paid on policy claims $276,- [illegible] to reiterate his views on co-operative or assessment organizations claiming to afford life insurance. He presents the actual experience of a considerable number of those institutions, tabulated from the recent sworn statements of their officers. Although not assuming an attitude of hostility, he evidently does not regard these institutions with favor, as substitutes for what is called regular life insurance.

The Railroad Case.

The case brought by Messrs. Frye and Scruton, of Maine, and Colony and Hale, representing the Manchester & Keene railroad against the city of Keene, for the recovery of the gratuity of $150,000 which Keene voted to pay when the road was completed, the trial of which was commenced last week, is within a very narrow compass, the question being first, has the railroad been completed so as to entitle it to the gratuity? and if it has been, when was it finished? the last being material as determining the time from which the plaintiffs should have interest on the gratuity. The answer of Keene is, that the road is not and never has been, in any proper sense, a railroad, such as the city agreed to help pay for. The evidence is mostly expert and documentary.

Massacres in the South Sea Islands.

The South Seas have of late proved fatal to many sailors. The massacres by the islanders include those of the crew of a Hong Kong trading vessel, the captain alone escaping; the captain and seven of the crew of the Annie Brooks; the master and all the crew of the Esperanza; the master and some of the crew of the Ripple; the crew of the Borealis; the master and two men of the Leela; the crew of the Zephyr and the crew of the Prosperity, whose heads were cut off and sent about to the villages, while their bodies were smoked and put in the mission house as trophies. Nevertheless, it is beyond question that white voyagers were the original aggressors, and although some of these victims apparently had no evil intent in landing, they paid the penalty of the crimes of others who were guilty of great wrongs and cruelties to the natives. After being maltreated by some white men, the savages knew no way of self-protection but to attack all visitors of the same color.

News and Notes.

Fishing schooner Woonsocket, of Portland, Me., Greenlock master, went on Romer shoal while endeavoring to make New York harbor a few days ago. She had 130 bbls. of mackerel on board, which will be a total loss.

While the schooner Leonora, Hurst master, and the Mary A. Wilson, were beating down at Newburyport on Friday last, they came into collision, the fore rigging and fore-topmast of the Leonora being carried away, and the bulwarks and fore rigging of the other vessel badly damaged.

Henry Wolfe, saloon keeper, of Norwich, Conn., aged forty-five years, once coachman of the late Gov. Buckingham, committed suicide Friday evening. His wife had been out of town and returned unexpectedly, and found Wolfe with a colored girl in the house under improper circumstances. Being discovered he rushed out of the room, grasped a revolver, and in spite of his wife's remonstrances shot himself, anddied instantly.

A serious shooting affray recently occurred in the village at Harmony, Maine. Two men, named Smith and Coburn, fired eleven shots at a man named Davis, and afterwards shot Davis' brother. One of the Davises is probably injured. The quarrel which led to the shooting was about a woman.

The Washington correspondent of the Providence Journal says that Professor Baird's Fish Commission is just now very busy. The increase in the number of fish in the Potomac is very noticeable this year, and the catch already shows a large percentage over that of the two previous years. This is due to the work of the commission in stocking the river. Large numbers of shad and herring eggs are hatched out every day in the hatchery at the navy yard and another about twenty miles below the city. Another hatchery is near Havre-de-Grace.

A rumor is prevalent in Washington that an administration paper will shortly be started there. The feeling against Gorham and Brady is taken advantage of by some enterprising newspaper speculators to suggest a clean administration daily, which would run out the Republican. There are several names connected therewith, and that of Levi P. Morton, is mentioned as the capitalist. The suggestion meets with favor at this particular time.

Sixty prominent men who have formerly been democrats attended a conference in Mississippi lately, and organized an anti-Bourbon party. They hope to take 20,000 white democrats with them, and help the republicans carry the state for Ex-Gov. Alcorn, a clean and conservative man. This they can do easily enough, if they can get a free ballot and a fair count.

There are 400 empty houses in Harlem, N. Y., because people have preferred to move elsewhere, rather than pay the exorbitant rents demanded by the landlords, which will probably prove an effectual method of "Boycotting."

Elizabeth Gadene, a wire rope dancer formerly connected with Barnum's circus, who fell from the rope while performing some three weeks ago and injured her spine, died on the 12th inst. at the New York Hospital, from her injuries.

Hon. Moses Emery of Saco, the oldest lawyer in the state of Maine, and a highly respected citizen, died suddenly May 12th, at the age of eighty-seven years. He had been unwell for some time.

Ledyard G. Payne, a pensioner of the war of 1812, died May 11th in Suffolk county, West Virginia, aged 101 years and 11 months.

The Cleveland Leader says that the students of Heidelberg college at Tiffin, Ohio, have been detected in a plot to blow up the college with gunpowder.

The census reports give 20,000,000 quarts of strawberries received in Chicago in a single season, which would make an average of about 10,000 bushels daily for over one month. The annual value of the fruit trade in Chicago is given at $16,000,000.

A Maryland woman on her death-bed has just confessed the murder of a man eighteen years ago, for which crime two negroes were hung. Her name is Mrs. Patty A. Ward.

A jury in Bangor, Me., gave a verdict for $150.62 1-2. They fought for two hours on the half cent.

A six-year-old son of Jerry Shea at Chicopee, Mass., was instantly killed on Thursday of last week by a cake of ice falling upon him from an ice wagon.

Herbert Nelson of Northport, Me., aged twenty-four years, has been missing a week, and is supposed to have been drowned. His boat has been found bottom side up.

In Fall River, Mass., on the 12th inst., it was discovered that an eight-years-old girl, in a tenement block occupied by five families was sick with small-pox. Measures were taken to prevent the spread of the dread disease.

A stay of execution has been granted in the case of James F. Walsh, the youth who stabbed and killed his sweetheart, Barbara Greenthal, in Brooklyn, and was sentenced to be hung May 20th.

Mr. William Buckingham, clerk for Mr. Frank N. Brown, clothing dealer of Watertown, Mass., left his home in Newton on Sunday, May 8th, and up to the 13th had not since been seen. His parents are anxious concerning his whereabouts, and so is a young lady of Hanover, to whom it is stated, he was to have been married on the 12th, all arrangements for the wedding having been perfected. The cause of his absence is unexplained.

A colored messenger in the Treasury Department falls heir to some $50,000 by the death of his father, a colored waiter at a Chicago hotel. The deceased was born in Virginia about the opening of the present century, and has been a well-known character in Chicago since the war times. At the time of the fire he was working in the Sherman house, and nearly lost his life in his efforts to save property, being finally borne senseless from the burning house. Before the emancipation he offered $1700 for the freedom of his son now here.

Schooners Oleander and Mary Bartlett arrived at St. Johns, Friday, from the banks of Newfoundland, with three hundred quintals each of codfish. They experienced terrible weather on the banks during the past week. The former had her decks swept and bulwarks destroyed. The latter lost cable and anchors. They report fish abundant. Several Gloucester and Cape Ann schooners were loaded.

Notwithstanding Mr. Conkling may feel badly about it, the government is able to hire all the money it needs at three one-half per cent. This looks like a general reduction in the rates of interest and persons who have settled investments at six per cent are fortunate.

Mezepah which arrived at New York on the 4th inst., reports that on May 1st, lat. 33.37 north, lon. 52.10 west, passed a ship on fire in] three places. The mainmast was standing, judged it was a steamer. Saw nothing of the crew.

Lieut. John Guest, attached to the eighth U. S. Cavalry, has been ordered to report to the superintendent of the general recruiting service at New York, to accompany a detachment of recruits, to the department of Texas.

Medical Inspector A. C. Gorgas has been appointed President of a board to convene at Annapolis for the medical examination of the class of midshipmen who report on May 14th for examination for promotion. Also to report on the 11th of June next for the medical examination of the candidates for admission to the Naval Academy.

A Somerset (Ky.) special states that the dog of Mr. Gastineau, in the eastern portion of the county, brought into the yard on the 13th inst., the head of a man, which on examination was found to be the head of a stock dealer who disappeared mysteriously a few days ago. Decomposition had not set in. The remainder of the body is not found.

Coal freights from Baltimore to this port are quoted at $1.65 and to Newburyport $1.75.

Second-Lieut. Samuel F. Jackson, is detached from the Marine barracks, at this naval station, and ordered to the Boston navy yard.

Messrs. Critchley & Whalley have purchased the land, building, and machinery belonging to Tripp & Barnard, on Hill street, used by them as a sash and blind factory.

Miss Downing from Boston sang in the choir of the Unitarian church on Sunday. She has a voice rich, melodious and expressive, and was listened to with much satisfaction by the congregation.

At the ladies reception given on the evening of May 5th, at the Union League Club, Philadelphia, among the distinguished guests present, were Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn and wife.

A special meeting of the School Board was held on the 13th inst. for the purposes of choosing a trustee of the public library to represent the School Board, and Mrs. Anna B. Wilson was unanimously elected a member of the board of trustees. An excellent selection.

The Pullman Palace Car Co., has made a quarterly dividend of two per cent. This it can do if it charges proportionately for passage in its cars as it does between Portsmouth and Boston, forty cents for a chair or nearly half the passage money by steamer.

The Lake Village Times of last week referring to some work now being done at that place, says: "Mr. Bailey, of Portsmouth, who has charge of the calking of the scows, calked the steamer 'Lady of Lake' when she was built here, thirty-two years ago; again when she was hauled out for repairs, twenty years ago; and later when she was repaired at Meredith, ten years ago."

Rev. James DeNormandie in his sermon on Sunday morning, gave a very just, as well as interesting sketch of three distinguished men who have recently died, all of whom were more or less intimately known in times past, by many members of the South Parish, namely: John G. Palfrey, whose brother was once a member of the parish, Geo. B. Emerson a descendant of a former pastor, and John F. W. Ware, whom it was at one time thought would become settled over the parish.

Maggie Mitchell, who has always been greeted with large audiences whenever she has appeared in this city, will give an entertainment at Music hall this evening, taking the part of "Fanchon." She will be supported by a first class company. An exchange says: One never tires of Maggie Mitchell, seen once it only adds to the desire to see her again. Her methods are unlike those of any other actress. She is thoroughly original, in everything she does. The advance sale of tickets has been large, and in order to secure good seats as but few remain unsold, it would be advisable to secure them early to-day, at Preston's drug store, where the plan can be seen and desirable seats secured.

The celebration of the seventieth birthday of Samuel Langdon, Esq., took place at his residence on Lafayette road, on Friday, the thirteenth. A large number of his relatives and friends, gathered to pay their respects to the worthy old gentleman who although well advanced in years still retains a vigorous manhood, and bids fair to live for many years to come. During the festivities Mr. Langdon was presented with a fine new spring overcoat, and an elegant tortoise wood cane by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Bell. The company were invited to a bountiful repast, after which they were shown many of the historical records of colonial and revolutionary fame, which are well preserved, and a visit to the well kept farm the company then separated, all hoping that the host and hostess may live to see many more happy birthdays.

The Concord (Mass.) Summer school for Philosophy will have a term of five weeks, beginning with a salutatory address of "A Bronson Alcott, July 11th, and closing Aug. 19th." Among the lecturers will be Mr. John Albee, who gives two lectures on faded metaphors, and Mr. Frank B. Sanborn, the secretary of the school, who lectures upon "Roman literature, English and German literature," and "American Literature and Life." This is the third year of the school and the indications are that it will be more prosperous even than in the years preceding.

The Gifford Compo-Shoe Machine Co., was recently organized in this city, under the voluntary corporation law for the purpose of manufacturing and leasing the Hydraulic Compo-Shoe Press Machines, under letters patent of the United States. The business is well developed, and pays 8 per cent. per annum. Dividends are paid from the earnings of the machines, and as the machines multiply, largely increased dividends may be expected from royalties. The stock is principally held by responsible gentlemen in Salem, Mass. Aug. J. Archer was chosen Treasurer. The capital stock is $100,000.

The Free Baptist Sunday school at Kittery point, observed the thirty-ninth anniversary of their school on Sunday evening, the 8th inst., by a concert. Dr. I. S. Wetherbee of Boston, the first superintendent and pastor of the church at the time of the founding of the school, was present and made some very interesting remarks.

The following are the officers of Pepperell Lodge, No. 35, I. O. of G. T. for the ensuing year; W. A. Bowman, W. C. T.; Abbie Randall, W. V. T.; E. A. Wilson, W. S.; Fred Grace, W. F. S.; A. L. Payne, W. T.; S. L. Payne, W. C.; Chas. Grace, W. M.; Rose Wilson, W. I. G.; Geo. Gunnison, W. O. G. The lodge is prospering and constantly increasing in membership.

It is stated that several senators at Washington who were confidently counted upon as Conkling's supporters, have received unmistakable assurances from prominent republicans at home, that their re-election is endangered by going against the administration to gratify Mr. Conkling. Even our neighbor of the Journal which heretofore has been an unqualified Conkling sheet, views the situation with alarm, and tells the leaders to "beware for they will be held to a strict account." There now, "let us have peace."

THE SOLDIERS' GRAVE-STONES.

The Dover Democrat of the 12th inst., referring to the head-stones for unmarked soldiers' graves some time since sent to Dover by the national government, and taken in charge by the local post of the Grand Army, says:

Many of them have been claimed by friends and relatives of the fallen heroes, but there are nearly fifty yet remaining. The committee having charge of them earnestly request the relatives of the men whose names are engraved on the stones to come and take them away forthwith, and have them erected in their proper positions before Decoration day so that they may be prepared for decoration purposes. In cases where no relatives of dead soldiers reside among us, the committee having charge of the stones will gladly give them to some friend or neighbor if he will erect them in their proper places.

The fifty-four head-stones received by the Portsmouth post of the Grand Army have all been put in position except one, and in that instance it has been learned that the man is buried elsewhere; but his resting-place is known, and will be marked with this stone in the future. The work here has been done and the entire expense borne by Storer Post, much time and a great amount of research and enquiry having been expended in locating some of the graves. In one instance it was discovered that a soldier was buried at a considerable distance from the grave which for years has been decorated in his memory. In another case the friends of the deceased put up a head-stone after the name was sent to Washington by the post, so when the government stone arrived it was not needed for that grave; but it was utilized for another one, concerning which information was received after the list of names had been forwarded, the stone being recut without charge by Mr. John S. Treat. After all the labor expended by the post in endeavoring to make the first list sent to Washington a full one, it is now thought that at least fifteen more stones will be required before all the deceased veterans' graves will be marked.

It is pretty safe to bet that Mr. Chandler will not be collector of the port of New York. There is no doubt, however, that the President would like to get an expression from New York republicans in regard to so important an innovation as the bestowal of the office upon a citizen of another state. If the opinion is favorable—in other words, if the republicans of this state are found willing to give up the office in order to prevent a quarrel and avert defeat next fall, the new appointee will be a man from Ohio. It should be remembered in this connection that certain Ohio papers were the first to put forth the assumption that the office was national in its character because merchants from Cincinnati patronized it, and that it should therefore be employed to strengthen the party without regard to state lines. On this the only ground of argument, there is no excuse for giving the office to a man from New Hampshire, which does not patronize New York at all, but which has a custom house of its own at Portsmouth, and is always given two or three fat places and a host of minor ones in the custom house at Boston.—Kingston (N. Y.) Freeman.

—A vicar of a county parish in England had occasion lately to remonstrate with a lowly member of his flock, who had regularly been conspicuous by his absence from the celebration of the Holy Communion, for his non-attendance. Hodge hazarded the excuse that he didn't consider himself sufficiently qualified to attend. "Why not?" urged the vicar; "you have been confirmed." "Yes, sir," replied Hodge, "and vaccinated, too; but they neither of 'em took."

—A man on trial for arson in Branch county, Michigan, showed that the house was owned by his wife, and the judge ruled that as he occupied the house in common with her, and the state statutes defines the crime of arson to be "burning the dwelling of another," setting fire to the building would not constitute the crime. The accused was accordingly discharged. A pretty comment on the justice of our laws.

Queer Occupation of a St. Louis Man.

Among the queer characters of St. Louis is Michael Racek, who makes a living, and considerable more, by travelling through the city sewers and gathering such articles of value as he may find. He has spent nine years in this business, and says he likes it. He dresses in rubber to the waist, and wears a rubber cap. He finds many watches, some of them gold, and considerable miscellaneous jewelry of uncertain value. People wear much brass now, he says, so that his occupation does not pay as well as formerly. He finds many old clothes, which his wife cleans, after which he sells them to second hand dealers. He has known the same suit to pass through the sewer twice. He gets some clothes from dead bodies which he finds floating toward the sewer outlets. "I have within a year," he says, "found five dead bodies. Somebody killed them and pushed them down through the holes. I think most of them had been robbed; four had their pockets turned out, but one of these had $10 in the watch pocket; the other one had a good deal of money." He never reports such cases to the police, because, as he puts it, "Nobody would pay me for that." He sees infant corpses nearly every day, but they possess no interest to him unless they have clothes on, which is not usually the case.

New Hampshire Items.

A two-years-old son of J. Kenney, of Manchester, was drowned in a cistern on the night of 12th inst.

The Tubular Rivet Co., have commenced an equity suit on the Circuit Court of the United States for this district, against a Farmington firm for an alleged infringement of the company's patent.

The accounts of the County Treasurer and Commissioners were audited last week. The treasurer's report shows a reduction of the debt amounting to $27,700.71; bonded debt of the county, $71,100; cash on hand, $9674.02. The sum of $29,600 will be due on the debt in October. Cost of support of the poor and prisoners at Brentwood is less than $2, against $2.75 last year.

The American Door Hanger Company, with $200,000 capital, has been incorporated to make door and blind hangers, under patents granted to Edwin Prescott formerly of Hampton Falls in this state. James Alexander is president, C. O. Burbank treasurer, and Edwin Prescott, John C. Watson, Jeremiah Prescott and W. H. Mendell directors.

A despatch from Manchester, dated the 13th inst., says: "Hon. William E. Chandler, who is in this city attending the hearing in a suit against the Manchester & Keene railroad, was interviewed to-day as to the statement in the Boston Journal that he had ordered the withdrawal of his nomination, and says emphatically that there is no truth in such a statement."

Prominent among the influential ladies of our state, who are identified with, and workers in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, stands the name of Mrs. B. B. Tobie, of Franklin, our efficient agent of the S. P. C. A., who since its organization, has interfered in numerous cases of cruelty. Her cool, courageous action on such occasions, puts to shame the indifference of masculine observers, who like the priest and Levite in the parable, "pass by on the other side," and neglect the act of mercy, which she like the good Samaritan, is always ready, and certain to perform.

Notice to Mariners.

LIGHTHOUSE INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,
PORTLAND, ME., May 11th, 1881.

Changes in the colors of buoys, &c, by reason of the re-arrangement of the list of beacons, buoys, etc, for the 1st Lighthouse District, (extending from Eastport, Me., to Hampton river, N. H.,) will be made at an early day; and persons navigating the coast of Maine are again warned of the contemplated change. The new arrangement of the buoys contemplate the approach from the eastward instead of from the westward, as formerly.

WASHINGTON, May 11th—Notice is given by the Lighthouse Board that on and after July 20th, 1881 a fixed white light of the fourth order will be shown from the lighthouse recently erected on Bell's rock, York river, Va. The apparatus lights 270 degrees of the horizon, and is 45 1-2 feet above mean low water. The structure is hexagonal in form, and stands on iron piles in 10 feet of water. The roof and foundations are brown, the superstructure white, and the lantern red.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s &g jan22

Oysters as Buttons.

The following story is told of Francis Drexel, the father of the well-known Philadelphia bankers. Soon after the close of the war with Mexico, many Spanish and Mexican silver dollars found their way into the United States, and were bought up by bankers and money-dealers all over the country. The price paid for them varied greatly, according to the demand and supply and the condition of the pieces themselves. At the close of a rainy day, during which Mr. Drexel—then doing a very modest business on Third street, Philadelphia, as a money and exchange broker—had been a large buyer of Mexican silver, and while he was engaged in recounting his purchases preparatory to settling his cash account, the door of his banking house was suddenly opened, by a plainly dressed man, who exclaimed: "I only have one hundred left; do you want them?"

Mr. Drexel, without raising his head, replied: "I'll give you fifty cents for them."

"No," said the man, "I've sold all the others at seventy-five cents, and only have a hundred left."

Mr. Drexel replied: "I have bought them all day at sixty cents, and if yours have no holes in them I will take them at the same price, and that is the most you can get for them."

"I never saw any with holes in them," said the man.

"Didn't you?" said Mr. Drexel. "Half of what we get are full of holes, where they have been used as buttons."

The man scratched his head a moment, and then said: "Very well; I'll bring them in right away."

Five minutes afterward he appeared with a small tin kettle, and, walking up to the counter said: "Where shall I put them?"

"Pour them out here," said Mr. Drexel, indicating a particular spot on the counter.

"I can't," said the seller, "they will all slip off on the floor."

Mr. Drexel without withdrawing his attention from the counting of his purchases of the day, called to his son Frank to "bring a tray." When the tray was brought, it was found to have a large crack across it, to which the man strenuously objected, saying: "They will all fall through." This nettled old Mr. Drexel, who in rather sharp words, told him, "That tray has held thousands and thousands of them every day," and furthermore, in peremptory terms, bade him "pour them out quick."

Accordingly, the kettle was raised to the level of the counter, and one hundred fat, raw oysters were poured into the tray, much to the chagrin and disgust of the banker and his son, the former of whom exclaimed: "Why, those are oysters!"

"Well," said the oysterman (who knew nothing of Mexican silver,) "what the devil did you think they were?"

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.—Harrisburgh Patriot.

—Miss Eva C. Kinney has assumed editorial control of the Ellis (Kansas) Headlight, and announces in her first number that she is "a girl, with all a girl's love for fun, frolic and romance." If editing doesn't take that love for fun, etc., out of her, we shall be mistaken. It has a more sobering effect than a husband could have.—Troy Times.

Health and Happiness.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

—The wife of a German editor in New York recently gave some college or other a trifle of $100,000 of her pin-money, and people talk about it as if such things were of uncommon occurrence. These little incidentals of every well-regulated newspaper office are so frequent that they are seldom heard of outside of the counting room.—Wheeling Journal.

—The young man that runs after a sherry cobbler will never get his shoes mended.

—A West hill woman calls her husband "Darkest Hour," because he comes just before morning.

—A gentleman met a rather "uncertain" acquaintance the other day, when the latter said: "I'm a little short, and would like to ask you a conundrum in mental arithmetic." "Proceed," said the gentleman. "Well," said the "short" man, "suppose you had $10 in your pocket, and I should ask you for $5, how much would remain?" "Ten dollars," was the prompt answer.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 650 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first class hotel in the city.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $400,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Tetter, Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier.

SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with dyspepsia? Why groan with Rheumatism? Why allow your blood to become impure? Why let your system become poisoned? Why let your nerves get all unstrung, and you become nervous? Why let your blood become so impure as to cause Humors? Why let your liver become torpid? Why let your bowels become costive? Why let your kidneys become deranged? Why let your blood become so impure as to cause pain with Rheumatism? Why let your system become so weak as to allow the seeds of disease to take root and flourish

Portsmouth Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MAY 17. 1881.

[Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N.H., as second-class matter.]

Angry Senators.

Vice President Arthur laid before the Senate on Monday the following communication:

"WASHINGTON, May 16th, 1881.

Sir—Will you please announce to the Senate that my resignation as senator of the United States from the state of New York has been forwarded to the governor of the state. I have the honor to be, with great respect, Your obd't servant,
ROSCOE CONKLING."

This communication was received with a great sensation, which was heightened when the Vice President laid the following before the Senate:

"SENATE CHAMBER, May 16th, '81.

Sir: I have forwarded to the governor of the state of New York my resignation as senator of the United States for the state of New York. Will you please announce the fact to the Senate. With great respect, Your obedient servant,
T. C. PLATT."

It would be quite a joke on the two senators who have pettishly thrown up their commission because Mr. Conkling cannot be President in place of the man elected to that office, were they to fail of re-election, which no doubt both will try for. They are of course great men, but their action in this matter seems very like child's play.

The United States Mint.

The director of the mint estimates that the total gold circulation of the United States, including bullion in the treasury, amounted at the commencement of the current month to $520,000,000, of which $264,000,000 was held as treasury and national bank reserves and $256,000,000 was in actual circulation. There has been a total gain of gold coin and bullion to the country since July 1, 1879 of $234,000,000, of which $35,000,000 was added to the treasury, $59,000,000 to the banks and $140,000,000 to the active circulation. The total amount of gold in the country makes a fair showing compared with the principal countries of Europe, being exceeded by two only. The amount estimated to be in England in 1880 was $596,000,000, of which $428,000,000 was in active circulation, and France, with $927,000,000 of gold, had a circulation of about $816,000,000.

News and Notes.

The refunding of the six per cent bonds met with so great a success that Secretary Windom is led to believe that the fives will be refunded as promptly. On Friday he received offers to refund to the amount of $21,507,500. Only $250,000,000 of the registered fives can be extended under the provisions of the circular, and that amount at the present rate will be absorbed long before the expiration of the option, July 1, 1881.

Persons interested in the mill property intimate that the large stockholders of the Bartlet mills, Newburyport, are to purchase the property and erect a large mill. One of the reasons for dissolving the corporation is said to have been the large number of stockholders, the moneyed men preferring to have but few to control this large and valuable property.

Five colored women fought with knives, at Leota, Miss., on the 13th inst., and one was carved to death.

Lieut. Ressea of the United States army, charged with the murder of Dr. Rivers at Brackett, Kennedy county, Texas, has been acquitted.

The body of a woman, aged about twenty years, was found in the woods at Guttenburg, N. J., opposite New York. Circumstances point to a foul outrage and murder.

Richard Graham, a brakeman on the Boston & Albany railroad, was instantly killed at South Framingham, Sunday, by falling between the cars of the milk train for Boston. Graham's parents reside in Brooklyn, N. Y.

At Talladega, Ala., May 12th, a picnic party had an excursion to the falls on the river near there. Dr. William Toole and his little seven-year-old daughter were among the number. The mother had dressed her daughter with great care, put on golden ornaments and a diamond pin of much value. Early in the afternoon the father missed his child, and made diligent search for her. As he neared the falls he saw a burly negro carrying the dead body of his little girl. The father grappled with the fiend, and a fierce fight ensued for the corpse. The father's cries for help brought a number of the picnic party to the scene. With aid the black was overwhelmed, a rope was procured, and he was at once swung up to a limb until dead. The negro had murdered the little girl, and rifled her body of the jewelry.

A bill to exempt shipping engaged in foreign commerce from taxation for a period of fifteen years, similar to the law enacted in Massachusetts, save in the date limit, was ordered to a third reading in the New York Assembly, on Friday the 13th inst., with a little opposition, and there seems to be no doubt of its passage.

The snobbery of the hotel-keeper of Springfield, Illinois, who refused to entertain the colored singers of the Fisk University, was more than offset by the kindness of private citizens, including Ex-Gov. Palmer, the most prominent democrat of the city, who attended the concert and made an address of welcome.

About seventy miles from San Antonio, Texas, four men stopped Deputy Sheriff Clemmens in charge of two prisoners, one a horse thief and the other charged with murder. The party took the prisoners from him and shot the first, named Hatton, for the murder of three children, and released the latter for developing the proof while in jail with the fiend.

Charles Givin, a cook at the Atlantic house, Atchison, Kan., shot his wife, a waiter in a restaurant, on Saturday, the 14th inst., after calling her into the street. He then blew his own brains out.

The body of an unknown woman, found murdered at West Hoboken, N. Y., last week, was from appearances that of a young woman of eighteen years of age, with a German cast of face and an attractive figure. The distorted countenance gave evidence of a desperate struggle, and the blackened and bruised arms were unmistakable proofs of a savage attack, that only ended in death. Who the murderer is it is impossible to determine. She could not have been killed for her money, as at least $20 worth of gold was found on her person. She is supposed to be the missing daughter of Mr. James Cuttle, a farmer of Guttenburg. The daughter has been absent from home off and on for a month. She had been on intimate terms with Judson Francois, an ex-constable of that town. The father of the girl believes that the deceased is his daughter, but is not sure about the identity.

As an eastward-bound train on the New York & Greenwood Lake railway was approaching Broomfield, N. J., the other afternoon, the engineer saw on the track, at a short distance ahead, a little child. He blew the whistle, but the child paid no attention to it. Seeing that the train could not be stopped in time, the heroic engineer sprang out upon the cow-catcher, and taking a firm grip with one hand, outstretched the other to grasp the child. The train plunged on, and, as it neared the child, the engineer quickly snatched it from the track. The rescued one was the two-years-old son of Mr. Charles E. McDowell, who rewarded the brave rescuer with a present of $200.

Patrick Quinlan, of New York, an ex-convict, shot his mother on Sunday. Since his release from prison, he has been living with his parents, and has compelled them with threats of violence to give him money. Sunday night while in a state of intoxication, he demanded more money, and on being told they had none, he threatened to kill both his father and mother. The father ran out of the house, but the mother was kept back by force. Declaring that she had no money, her son aimed a revolver at her and fired. The bullet struck her in the left temple. She fell on the floor when he fired again, wounding her in the left arm. Quinlan was arrested. His mother's wounds are fatal.

JAMES T. FIELDS' LAST POEM.

The following poem was written for "Harper's Young People," only a few days before Mr. Fields' death, which took place on the 25th of April. It is the last poem that he wrote, and will therefore have an interest for the people of this, the city of his birth, and for the members and friends of the New Hampshire society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of which he was an honorary member. Like the poet Wordsworth, he believed that men should never mix their pleasure or their pride with suffering to the meanest thing that feels.

ROVER'S PETITION.

"Kind traveller, do not pass me by,
And thus a poor old dog forsake;
But stop a moment on your way,
And hear my woe, for pity's sake!

My name is Rover; yonder house
Was once my home for many a y ear;
My master loved me; every hand
Caressed young Rover, far and near.

The children rode upon my back,
And I could bear my praises sung;
With joy I licked their pretty feet,
As round my shaggy sides they clung.

I watched them while they played or slept;
I gave them all I had to give;
My strength was theirs from morn till night;
For only them I cared to live.

Now I am old, and blind, and lame,
They're turned me out to die alone,
Without a shelter for my head,
Without a scrap of bread or bone.

This morning I can hardly crawl,
While shivering in the snow and hail;
My teeth are dropping one by one;
I scarce have strength to wag my tail.

I'm painted grown with mortal pains,
My withered limbs are useless now;
My voice is almost gone, you see,
And I can hardly make my bow.

Perhaps you'll lead me to a shed
Where I may find some friendly straw
On which to lay my aching limbs,
And rest my helpless broken paw.

Stranger, excuse this story long,
And pardon, pray, my last appeal;
You've owned a dog yourself, perhaps,
And learned that dogs, like men, can feel."

Yes, poor old Rover, come with me;
Food, with warm shelter, I'll supply—
And Heaven forgive the cruel souls
Who drove you forth to starve and die!

—The famous magnolia tree planted by Washington at Mount Vernon, in the last year of his life, 1799, after flourishing for eighty-two years, was killed by the frosts of last winter.

Our Girls.

The time is near at hand when a girl's education will be incomplete unless she can successfully display her skill at the cooking table, and show herself mistress of the arts of housekeeping in general. In many of our schools sewing and dressmaking are taught, and in several of our colleges lessons in plain cooking are given. Hitherto woman's education in the branches that would fit her for a broader and higher range of usefulness has been neglected, while her training for the attainments for filling a life of easy indulgence and dissipation has been the particular aim and object. The day is coming, however, and we herald its dawning, when an educated young lady will be as much at home in the mysteries of housekeeping as she may shine in science and literature. One of our most popular novelists, while abroad, seeking knowledge and information, to save the expense of a servant performed the household duties herself, even to the washing and ironing of her own linen. Many of the departments of learning and industry long monopolized by men are now thrown open to women, and never before was there a time when so many facilities were afforded her for becoming proficient in the many attainments once considered peculiarly the right of men. The majority of women, however, will prefer the seclusion of their own home to the glare of public life, and mothers should see to it that their daughters are not kept in ignorance of household duties, so that when they have homes of their own their ability as house-wives will be equal to their talent to shine like stars in society. To begin the life of womanhood with her mother's experience and wisdom, and the training acquired from our advanced system of education, will be a safety-valve that will carry the girl of to-day successfully through all the voyages of life.—Christian at Work.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not lastly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Gransiville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

Spring tides are in full force.

A company of Gipseys are camped out on Lafayette road.

Steamer Fearless has had a new four-bladed propeller put on.

Schooner Mary Willey arrived on Sunday with a cargo of lumber.

Steamer Reading with coal for J. Albert Walker, arrived on Monday.

A general destruction of lobster pots is expected as one effect of the late storm.

Quite a lot of shad, and two fine specimens of the tautog fish, were brought in from the weirs on Monday morning.

In spite of the weather, Maggie Mitchell had a very large audience at Music hall on Monday evening, and gave them an excellent entertainment.

By an order of the treasury department, Mr. John Hodgdon resumes duty as store keeper at Ward's distillery in this city and the assignment of Mr. Joseph R. Curtis to this duty is revoked.

County of Rockingham 6s, 1883, are in great demand, and bring high prices. The county debt will be largely diminished this year, and the maturing bonds will be paid and not renewed.

Mr. Melvin O. Stimson has been appointed captain of the yard watch in the department of yards and docks of this navy yard, with pay at two dollars and seventy-six cents per day. This a revival of an old office.

Mr. Thomas Reese, of Newcastle, reports the loss of forty-eight lobster pots by the blow of Sunday and Monday. His lobster car drifted ashore on the sand, which washed in among the lobsters, killing a number of them.

A special freight train with four cars loaded with timber from the east, arrived here on Sunday, and was connected with a train going to Boston. The timber will be used for building purposes at Revere beach, the work commencing on Monday.

Secretary Hunt has issued an order that applications for work must be made directly to the officers in charge of the several navy yards; if made to the department they will not be considered. There are at present no vacancies in the clerkships, or other positions under the control of the navy department.

The Boston & Northern Telephone Co. have extended their wires as far east as Newmarket, and the office in that town, will be in readiness for business this week. The line will be extended to Dover forthwith; it is built over the old stage road, and the wires are upon independent poles erected by the company.

Steamer Fearless, in starting from the landing in this city on Monday afternoon, struck against the corner of Jones' wharf, and the wind blowing too strong for her to head out, went against the rudder of the tug Ann, and had a bad break made in two of her planks under the water line. She was repaired sufficiently to continue her trips during the day.

Many people assembled at the North church chapel on Middle street, Monday afternoon, to attend the funeral services of the late Woodbury Locke. Prayers were offered by Rev. Mr. McGinley of the North church; the scriptures were read by Rev. Mr. Holbrook, of St. John's church. There was singing by a quartette led by Mr. H. L. Harlow. Messrs. E. W. Cochrane, H. R. Stoddard, D. F. Stoddard and I. C. Seymour were the pall bearers.

River parties were scarce on Sunday.

Mr. Solon Frisbee, of Kittery Point, is building a wharf for Keen's steamer to land at.

Shotes, four weeks old, were selling on Market square on Saturday for four dollars apiece.

Schooner Nettie Adams has given up fishing in this vicinity, and will fit out for a trip of salted fish.

Gunner Thomas Fortune, U. S. N., of this city, has removed to his summer residence at Kittery Point.

The "government road" at Fort McClary, Kittery Point, is being put in good condition by the government.

The schools at Eliot Neck opened on the 16th inst. Mr. Hoyt of Newingion teaches the grammar school this term, and Miss Florence Cole of Eliot the primary.

The schooner Una came off the ways at Kittery on Monday afternoon, and was towed over to the Eastern railroad wharf, where she will have her jib-boom put in, and other work done.

Messrs. Randall & Caswell are doing a heavy business in lobsters this spring. During last week they sent off into the country towns fifteen thousand. On Saturday last, they disposed of thirty-five hundred. Other dealers in the city sold at retail about three thousand.

It is reported that Mr. Warren Caswell, at Foss beach, Rye, was capsized out of his dory on Sunday, and remained in the water sometime before assistance reached him. A similar accident happened to Mr. Caswell some time ago, which as in this case nearly resulted in his being drowned.

The weirs in the lower harbor received more or less damage from the heavy sea of Sunday. The one owned by Mr. Brice, off Gerrish's island, lost its leader line, and carried away some of the netting. The weir to the westward lost ninety dollars worth of netting, and had a number of poles torn up.

The detention of the schooner Maude B. Wetherell at Georgetown, Prince Edward's, island, during the winter, did not cause it to be a losing trip, as she readily disposed of her cargo of potatoes (4222 bushels) in Boston at good prices, yielding a handsome profit to the owners. She will go on the ways and then fit out for a trip to the banks.

Two of the engines on the Eastern railroad which have been running on the freight, have been transferred to the passenger trains. Engineer Ira Warren is running engine No. 14, train No. 71, Pullman; and engineer John Page has engine No. 16, train No. 25, which arrives here at 3:05 P. M. Both engines work admirably and are saving in fuel.

Mr. David Slaney, who has been fishing from this port for some weeks in a whale boat, beached her on Friday last, and during the night on the low tide she fell over on her side, wrenching her keel off and doing other damages which will make her useless for repairs. Mr. Slaney is a hard working and industrious man, and can ill afford to meet with this loss.

Schooner Mary S. Hontvet left for the Grand banks on Saturday afternoon. The tug Naumkeag towed her out, and on leaving the wharf the Hontvet parted her bow line. She had hardly got into the stream when the tow line broke, leaving her in a precarious situation. Captain Almee, of the Naumkeag, was not responsible for the mishaps, and but for his judicious and prompt action the Hontvet would have been subjected to another disaster.

Schooner Maude B. Wetherell, arrived on Saturday morning at about one o'clock coming up the river she ran into the band-stand over Gangway rock, giving it a hard shaking, and tearing away some of the schooner's head gear. Captain Hontvet saw the light on the sloop and supposed she was lying alongside of the stand. The tide at the time was running in full force with a light wind, and the choice being to run the sloop down, to go ashore on Pumpkin island or come in collision with the stand, the latter course was adopted as the safest.

On Monday evening the officers of the Grand Commandry of Knights Templar in New Hampshire paid their annual visit to DeWitt Clinton Commandry. The occasion was of more than common interest. The Grand Commandry was represented by R. E. G. C. Benjamin F. Rackley of Dover, and suite. There were also present Sir Chas. H. Sawyer, E. C., and Sir Knights George F. Richards and J. H. Nute, of St. Paul's Commandry, of Dover; Sir W. P. Saunders, Sir Samuel A. Bridges, Sir Horace Choate and Sir Wm. R. Johnson, of Newburyport Commandry, of Newburyport, Mass.; Sir Knights Dow, Tilton, Bartlett and Hoyt, of Epping, Cram and Lane of Exeter, J. Warren Brown of Hampton Falls, Harry J. Kent of Boston, and others. After the exemplification of the work, supper was served in the banquet hall, following which the Eminent Commander of De Witt Clinton Commandry called upon a number of the Sir Knights for remarks.

Rev. Dr. Alden, of this city, preached at the Franklin street church, at Dover, on Sunday.

Will Leary, about twenty-two years old, of Exeter, an employe of the Concord railroad, was instantly killed at South Newmarket on the 13th inst., by the ten o'clock night freight train from Boston.

EASTERN RAILROAD.

An exchange in speaking of the great improvement of the condition of this corporation, which has emerged from bankruptcy into a condition of appreciable value, says:

Bad management in the past, more than any real deterioration in its worth, has hindered its progress. The policy now, however, is a progressive one in a marked degree; its officers are men of ability, sound judgment and prudence, and under their care and guidance the company is bound to accomplish results which will more than satisfy even the most sanguine of the stockholders. From the time of the reorganization, some few years since, a betterment of the road, its rolling stock and its depot facilities, and a desire to meet the public demands and the public convenience, have been the governing principles, and that these objects have been and are being successfully attained is manifest from the steady and large increase in the road's income from year to year.

During the past year the most important work accomplished was a thorough over-hauling of the bridges along the line; the putting in of safety rails, and in many cases the entire replacement of the structures. Besides this, the work of putting in steel rails was pushed rapidly and well, until now the entire road has been relaid.

With all that has thus far been accomplished, the work of improvement has in reality but just commenced. There is much yet to do, and the plans of the company for the year are only limited by the resources at its command. Its road, its rolling stock and its buildings are all to receive attention. Already 1000 tons of steel rails have been purchased, and with this several of the branches will be put in a better condition. This work will be commenced within a very few weeks, and prosecuted vigorously to completion.

The fact that the Eastern has had a low rate of interest to pay on its bonds and a moderate rental on its leased lines will enable it to distance its, competitor the Boston & Maine railroad, in results, and ere long occupy a position of one of the leading roads in the country.

YORK CORNER, May 16th.

Editor Chronicle: We should have been glad if the item referring to Prof. Harrington's last appearance before the public at York had been correct, as everybody here wanted to see him. He was advertised here it appears, but was unable to come. His last entertainment was at Eliot.

The inside of the Christian church at the corner presents a fine appearance, albeit the paint and the dark parts of the paper are at least four shades too dark. The building is to be painted outside also. No services have been held since the departure of Elder Short, who by the way is now preaching at Ridgeway, Michigan. We church goers have met with disappointment lately. We had full hopes and a partial promise of the labors of Rev. Mr. Philips, but we were informed last week that he should be unable to accept the call, as he thought he could do more for the Lord elsewhere. Nothing said about salary.

The doves are cooing these beautiful moonshiey evenings, and stable teams are in demand.

Henry Moulton's ladder manufactory is in full blast, and large loads of ladders pass here often. They are shipped by railroad to New York city, where they find ready sale, as Moulton's ladders stand A 1 before the country.

A large force of carpenters are on the addition of the Marshall house, with a view of getting ready to open by the middle of June. The painters, Plaisted and Nowell, are after the carpenters.

The Whiting house is being painted outside by Herman Manson of your city. The Sea cottage is also being put in readiness for the season, and a brilliant season is anticipated by all the houses.

While Mrs. Edw. S. Marshall and her daughter, Blanche, were visiting friends in Brooklyn, N. Y., little Blanche took diphtheria, and died in her father's arms on Saturday morning, the 7th inst. The father arrived there the afternoon previous, having been telegraphed for on Thursday. Blanche was seven years old, a very bright and interesting little girl, and an only child. We sympathise with the parents, but more especially with the grief stricken mother, who is in great sorrow over her sad loss. P.

The celebrated Bavraian lager, brewed by the Eldredge Brewing Co., from malt and hops imported from Germany, will be for sale on and after Friday, May 20th. The beer is made more especially for family use, as great attention has been paid to its keeping qualities. Bottled by C. E. Boynton, No. 18 Bow street.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is universally as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. tu,th & 6 cutsan82

Health is Wealth!

DR. E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT: a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, Convulsions, Nervous Headache, Mental Depression, Loss of Memory, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Involuntary Emissions, Premature Old Age, caused by over-exertion, self-abuse, or over-indulgence, which leads to misery, decay and death. One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box, or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order received by us for six boxes, accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. Guarantees issued by J. H. CHACHER, Druggist, Portsmouth. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. SMITH, DODLITTLE & SMITH, Gen'l Agents, Boston. deowsu34,'81

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

The "Boss" System Among Esquimaux Dogs.

There is always one bully in every team, who gets all the choice bits that are stolen by the others, and generally manages to keep fat, no matter how short they are of provisions. He waits for the others to make the raid, and then stands on the outside to take it away from them. These bullies are in several grades. There is the chief, of whom all are afraid, and then there is the next in rank, of whom all are afraid but the chief; a third, of whom all are afraid but the two, and so on down. Sometimes the food is cut into small pieces and thrown out upon the ice for all to help themselves, and then there is a rough-and-tumble fight, and snarling and growling, as if a whole cage of hyenas had broken loose. But here the bullies have no advantage; indeed, the advantage is with the small, lively fellows that slip in and get the meat while the big ones are fighting. When a dog manages to steal a piece of meat he has a lively time of it, for soon every dog in camp is after him, and he has to eat it on the run, if at all, headed off at every turn by one of the bullies, and whining and choking at the same time. It certainty is one of the most comical exhibitions ever witnessed.—Scribner.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Arrests under the coercion act continue to be made throughout Ireland, and the local disturbances are increasing. Coercion is admitted to be a failure. It is rumored that the Fenians are now plotting to blow up, by dynamite concealed among coal, several English ironclads.

"Wait a Little Longer."

So we are told sometimes. Things will come out all right, people say, if we wait awhile. That don't do with disease. The longer you wait the worse it is. It's no use to plant corn in November. Do you "feel a little bad?" Strike the trouble right away. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is what you want. It will at once relieve the bowels, stimulate the liver and cool your skin. Take one dollar in your hand and stop at your druggist's, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

The British ship "Governor Langdon," Capt. Wilson, which arrived on Saturday, the 7th inst., at Greenock, Scotland, from Pensacola, Fla., on March 31st, picked up a man from an open sailboat when about thirty miles east of Cape Florida. He was much exhausted, having been blown out to sea five days before, and being without any food and only a small supply of water. He gave his name as J. W. Gile, and stated that he was the son of General George W. Gile, lieutenant-colonel U. S. Army, retired.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it did no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I consider my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

Mary Shannon, living at Lawrence, Mass., was probably fatally burned on Saturday evening. Previous to retiring she blew down the chimney of a kerosene lamp, which exploded, enveloping her in flames. With the exception of the head, the body was not badly burned.

EXTRACT.—For persons suffering from exhaustion of the powers of the brain and nervous system, from long and continued study or teaching, or in those cases of exhaustion from which so many young men suffer, I know no medicine for restoration of health than Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

EDMOND CLAY, M. D., Pugwash, N. S.

Mrs. Washington, a relative of General Washington, has written a letter, which has been laid before Secretary Blaine, in which she contends that the spot selected by ex-Secretary Evarts for the monument to mark Washington's birth-place, is some distance from the site of the house. She claims to know the exact spot.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock. The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other. The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities. Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities. Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one. The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent. Railroad Meetings.

The annual meeting of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad occurs on Monday, the 23d inst.; of the Concord road on Tuesday, the 24th; of the Nashua and Lowell on Wednesday, the 25th; of the Northern on Thursday, the 26th; and of the Manchester & Lawrence on Friday, the 27th.

News and Notes.

The Postmaster-General has already cut off sufficient useless star route service to save the government $196,000 per annum, and decisions have been reached for the discontinuance of other routes, the contracts for which will soon expire. This action has been taken without affecting the efficiency of the service.

A Russian naval officer has been arrested at St. Petersburg recently, charged with complicity in the murder of the Czar and with planning the Little Garden street mine. He was also an accomplice of the nihilists who caused the explosion at the winter palace in February, and is charged with having stolen from the government magazines a quantity of dynamite.

Captain Glover, formerly first lieutenant of the Dallas, and later captain of the revenue steamer at New Orleans, has been ordered to Portland to the command of the Dallas.

Arrangements are being made in Cincinnati for a meeting of the Catholic Knights of America, to be held there in July. Over two thousand knights are expected to be present.

Nineteen hundred bales of cotton on the British bark Isabel Craigg, at Charleston, South Carolina, took fire Saturday, the 14th inst., and were nearly all destroyed. The vessel being of iron was not much injured. Loss $70,000.

Francis Amory, one of the wealthiest citizens of Boston, died May 14th.

Annie Doherty, aged twenty-two years, a resident of Cambridge, Mass., employed in a feather store in Boston, was taken sick last Friday. On Monday she was taken to the pest-house in Cambridge, her disease having proved to be small-pox.

Two sons of John Thomas of Providence, R. I., the youngest only five years old, were drowned in Salt pond, Block island, Saturday, by the capsizing of a boat.

Luther Foster, the surviving student burglar of Andover, Mass., was arraigned before the Essex grand jury at Newburyport on Monday, and pleaded guilty.

There was a disastrous fire at Nashville, Tenn., Tuesday. Louisville, Ky., was called upon for aid, and sent men and engines. The telegraph wires were early destroyed, and the full extent of the disaster is not known.

Effie Person, aged fourteen years, in consequence of charges by her father that she had stolen money from him, and seeing a policeman in the house whom her mother had sent for to hunt for the money, shot herself dead at New York on the 17th inst.

Charles F. Williams of Somerville, Mass., eighteen years old, was put on trial at Cambridge, Mass., on Monday, for the murder of Walter Smith, a companion, on the night of May 22d. The evidence introduced tended to show that Williams was a dime-novel hero of the Pomeroy order. The defence claim that he is insane.

At Racine, Wis., on Thursday of last week, Annie Myrtle, a girl thirteen years of age, died from the effects of jumping rope. She jumped 102 times, which so injured her brain and other internal organs that she was a terrible sufferer until relieved by death. Another girl, Mary Faber, is now very sick from the same cause.

One of the seamen of the coal steamer Achilles, which arrived at Newburyport on Sunday, was found to have small-pox. He was taken to an improvised hospital, and the steamer placed in quarantine.

The state prison of New Jersey in September, 1880, contained 839 convicts. The Maine state prison contains on an average, year by year, 200. New Jersey has less than double the population of Maine, and more than four times as many prisoners. It is probably only an accidental coincidence that New Jersey licenses the liquor traffic; Maine has prohibition.—Portland Advertiser.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

Pepacton, by John Burroughs author of "Wake robin" "Winter sunshine," "Birds and poets" "Locusts and Wild honey" etc. Boston, Houghton Mifflin & Co.

Mr. Burroughs again takes us out of doors and carries us in a skiff on a summer trip down the Pepacton, a branch of the upper Delaware, delighting us with the recital of incidents which to most men would seem inconsequential, finding attractions and beauties where none were previously seen, and giving us pictures from nature which we enjoy with a relish as if we had never beheld the like before.

There is also ample evidence of the writer's familiarity with nature on the sketch "A bunch of herbs" which treats of our native fragrant wild flowers while the winter pictures are none the less true or suggestive of seasonable delights than are the manifold accounts of the glorious summer in which all of Mr. Burroughs' writings so generously abound. The book is one to be taken out of doors, and read under the shade of lofty trees and beside the sparkling waters of summer, where the surroundings will be in harmony with the attractively clothed ideas of the poet writer.

For sale by W. G. Myers at $1.50.

"Underbrush:" by James T. Fields; a new and enlarged edition. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

This is the third edition of Underbrush, a collection of genial sketches written by Mr. Fields from time to time. One of the best among these is the story of Abijah Dole's free-lecture experience, where the lecturer goes upon a free errand of labor through a driving storm, at his own expense, to be met at the door of the lecture room—not by a hospitable committee-man, but by an immobile janitor, who refuses him permission to enter until he has paid the requisite quarter of a dollar admission fee to hear himself lecture! The story reads as well, and seems as full of the ludicrous as when we first read it in the magazine long since.

Mr. Fields had a humorous vein, and when he penned his own thoughts he was quite jocose at times; but when he incessantly insisted upon embellishing his own narratives with words of this or that celebrity in literature, whom he had known or whose works he had read, the connection was not always quite symmetrical. It had been better if the author could say a good thing in his own words, and not to be too frequently quoting from so many others, as if to show familiarity with the entire world of letters. But if Mr. Fields could, as could Mr. Thackeray, when he had written a good thing, feel it was good, yet he was full of appreciation of the apt sayings of writers who had become famous, and his eclectic manner seemed ever to evince a desire to be on good terms with his readers, and to give them excellently-selected extracts from the writings of others, where perhaps his own ideas would have been just as satisfactory. Indeed we prefer, when reading Mr. Fields' books, to read what he himself produced, and not what some other accomplished writer said upon a similar occasion.

But Underbrush is an exceedingly attractive little book. The author is always in good temper, never ruffled or out of sorts, but leaves us a legacy of genial literary pleasure in its perusal of which his surviving friends will have a lasting enjoyment. The surname of one of his heroes in his sketches seems to have been taken from one of the ancient names once familiar in what he designates in a letter written to us only a few months since as "my dear old native place." Underbrush contains 410 pages, is neatly produced with red edges in a style which would have gratified the lamented author, and is to be found at Myers' bookstore; price, $1.25.

The Marion arrived at Falkland islands Feb. 28th, from Sandy Point, Straits of Magellan.

New Hampshire Items.

Deputy Sheriffs Odlin and Woodman, who were sent to South Hampstead on Monday to investigate the robbery of Mrs. Eliza Noyes, have reported to Sheriff Kent that they found her in a very excited state, and unable to give a lucid account of the affair. At one time she said there were three or four persons engaged in the robbery, and afterward said she saw but one, but heard the others whispering. Mrs. Noyes is fifty-five years of age, and is somewhat peculiar; she works hard, washing and scrubbing, and going far and near for employment, sometimes to Haverhill; likes to save money, is respectable, and very respectably connected. She suffered much while bound and gagged, which was for about an hour. No other indignity was offered her by the thieves. A carriage was heard to drive very fast toward Haverhill early on the morning of the robbery. The officers found some articles which were dropped, which may lead to the detection of the criminals.

The Unitarian society of Franklin have instructed the trustees to build a church edifice to cost not less than ten thousand dollars.

—"That puts a different face on it," said the swindler when he raised a check from $20 to $200.

—Henry Bergh, of New York, recently said in a letter to a temperance organization: "I have the courage, some call it impudence, to advocate whipping the man who beats his wife or any other female of the human race. I will go further and declare that, in my opinion, if to every ten rum shops there were to be found a convenient and well-appointed whipping post near at hand, where the fellow who makes a person drunk and he who gets as could be taken, and there receive a dozen or twenty lashes well laid on their bare backs, the number of suffering wives and children would be reduced to a minimum."

AROUND HOME.

The heavy gale of the first of this week has got the small boats moored along the wharves in a loose way.

Col. Sise engine company, No. 2, has voted to parade on Memorial day. Kearsarge engine company, No. 3, will not parade.

Messrs. George Herbert & Co. on Tuesday bought 5000 lbs. of fresh cod, haddock and pollock, at an average price of $2 per hundred lbs.

Mr. Nathaniel J. Coffin intends building another boat of the same model as the one recently launched, and making a catamaran of the two.

Mr. Warren Caswell, of Rye, was not capsized out of a dory on Sunday, as reported, nor was he out in a dory at all on that day. The story was a baseless canard.

The fishing schooner Christie Campbell, of this port, was heard from recently; she had 80,000 lbs. of fish on board, and would bait up but once more before starting for home.

Butler & Laighton's grocery team, in crossing the railroad track at the Eastern railroad depot, Tuesday forenoon, struck a rail and broke the axle of the hind wheels. No other damage was done.

Brick making on the Piscataqua river and its branches which has been on the decline for the past two or three years, owing to the low prices, will be revived this spring with vigor. Mr. Samuel Clark, of Eliot, recently sold part of a kiln for nine dollars a thousand, which makes the business one of profit.

Timothy Crimmins, of Somerville, Mass., a freight brakeman on the Eastern railroad, was struck by an overhead bridge at Kennebunk depot, Me., Tuesday morning, and knocked from the train. He was picked up and taken to Somerville. A medical examination shew that he had received several bad cuts on the head, and a fracture of the skull.

The schooner Mary Elizabeth came in on Tuesday with between 6000 and 7000 lbs. of salted fish. The arrivals of fishing vessels at the wharves in this city during the storm comprised the schooners Island Belle, Mary Elizabeth, Pluribustah and Gracie Smith, of Gloucester; Queen of the Sea, of Rockport; and Hattie M. Young, of York. Most of them were light.

Mr. Jere. Towle has recently purchased a lot in the cemetery near the church at Newington, to which he intends removing the remains of deceased members of his family from the several rural burial places in which they now lie; he will have the lot kerbed with granite, and will put up a granite monument. The people of the town are desirous of having the ancient burying ground made attractive in appearance, and much has been done in that direction within a few years.

Under an order from the treasury department, the office of the collector of internal revenue for this district will shortly be removed from Dover to this city. The step has long been contemplated, and recently a petition was forwarded to the department from our brewers and distillers, who pay the large amount of tax collected, asking that the office might be kept in Portsmouth, where stamps could be more readily and conveniently obtained, and other business easily transacted. The rooms in the custom house building heretofore assigned to the judges and United States marshal are being prepared for Collector Young's occupancy, and they will probably be ready for the removal of the books and papers from Dover by the first of June.

Amos Paul, Esq., of South Newmarket, who has been very ill, is reported as now rapidly mending.

The several manufacturing establishments in South Newmarket are having all the orders they can attend to, and are all running on extra time.

The hardware store of A. H. Ricker of South Berwick was burglarized last Sunday night, and money and cutlery stolen. No clue to the thief or thieves.

The county commissioners, with Acting Chairman Frank P. Cram, will be in session this day at the court house to continue the hearing on a petition for a new street from Vaughan street, over Gibbs' wharf and through the ship yard, to the north mill-bridge.

Rev. John F. Adams of Greenland, of the New Hampshire conference, is thought to be the oldest minister in the world. He is ninety-one years old this month, and has been sixty-nine years in the ministry. In the same conference are four other men who entered the ministry over fifty years ago—one in 1825, one in 1826 and two in 1830.

The athletic tournament of Phillips academy was held at Exeter on Saturday. Among the winners were the following: Grant, '84, the mile run, in five minutes and twenty-two seconds; Brooks, '82, the high jump, five feet and one inch; Allen, '81, throwing the base-ball, 336 feet and eleven inches; Rice, '84, throwing the hammer fifty-three feet and eleven inches. Engraved silver cups were presented to the successful contestants.

Pease & Connor, of South Newmarket, manufactures of light summer drinks, are preparing for a much enlarged business this year. Besides carrying on this industry, Mr. Connor is road surveyor of village district No. 1, and that he is a judicious manager in the latter capacity is shown by the fact that he was in this city on Monday to make purchase of a quantity of the excellent drain pipe manufactured by Mr. Dennis Shea, for putting down in that district.

SHOCKING AFFAIR.

Tuesday evening about 5:30 o'clock a brutal affair took place at the Creek, the particulars of which are reported to us as follows: A man named Holland went to the house of another named Clifton, the latter's wife being Holland's sister. A fight commenced between the two men, from some cause not stated, and was kept up for nearly half an hour, although Mrs. Clifton's cries of "murder" attracted a number of persons to the place. The men in the house threw dishes, flower pots and everything else they could lay hands on at each other, and at the end of the fray Holland was shockingly mangled about the face and had a large hole cut in his skull, Clifton was somewhat scarred, the house was spattered all over with blood on the inside, and shattered debris was about all there was left of the household goods. Clifton was arrested some hours later, as it was reported that Holland could not live.

A BIG FISH.

A whale was washed on shore at Ragged neck, near Rye harbor, early Tuesday morning, and was driven by the storm to high water mark. It measures sixty-six feet in length, and is but little damaged, though it has evidently been dead some days. The news spread rapidly, and notwithstanding the boisterous and wet weather many persons visited the beach during the day to see the huge cetacean. Among the early arrivals were two bicyclers from this city, who made the run to the beach through the rain and mud in forty minutes.

The following item of news, sent from Provincetown, Mass., under date of May 16th, very possibly explains how the whale came to its death:

The business of capturing finback whales, which has been carried on to some extent this spring, assumed large proportions yesterday, twenty whales being shot with bomb lances near here. The whales are in pursuit of herring, and their spouts can frequently be seen from town.

DOVER IS PLEASED.

The Dover Democrat of Monday, as one evidence that Dover is growing and prosperous, announces the purchase on Saturday of a vacant lot belonging to the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., "by J. Albert Walker, Esq., of Portsmouth, or rather the larger part of the lot, to wit: one hundred feet on First street, and one hundred feet on Central street, 10,000 square feet in all, upon which Mr. Walker will immediately proceed to erect a large and handsome brick block, with stores, offices, etc., and we hope also a fine and commodious hall, which our people need more than almost anything else at the present time. We believe such a hall would pay good dividends, and prove a complete success. But we have no reliable information as the precise kind of structure Mr. Walker will build, but he is an enterprising, go-ahead man, and he will not be likely to put anything there which is not first class. We are glad to see capitalists from other places coming here to make investments. It argues well for the growth and prosperity of our city."

The same issue of the Democrat says: "Men were engaged to-day in removing the bricks off the lot just purchased by J. Albert Walker of Portsmouth, and the owner of the fruit stand located on the corner at First street has been notified to remove the building at once, as the work of building a block will commence right off."

"THE WENTWORTH."

The manager of the Wentworth has issued the circular for 1881, which is neatly printed and embellished with several cuts giving views of the hotel and its surroundings.

Neither the assertions in the circular nor the views given, in any degree exaggerate the attractions of this famous spot. The Wentworth is in every point all that is claimed for it. The circular, with apparently studied purpose of avoiding anything like boasting, modestly sets forth the advantages of the situation, and what has been done by the proprietors to add to the natural beauty of the locality. This is told in a business-like way, with no attempt to magnify any of the various excellences of the establishment.

But there is one especial feature, which this year will be appreciated by all who visit the Wentworth as guests. The labor and expense bestowed in obtaining an abundant supply of pure water have been crowned with success, the artesian well giving a supply of about twenty-five hundred barrels of water each day; and what is peculiarly gratifying the water is of excellent quality for drinking purposes. The proprietors are to be congratulated at this result, and it would seem that with this new acquisition there could be nothing wanting to make this spot, as is claimed, in point of its varied advantages second to no watering-place establishment between Newport and Mount Desert.

NO GREENBACKER--NO OFFICE.

RYE, May 13th.

Mr. Editor: The following amusing paragraph—amusing to Rye folks—I clip from the States & Union of this week:

One of our greenback neighbors informs us that Thomas Sanborn, greenbacker of Rye, has been appointed to an $1800 office in the Boston custom-house. In view of events transpiring in the south and west, our neighbor thinks greenbackers of good standing are at a premium, and that all such who desire office may stand a good chance to get it by applying immediately to Mahone & Co.

If the "greenback neighbor" referred to belongs in Rye, he must be a near relative of that famous "marine" correspondent who supplied the same paper a year or two since with an account of a schooner (the Fairdealer, I believe) going ashore, and afterward drifting off the beach with the life-saving crew on board—circumstances which to this day the life-saving men have no knowledge of. I saw "Levi Thomas" himself this evening, and if he has been appointed to any office in the Boston custom house, he has yet to learn of the fact. It is entirely unnecessary to deny his being a greenbacker, for everybody here knows that a stauncher republican does not exist. "Thomas Sanborn, greenbacker of Rye!" Sich is fame. R. M.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

In the usual place will be found a notice of the marriage at Washington, D. C., of Mr. Chrles Sherburne Penhallow, son of Capt. Peirce W. Penhallow, formerly of this city but now doing business in Boston, the bride being Miss Mary Coffin, daughter of John H. C. Coffin, professor of mathematics in the United States navy, now on the retired list with the relative rank of commodore. The wedding took place in the Epiphany Episcopal church, and the following description of the affair we clip from an exchange as being quite likely to interest our lady readers:

The church never looked better. The decorations were in perfect taste, simple and beautiful. The chancel was handsomely decorated with flowers. An arch between pillars of calla lilies supported a pending marriage bell of white carnations, with a tongue of the same flowers in red. The chancel was lighted with hundreds of wax candles, and the candelabra were gracefully festooned with roses and vines. The altar railing was partially covered by graceful wreaths of roses. From its centre depended the floral initials "C" and "M" against a background of evergreen. Immediately in front of this the bride and groom knelt for the ceremony. At the sound of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the groom and best man took their places in the chancel, and the bride's party, preceded by the six ushers, came up the aisle, the bride leaning on the arm of her father. Miss Waite, daughter of the chief justice of the supreme court, was the bridesmaid, and immediately preceded her, escorted by Lieut. Coffin, U. S. N., the brother of the bride. The ushers were Messrs. Chase of Washington, Harding, Sanger and Hodges of Boston, and Berry and Bradbury, U. S. N. The bride wore a costume of large flowered, cream white brocaded satin of great richness. It was mingled with plain satin and was cut square in the neck with ruchings of soft lace, and with skirt puffed across the front. A veil of illusion covered her head and fell to the floor. She carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Waite wore a rich ivory white brocade, with front breadth of silk gauze. In her hand was a bouquet of jacqueminot roses. She held the bride's bouquet during the ceremony, standing just to the left. The ceremony was most impressive and beautiful. Among many distinguished in army, navy and social circles, who were present, were the venerable, white-haired father of the groom, and the ladies of his family, in mourning; the mother and sisters of the bride, Chief Justice and Mrs. Waite, Judge and Mrs. Ferris, Mrs. Gen. Babcock and Dr. Joseph.

—A married lady lately declined to tell a maiden sister any of her troubles, saying: "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." "Yes," replied the sister, "and I've come to the conclusion that when singleness is bliss, 'tis folly to be wives."

The following notice is sent out from the office of the inspector of the third light-house district, Tompkinsville, N. Y.: "The wreck of the sch Palladium, off Point Judith, lies about five-eights of a mile from shore, with 5 1-2 fathoms of water around her. A spar buoy, horizontal stripes, has been placed as a mark 100 feet south of the wreck, on the following compass bearings: Point Judith lighthouse northeast by north; first large house north of Point Judith, northeast by north."

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Where over $100,000 was Given Away.

The following intelligence is of much interest to many readers: At the 123d Grand Monthly Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, held in New Orleans on April 12th, No. 37,099 drew $50,000. One-half of this, or $15,000, was drawn in San Francisco, Cal., and $15,000 by Charles Sailer, of Mt. Holly, N. J., No. 14,704, drew $10,000, one-half to Mr. Jas. Gaudin, S. Braintree, Mass., and Mrs. Catharine S. Taylor, Sullivan, Ind., No. 439 drew $5,000, one-half drawn by Mr. Jas. M. McEwen, 49 Wood St., Pittsburg, Pa., the other by Joseph Lane, Greenpoint, L. I.; tickets No. 26,012, to Alex Beyer, Philadelphia; and No. 26,182, to J. O. Trainer and other parties in Washington, La., drew $2500 each. The remaining money was divided among 852 ticket holders. To know more, address M. A. Dauphin, No. 212 Broadway, New York City, N. Y., or at New Orleans, La. On June 14th, the Grand Semi-Annual Drawing will take place, managed by Genl's G. T. Beauregard of La., and Jubal A. Early of Va.

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

Poison in Foreign Tobacco.

Dr. LeBon finds that collidine, the new alkaloid existing in tobacco smoke (with other aromatic principles, and prussic acid, as well as nicotine,) is a liquid of agreeable and very penetrating odor, and as poisonous as nicotine, the twentieth part of one drop sufficing to paralyze and kill a frog. It is the prussic acid and various aromatic principles that cause headaches, giddiness, and nausea in smoking certain tobaccoes that contain little nicotine. Other tobaccoes, rich in nicotine, have no such effects. The tobaccoes containing most prussic acid and collidine are those of Havana and the Levant.

The dark semi-liquid matter which condenses in pipes and cigar-holders contains all the substances just named, as well as carbonate of ammonia, tarry and coloring matter, etc. It is very poisonous; two or three drops of it will kill a small animal. The combustion of tobacco destroys but a small part of the nicotine, and most of this appears in the smoke. The proportion absorbed by smokers varies according to circumstances, but hardly ever falls below fifty centigrammes per 100 grammes of tobacco burnt. About the same quantity of ammonia is absorbed at the same time. Naturally, more of the poisonous principles are absorbed where the smoke is breathed (as in a room;) less in open air. A frog placed in a receiver containing a solution of nicotine, with about one drop of that substance to a little water, succumbs in a few hours. Tobacco smoke contains about eight milliliters of carbonic oxide per 100 grammes of tobacco burnt. The poisonous properties of tobacco smoke are not due to this gas, as has been maintained in Germany.

Good-By, Juryman!

The abolition of jury trial in civil cases is only a matter of time. The sooner it comes about the better. The judge of a court is presumably a man learned in the law. The results of our popular elections sometimes make the presumption a violent one. But a judge, ignorant of law, is at least as capable of dealing with facts as a jury equally ignorant, and in time he learns his business, while the juror attends only to the business of other people, and never learns it. But ignorant judges are an exception, while incompetent jurors are the rule.

The least qualified of judges is less dangerous as arbiter of facts than the same man would be in a jury box. As a juror, he may take the law and facts in his own hands, and make such indiscriminate slaughter of the case that there will not be enough left of it to appear at that other day of judgment in the supreme court. But as a judge he can render no general verdict. He must file his findings of law and fact, which will usually disclose any glaring error in his decision, and which puts it in proper shape to be reviewed. That a man whose sole daily business it is to observe witnesses, take note of their demeanor, draw conclusions from testimony, and render judgment accordingly, should be better qualified than a tyro to perform that duty, is self-evident.—Ex.

An "Absent" Man.

It is told of a New Hampshire man that finding a bumblebee, one day, as he was shingling his barn, he tried to destroy the insect with his hatchet, but cut off the ends of his thumb and forefinger, letting the insect go unharmed. In one of his abstractions, he shingled over his spare hatchet; and cutting a small aperture in the building to let a little daylight in, this man actually set in a wooden pane, as being economical and not likely to be broken! He once nailed his left arm so firmly betwixt two boards of a fence he was putting up, that he had to call for help to get extricated from his self-imprisonment. He once put a button on the gate instead of on the post.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

—The Boston Herald pipes of spring—"The cherry and pear trees are putting on their white robes, and the apple tree is tugging at the hooks and eyes of its Dolly Varden, hastening to join the gay and beautiful throng."

"I don't want that Stuff"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

—A fashionable married couple, whose drawing-room is adorned with a handsome motto of "There's No Place Like Home," have just started on a trip to Europe, to be absent one year.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock. The movement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other. The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities. Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities. Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one. The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent. Pamphlets and full information furnished, and subscriptions received by The Corbin Banking Co., 43 Milk Street, Boston. MWF0

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents. BOSTON, October 19, 1870. R. H. EDDY, Esq.,—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER. BOSTON, January 1, 1881. 3awjlast

Wonderful Lake in Iowa.

The greatest wonder in the state of Iowa, and perhaps in any other state, is what is called the Walled lake, in Wright county, twelve miles north of the Dubuque & Pacific railway, and 150 miles west of Dubuque City.

The lake is two feet higher than the earth's surface at that point. In some places the wall is ten feet high, fifteen feet wide at the bottom, and three feet wide at the top. Another singular fact is the size of the stones used in construction, the whole of them varying in weight from three tons down to 100 pounds. There is an abundance of stones in Wright county, but surrounding the lake, to the extent of five miles, there are none. No one can form an idea of the means employed to bring them to the spot, or who constructed the wall.

Around the entire lake is a belt of woodland half a mile in width, composed of oak. With this exception the country is a rolling prairie. The trees must have been planted there at the time of the building of the wall.

In the spring of the year 1856 there was a great storm, and the ice on the lake broke the wall in several places, and the farmers in the vicinity were obliged to repair the damages to prevent inundation. The lake occupies a ground surface of 2800 acres; the depth of water is as great as twenty-five feet.

The water is clear and cold; the lake bottom is solid sandy and loamy. It is singular that no one has been able to ascertain where the water comes from nor where it goes, yet it is always clear and fresh.

—The reading of Zola's works filled a Pennsylvania woman's head so full of romantic nonsense that she eloped from her husband. Since the announcement of this fact Zola's books are meeting with a tremendous sale in the east.—Peck's Sun.

Women Who Suffer.

The greatest sufferers in the world are women; their delicate organization being peculiarly susceptible to derangement and disease. Among those who have been cured by Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" we will name Mrs. S. A. McIlwain of Fergusonville, N. Y., Mrs. John F. Brinkerhoff, Highland, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Meyers, of Rondout, N. Y., and many others. "Favorite Remedy" purifies the blood, invigorates the system, and fortifies it against the disease. All druggists have it.

—Bangor Commercial: "The first greenbacker on record who was ever eaten by cannibals was Rev. Mr. Norris of this state. Two years ago the unfortunate gentleman had trouble with his church in Guilford, on account of his voting the greenback ticket, and the Baptist Conference sent him to Burmah as a missionary; there lately the natives killed and ate him.

They Have Never Failed!

I have been sick more or less for the last ten years, which has cost me many dollars in doctors and druggist's bills. The last two years it only cost me three dollars. Why? Because I used Sulphur Bitters instead of employing doctors. They cured me of jaundice.—J. J. Boyd, Hoboken.

Garfield President Yet.

Very many men who have sympathized with Mr. Conkling in his quarrel with the administration have been inclined to blame Secretary Blaine as the power behind the throne which has moved the President. But its turns out that neither Conkling or Blaine is President, as Mr. Garfield says that Mr. Blaine had no hand in the appointment of Robertson as collector of the port of New York, but it was made upon his own judgment.

Mr. Conkling has committed the great blunder of his life in admitting that without federal patronage he is nowhere, and in the election of successors of the resigned senators the fact that Robertson and not Conkling will have the advantage of the patronage may tell upon the fortunes of the Utica politician.

Judge Robertson Confirmed.

The Senate on the 18th inst. confirmed the nomination of William H. Robertson as collector of the port of New York, without even a roll-call.

Gen. Edwin A. Merritt was confirmed as consul-general of the United States at London. A number of postmasters were also confirmed.

President Garfield sent to the Senate the nomination of Rear Adm. E. T. Nichols to be chief of the bureau of yards and docks in the navy department.

Burnside's inter-oceanic canal resolution was postponed to the first Monday in December.

The Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

The books of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children show the following figures: During the months of March and April there were considered by the society 209 cases, embracing 463 children. These cover cases of cruelty, neglect, abandonment, etc. Of these children, 144 had intemperate fathers, 127 intemperate mothers, thirty-three had no father, thirty-three no mother, twenty-four had step-fathers, nineteen had step-mothers, eighteen were illegitimate, four parents were in prison. Of these children, twenty-seven were taken from their parents and sent to the Marcella Street Home as neglected children; forty-nine were sent to other homes, or places secured for them; thirty-two transferred to friends or relatives, eleven sent to hospitals, eleven cases of guardianship, four runaways.

News and Notes.

On the 11th inst. Treasurer Gilfillan received through Postmaster General James $750 conscience money from some person in New York, who anonymously requested that it be placed to the credit of the income tax.

Mr. George E. Currier of Newburyport has contracted to build a new ship of eleven hundred tons for W. A. Johnson, Capt. John N. Pritchard and others of that city. She will be commanded by Capt. Pritchard.

While Henry B. Colby, son of Conductor James B. Colby of the Concord railroad, was riding a bicycle at Waltham, Mass., Friday evening, the 13th inst., his machine went into a hole in the street, and he was precipitated headlong to the ground, sustaining a fracture of the right leg below the knee. At last accounts he was as comfortable as could be expected.

At New Orleans, May 16th, the British steamer Gresham, 1690 tons register, loaded with 77,000 bushels of wheat, was being assisted into into the stream when she suddenly careened, and in a few minutes sank out of sight. No lives were lost. The vessel was valued at $100,000, and the cargo at $42,000.

The Piscataquis Observer says that the report that Rev. J. F. Norris of Foxcroft, Me., a missionary to Burmah, has been murdered by the natives, can be traced to no trustworthy source, and it is probably unfounded. His relatives in Foxcroft have received no news of the kind.

The small-pox excitement in western Massachusetts still continues, being kept alive by occasional new cases.

In Liverpool, Eng., at midnight on the 17th inst., an attempt was made to blow up the central police station, and it is suspected that the attempt was made by Fenians. The explosion was terrible, and was heard over the whole city. Many windows were broken, and much property destroyed. So far as yet known no lives were lost. The explosion was caused by the firing of a tube containing dynamite or gun cotton, placed under the doorway of the station, and led out to a courtway near by, from which spot the supposed tube was fired.

The appraisers of the estate of the late Mark Hopkins of the Central Pacific railroad, have filed in San Francisco their account, which foots up a total valuation of $20,700,000.

Ida Foster, described as a beautiful and fascinating young girl of San Francisco, committed suicide recently, having been deceived and betrayed by a man named Dodge, who has been in business in San Francisco and who is said to have gone to that city originally from New England. Dodge had previously deserted and cruelly treated his own wife.

John Rea, a solicitor of Belfast, Ireland, well known for the riotous scenes he frequently created in court when defending participants in party processions, has been found dead in his bed, having committed suicide with a revolver.

The fire in Nashville, Tenn., on the 17th inst., destroyed thirty-four buildings, and caused a loss of $550,000. Insurance not over $200,000.

Midhat Pasha has taken refuge with the foreign consuls at Smyrna, he being charged with complicity in the murder of the former Sultan Abdul Aziz.

John S. Barron, an assistant editor of the North American Review, arrived in Boston on the 26th of January, and put up at the Crawford house. He left the hotel on the 8th of February, for a stroll as he said, and no tidings of him have since been received. He left his luggage at the hotel, and as he was a man of steady habits, and had no reason for absenting himself, so far as is known, his friends fear that some great disaster has befallen him.

The Boston Electric Light company made their first practical experiment of the use of their lights for general street lighting purposes in Boston on the night of the 17th inst. Tremont row and Court street gleamed with the bright rays thrown from some half-dozen of the electric lights scattered along at suitable distances from Pemberton square to the Miller house. The ordinary gas street lights were also burning, but made a poor showing beside their brighter neighbors. In several cases a shadow of the lamp post and fittings at the top of the weaker light might been seen on the pavement, outlined by the rays from the stronger rival. In most cases the lights were very steady, scarcely ever exhibiting that irregularity that is popularly ascribed to the electric light.

Mr. A. W. Lincoln of the Rockland, (Me.) Gazette has been made happy with a handsome legacy. The editor of the Rockland Opinion says he is glad to hear of it—"both because it is meet that virtue should be rewarded, and because now we shall know where to go to borrow a quarter."

Col. Blood's family, or one of them, seems to be looking up in the world. Miss Gertrude Blood, who according to the London Truth is soon to be married to Lord Colin Campbell, son of the Duke of Argyll, is said by the New York Express to be the daughter of Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull, by her second "husband," Col. Blood.

The list of boy heroes of the war for the Union continues to lengthen. The honors will probably go to Thomas L. F. Hubler of Warsaw, Indiana, who was born in Fort Wayne, Oct. 9th, 1851, and enlisted in Company E, Twelfth Indiana infantry, April 16th, 1861, at the age of ten years, five months and twenty-one days.

A fatal disease is attacking the cattle in Ludlow, Vt., the lungs becoming dark and honeycombed, and water settling on the brain.

A dusky deceiver named Smith, claiming to be a West Point cadet, has been playing havoc among the colored belles of Providence, R. I.

W. H. Chase, who for two years has been principal of the high school at Medway, Mass., has disappeared under a cloud. He came with high recommendations, and for a time was very popular, but of late has been looked upon with suspicion and his resignation was requested. He is charged, among other things, with gross immorality.

Lena Lynes, a ten-year-old girl working at Pilsbury's machine shop in Lawrence, Mass., was caught in the gear of a shaft, on the 17th inst., revolving sixty times a minute, and received severe but it is hoped not fatal injuries.

Mathew Clare of Machias, Me., was thrown from his carriage May 9th, and died on the 16th. He was the proprietor of Clare's hotel for twenty years, and has been known for more than thirty years as a hotel keeper in Machias.

Mrs. Marshall P. Wilder, daughter of the late Captain James Churchill, left her boarding house in Portland, Me., on Friday afternoon, the 13th inst., and up to the 17th had not been seen or heard from, although a thorough search for her had been made. A note was found in her room stating that she had gone to try to accomplish two points, but if she failed in both instances her friends would hear of one of the most frightful suicides on record. What those points were is not known outside of the family with whom Mrs. Wilder boarded, and they do not feel like revealing them so long as a possibility remains of her being found alive. Mrs. Wilder is quite well advanced in years, and at times her mind has wandered. She has two brothers, in good circumstances, one in Detroit, and the other in New York. Mrs. Wilder has been a widow for several years. Her father was mayor of Portland in 1842.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be attended. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad. All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of bloodletting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

HOLMAN'S PAD

TRADE MARK.

ACTS BY ABSORPTION THROUGH THE NERVE FORCES AND THE CIRCULATION.

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine!"

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

Probabilities for New England:—

Generally cloudy weather and rain, northerly to easterly winds, falling barometer and no change in temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, registered 46 degrees above zero.

Stormy.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. John B. Berry, of Dover, has taken charge of the Parker house at Kennebunkport, Me.

The schooner Cocheco, Seawards master, arrived at Indianola, Texas, on the 8th inst., after a rough passage from north of Hatteras.

The Misses Foster of Richards avenue leave this week for Quebec, whence they will embark for Europe, where they intend to make an extended tour.

Mrs. Jenkins of Durham, who attempted suicide some days ago by cutting her throat, and was reported to be in a very critical condition, is rapidly recovering.

The Roller Skating Rink which has been in successful operation at Franklin upper hall since its opening in January will be closed for the summer months in a few weeks. An exhibition of plain and fancy skating will be given this (Thursday) evening to which the public are invited. Admittance free.

A valuable horse belonging to Mrs. Nancy Denny was being driven through Pleasant street on Wednesday of this week, when he stumbled and fell, cutting one knee clear across and in to the bone, and taking a piece of skin from the other knee. It will be some weeks before the animal will be again fit for travel.

A petition to the mayor and aldermen, asking them to establish free bath-houses for the accommodation of the citizens in time for use during the approaching hot season, is in circulation. A few hundred dollars laid out in this direction would be of far more public benefit than thousands thrown away on a street which is not needed.

The hearing before the county commissioners, Acting Commissioner Frank P. Cram chairman, on the petition for a new street from the foot of Vaughan street to the north mill-bridge, was concluded at the court house on Wednesday of this week. The same counsel appeared for the several advocates and opponents of the job as at the previous sessions.

Not to be outdone by Rye, some of the dwellers near the north mill-pond on Wednesday morning of this week discovered a shark four or five feet long in the pellucid waters of that placid sheet. Later advices made the creature out to be a big skate, but we prefer to have it a shark; a skate is no match for a whale, even if the whale is only a finback.

The Dover Republican, in a report of the recent visit of the Grand Commandry of Knights Templar of New Hampshire to De Witt Clinton Commandry of this city, says: "The exemplification of the Temple degree was never more impressively performed than on this occasion, and all the Sir Knights present could but felicitate themselves upon their participation in an event fraught with so much pleasure and satisfaction to all concerned. * * * * The speakers were all in their happiest mood, and the sentiments offered were edifying as well as facetious. At a comparatively early hour the interesting social occasion was brought to a close, and the Sir Knights repaired to their respective homes with pleasant memories of an evening passed within the asylum of the second oldest commandry in the state."

THE WHALE.

The whale which came ashore at Ragged neck, Rye, on Tuesday morning of this week, attracted many visitors during the day, and hundreds went from this city on Wednesday to see the big fish. One party of fifteen came down from Epping, and took a beach-wagon here for Rye. The whale is of the finback variety, which is plentiful in the waters of the temperate zone, but does not frequent high latitudes; the yield of oil is small compared with the size of the fish; and the "bone," which in the northern whale is so valuable, in the finback is coarse, brittle and valueless. Many of the visitors carried away small slabs of this bone; and Mr. Frank L. Pryor dug into the carcass and secured the exploded bomb-lance which caused the whale's death. This weapon is marked "L. R.," and is on exhibition at the hardware store of Pryor & Matthews, on Market street.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, May 15; Batchelder, J.

Timothy Clifton (or Clifford) was brought before the court on Wednesday, charged with an assault on Patrick Holland, with intent to kill. Case continued to Friday, Clifton being held in $200 for his appearance.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

On Thursday evening of next week, at Music hall, a grand vocal and instrumental concert will be given for the benefit of a gentleman who has done much for the advancement of music in this city—Mr. Henry L. Harlow. Besides Harlow's orchestra of this city and Eastman's orchestra of Manchester—twenty pieces in all—the following talent will assist: Mrs. Ella C. Fenderson of Boston, contralto; Miss Edith Wendell, soprano, and Miss Grace Varrell, petite soprano, of this city; Miss Fannie Hoyt, violinist, of Newington; and Mrs. Martha Dana Shephard, pianist. Were not Mr. Harlow's reputation as a musician and leader so well established in this vicinity as it is, the list of performers would suffice to draw a large audience, and we expect to see the house filled. The lady vocalists need no commendation to Portsmouth concert-goers; and Miss Hoyt is said to exhibit remarkable skill on the violin for one so young, playing with purity and expression far beyond what many professionals display.

A new steamer, the Samuel E. Spring, built to run between the river terminus of the Orchard Beach railroad and Biddeford Pool, was launched on the 14th inst.

Mrs. Georgia V. Marshall wife of Mr. Edward F. Marshall, proprietor of the Marshall house at York harbor, is dangerously ill with malignant diphtheria, contracted from her daughter, who died a few days ago.

The schooner Sea Breeze, recently wrecked in the river near Biddeford by striking upon the remains of an old wharf, was sold on Saturday last, with her cargo of 240 tons of coal, for $260. She is covered with eight feet of water at low tide.

The Saco river has been very high for several weeks, and the rain of Sunday caused it to rise still higher. At Bar Mills, Hollis, a dam was carried away, Monday morning, and the rush of water swept off a new furniture factory lower down the river, and part of a bridge.

The Fish & Game Protective society of York county appears to be awake. Recently some officers of the society found nets in the vicinity of the mill raceway at Biddeford, and took charge of them. The county fish warden, James I. Buck of Saco, has secured the control of several ponds in Dayton, and the Fish & Game society will soon have them well stocked.

A Boston firm, J. Mawhenny & Co., manufacturing boots and shoes, have arranged for starting up the mill on the west side of Mousam river, at Kennebunk, formerly occupied by Griffin & Reed, and will soon commence operations. This firm have for some years used the convict labor of the Vermont state prison, but their lease there has expired.

Naval Affairs.

Lieut. Lyman G. Spalding is ordered to Newport, R. I., June 1st, for instruction in torpedo duty.

Comdr. Allan G. Brown is detached from duty at the torpedo station at Newport, and placed on waiting orders.

The practice ship Constellation was put in commission at Annapolis on the 14th inst.

The Powhatan arrived at Annapolis on the 14th with one hundred and twenty-seven men for the Constellation, and sailed for Port Royal, S. C. the same day.

Orders have been given by the navy department to fit out the United States steamship Essex at Philadelphia, and the United States steamship Juniata at New York. The latter is now at Philadelphia.

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. Chas. H. Burns of Wilton is reported to be seriously ill.

Josiah H. Hobbs, Esq., of Wakefield in this state, has resigned the office of chief clerk of the pension office, on account of ill health.

During a heavy shower on Wednesday night, the 11th inst., about 9:30 o'clock, a tornado visited the premises of J. W. Sanders in Sanbornton, partly unroofing his barn, splitting down a large apple tree and carrying one half of it twenty feet, blowing down about a dozen apple trees, a large cherry tree three feet around at the butt, and a stand of bees. The track of the whirl-wind extended not far from seventy-five rods, and it was hardly a moment in duration. Damage estimated at $150.

Stillson Hutchins, editor of the Washington Post, offers three prizes, aggregating $600, to the district or association which will build or improve the best four miles of road in the counties of Belknap, Carroll, Coos and Merrimack, during the coming summer, and a committee, consisting of Ex-Gov. Harriman, Col. Thomas J. Whipple, N. H. Weeks, Esq., Dr. W. H. H. Mason and Hon. Ossian Ray, has been selected to make the award.

The governor and council on the 17th inst. pardoned from the state prison Geo. Wilson of Andover, sentenced to eight years for rape, and Edward J. Knee of Concord, sentenced to eight years for manslaughter.

Bristol people are excited over the discovery of the skeleton of a child and the skull of an adult, which Aaron Peaslee brought to light while ploughing. They are thought by some to be the bones of some of the Pemigewasset Indians.

A three-arch granite bridge is to be built over the Cocheco river at Rochester. Span 122 feet, and width of bridge forty-three feet.

Mrs. Mary Jane Lee, a sister and the last surviving member of Hon. Zachariah Chandler's family in New Hampshire, died May 17th at the residence of Rev. E. M. Kellogg, in Manchester, in her 80th year. Hon. Eugene Hale, Mrs. Hale, who is a niece, and her mother, who is the widow of Ex-Senator Chandler, were in attendance at her death bed. Mrs. Lee was thrice married, each time to a Congregational clergyman. She was the eldest of seven children, while Senator Chandler was next to the youngest. They came of a long-lived race, their father, Samuel Chandler, having died in Bedford on Jan. 11th, 1860, at the age of ninety-five years.

Miss S. F. Norris, M. D., a native of Plymouth in this state, a medical missionary in Bombay, India, for the last seven years, is on her way home for an eighteen months' rest to recruit her health.

The Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the state of New Hampshire met in Concord on the 17th inst., and elected officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Elsey C. Richardson died Sunday, the 15th inst., at the residence of her son, Isaac Richardson, in Windham, at the age of eighty-one years and seven months. Deceased was the first to weave cloth on a loom driven by water power in what is now known as Lowell, Mass. This was in the year 1817, the deceased then being eighteen years of age, and the work was performed in testing a loom manufactured by John Goulding.

While the hands of the Davis & Sargent log drive were at work on a bad jam near Franklin on the 14th inst., the jam started, and all but one man—William Abrams—safely sought the shore. Abrams, whose father and brother both successively lost their lives on the falls there, had been for some days terribly affected while working near the scene of their death, and had determined to leave this river employment, but was induced to stay. When the logs moved he seemed to be utterly paralyzed, and seizing hold of the projections of the stone abutment, with his toes thrust into the crevices for a foothold, with outstretched arms and legs, was left in this perilous position. The boat, some way above bridge, was speedily brought down to the scene, manned by six men, who reached him when nearly exhausted; the boat however had scarcely recovered him when it was dashed sideways against the head of the abutment, which smashed it completely. Abrams not knowing how to swim, and almost dead from exhaustion, soon disappeared in the raging chasm below; the other six men succeeded in getting safely to the shore. Abrams was from Littleton, about thirty-two years old, unmarried, and leaves a sister. His body has not been found.

On Their Travels.

Two youthful tramps, aged twelve and thirteen years, respectively, were recently overhauled early one morning by the police, at Lynn, Mass., they being led to such action by the suspicious movements of the pair. The latter, upon being questioned, claimed a residence in Cambridge. They had started out to tramp the country, but only got as far as Wenham woods, when the coldness of the weather lowered their adventurous spirit, and they concluded to retrace their steps. Each had two revolvers and 50 rounds of cartridges. They jointly possessed some bird skins, some fine-tooth combs, a piece of a deer's horn, a trap, a rabbit which they had caught at Wenham, one half dozen neck-ties, fancy-shaped soap, forks, papers, pencils, envelopes, and other articles sufficient to stock a small variety store. The lads eagerly anticipated breakfasting at an aunt's of one of them at Chelsea, but as their strength was fast failing, they gratefully accepted some coffee and crackers from the police.

DIED.

KENNARD. In this city, May 17th, Mrs. Martha A. Kennard, widow of the late Oliver P. Kennard. ☞ Funeral this (Thursday) afternoon at quarter past three o'clock, from the residence of Mr. Benjamin Carter, No. 26 Middle street.

TURNER. In this city, May 17th, Lillie May Turner, aged 7 years and 9 days, daughter of John and Sarah Turner.

A Female Voter.

A very amusing comment upon a certain phase of the woman's suffrage question is told by one of the tellers at the last city election, and vouched for by him as absolutely true. A woman well known in strong-minded circles came to the polls, vote in hand. Upon being asked her named she hesitated a little, but concluded upon the whole to give it. She seemed to have similar misgivings about replying to an equally impertinent question in regard to her place of residence, but in this matter also she decided to yield. The name being checked upon the list, the voter was told to deposit her ballot, which, after examining the ballot-box with some curiosity, she did. She stood an instant in an attitude of expectancy, and then asked:

"Is that all?"

"Yes, madam," answered the teller.

"Then, if that all," she asked with some asperity, "why do men make such a fuss about it!"

The tide of voters kept waiting by her delay became at this moment too strong for her, and she was swept forward with her question unanswered. She lingered about, however, and in the first lull came back to the ballot-box. "If you please," she said to the teller, "I'd like to see that vote I put in there."

"But you cannot," he said; "a vote can't be taken out of the box."

"But I want very much to see it," she persisted.

"What did you want of it, madam?" he asked politely.

"Oh," was the naive answer, "I wanted to see who I voted for."—Western paper.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—When they build a new saw-mill, the first thing they do to popularize it is to send circulars round. That indicates buzziness.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—A New Hampshire widow, who was sick for a long time and under the care of a high-priced physician, finally, at what she supposed to be her very last hour, willed all her property to an orphan asylum, and sent for the undertaker. That afternoon the high-priced doctor was struck by lightning, and the woman recovered. Now the undertaker and the orphan asylum people have begun an action against the widow for breach of promise.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—Senator Miller, of California, is one the romantic characters of American politics. He was a young Indiana lawyer, and he went to California; but he returned to the former state, made somewhat of a reputation at the bar and was appointed to the staff of Governor Oliver P. Morton, with whom he was a favorite. He was wounded several times during the war, in which he distinguished himself for bravery. One of the bullets which hit him destroyed his eyes and entered his head, where it remained for twelve years, causing great pain. After the war he served as a federal official at San Francisco, and then, in commerce, made a fortune.

One Moment, Please.

When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against billious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Femedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

—In the year 1880 there were in the United States 170,103 miles of telegraphic line; during that year 33,155,991 messages were sent. The miles of wire were about 300,000. This does not include the lines used exclusively for railroad business. The other countries having the greatest length of lines are as follows: Russia 56,170 miles, Germany 41,431, France 36,970, Austrian Hungary 30,403, Australia 26,842, Great Britain 23,456, British India 18,209, Turkey 17,085, and Italy 15,864.

A Cure for Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. D. Fall River.

—The absence of any clergyman, priest, or rabbi at Lord Beaconsfield's deathbed seems to have seriously disturbed the Irish papers. One of them, the Nation, says: "Priest or parson, book or prayer, cross or crescent, symbol or sign of faith, there was nothing to tell whether the dying man thought of Moses or Mohammed or Christ. Unless the published narratives omit some very important particulars, Lord Beaconsfield died as dies a horse." If he died as blamelessly, he is luckier than most men.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their 8% per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

A Taste of Maine Birch.

The traveller and camper-out in Maine, unless he penetrates its more northern portions, has less reason to remember it as a pine-tree state than a birch-tree state. The white-pine forests have melted away like snow in the spring, and gone down stream, leaving only patches here and there in the more remote and inaccessible parts. The portion of the state I saw, the valley of the Kennebec and the woods about the Moxie lake, had been shorn of its pine timber more than forty years before, and is now covered with a thick growth of spruce and cedar and various deciduous trees.

But the birch abounds. Indeed, when the pine goes out the birch comes in; the race of men succeeds the race of giants. This tree has great stay-at-home virtues. Let the sombre, aspiring, mysterious pine go; the birch has humble every-day uses. In Maine, the paper or canoe birch is turned to more account than any other tree. Uncle Nathan, our guide, said it was more especially for the camper-out; yes, and for the woodman and frontiersman generally. It is a magazine, a furnishing store set up in the wilderness, whose goods are free to every comer. The whole equipment of the camp lies folded in it, and comes forth at the beck of the woodman's axe; tent, water-proof roof, bont, camp utensils, buckets, cups, plates, spoons, napkins, table-cloths, paper for letters or your journal, torches, candles, kindling wood, and fuel. The canoe birch yields you its vestments with the utmost liberality. Ask for its cost, and it gives you its waistcoat also. Its bark seems wrapped about it layer upon layer, and comes off with great ease. We saw many rude structures and cabins shingled and sided with it, and hay-stacks capped with it. Near a maple-sugar camp there was a large pile of birch-bark sap-buckets, — each bucket made of a piece of bark about a yard square, folded up as the tinman folds up a sheet of tin to make a square vessel, the corners bent around against the sides and held by a wooden pin.

When, one day, we were overtaken by a shower in traveling through the woods, our guide quickly stripped large sheets of the bark from a tree, and we had each a perfect umbrella as by magic. When the rain was over, and we moved on, I wrapped mine about me like a large leather apron, and it shielded my clothes from the wet bushes. When we came to a spring, Uncle Nathan would have a birch-bark cup ready before any of us could get a tin one out of his knapsack, and I think water never tastes so sweet as from one of these bark cups. It is exactly the thing. It just fits the mouth, and it seems to give new virtues to the water. It makes me thirsty now when I think of it. In our camp at Moxie we made a large birch-bark box to keep the butter in; and the butter in this box, covered with some leafy boughs, I think improved in flavor day by day. Maine butter needs something to mollify and sweeten it a little, and I think birch bark will do it.

In camp Uncle Nathan often drank his tea and coffee from a bark cup; the china closet in the birch-tree was always handy, and our vulgar tinware was generally a good deal mixed, and the kitchen maid not at all particular about dish-washing. We all tried the oatmeal with the maple syrup in one of these dishes, and the stewed mountain cranberries, using a birch-bark spoon, and never found service better. Uncle Nathan declared he could boil potatoes in a bark kettle, and I did not doubt him. Instead of sending our soiled napkins and table-spreads to the wash, we rolled them up into candles and torches, and drew daily upon our stores in the forest for new ones.—John Burroughs, in Atlantic Monthly.

"I don't want that Stuff"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

Some thief broke into a stable in Haynesville, Me., the other night, and stole a fine horse, valued at $800, the property of James Webster of Orono.

BOURBON WHISKEY is a necessity in every household. A really reliable brand may be found in the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Messrs. Chester H. Graves & Sons, of Boston, and to be obtained in bottles only, bearing their signature over each cork, from leading Grocers and Druggists everywhere.

The Kennebec Granite company of Hallowell, Me., has a $30,000 contract to furnish granite for the $1,500,000 building to be built in New York by D. O. Mills.

"THE PROFESSION ought to bear in mind that the Liebig Company prepare a genuine Extract of Witch Hazel, and in ordering the remedy be sure to designate the preparation desired, otherwise a worthless article may be obtained.

The same firm also makes a most useful and convenient nutrient tonic, in the form of "Coca Beef Tonic," which has justly received the highest commendation. We have used both of those preparations with the most satisfactory results."—(Editorial in the Medical and Surgical Times.)

Masonic.

The annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of New Hampshire was held in Concord on the 18th inst., and was largely attended. Grand Master Isaac Stearns of Quebec was present, and the meeting was an interesting one. The following officers were elected: Frank A. McKean of Nashua, M. W. G. M.; Alpheus W. Baker of Lebanon, R. W. D. G. M.; John Francis Webster of Concord, R. W. G. S. W.; Henry W. Burnham of Manchester, R. W. G. J. W.; Joseph Kidder of Manchester, R. W. G. T.; George P. Cleaves of Concord, R. W. G. S. Andrew Bunton of Manchester was unanimously re-elected M. W. G. M., but owing to his business engagements declined.

At the annual convocation of the Council of High Priests of New Hampshire, held in Concord on the same day, the following officers were chosen: John J. Bell of Exeter, president; Albert V. Wait of Newport, vice president; Elisha Ayer of Keene, chaplain; Alpheus W. Baker of Lebanon, treasurer; George P. Cleaves of Concord, secretary; Frank D. Woodbury of Concord, master of ceremonies; Frank P. Cram of Hampton Falls, conductor; Harlan P. Goodrich of Lebanon, herald; Edward Dow of Concord, guard.

News and Notes.

The jury in the case of Charles F. Williams, tried at East Cambridge, Mass., for the unprovoked murder of another boy named Smith, rendered a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity. He was sent to the lunatic hospital at Worcester, where he will probably stop until the affair blows over.

The identity of the girl murdered in Opdyke woods, Hoboken, on Friday, the 13th inst., is fully established. The girl, whose name was Nima Miller, resided in New York with Louis Kettler, who was her murderer. They had lived together some, and on the day of the murder they went to Union mill to be married. Dr. Mayhon performed the ceremony; and on their way to New York they passed through the woods where she met her death. She had much money in her purse, and as both money and purse are missing the robbery is supposed to have prompted the murder. The murderer sailed for Havre on the steamer Amerique. District Attorney McGill has telegraphed to Attorney General Wayne MacVeagh, asking him to cablegram to the French authorities and cause the arrest of Kettler.

"Tolu Rock and Rye," alias Lawrence & Martins of Chicago, have failed, with liabilities amounting to $200,000 or more.

Sophie Pierowska, the recently-executed Russian nihilist, has been elevated into a sort of St. Agnes. She is worshipped as a martyr, and the nihilist faithful regard the clothes she wore, and ringlets which were cut from her head, as so many precious relics. These objects have been distributed as talismans among the leaders of the nihilist party in Russia. A strange incident in the woman's career was that the prosecuting officer of the Russian government at her trial, who arranged the evidence against her and after her conviction moved for her sentence to death, was at one time her lover and her affianced husband.

Last year this country imported over $12,000,000 worth of raw silk. It is believed that the silk can just as well be raised in America and the money kept at home, and to that end a woman's silk-culture association has been formed, which has just opened in Philadelphia a school for instruction in the art, while a leading mercantile firm in that city offers prizes to the amount of five hundred dollars in order to encourage this industry in the farming districts of Pennsylvania.

Gen. John L. Swift is to deliver the Memorial day address at Warren, Mass.

Mrs. Joseph Coffin, of Newburyport, fell and broke her arm on the 17th inst.

Cornelius Sullivan, eight years old, was drowned at Lowell, Mass., May 17th.

A $16,000 stone church is to be erected forthwith by the South Parish Congregational society of Hallowell, Me.

Mrs. Thomas Nooney was burned to death at Bridgeport, Conn., a few evenings ago, through dropping a kerosene lamp.

New Hampshire Items.

The late Hon. Micajah C. Burleigh of Great Falls made a bequest of $5,000 to Dartmouth college. The same gentleman had previously given the college $2,000 within three years.

Major J. R. Crocker, manager of the Waumbek hotel in Jefferson, died of blood-poisoning on the 19th inst., after a short illness.

The town of Franklin is able to sell its 4 1-2 per cents bonds at a premium of one-half per cent.

The Amoskeag savings bank, at Manchester, has $2,291,871.23 deposits, with a surplus of $108,629.37, and in addition a guaranty fund of $100,000. The present market value of its investments above its liabilities is $174,904.37. The trustees claim it is the strongest and safest bank in New England. It has been in operation less than thirty years, and its great success is due in no small degree to the sagacity and clear-headedness of its treasurer, Hon. Moody Currier, who, taken all-in-all, may be regarded as the ablest financier in the state. The bank has over five thousand depositors, and pays a state tax of $16,000.

Two shocks of earthquake were reported at Contoocook, Tuesday night, May 17th, one about past twelve o'clock, and the other between three and four o'clock in the morning. The Contoocook, Warner and Sugar rivers were overflowing their banks in consequence of the storm, and mills stopped in various places.

Naval Affairs.

Commander Alfred Hopkins has been ordered to duty at the Pensacola navy yard; Commander Henry B. Seeley to duty in charge of the naval rendezous to be established at New York; Commander Bryan Wilson to duty in charge of the naval rendezvous to be established at Philadelphia; Paymaster George A. Lyon to duty at the Washington navy yard.

Rear Admiral Howell, under date of Castellamare di Stabio, May 2d, transmits to the navy department a report made by certain officers of the United States steamer Galena upon the earthquake at Scio.

The Powhatan arrived at Beaufort, S. C., on the 18th inst.

Rear-Admiral Clitz, commanding the United States naval forces on the Asiatic station, reports from Shanghai, China, April 9th: "The Swatara will remain at Nagasaki for the present. The Alert arrived at Yokohama on March 27th. The Monocacy was ready for a trial trip on March 24th, which took place on that day. The results were generally satisfactory, and a speed of 10.5 knots was obtained. She will remain at this port for the present. The Ashuelot arrived at Shanghai on March 25th, having on board four cases of smallpox. The sick were removed to the hospital on shore, where one died; the others are believed to be recovering. The Ashuelot remains at this port for the present. The Palos is probably now at Yokohama. With the exception of the four cases of smallpox that occurred on board the Ashuelot, the health of the officers and men of the squadron is excellent."

Umbrella Language.

There is a language of umbrellas as of flowers. For instance, to place your umbrella in a rack indicates that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out. To shut it, that a hat or two is to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over the woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, indicates courtship. When the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings, it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means "I dislike you." To swing your umbrella along the sidewalk means that the man behind you is thirsting for your blood. To carry it at right angles under your arm signifies that an eye is to be lost by the man that follows you. To open an umbrella quickly, it is said, will frighten a mad bull. To put a cotton umbrella by the side of a nice silk one signifies "exchange is no robbery." To purchase an umbrella means "I am not smart, but honest." To lend an umbrella indicates "I am a fool." To return an umbrella means—never mind what it means; nobody ever does that. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages a burst of profanity. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats, indicates "I am a woman." To press an umbrella on a friend, saying, "Oh, do take it, I had much rather you would than not," signifies lying. To give a friend half of your umbrella means that both of you will get wet. To carry your umbrell in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry it from home in the morning means "it will clear off."

Railway Nausea.

Many persons, especially ladies, are great sufferers from that form of nausea and headache known as "car-sickness." A journey by rail has for them all the discomfort and suffering that an ocean trip has to the majority of travellers.

A lady who had occasion to take a short trip on the Lowell road was (as had been usual with her) thoroughly sick by the time she had riden a dozen miles. The conductor of the palace car, who was apparently very familiar with such cases, told the sufferer's companion that a sheet of writing paper worn next to the person, directly over the chest, was a sure preventative of the trouble in nine cases out of ten. He had recommended it to hundreds of travellers, and rarely knew it to fail.

For the return trip, a sheet of common writing paper was fastened inside the clothing as directed. Result—a perfectly comfortable journey, without a hint of the old sickness that had for years made travel by rail a terror. It was so like a superstition, or a happy accident, however, that the lady would not accept it as real until subjected to a more severe test. This came in a day journey to New York, and that hardest of all—a night trip in an "alleged" sleeping car. Both were taken in triumph. The "charm" worked. And the lady writes to the Boston Herald:

"The day journey was a perpetual wonder and delight to me. I could sit up and read, and look at the landscape through which we whirled, and act as other people do. And still I didn't feel ready to confess to a cure until I had tried the sleeping car, which has always been a horror to me. But even here the 'spell' worked. I ate a hearty supper in the dining car—and kept it! Slept soundly all night; got up as comfortably, and dressed with as level a head and as steady a hand as though I had been in my own room. Read until breakfast time—a thing I have never before done on the cars—and was hungry for my morning meal! It is really wonderful, almost too good to be true. For the first time in my life I have experienced the pleasure of travelling."

To the scientific guessers is left the explanation of this peculiar potency of a paper. And, as a further possible contribution to the welfare of qualmish travellers, it is suggested whether the charm would not work equally well in preventing sea-sickness. The experiment is certainly worth trying.

—"Silk stockings at this season?" "Yes," she replied, with the utmost naïveté. "I always wear my best stockings in this muddy weather."

—A gentleman living near Port Jervis, N. Y., says an exchange, has a parrot which knows a good deal more than the law allows. Last summer a friend of his, whose name we withhold for obvious reasons, called at his house one day and, a valuable young dog, a pointer, with him. The two gentlemen sat on the porch smoking, and the parrot, which is very tame, was seated in an interstice in the trellis about the porch. The dog was lying on the floor at his master's feet; and finally his attention was called to the bird, which was looking steadily at him. The dog sprang up, drew on the parrot and fastened. There he stood, still as a statue, for full three minutes, when the parrot, with a contemptus flirtous of his feathers, screamed out, "Go home, you cussed fool!" The dog dropped his tail and ears, wheeled round, and struck a bee line over the field for home. Since that time he has refused to point a bird.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. 1m,th & f eOJan28

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, registered 48 degrees above zero.

Stormy.

AROUND HOME.

The men employed in Jones' malt house are suspended for the present.

The storm this week has delayed the arrival in this city of trains from the westward from five to ten minutes each.

The sub-committees on Memorial day observances are requested to meet in the common council room this (Friday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

On Monday of this week Mr. Andrew Langdon, in repairing some machinery in Jones' malt house, badly wrenched his leg. Mr. Langdon has met with several accidents, and thinks it is good policy, hereafter, to keep insured.

The schooner Emily A. Staples, Coleman master, at anchor in the lower harbor near Fort McClary during the blow of this week, has a cargo of stone from Phippsburg, Me., for Boston. Some of the small coasters carry very poor ground tackle, and on Tuesday night two of them had lines run to the Emily A. Staples, as "preventers" in case their anchors or gear should give way.

Schooner Grace Choate arrived on Wednesday with 1700 pounds of salt fish. On Monday night of this week she was on the Jeffreys' laying alongside of her trawls, which were set, when she went adrift, bringing up on a "ten-acre lot" twenty miles distant from where she started, and remained there until Wednesday, when she started for home. She was unable to get her trawls, which are probably all lost.

A resident of Rye says that one hundred and sixty-six teams, by actual count, passed his house on Wednesday, the 18th inst., on their way to Ragged neck, many of the vehicles being large ones. One team started from this city at three o'clock Thursday morning, bound for the same destination, and despite the rain and wind the procession was well kept up throughout the day, to the disgust of the stable horses and the delight of the stable keepers.

On Thursday the big fish in the north mill-pond was seen again by several persons. When he was first seen, Wednesday morning, he was a shark; before night he had been out down to a big skate; and on Thursday some people attempted to reduce him to a muskrat with a very long tail. This thing has got to stop; we started out with a shark in the north mill-pond, and propose to have a shark or nothing; we cannot afford to antagonize a whale with a muskrat, though we are ready to back the odor of the north pond, when it is at its worst, against the Rye beach whale.

There is every indication of a large turnout on Memorial day, and although the committee on invitations have not as yet received answers from all the organizations invited, yet enough have accepted to insure a large procession. At the last meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., the desire was very generally expressed that the different camps of Odd Fellows should turn out; and it is eminently fit that they should be represented on that day. From no organizations in the country were recruits for the army so freely drawn as from the Odd Fellows and firemen, and in honoring the memory of the dead soldier on Memorial day, they also honor the memory of their deceased associates. No city of the size can turn out so many camp members as this city, and nearly all have regalias; but these regalias appear so seldom on the street that the people almost fail to recognize them. By all means let them be represented on that day. Their presence would be gratefully appreciated by the Grand Army boys, and at the same time it would be in conformity with the action of the organization in other cities and states.

Eastern railroad 4 1-2 per cent bonds now sell at 108 1-2. New Hampshire state bonds, 6s of 1892, sold at 124 3-4 at the brokers' board in Boston on the 18th inst.

Hon. James W. Emery was elected one of the directors of the Central Vermont railroad at the annual stockholders' meeting held at St. Albans, Vt., on Wednesday, the 18th inst.

Prof. S. W. Cole has exchanged a Chickering grand piano which he had possessed for about six months, for a Knabe grand costing $1600, considering the difference in price more than made up by superiority in the instrument. The first-named piano is on sale at Montgomery's music and art store, at $700.

As one of Mr. H. R. Stoddard's big teams was taking a party of twenty persons down to Rye "to see the whale" on Wednesday evening of this week, while going up the hill on the south side of Sagamore bridge the hind axle broke; the party had a shaking up and a temporary scare, followed by a good laugh, and in half an hour were transferred to another team and on their way again.

The prices of tickets for the grand vocal and instrumental concert to be given in Music hall on Thursday evening are placed at decidedly "popular" figures; the house should be crowded at such rates, and we make no question that it will be. The attractions offered are far superior to those of the ordinary traveling concert companies, though the tariff of admission is so much lower, and the size of the audience should be gauged only by the capacity of the hall. See advertisement.

The whale which was driven ashore at Rye has at length found an owner, Mr. Cyrus L. Brown having signed papers to the effect that he will remove every part of it from the place. Parties commenced cutting off the blubber on Thursday, and brought up some twenty barrels of it to be tried out at Mr. Floron Barri's soap factory. A gentleman who was at the beach on Thursday, and who said he had been whaling for six years, pronounced the whale a humpback, and said it would yield seventy barrels of oil. The whale was given to Mr. Brown by the selectmen of Rye.

The Dover Democrat copies our item regarding the removal of the office of the collector of internal revenue for this district from Dover to this city, and says: "We thing the CHRONICLE is a little fast in the above statement. No such 'order from the treasury' has been received by Collector Young, but it has been decided to open a branch office in Portsmouth for the sale of stamps to accommodate the extensive brewers there, who pay three-quarters of the revenue of the whole state. That is all for the present. But that the revenue office will ultimately go to Portsmouth there is not much doubt, unless the revenue laws are repealed, as they ought to be, and the office abolished."

A letter from Thomas J. Whidden, Esq., an ex-alderman of Boston and a native of Portsmouth, to a friend in this city, says that he read our account of the schooner Patriot, the last of the old fishing fleet of Newcastle, with much interest, from the fact that he, when an adventurous youth just arrived home from a voyage in the brig "Leonidas," engaged to go fishing in the Patriot with Capt. Nathan White. But a friend dissuaded young Whidden from his contemplated voyage to the fishing banks, and he went to Boston to see what advantages that city offered a resolute young man, willing to win his way to fortune by earnest application to business. If Mr. Whidden had adopted the life of a fisherman he would doubtless have been a bold and skillful skipper, and "half owner" of a clipper-built mackerel-catcher or Labrador'sman, and would have "wet his salt" every trip, if we may judge by the social, financial and political success which he achieved as a landsman.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, May 19th:

Petition of I. P. Miller and others for the establishment of a free bathing house was received and accepted.

Request of D. H. Trefethen for leave to encumber Fleet street for building purposes, and of Mechanics' Association for permission to open Congress street to repair drain, were granted.

Bill of Thomas Quinn, for $141.17, was ordered to be paid.

Mayor Sise appointed the following-named persons trustees of the free public library: For three years, Frank Jones and James DeNormandie; for two years, E. H. Winchester and Miss Fanny A. Mathes; for one year, D. J. Vaughan and Edward P. Kimball.

Voted not to appoint a liquor agent for the ensuing year.

An ordinance relating to discount on taxes was read and referred.

An ordinance transferring the unexpended balance of the dog-tax to the support of schools, and other unexpended balances to the contingent fund, was read and referred.

The committee on gaslights reported, explaining the gas bill charged to the city marshal's office, and recommended that two drop lights be put in the station, and new burners fitted. Approved, and referred to same committee, with power.

The committee on streets reported on the petition of Samuel Horton, asking permission to put wires on trees along Middle street, recommending that petitioner have leave to withdraw. Adopted.

The mayor reported that the committee of conference on the appropriation bill had agree to strike out the item of $2000 for a reservoir on Court square.

The mayor reported that a new fence was needed at the Lafayette schoolhouse; also that boys had broken into the building and stolen books, and some new glass was needed. Referred to committee on schoolhouses, with power.

The committee on burying grounds recommended that a new fence be built between the Pleasant street cemetery and the premises of Mrs. Thacher Emery. Adopted.

Complaints about naphtha lights on Lafayette road were referred to committee on gas lights, with power.

The Common Council met, and a quorum was mustered after the expenditure of considerable time and trouble, but no action was taken on the appropriation bill. Adjourned for one week.

THE STREET EXTENSION.

Mr. Editor: At the hearing before the county commissioners on the 18th inst., it was intimated by the advocates of the proposed Vaughan street extension that new street would not cost over $2000 or so, as the Eastern railroad had offered to supply at a low price whatever gravel might be needed. Another suggestion was made, to the effect that the difference between what a railroad will promise to do, when seeking some favor, and what it will do after the favor is granted, is sometimes very great; and one inquisitive individual would like to know why the road should be so willing to aid in this scheme, unless it is, as alleged by many, solely in the interests of the railroad. As to the probable cost of the street, setting aside all land damages, it cannot be built for several times the sum named, which would hardly pay for the rough granite needed to face the side of the street along the dock. The dock at present is faced with a cob-work of rotten timber, which must all be removed in making a new street, and thousands of loads of gravel will be needed to raise the road-bed to the needed height above the spring-tide level—which again will necessitate the raising of several buildings. Altogether, it seems to me that the city of Portsmouth is asked to lay out a great deal of money in order that the freight-handling facilities of the Eastern railroad may in the end be increased by the addition to their premises of the "dangerous" piece of street between Vaughan street and the ward one ward-room building. SCAT.

Mr. Jabez S. Deering, of Corinth, Me., is on a visit to his brother, T. P. S. Deering of Biddeford; this is the first time they have met for forty-one years, though both have lived in Maine all the time. Another brother lives in Clearfield, Penn., whom the Biddeford brother has not seen for over forty-three years. There are nine brothers in the family, all living, the oldest being seventy-six years old and the youngest sixty-three.

The late William Hill of North Berwick, whose death we referred to in a previous issue, was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of York county. He was born in Eliot on the 28th day of February, 1799, and was therefore eighty-three years old at the time of his death. He went to North Berwick when sixteen years of age, and had resided there the greater part of the time since. He was president and principal owner of the North Berwick Manufacturing company, and also president of the North Berwick national bank, having served in the latter capacity continuously since its organization, and also in the state bank which preceded it. For several years he was president of the Dover & Winnepesaukee railroad of New Hampshire, the Great Falls Woollen company, and of the Newichawanick Woollen company of South Berwick. He was a member of the Society of Friends, and was known far and favorably as "Friend Hill."

How He Finished the Likeness.

Fitz-Greene Halleck's habit of maintaining unusual opinions in a manner between jest and earnest, on one occasion cost him the loss a fine portrait. Seth Cheney, a simple-minded, serious, and credulous artist, who died in 1856, was very successful with his crayon-pictures, transferring to the sheet before him the finest and most elevated expression of which the countenance of his sitter was capable. Halleck once sat to him, but the painter found the frame of mind which he brought to his task disturbed by the poet's rattling fire of "quips and cranks and wanton wiles," and by the sportive manner in which his sitter spoke of certain matters which, to the mind of the artist, should only be referred to with the utmost reverence. One morning when Halleck came as usual, Cheney said to him: "I have finished your likeness." "You have been expeditious," said the poet, with that old-school courtesy for which he was so noted. "Yes," replied the painter; "I put it in the fire this morning!"

Smoking When With Ladies.

The woman who does not require of a man the form of respect, invites him to discard the substance, and there is one violation of the form which is recent and gross, and might be well cited as a striking illustration of the decay of manners. It is the practice of smoking in the society of ladies in public and private places, whether driving or walking, or sailing or sitting. There are preux chevaliers who would be honestly amazed if they were told they did not behave like gentlemen, who sitting with a lady on a hotel piazza, or strolling in a public park, take out a cigar, light it, and puff as tranquilly as if they were alone in their rooms. Or a young man comes alone upon the deck of a steamer, and blows clouds of tobacco smoke in their faces, without even remarking that tobacco is disagreeable to some people. This is not, indeed, one of the seven deadly sins, but a man who unconcernedly sings false betrays that he has no ear for music; and the man who smokes in this way shows that he is not a gentleman.—Harper's Magazine.

Books, Magazines, E.c.

"Scribner's Monthly" has been arranging, during more than a year past, for an illustrated article on Saint-Gaudens' Farragut monument, which was to have been unveiled in Madison square, New York, on May 20th. The postponement of the unveiling till the 25th inst. gives the magazine five days' start! The article, which includes a sketch of the sculptor's life, is accompanied by four illustrations, one of them a full-page engraving, by Cole, of the statue. The same number has an engraving, by Fred. Juengling, of Saint-Gaudens' medallion of Bastien Lepage. Scribner's will, it is said, in the June number pay an unprecedented compliment to a young western poet, by reprinting from the newspapers nine of her poems. The name of the poet is Miss Edith Thomas, of Geneva, Ohio.

"The Atlantic Monthly" for June has several special features. Besides parts of stories by Miss Phelps and Henry James, Jr., there are two admirable articles for the season,—"A Taste of Maine Birch," a thoroughly characteristic out-door essay, by John Burroughs, and "A Spring Opening," a charmingly descriptive article, by Edith Thomas. A paper which deserves the attention of every one interested in social science is "An Indoor Pauper," a careful statement of facts gathered from reports of a number of the states, by Octave Thanet. "H. H.," in a paper entitled "Bergen Days," contributes a very interesting account of Norwegian life and character. John C. Ropes has a paper entitled "Who Lost Waterloo?" describing the various maneuvres and movements of that fateful day. "Over on theOther Mounting," by Charles Egbert Craddock, is an exceedingly engaging story of southern life and scenery. Richard Grant White this time writes of "French Tragedy." The reviews of books are unusually varied and interesting this month; there is a diversity of readable brief essays in the Contributors' Club; and the number concludes with a beautiful, touching poem in the memory of Mr. Fields, said to have been written by Mr. Longfellow. The second number of the Atlantic, under its new editor Mr. Aldrich, does great credit to his care and judgment. Houghtoy, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

How She Got Her Pay.

A Cleveland (Ohio) landlady who had exhausted the usual means of collecting a bill due from a boarder, at last resorted to strategy. Entering his chamber early one morning, she awoke the sleeper and once more demanded what was due her. He demurred. She repeated the demand twice without avail, then gathering his clothing, gripsack, etc., and seating herself near the bed, commenced a search for his purse, while he looked on in dismay. She found the object of her search, appropriated what was due her, and quietly left the room. Dead-heading is not popular at that lady's boarding house.

—In an idiotic vein the McGregor News asks, "What made By-ron?" to which the Modern Argo replies: "Probablya Bulwer after him."

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

It is stated that the New York yacht club will not entertain the challenge of the Bay of Quinto yacht club of Canada for the America's cup, as the vessel proposed to be entered by the latter club does not belong to them, but has been built by a joint stock company for the purpose of speculating upon the results of the race.

"Women Never Think."

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.—Picayune.

A man was convicted for the sixty-fourth time in the Newburyport police court, on the 16th inst., for drunkenness.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 650 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. sep15,eo

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $400,000 of their six year coupon bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1881.

The Senate.

President Garfield on the 19th sent to the Senate a long list of nominations, including Stewart L. Woodford to be United States attorney for the southern district of New York; Blanch K. Bruce of Mississippi to be register of the treasury; Glenni W. Scofield to be a judge of the court of claims; George B. Loring to be commissioner of agriculture; John G. Crawford of New Hampshire to be consul at Cooticook; George F. Mosher of New Hampshire to be consul at Nice.

The Senate in executive session confirmed the nomination of Bruce and Loring; also of Lewis Wallace of Indiana to be minister to Turkey; Stephen A. Hurlburt of Illinois to be minister to Peru; Judson Kilpatrick of New Jersey to be minister to Chili; Thomas A. Osborne, minister to Brazil; and numerous others.

The nomination of William E. Chandler of New Hampshire to be solicitor general was reported from the judiciary committee without recommendation, and placed on the calendar for action next day.

William E. Chandler's Record.

The New York Tribune in speaking of the case of William E. Chandler before the Senate says there is no reason why any republican should oppose his nomination. The Tribune recapitulates the positions legal and political occupied by Mr. Chandler, and with a statement of his legal attainments. The Tribune says:

The fact that Mr. Chandler has sustained himself creditably in every position in which he has been placed; as state reporter, speaker of the New Hampshire house of representatives, solicitor of the navy department, assistant secretary of the treasury; has been twice elected at the head of the ticket as delegate to national conventions of his party; and been a leading member and officer of its national committees, would seem to demonstrate that he can discharge with ability any office which he may accept. If it be charged that Mr. Chandler has been engaged in business before Congress, it may be replied that he has not been so employed except in a few instances for respectable and honorable interests, to be served in ways perfectly legitimate; and for the last five years has accepted no such employment whatever. If, with a record such as this, Mr. Chandler is to be rejected by a strict party vote in a Senate where, by the folly of two republicans, the democrats have an accidental majority, it is only fitting that the people should know what an admirable public servant the country loses.

A Strange Story.

A boy named Arthur Smith, aged thirteen years, was found tied to the Pennsylvania railroad track on the night of the 18th inst., near Derry station, in an unconscious state. After several hours' labor he was brought to his senses, when he stated that he was the son of Judge Fayette Smith of Cincinnati. He did not know how he came there. The last he remembers was going to bed at his home, Monday night, the 16th. When found he was evidently under the influence of some narcotic. His father was communicated with, and ordered him sent to Cincinnati.

The Deadly Skipping-Rope.

Mintie M. Miller, a girl not quite thirteen years old, died in Auburn, Maine, on the 17th inst., from the effects of an injury to her spine, caused by jumping rope, two or three years ago. Two boys were swinging the rope, and tripped the girl in play. After being injured she was sick for some time, but partially recovered and resumed her attendance at school, although she was so weak she was unable to climb stairs without frequently resting. A short time since she became worse, and her death presents a sad caution to school children against carelessness in exercising with the skipping-rope. There are frequent deaths from this cause, the physicians say, and two have been reported as occurring in one town in the west within a couple of weeks.

Concord Railroad.

The fortieth annual report of the directors of the Concord railroad has been published. The gross receipts from the business for the year were $84,911.82 more than the previous year, and in consequence of the increased cost of labor and material, and the unusual severity of the past winter, the operating expenses were increased $69,035.55. The directors say: "The result of the operation of the road for the year has been favorable. The usual semi-annual dividends have been earned and paid, and the good condition of the road-bed, track, rolling-stock, buildings and other property of the road, has been fully maintained." The earnings of the road were as follows: From local passengers, $235,462.64; through passengers, $93,428.06; local freight, $345,749.95; through freight, $250,644.40; rents, $8,485.49; express, $13,550.03; mails, $12,679.91; total gross earning, $955,000.47. The total expenses were $692,391.60; excess of earnings over expenditures, $262,608.87.

News and Notes.

At Honey Creek township, Ind., May 19th, Alexander McPhetas killed his wife and her sister, shot at his mother-in-law, and then killed himself. Domestic trouble and drunkenness caused the tragedy.

John Gill is under arrest at Attleboro, Mass., charged with being too much married, having one wife in Attleboro and another in Providence, R. I.

At Nederland, Col., May 16th, Mrs. Nettie Still, instigated by jealousy, shot and fatally wounded Alpharetta Ray, aged thirteen years.

Full details of the destruction of the British sloop-of-war Doterel at Sandy Point, Straits of Magellan, have been received by British admiralty. There were two explosions. The first is supposed to have been the bursting of a boiler used in condensing sea water; the second was in the forward magazine. The vessel went down bow foremost in eight fathoms of water, in three minutes, and nothing was seen after the second explosion except a few planks. The survivors saved their lives by jumping overboard after the first explosion. They were rescued by boats from sealing schooners, and by the yacht of the bishop of the Falkland islands. Commander Evans jumped through a porthole, and was taken from the water much lacerated by broken glass and wreckage. The engineer, who escaped, was not on duty. One hundred and forty-five lives were lost.

Martin Komkowsky, a bricklayer, thirty-three years old, married and having two children, was arrested in New York on the 19th inst. for the murder of Mina Miller in the woods at Hoboken. The girl's trunks were found in his house. The first report was that she was murdered by Louis Kettler, who married her on the morning of the murder, and sailed for Europe on the French steamer Amerique.

The indictments against Philp, Byrne, Post and Josh Hart, growing out of the Morey letter forgery, have been nol. pros'd, there being no evidence to prove them guilty of forgery.

By the caving-in of a shaft of the Golden Terror mine at Deadwood, Dak., on the evening of the 19th inst., twelve men lost their lives and eight others were badly injured.

On the 18th inst. two new cases of small-pox were discovered at Maple Grove, a small hamlet a mile from South Adams, Mass., one case having been reported previously; all three patients were removed to the pest-house. A fourth case was discovered near Whitehall on the same day.

Robert Beadle of North Adams, Mass., got drunk, beat his family, went to bed, got up next morning and got drunk again, attempted to commit suicide, got drunk again, and set fire to his bed while trying to light his pipe, all within twenty-four hours.

Half a minute after seventeen workmen escaped from the Eureka Slate quarry in Poultney, Vt., the walls of the pit caved in with a crash, burying the engine house, derricks and derrick house, at a loss of $6,000. The quarry was ninety feet deep and one hundred and fifty feet wide.

A barber at Bloomington, Ill., who had a leg and arm cut off by a train of the Lake Erie road, has been awarded $12,500 damages, on the ground that due care was not used by the railroad company.

Ezekiel Record of Buckfield, Me., died May 18th, aged ninety-five years. Mr. Record was a soldier of the war of 1812, and belonged to a family remarkable for the longevity of its members, several of them having lived up to ninety years, while an uncle of Mr. Record lived to the age of 105 years. Mr. Record was the father of thirteen children, ten of whom are now living.

Capt. S. C. Bailey, agent and treasurer of the Perry cotton mill at Newport, R. I., has been stricken with apoplexy, and it is not thought that he can live long. He is one of the leading citizens of the place, and is well known as a former shipowner and master.

Surveyors running the lines for the reservoir of the water company at Milford, Mass., have discovered an old-fashioned gravestone bearing an inscription, partly legible, which is supposed to read, "Deacon Theopolis Brown, killed by the Indians May 16, 1692; aged 56 years."

The British schooner Flora, Capt. Jeavey, from St. Peters for Sydney, C. B., for a cargo of coal, sprang a leak and the crew, five in number, took to her boat, in which they remained eight days, and were almost famished and exhausted when they were picked up by the schooner Thresher, Capt. McKenzie, April 22d, and taken to St. Peters. The cause of the Flora's leak was running foul of ice.

From Bedford, Ind., a report is received of the phenomenon of a cloud, as low as the tree tops, which rushed over the town on the 14th inst., with the roar of a hurricane. Only thirty-five seconds intervened from the time it was seen approaching until its disappearance. The sky was clear at the time, and the sun was shining. A reduction of from ten to fifteen degrees in the temperature followed the passage of the cloud, and continued for about ten minutes. The same phenomenon occurred at Bloomfield.

Miss Mackey, the daughter of the gentleman known as the "Bonanza King," is engaged, it is said, to marry Count d'Harcourt, a kinsman of the French Marshal MacMahon.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—its readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s 4g page

H. F. GERRISH.

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strenghtened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptoms not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

AROUND HOME.

We are informed that Hon. Frank Jones has given up his proposed visit to Europe, his health having been fully restored, and his immense and increasing business requiring his attention.

The steamer Acushnet, Ray master, from Boston with general freight, and the steamer Pottsville, Peirce master, from Philadelphia with coal for the coal-pockets, arrived at this port on Friday.

C. W. Hutchings and H. A. Campbell of Salem, Mass., late engineer and fireman of the tug Naumkeag, have given up their positions, and have been replaced by D. Oscar Marr and Samuel A. Jackson of Kittery.

The big fish in the north mill-pond had grown to be twelve feet long Friday afternoon, when he was seen by some of the brewery workmen. Had he delayed his appearance to them until evening he no doubt would have been fifteen feet long by that time.

Major Urch will exhibit two of his marine bicycles on the Charles river at Cambridge, Mass., Memorial day, having been invited to do so by leading members of the Boston bicycle club. The major has applied for patents on his unique invention in Great Britain and Canada.

Some of the members of Eastman's orchestra of Manchester, which is to take part in the grand concert at Music hall on Thursday evening of next week, were formerly members of the Marine Band stationed at this navy yard, and their reputation as musicians is, of course, unquestionable.

Eight hundred and fifty-five shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at the brokers' board in Boston, on the 20th inst., at from $44.50 to $45 per share; $10,000 of Eastern railroad 4 1-2 per cent bonds went at 110. One hundred and fifty shares in the Maine Central road brought $40 per share.

On Friday forenoon one of the men belonging to the fishing schooner Pluribustah, lying at Mr. Charles E. Walker's wharf, in attempting to go aboard his vessel fell some ten feet into the water. He was in a helpless condition, and had it not been for the timely assistance of Mr. James Burke would have been drowned.

Rear Admiral D. McN. Fairfax, U. S. N., was at the navy yard on Thursday, and had a look over the U. S. S. Lancaster, now rapidly approaching completion. It is reported that the Lancaster is to go to Europe, relieving the Trenton as flagship of the European squadron, and that Adm. Fairfax will at the same time relieve Rear Adm. John C. Howell, now in command on that station.

We are informed that the superintendent of steam fire engines at the navy yard has been relieved from the charge of the engines of the dry dock, and also from running the hydraulic ram which will be used in forcing the Lancaster from the ways into the dock, the naval constructor of the yard assuming control of them. The charge of the engines of the tug Leyden is to be transferred from the department of yards and docks to the department of steam engineering.

The market this week has been bare of fish and lobsters, the long-winded storm having prevented the fishermen from going out, and played the mischief with the lobster-pots. The first lot of freshly-caught fish brought in this week was caught by Mr. Charles H. Wallace, and landed Friday afternoon. About three hundred lobsters were brought in on the same day by various parties; but lobsters are likely to be scarce for some time, the storm having destroyed so many of the pots.

Several large black snakes, varying in length from about five feet to nearly six, have been killed on Dover neck recently.

Persons desirious of procuring plants for their gardens will find a large variety to select from at Pearson's greenhouses on Broad street.

A horse belonging to Mr. John H. Slater had a runaway on Friday afternoon. Mr. Slater was going from his house on Cabot street to his store, and had just taken off the weight which was attached to the bridle when the horse started on the run, and after a zigzag course through several streets came down Congress and turned into Market street, where he left the hind wheels and body of the wagon in one place, and the shafts and fore wheels in another, then proceeding up Green street, and was stopped by Mr. C. H. Foote just as he reached the railroad track. Mr. Herbert Ayers tried to stop the animal when opposite Congress block, but stumbled over some bricks and was thrown down, getting his clothes well muddied and one of his hands scarred. The horse was uninjured, but the wagon and harness received divers injuries.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, May 20; Batchelder, J.

John Elliott, a bummer who comes into the city semi-occasionally for the purpose of getting sent to Brentwood, was up on a charge of malicious mischief, he having broken a pane of glass in the Franklin buildings. He was sent to jail for sixty days, costs being taxed at $8.04.

The Dover Democrat says the assays o rock from the Paul mine in Eliot show better as the work progresses; some taken to Boston recently assayed $90 to the ton.

Miss Clara M. Smith of Fairfield, Me., a graduate of high standing from the New Hampton Institute, has commenced the spring term of school in district No. 5, Kittery Point.

Some time during Tuesday night, the 17th inst., the store of C. E. & F. P. Brackett at Biddeford was burglarized, and silk goods and jewelry to the value of $1500 or $2000 stolen.

A $40,000 contract for supplying stone for the jetties at Newburyport, Mass., has been awarded to Charles H. Bragdon of Biddeford. He will get the stone required to fill his contract at the last-named place.

A new corporation has been formed at Biddeford, for the manufacture of the "Universal Heel Polishing Machine." The capital stock is $96,000, and work will begin this season. Henry L. Brown of Middletown, Conn., is president, and John E. Peck of Newton, Mass., is treasurer.

A few days ago, on the arrival at North Berwick of Conductor Towle's morning train over the Eastern railroad from Boston, a tall, lank specimen of the genus homo approached the conductor and handed him a mail-bag, saying, "here is something you lost off below here at the last town, so I got off and picked it up for you." It proved to be the South Berwick Junction mail, which had been thrown off there as the train passed slowly through the station.

The supreme judicial court for York county commenced a session at Alfred on the 17th inst. The number of actions on the docket is 390; the grand jury returned thirty-eight indictments, and a number of cases were assigned for trial. Charles Junkins of Eliot was foreman, and Masterson Young of York and A. L. Randall of North Berwick members, of the grand jury. Among the traverse jurors are Isaac D. Phillips of Kittery, Albert Shapleigh of Eliot, James H. McIntire of York, James W. Hobbs of South Berwick, Mead B. Hopkinson of Berwick, Nathaniel C. Knight of North Berwick, and Anthony D. Jacobs of Wells.

The Ocean Park Association at Old Orchard is making active progress in establishing there the new denominational summer city by the sea. Seventy-two lots have within a few days been sold to prominent persons, realizing over eight thousand dollars, and cottages are to be soon erected on all the lots. Plans have been drawn for a tasty octagonal pavilion to seat about fifteen hundred persons, and to be dedicated in August, at which time a ten-days meeting is to be held. Negotiations are pending for a hotel, for which a spacious lot on the line of the Orchard Beach railroad is held in reserve; an association reading room and post-office will also soon be erected.

How the Presidents Looked.

The Presidents of the United States were generally of good personal appearance. The extremes in point of stature were in Polk and Lincoln—the latter of whom was six feet four, while the former was a little more than five feet three. Van Buren was a small man. The first four were men of much dignity. Concerning Washington nothing need be added on this point. He was the beau ideal of manly beauty even in his latter days, and when Stuart undertook to paint his portrait, the artist was so overcome by the majesty of his patron that at first he was unable to proceed with his task. John Adams lacked Washington's noble stature and grandeur of mein, but he was a man of much dignity. Jefferson was of noble personnel—tall, well built and of imposing appearance. Madison had merely a respectable look, and being dressed in black presented much the appearance of a clergyman. Monroe and Washington were the only Presidents that served in the field during the Revolution. They were together at Trenton, where Monroe was a lieutenant and received a ball which he carried through life. He was the last of the revolutionary Presidents, and wore the cocked hat and continental uniform, which became him to a remarkable degree. John Quincy Adams, like his father, was stout, thick-set, and deficient in point of stature. Jackson was tall, gaunt, with bristling hair, high cheek-bones, and a nervous but defiant countenance. Van Buren lacked personal dignity, and indeed was one of the most deficient of all our Presidents in physique. Harrison was a man of much personal dignity. Tyler was a spare-faced man, with a broad, thin nose, which gave him rather a conical appearance. Polk was, as has been said, a small man, with a cold, repulsive countenance, and a hard, staring pair of eyes, that were singularly free from anything like a kindly, genial look. Taylor was a heavy-built man, with a rough visage, as might have been expected of one whose life was passed on the frontier. He was a bred soldier, and loved the service. His face had a pleasant smile at times, but was often impressed with the stern character of military life. Fillmore had a lymphatic countenance—dull, except when lit up by business or pleasure. He was agreeable in society and interesting in conversation, much beyond his predecessors. He was of much more than average size, and of proportions which suggested dignity if not elegance. Buchanan was a feeble old gentleman, whose white choker suggested the clerical order. His countenance, however, showed that he was not a man of progress, and rather suggested the fossil order of intellect.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, May 18.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 2876; Sheep and Lambs 2800; Swine 10,092; Veals 600; number of western cattle 2563; eastern cattle 144; milch cows and northern cattle 169.

Prices of Beef Cattle per 100 lbs; live weight—Extra quality $6 to $6 25; second quality $5 62 1-2 to $6 12 1-2; second quality $4 87 1-2 to $5 50; third quality $4 37 1-2 to $4 75; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 to $4 25.

Brighton Hides 8c per lb.
Brighton Tallow 5c per lb.
Country Hides 7c per lb.
Country Tallow 4 to 4 1-4c per lb.
Calf Skins 12 1-2c per lb.
Northern Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 25 to $1 75 each.
Western Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 50 to $2 25 each.
Spring Lamb Skins 50c each.

The trade for beef cattle has not varied much from that of one week ago, prices ruling high and the quality of the offerings in market full as good as those in last week. During the week there has been a fair demand for shipping cattle, quite a number of the best lots being sold to shippers. There were a few very nice beef cattle brought into market from Maine this week, a few selling at 6 1-2 to 9 1-2c per lb dressed weight. S A Maxfield had a lot of 29 three and four year old steers, which were fatted at Prince Edward's Island, average weight 1348 lbs, which were sold to parties who intend shipping the beef to the English markets. M H Simpson had 22 cattle, which were some of his own feeding at his farm in Saxonville, they were nice ones; purchased H Bird & Co; fed by the new process of ensilage.

Working Oxen—Trade for working oxen is about over for the season. A few pairs each week will probably be all the markets will require until the latter part of summer. We did not hear of any sales being effected.

Store Cattle—A few which were brought in from Maine were sold to parties at prices ranging from 4 1-4 to 4 1-2c per lb live weight.

Milch Cows were in fair demand, especially good ones. We note sales of 15 cows and calves at $30 to $49 per head; 2 new milch cows $60; 1 Dutch cow $45; 2 new milch cows for $110; 1 springer $25; 1 do $38; 1 cow and calf $35.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from west were owned by O W Hollis, and cost landed at the Abattoirs from 6 1-2 to 8c per lb live weight.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices were lower, those of this week costing from 6 3-4 to 7c per lb live weight. Store Pigs—Western shoats, wholesale in lots 7 to 8c; retailed at rate of small pigs 8 1-2 to 10c per lb, live weight. Sucking pigs $4 to $5 50 per head.

Having spacious and good accommodations and long and large experience, he solicits patronage in this line.

A Mere Trifle.

In a New York court, on the 19th inst., in the suit of Wm. S. Williams against the Western Union telegraph company, Jay Gould testified concerning the consolidation of the Western Union and American Union companies. He said the consolidation was first proposed by Vanderbilt. In the course of his testimony he said: "I myself paid in my check for five or ten millions, I don't remember which!" One who did not know would suppose that Mr. Gould was a plumber or an editor, from his talk.

Steamer Missing.

A San Francisco despatch of May 19th says:

There is no news yet of the steamer State of California. The British steamer Barnard Castle, which left here six days ago for Nanaimo, has not yet arrived there, and some fear that the two ships have come into collision. Insurance on the cargo of the California was granted yesterday at from ten to twenty-five per cent, but to-day in some cases is refused at fifty per cent. The steamer has about fifty-five cabin passengers, and sixty in the steerage. She has very light sail power, and in case of an accident to her machinery would make slow progress. The weather has been thick up the coast, and if disabled she has probably kept away from the coast to get clear of fog.

[A despatch of the 20th says the steamer State of California has turned up safe, with her shaft broken. Towed in by a tug.]

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

At Windsor, Vt., last Thursday, the case of Waite, the Brattleboro bank wrecker, was postponed till June 14th. He appeared in court. His health is much improved.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

G. G. Benedict, state military historian of Vermont, recently found at Washington the flag of the ninth Vermont regiment, that had been recaptured at Richmond. It will be placed in the Vermont state house.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Judge Nathan Crosby of Lowell, Mass., on Thursday last completed his thirty-seventh year of service as justice of the Lowell police court, and made an address to the bar, saying that his health is still excellent, and no expression of discontent has reached him. He proposes to continue in the place. Maj. Jona. Ladd responded in a complimentary manner, in behalf of the legal fraternity. The judge is about eighty-five years of age.

One Moment, Please.

When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against billious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Femedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

Mrs. Marshall P. Wilder, who disappeared from her home in Portland on the 13th inst., was found at the house of a brother in Brookline, Mass.

A Cure for Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. D. Fall River.

Mrs. Cooley, a widow thirty-six years old, committed suicide at Springfield, Mass., on the 19th inst., by throwing herself from a third-story window.

Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites saved the life of my wife, after her case became apparently hopeless from tubercular consumption. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will rapidly improve the weakened functions and organs of the body which depend for health upon voluntary and involuntary nervous action.

H. L. HARDING, Nelsonville, O.

John Andrews, thirty-one years old and married, and John Futcher, eighteen years old, of East Boston, went out in a dory at two o'clock on Monday morning, the 16th inst., and had not returned up to the evening of the 19th. They were probably both drowned during the storm of Monday.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 650 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. 1ap15,82

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company have additional means to extend the facilities, for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

SPRING NOVELTIES.

The mantle of thirty years ago has descended upon the belle of to-day, who, wrapped in its straightened folds, smiles complacently. Capes are the rage, but being the rage, are worn by everybody, while as yet there is an exclusiveness about the mantle. It may be en suite with the costume or of independent material, and in the latter case black is preferred, because harmonizing with everything. Elegant ones in this latter style are of Canton crape, embroidered in flowers of natural color, and edged with silken fringe; while others are of fine cashmere, camel's hair, or sicilienne, trimmed with beads. Hoods are as fashionable as capes, and like them are placed anywhere—on basques, polonaises or jackets, while occasionally we see a cape surmounted by a hood. One of the chief delights of our eyes, however, are the new spring suits of striped or plaided and plain goods. There is no rule as to style or combination; each dressmaker does as she likes, one makes the basque of striped goods, another of the plain; some make the skirt of the plain material, with upper drapery of stripes or plaids; then perhaps the suit is of plain goods, with occasional touches of stripe or plaid; or a striped or plaided suit is toned down with a slight admixture of plain fabric; liberty is law, and a delightful confusion results, which leaves one to do just as one has a mind to. Quite noticeable too are the bright blue costumes worn by young ladies. These are throughout of plain, light wool material, and two weeks ago were conspicuous. Now they are no longer so, because we have grown accustomed to the flittings of these youthful blue birds. But in the cut of the costume there is much conventionality. Dressmakers keep well within certain limits, and while there is room for great individual adaptation, there are many things forbidden. Thus we find that are the rule, trains being anathematized except on very dressy occasions. Even grandmothers don short dresses, but are expected to show less of a pretty foot than the grand-daughter in her teens. For wash materials as well as thin silks or woollen, the Ninon waist and Celiment skirt form a pretty combination, one in this style of fine gingham having been lately made up for Mary Anderson. The waist is without shoulder seams, fitting plainly; the skirt is an irregularly-shaped overskirt arranged over a gored skirt trimmed with side plaitings. In front, the drapery laps from left to right, with a deep point on the left side, and a shorter point farther back on the right. Another pretty suit made of cream colored mull for Emma Abbott, is a combination of the Lucile blouse and Manola overskirt. A shirring extends around the neck and shoulders, and the overskirt has a deep, shirred tablier and bouffant back drapery over a skirt finished with knife plaitings. Nothing is more elegant than a black costume finished with steel, since black is now considered "high style." If you ask what is a judicious choice, I would say, a Duchesse silk, which is one of Bonnet's best. His reputation is world-wide as a manufacturer, that we all know; and the brand in question is celebrated for its purity of silk texture, freedom from foreign substances, and beauty of finish. Prices run from $1.25 to $4.50 per yard, and Lord & Taylor, who are the sole agents, will send samples to any part of the country.

SENSATIONS VISIBLE AND INVISIBLE.

Collarettes are a new sensation. Two or more broad rows of lace are gathered or plaited around the neck, with sometimes a standing ruffle in addition; or again, the collarette can be of black silk or the material of the dress, with standing ruffle around the throat. They are worn both by ladies and children, and it has been said, almost with truth, the smaller the child, the larger the collarette. Another sensation more felt than seen, are the Edson electro-magnetic garters. They have come over from England, where they had a remarkable success, and are now being adopted on this side, since by a very novel miniature attachment, on the inside, a genuine electric current, or what is called "Odic force," is produced, which gives strength to the legs and ankles, and it is claimed, symmetry and elasticity of step. Notwithstanding all this, they sell for little more than the ordinary silk garter. An agency for them has of course been established. Yet another sensation are formidable-looking fans made of cretonne, covered with flowers so large that at a glance it is mistaken for wall paper. The sticks are of ebony, and a silvered chain and link is attached to the handle. The philosopher who gazes at the passing crowd, might naturally enough enquire whence have sprung the army of that meet his vision. Four out of five of that stream of fashionables wear each a "rough and ready;" usually black, but sometimes colored to match costumes; and if you make inquiry as to shape, I feel as confounded as our philosopher, for how can I describe a variety that beggars all description? But there is a general avoidance of height, and the greater number are without strings, although a pretty example gotten up for Anne Louise Cary is trimmed with black satin and has black satin strings.—A black satin lining is shirred inside the brim, which rises slightly in front, and three pale pink roses nestle on the left side. Another, for Mary Anderson, is of pale brown, plentifully garnished with brown and golden ostrich feathers. There are no strings, but a gold colored satin lining is shirred inside the brim. These rough and readies are worn with the handsomest costumes, although much in vogue also for travelling and semi-dress hats.

LUCY CARTER.

"Women Never Think."

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.—Picayune.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

MONDAY, MAY 23, 1881.

The Senate.

The Senate adjourned on the 20th, after a session of seventy-eight days. During the executive session, Wallace R. White of Minot, Me., was confirmed as United States attorney for Idaho territory, and a host of minor appointments were confirmed. The nomination of William E. Chandler of New Hampshire to be solicitor general was not confirmed, the vote standing nineteen in favor of confirmation to twenty-three against it—a strict party vote, except that Cameron of Pennsylvania voted with the democrats; Mitchell of Pennsylvania, who was present and not paired, did not vote. Contrary to the usual custom, the Senate adjourned without having elected a president pro tem.

Anniversary Week.

This is the week in which ministers assemble in Boston, and exchange ideas; when numberless people meet and elect themselves officers of all sorts of societies for promoting all sorts of objects; when the governor of Massachusetts is expected to make two dozen apt speeches before as many distinct organizations; when booksellers sell their goods at reduced prices, and umbrella dealers are hoping for increased traffic. It is the occasion when numbers of feminine orators are able to obtain an audience without "hiring a hall," and with zealous emphasis portray the wants and capacities for new usefulness of their sex. It is remarked that the more advanced in years a woman becomes, the more thoroughly is she convinced of her powers and possibilities to accomplish a great work in the world, and societies devoted to this development will hold meetings this week at the hub. Doubtless with the new translation of the scriptures, women will claim additional rights and privileges, and during this week the Boston anniversary audiences will learn very much concerning the great advance made by the world in this direction during the past year.

News and Notes.

Thomas A. Scott, the great railroad man, died in Clifton, Penn., Saturday.

Luther Foster, the young man of North Andover, Mass., whose twin brother was shot dead while the two were committing a burglary, has been sent to state prison for seven years.

Arthur Getchell, over eighty years old, is in jail at Augusta, Me., serving a sentence of nineteen months on five counts for liquor selling. His son Charles keeps him company, having four months to serve.

A large number of Irish farmers are forcibly resisting eviction, and a number of arrests have been made.

A man, supposed to have been James J. McShane, was run over and instantly killed on the railroad track at Prison Point bridge in Boston, last Friday evening.

John Tucker of Jay, Vt., who died last Thursday, made a confession on his deathbed that he and John Ross, his brother-in-law, were the incendiaries who set fire to the large woollen mill at Stanbridge, Quebec, which was burned two years ago. His confession sets forth that they were hired by William Ross of Jay to set the fire. John Ross has been arrested for the offence, and lodged in jail. Proceedings for the extradition of old Ross are being had. It is thought that the two Rosses were implicated in the burning of the Chamberlain store and the post-office in Jay, recently.

At Albany, Ga., May 19th, Mrs. Elsie Hill, jealous of her husband's attentions to Henrietta Cato, attacked the latter with an axe. Miss Cato defended herself with a pocket knife, and stabbed Mrs. Hill fatally. Miss Cato was arrested.

It is understood that Michael Boyton, now imprisoned in England, was never a naturalized citizen of the United States. Hence our government will not interfere.

Joseph H. Gidley, a dealer in truck, living in Dartmouth, Mass., has been missing since Sunday morning, the 15th inst., when he took a boat and gun and started down the river on a gunning expedition. The boat, with his gun in it, was picked up next day. He leaves a wife and three children.

The British steamship Ganos, from Matanzas for Boston with 2400 hogsheads of sugar, and the steamship Pembroke, from Boston for Liverpool, were in collision Friday night twenty miles off Boston light, and the Ganos went down in five minutes, in forty-five fathoms of water. The Pembroke had her bow stove, and her fore compartment filled with water, but she got back to Boston. One of the Ganos' crew was lost. The sunken steamer registered 1443 tons, and with her cargo was valued at $540,000.

New Hampshire Items.

The lines of railroad down the Merrimack valley will oppose the Lake Shore railroad project of the Boston & Maine railroad, on the ground that it will open a competing line for White Mountain traffic. It will also be likely to take from the Eastern road some of the travel coming by the Nashua & Rochester line from New York to Rochester en route to the mountain region.

Mr. Wm. E. Chandler's republican principles seem to be well endorsed before the country, by the democratic senators' votes upon the question of confirmation. He can afford the result.

The carriage and paint shop of Dudley Tucker of Northwood was burned recently, together with several carriages, sleighs, stock and tools. Loss $2,000; no insurance. Cause, a defective stove.

Edwin B. Stuart's dwellings and outbuildings in Lancaster were destroyed by fire on Thursday night. Cause, defective chimney. Loss $2,500; insured $1,700.

Silas F. Reed of Dorchester has been arrested on a charge of having mailed letters to various persons offering them valuable considerations to engaged with him in counterfeiting United States treasury notes. Reed admitted having written the letters, and was sent to jail in default of bail.

A curious effect of the severe and protracted storm may be seen on the sand bluffs on the opposite bank of the river. The ground swallows are dying in large numbers. They drop exhausted into the river, and on to the bank. The workmen on the Stark storehouse have picked up many of them, and such as were yet alive they have taken into the watch house and fed. The birds are apparently starved, being unable to obtain their usual food of flies and insects. They skim about, searching for them, and finally fall exhausted. A reporter of the Union saw several of the dead birds, and found them but skeletons.—Manchester Union.

Gen. James Wilson, of Keene, eighty-five years of age, has expressed a desire and intention to be present at the inauguration of the Governor-elect Charles H. Bell on the 2d of June. He is especially desirous of doing this as he was present at the inauguration of Mr. Bell's father as governor more than half a century ago. He will receive a warm greeting from many friends should he grace the occasion with his presence.—Monitor.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"The Granite Monthly" for May has an interesting sketch of Phineas Adams of Manchester, for thirty-five years agent of the Stark Mills. Mr. Adams is known to many of our citizens. He has a summer residence at Straw's point and is one of the best citizens of our sister city. A fine steel engraving, an excellent likeness of Col. Adams, accompanies the sketch. Judge Nesmith gives us account of two celebrated "Scotch Irish School Masters" of early days in this state, and John M. Shirley continues his history of the fourth New Hampshire Turnpike. Other papers of a historic character make this an interesting and readable number. "The Granite Monthly," is a New Hampshire periodical, and all interested in our state history and in the biography of our worthy citizens past and present should encourage its circulation. It costs but $1.50 per year.

"The Belknap Tocson," is the title of a new paper started last week at Laconia, by Messrs. C. W. & A. J. Hackett, to be published on Thursdays. The first number is well printed, and contains a large draft upon the local news in Belknap county. It supports the administration of President Garfield; vigorously announces in unmistakable language its political programme; a sterling republican newspaper the projectors say, is needed in Laconia, and they have began this journal as a permanent feature in that locality. Success to it. The young projectors are full of promise, and we trust their highest anticipations will be abundantly realized.

AROUND HOME.

The tug Naumkeag took a large party from Kittery to York on Sunday.

The schooner Addie & Hattie came in on Sunday with between 4000 and 5000 lobsters.

Henry W. Saunders and Daniel Haley lost one hundred lobster pots by the big storm last week.

The expenses of the Portsmouth jail for the year ending May 1st, 1881, were $3283.61; of the Exeter jail, $1731.43.

The sloop yacht Viva, from Portland, bound for Salem, put into the lower harbor on Sunday afternoon.

We understand that Wm. A. Loyne, volunteer missionary, soon closes his labors in this city, and will remove with his family from Portsmouth.—Times.

The weirs at the mouth of this harbor were badly wrecked by the sea last week. It is estimated that the damage will amount to at least $400.

The schooner Helen F. Tredick arrived from Cashe's on Sunday with 23,000 lbs. of salted fish. She lost nearly all her trawls during the storm.

The Cocheco Manufacturing company at Dover will build a store house two hundred and twenty-five feet long, fifty feet wide and two stories high, this summer.

Mr. George F. Mosher of Dover, who has been appointed consul of the United States at Nice, France, has for a long time been editor of the Morning Star, the denominational organ of the Freewill Baptists.

Mr. George E. Fifield of South Newmarket sent off to Georgia last week an engine, and leaves for there to-day to set it up. He has more orders for his engines than he can fill, and will enlarge his business premises.

The work of removing the obstructions to navigation in Exeter river will be commenced forthwith by direction of Gen. George Thom, U. S. A., colonel of engineers. Richard Merriman of Haverhill, Mass., will have the immediate supervision of the work. The several appropriations by Congress for this work aggregate $35,000.

The schooner Willie Seavey, Capt. Robert White, sailed from Newcastle April 16th for the Western banks, and arrived at Portland on May 18th with a full fare of four hundred and fifty quintals of prime cod-fish, the result of twenty-one days' fishing. "How is that for high?" The Willie Seavey carries a crew of eight men, including the skipper.

Mt. Sinai Encampment of Odd Fellows has voted to take part in the exercises of Memorial day, and invitations have been extended to members of Strawberry Bank Encampment of this city and Dirigo Encampment of Kittery to appear with Mt. Sinai Encampment on that day. The encampments always draw marked attention when they appear in public, and their participation in the Memorial day parade will add much to the occasion.

Early last fall two brewery workmen, named John Hartnett and Hugh McCann, had a quarrel, and Hartnett struck McCann upon the head with a mallet. Hartnett was brought before the police court, and his case sent to the grand jury, who in October last indicted him for an aggravated assault; but in the supreme court his plea of guilty of simple assault was accepted, and he was fined $20, with costs. McCann died on the 10th of March last, as is alleged from the injury inflicted by Hartnett; and the latter was taken into custody by the police on Friday, on a charge of manslaughter, the complaint being endorsed by G. C. Bartlett, Esq., acting county solicitor.

The schooner Emily A. Staples passed down the river Sunday, with a cargo of bricks, bound east.

Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway railroad bonds sold at auction in Boston, on Saturday last, at $90; at this rate the bonds pay five per cent interest, on the present market price. Eastern railroad bonds have advanced to 109 7-8. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. sold at 115 1-2.

The Rockingham County Temperance Association will hold its next meeting at Hampton beach, on the last Thursday in June, by invitation of George D. Dodge of Hampton Falls. There will be a picnic dinner, Mr. Dodge to provide tea and coffee. Rev. Otis Cole of South Newmarket is to give an address, on "Where is the Remedy?"

Capt. John Amazeen, who for several years past has commanded a steamboat on the St. Johns river in Florida during the winter, and had charge of the landing stage at Star island, Isles of Shoals, during the summer, arrived home from Florida a few days since on a flying visit. He will return immediately, having been awarded a contract for carrying the mail on an important route in Florida, for the next four years.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, May 21; Batchelder, J.

Timothy Clifford, assault on Patrick Holland; case continued from the 18th inst. Holland appeared in court, said he was drunk at the time of the row, and was the aggressor; so Clifford was discharged.

John Hartnett, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Hugh McCann by striking him on the head with a cooper's mallet, was held for the grand jury, without bail.

DRIVING ACCIDENTS.

A horse driven by a young man named Charlesworth had one of its legs broken Sunday night when on Islington street, a short distance above the Creek, and had to be killed.

A few hours later (at about one o'clock Monday morning) the police were notified that a man had been killed on Salter street. Hurrying to the spot they found a carriage with one shaft broken, and a man considerably bruised and muddied, and very drunk. The horse had cleared himself from the wreck, and gone to his stable. The police put the man in the carriage, and hauled the lot to the station, where they locked the man up.

Both teams were reported as belonging to Mr. H. R. Stoddard.

CHURCH TAXATION IN DOVER.

The Dover Democrat says the board of assessors of that city "have decided to tax the churches, and the valuation for that purpose is stated as follows in their own words:"

The value of church property owned by any church corporation or association in excess of ten thousands dollars, in this city, is thirty-eight thousand six hundred dollars, of which the Catholic is valued at twenty-one thousand and six hundred dollars, and includes the Walker property and their parsonage. The First Baptist church is ten thousand, and includes their chapel. The Methodist is six thousand. That part of the Methodist church owned by the pew holders, according to the city solicitor's opinion being personal property, is exempt under the new law, as pew holders are neither a corporation or association, and pews in any church are personal property. The Washington street Free Baptist church is one thousand dollars. The Belknap is valued at seven thousand, and is taxed for stores and land leased to other parties, and not included in the $38,600 stated above.

Miss Sarah O. Jewett of South Berwick will publish through Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Boston, a new book entitled "Country by-ways."

Dogs have been depredating on the flocks of Messrs. Johnson and Adams of Spruce creek, Kittery, and Colburn Barrell of Beach ridge, York. Several sheep have been killed for each of the above named persons, and a number of dogs have paid with their lives for being seen hanging around the sheep pastures.

The thief who burglarized the store of C. E. & F. P. Brackett at Biddeford, on Tuesday night of last week, has been captured and proves to be a French clerk by the name of D. W. Haley, in the employ of the Messrs. Brackett. His conduct on the day previous excited suspicion, and on inquiry as to his whereabouts that night, he stated that he was visiting a lady, but upon inquiring of her she stated that his story was false. Haley, finding himself unable to explain, confessed his guilt, and told where the goods were to be found, and they were all recovered, being of the value of $1,200.

Memorial Day Proclamation.

It is a beautiful custom, handed down from the earliest times, that civil communities should place among their sacred days and public festivities those periods which illustrate the history or mark the splendid achievements of the nation.

It is both fitting and profitable that the custom should be perpetuated. It is now more than fifteen years since the close of our civil war, and the unanimity and constancy with which the patriotic living having paid their annual tribute of respect to the heroic dead all these years has suggested to many that the popular suffrage would set apart the Thirtieth day of May as a common and perpetual rest for the remembrance of the most trying but glorious epoch in our national life. It, therefore, in accordance with the plan entered into by the governors of the several states, and after full consultation and deliberation, venture to recommend to the whole population of the state that they lay aside their usual avocations, and come together to consecrate this day for ever to the cause of popular freedom, by eulogistic speech, martial airs, and solemn procession. Let us add our contributions to the offerings of our citizen soldiery. Let us tenderly and lovingly lay the flowers of early spring upon the graves of our sons, and place above their ashes the flag which, living, they covered with imperishable lustre. Let us recall the virtues and the deeds of those who sleep where they fell in the hour of battle. Let us perpetuate to the latest years our gratitude for the valor that saved the republic; for it is such sacraments of liberty that preserve the spirit and transmit the teachings of its saviors.

Thousands of the sons of our State fell in the prolonged struggle for Union and Liberty; the other thousands who returned, one by one are following their comrades to that rest which the reveille of battle can never reach. It would seem to be an unpardonable neglect of a public duty for any who have entered into their labors to fail to pay an appropriate and unceasing tribute of honor to this increasing roll of the heroic dead. The future, in all its generations, should learn to cherish and revere the spots where rest the ashes of the men by whose virtue and courage our integrity and our constitution were preserved.

Fortunately the creed of patriotism is one and indivisible. No conflict can mar or taint the one sentiment for the dead who have given their lives for a great cause or the common welfare. Here we may all unite in the institution of a custom which will keep in lasting remembrance the principles and the qualities of the founders and early defenders of the Nation, and tend to transmit the ideas, the virtues and manliness of the fathers to the latest generation of their children. No republic can afford to forget its great struggles, or to be ungrateful to public benefactors. The wasted veterans of the war are the untitled nobility of the republic. By keeping fresh the memory of their deeds in monumental records, we shall transmit the force of their patriotism to the generations to come.

Given at the Executive Council Chamber in Concord this forteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, and of the restoration of the Union the sixteenth.

NATT HEAD.

—A gentleman, calling on a farmer, observed: "Mr. Jones, your clock is not quite right, is it?" "Well, you see, sir," said Mr. Jones, "nobody don't understand much about that clock but me. When the hands of that clock stand at twelve, then it strikes two, and then I know it's twenty minutes to seven."

—"I feel," said the fat passenger, as the train crossed the Ohio line, "that I am in the land of statesmen. There is a smell of the post office in the air, and the low, sweet sound of a consulship is heard in the dewy distance. I see the shadowy forms of marshals yet to be, and out of the dreamy gates of the impossible I see the sad procession of never-to-be supreme judges. It is a dear and favored land, this grand old stepmother of Presidents." Burlington Hawkeye.

—A young German was once pressing his suit, and in the midst of his ardor questioned the object of his choice as to her possible financial future. "I have heard," he said, "that your good father owns two large estates in Silesia." "Yes," was the naïve reply, "and he owns two more in Pommerania." The suitor hesitated a moment as though to catch his breath, and then falling on his knees and looking the young lady imploringly in the face, cried out, "and can you, my darling, doubt my affection under such circumstances?"

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 650 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,82

FELLOWS'
Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help the nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of grace or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

The Fate of the Giraffe.

One morning when the Show opened, the Ring Master laid before the Animals a Letter from the Giraffe, who said that in consequence of the Treatment he had received he felt compelled to leave the Show. Before the Excitement over this Announcement had subsided, the Ring Master said he had a Letter from one of the Trick Mules, who also withdrew from the Show. At this there was a little Squirming among the Snakes, and one, a Copperhead, spoke up: "Looks as though the Show was breaking up;" and a Fellow who had been kicked out once and crept in again under the Canvas, and was wanting to be appointed Scene Shifter, said: "It's a Cold Day for this Show when it gets left by that Noble Animal the Giraffe. To say nothing of the Trick Mule." The Show, however, went on, and the Giraffe and the Trick Mule went away and waited for the Manager to send for them. After many days, curiosity as to what would become of the Circus gave way to solicitude for the Giraffe and Trick Mule.

A committee being sent out learned that the Trick Mule had hired out on the Tow Path, but that the Giraffe, having never done Anything Useful, sought Employment in Vain until a Village Engine Company utilized him as a Fire Escape, in which position he was able to do for others what he never could do for himself—let them down easy.

Moral.—No one Animal, or even two, can break up a Whole Show.—Tribune.

Sanitary Condition of the White House.

The fact that the executive mansion, the official residence of the President of the United States, is not fit for a human habitation, has been discovered. There seems to be no doubt that Mrs. Garfield owes her present serious illness, in part at least, to the wretched sanitary condition of the White House. If the evil were a new one, or if it had just been ascertained for the first time, there would be some excuse for the neglect of Congress to provide a decent residence for the first officer of the government. But that is not the case. For many years the Presidents have retreated, as soon as the weather was warm, either to the Soldier's Home or to Long Branch, to escape the malaria. The White House is an inconveniently arranged house; it stands in an unwholesome location. An efficient board of health in Washington would order the President out of it, and direct that it should be closed, if not pulled down. Congress should take action as soon as possible to build a new official residence where neither Presidents nor Presidents' wives will unnecessarily risk their health and their lives.—Boston Advertiser.

"I don't want that Stuff"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

—One of the freaks of nature is said to be a bird convention at Somerset, Ky., in a cedar forest. Every evening the sky is darkened by great flocks of birds coming to roost. They comprise birds of every tongue, plumage and variety this side of the tropics. Large limbs of trees are broken off by their weight. The strangest feature of the gathering is the harmony that exists between these birds. The hawk and dove roost in peace on the same branch, the robins, sparrows and owls mingle freely together. When these denizens of the grove move off in the morning the sight is said to be a gorgeous one, their variagated plumage showing to great advantage while their songs make the air vocal with delightful melody.

BOURBON WHISKEY is a necessity in every household. A really reliable brand may be found in the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Messrs. Chester H. Graves & Sons, of Boston, and to be obtained in bottles only, bearing their signature over each cork, from leading Grocers and Druggists everywhere.

—Colored women may not always be wise, but none of them were ever foolish enough to wear a piece of white court-plaster on their chin.

"THE PROFESSION ought to bear in mind that the Liebig Company prepare a genuine Extract of Witch Hazel, and in ordering the remedy be sure to designate the preparation desired, otherwise a worthless article may be obtained.

The same firm also makes a most useful and convenient nutrient tonic, in the form of "Coca Beef Tonic," which has justly received the highest commendation. We have used both of those preparations with the most satisfactory results."—(Editorial in the Medical and Surgical Times.)

—When poor Tom Hood was dying, he could not resist the temptation to say to a melancholy clergyman who visited him, "My dear sir—I hope your religion—hasn't disagreed with you!"

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT

German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and work shops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic. Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

SULPHUR PLASTERS cure pain in the side. KAUFMANN'S PILLS do not gripe. 25 cents.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

HOP BITTERS.

(A Medicine, not a Drink.)

HOPS, BUCHU, MANDRAKE, DANDELION,

AND THE PUREST AND BEST MEDICAL QUALITIES OF ALL OTHER BITTERS.

THEY CURE

All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, Nervousness, Sleeplessness and especially Female Complaints.

$1000 IN GOLD.

Will be paid for a case they will not cure or help, or for anything impure or injurious found in them.

Ask your druggist for Hop Bitters and try them before you sleep. Take no other.

D. T. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics.

THE VIVISECTOR.*

Who draweth nigh to the couch of pain
Where my darling child doth lie,
With agony writ on her wan, pinched cheek,
And glassing her fading eye?

Avaunt! art thou come with hands that reek
With blood of the tortured brute,
With mercy scared in thy hellish heart,
And the voice of Conscience mute?

But now thou stood'st by the torture-trough
Where the faithful dog lay bound,
And stabbed the life of the thrilling nerve
With foul and ghastly wound.

And art thou come to my dying child,
With visage coarse and fell?
As soon would I summon the pitless fiend
From his gulf of his rival hell!

Well is it for thee thy deeds are hid
From the eye and ear of men,
By the gloomy walls that gird thee round,
In horror's noisome den!

Well is it for thee that the noble horse,
Deep scar'd by the blistering flame,
Hoofless and eyeless, meets not their sight
Who would execrate thy name!

Stand back, I say! if thy guilty hand
Should touch my sinless child,
Her soul might shrink from the realms of bliss,
By that blood-stained touch defiled!

—ELLIOTT PRESTON.

*One who dissects animals alive, and generally without the use of anaesthetics, especially in the most acutely painful operations in which the evidences of agony are conceived as guides to the operator. A practice now widely prevalent, and for the prosecution of which costly laboratories are everywhere being constructed. E. P.

Wheat and Cotton.

Judge Howe of the United States commission is reported as having said at the Monetary Conference at Paris, that the annual cotton crop of this country is worth seven times the wheat crop. But I read in the Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for 1879, that the value of the wheat crop for that year was $497,030,-142, and the value of the cotton crop for the same year was $242,140,987. By this table the wheat crop is shown in that year to be more than twice as large as the cotton crop. Either Judge Howe is erroneously reported, or there is something about these statements that a common man cannot understand. B.

A Large Elk.

A Helena (Montana) sportsman has lately slain what he claims to be the largest elk ever seen. The head of the elk, now on exhibition in Helena, measures twenty-nine inches from the crown to the tip of the nose. There are twenty magnificent antlers. From the tip of the nose to the tip of either branch, following the curve of the horn, the distance is seventy-three inches, while measuring from the center of the crown to the tip of either branch, in a straight line, the distance is forty-nine inches. A space of forty-two inches intervene between the extreme tips of the branches. The greatest distance, from outside to outside between the main branches, is forty-seven inches.

Women Who Suffer.

The greatest sufferers in the world are women; their delicate organization being peculiarly susceptible to derangement and disease. Among those who have been cured by Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" we will name Mrs. S. A. McIlwain of Fergusonville, N. Y., Mrs. John F. Brinkerhoff, Highland, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Meyers, of Rondout, N. Y., and many others. "Favorite Remedy" purifies the blood, invigorates the system, and fortifies it against the disease. All druggists have it.

Charles A. Woodbridge, of Palmyra, Me., died in Newburyport, Mass., Saturday morning. He was taken ill with typhoid fever a short time ago while in Newburyport on business, since which time his father, grandmother and sister have all died at their home in Palmyra.

They Have Never Failed!

I have been sick more or less for the last ten years, which has cost me many dollars in doctors and druggist's bills. The last two years it only cost me three dollars. Why? Because I used Sulphur Bitters instead of employing doctors. They cured me of jaundice.—J. J. Boyd, Hoboken.

Two men were arrested at Reading, Pa., May 20th, on a charge of conspiracy to insure the life of the late Daniel Gelris, aged eighty-four years, on his death bed.

Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites saved the life of my wife, after her case became apparently hopeless from tubercular consumption. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will rapidly improve the weakened functions and organs of the body which depend for health upon voluntary and involuntary nervous action. H. L. HARDING, Nelsonville, O.

The marriage of Miss Minnie Evarts to Mr. Tweed will take place early in June. The wedding will be a quiet one, at the family home in Winsor, Vt., where a married sister of Miss Evarts lives. The bride and groom immediately after the wedding will sail for Europe.

The Nashua & Lowell Lease.

Concerning the lease of the Nashua & Lowell railroad to the Boston & Lowell railroad, about which it has been suggested that some one who desired a fee as lobbyist might attempt to make a stir in the legislature, the report of the directors to the stockholders this week says:

Your directors had every reason to suppose that a lease by you of your road would not be deemed to be in contravention of the policy of the state of New Hampshire relating to railroads. Nor can they now believe that it is possible for any set of men to persuade the legislature of New Hampshire that it is contrary to sound policy to permit the five miles of your railroad which lies within the limits of that state to be entered upon and used by the Boston & Lowell railroad corporation, and thus to make connection at Nashua between the New Hampshire trunk line and the Massachusetts terminal road. The very attempt to lead the legislature to such conclusion would be calculated to excite the suspicion that some private interests were to be promoted thereby far more than public policy.

In entering into this contract of lease it was the intention of both contracting parties to thereby attract to Boston over the New Hampshire trunk-line roads the great grain traffic of the west controlled by the Grand Trunk railroad. Unless Massachusetts railroads can come into New Hampshire as far as Nashua, or New Hampshire railroads can come into Massachusetts as far as Boston, then all this great traffic must be lost to this old natural route along the Merrimack valley. The citizens of New Hampshire, so far as your directors can judge, are interested in favor of building up this line of transportation, and we think you cannot fail to gain their sympathy and support in this measure, unless prevented by the efforts and influence of persons who expect to derive some personal advantage by stirring up opposition to the lease.

News and Notes.

James Castroni, an Italian who lives in Boston and gains a living by serving as a model for artists, was arrested last week for sending a challenge to Dr. John Dixwell. Castroni is a strong friend of Dr. A. Pagani, an Italian doctor who has been severely attacked in a Boston Sunday paper, and he charges Dr. Dixwell with writing or instigating the attacks. The maximum punishment in Massachusetts for sending a challenge is twenty years in state prison and a fine of $1000. Castroni is evidently an unsophisticated person. He could have assassinated Dixwell and then have become insane, and got off with a trifling punishment.

An abandoned schooner, laden with bark, was picked up on Sunday by Gloucester fishermen, off the south breaker, Salem, Mass. Her name is not reported.

Dr. Benjamin F. Green of Lynn, Mass., is under arrest for causing the death of Miss Mary Chandler by criminal malpractice. George H. Davis, the alleged cause of the girl's ruin, is in custody as an accessory. It is said that Davis opposed the performance of the illegal operation, and wished the girl to become his wife, but she would not consent, alleging that she could not bear the disgrace.

John W. Weston, fifty-one years old, of the firm of C. Weston & Sons, machinists of Salem, Mass., suicided by hanging in his barn Monday forenoon. Temporary aberration was the cause, his mind having been affected for a few days.

A despatch from Lompye, Santa Barbara county, Cal., says: "Saturday night the only liquor saloon in town was blown to atoms by a large bomb. No one was in the building. Lompye is a temperance colony, and this is the second saloon destroyed by gunpowder."

Father Sheehey of Killmallock, Ireland, a Catholic priest who has been very active and outspoken in fomenting the land league excitement, was arrested last week by the crown officers, and lodged in jail. Great excitement has ensued.

The remains of Lady Blanche Murphy were taken from Portland to Boston on Saturday, and shipped to Liverpool. They will find a last resting place in the family vault on the estate of her father in Exon, Eng., and will be placed by the side of her mother, who died many years ago.

A special mail route fraud has been discovered in the west, where thousands of dollars were expended in carrying one letter back and forth where there was not a single post-office between terminal points.

The exodus of Jews from Russia continues, despite police precautions against attacks upon them. The line of departure is through Austria, whence many are ticketed to America.

Col. Thomas A. Scott it is said has left a fortune of $17,000,000.

The assessors of Milcreek Township, Ohio, have assessed the value of the famous trotter Maud S. at $50,000.

John Hays of Harmar, Ohio, who murdered his wife on Wednesday of last week by shooting four bullets into her body, gave himself up at Harmar on Saturday. He had been in the woods about the town since Wednesday.

"Curly Bill," a notorious desperado, leader of the "cow boys," and the murderer of Marshall White, was killed Saturday at Galeyville, Arizona, by a companion, Jim Wallace. Wallace left for parts unknown.

Lewis Bergoyne, the Advent preacher who was recently arrested at St. Johnsbury, Vt., on a charge of gross immorality with a young lady of his society, being released on bail, has, it is reported, fled into Canada.

James Johnson of Springfield, Mass., a well known expressman, choked himself to death on Sunday by tying a handkerchief around his neck, and twisting it with a cane. He is supposed to have been insane.

It is said that there are more cases of small-pox in New England to-day than at any time since the epidemic of 1873. There have been thirty-odd cases and six deaths at Southbridge, Mass., and several cases at North Adams, besides quite a number at Valley Falls, Central Falls and Westerly, in Rhode Island.

James and Wm. Feehley, former residents of Biddulph, Can., were arrested in East Saginaw, Mich., Saturday, for complicity in the murder of the Donnelly family at Lucan, Ont. It is said that James Feehley has confessed having taken part in the crime. The confession involves thirty or forty residents of Biddulph, who formed a vigilance committee.

On Monday, May 16th, at St. George, Me., Clinton Harrington, son of Simon Harrington, while at play, pointed a pistol at his brother Alphonso, and pulled the trigger. He did not know that the weapon was loaded. The bullet struck Alphonso in the forehead, and he died on the 18th from the effects of the wound.

Three out of five convicts who recently escaped from the Lawrence, Mass. jail, named H. Fox, F. L. Bryant and J. Doherty, are in Montreal and said to be earning their living honestly. They say Montreal is a fine city to live in; in fact, they never came across much better, and they are satisfield with their present remuneration. They know they cannot be extradited, and treat the police with the utmost contempt. They say they have entered on an honest career, as they are tried of being imprisoned.

A law was passed in California prohibiting women from working as waiters at night in concert saloons; but the supreme court has decided it unconstitutional, on the ground that the concert saloon business in that state is not illegal, and that immortality, not in conflict with positive law, is not sufficient cause for such interference.

New Hampshire Items.

A petition is being circulated in Nottingham asking for the pardon of Edward L. Bean, recently convicted at Exeter and sentenced to state prison for five years for burglarizing the house of Thomas Furnald at Nottingham, last January.

John A. Marston of Sandwich has been granted a patent for a ball-fastener, and John Martin and Joseph Merrill of Great Falls have a patent for a last for boots or shoes.

A strong effort is being made to induce the next legislature to modify the divorce law, making divorces much more difficult to obtain.

An immense steel shaft cast by the Nashua Iron & Steel company recently for the St. Louis Iron & Machine Works, is the largest one ever cast in this country. Its total weight when ready for shipment will be 28,000 pounds.

Great preparations are in hand for the golden wedding of Mr. S. T. Tower and wife of Dalton, which is to take place on Thursday, June 2d. Three hundred invitations have already been issued. This worthy couple were married in 1831, and have five sons and five daughters, all living, any of whom will weigh over two hundred pounds. A platform scale will be in readiness, so the combined weight of the family may be known.

George P. Rowell, the New York advertising agent, who has made a fortune, has bought a farm in Lancaster, his "native heath," and has had twelve men at work for three weeks setting maple trees along the highways.

A bear went into the barnyard of Oscar Fletcher in the eastern part of Colebrook on Saturday night, the 14th inst., and killed one sheep and tore another. Monday his bearship was followed, treed, and shot, but not killed. The company started after the bear and followed him until they came to where the snow was gone, when they lost his trail and were unable to find it again.

George Rose, aged fourteen years, and Fannie Shaw, aged thirteen, were arrested at Cincinnati on Saturday. They eloped together from Coultersville, where the girl says she was ill-treated by her parents. The young couple went down from Pittsburg on a steamboat.

"The Boston Monday Lectures. Christ and modern thought," with a preliminary lecture on the methods of meeting modern unbelief, delivered in London, Nov. 2d, in Memorial hall, by Joseph Cook. Roberts Brothers, Boston, publishers. Portsmouth, Mercer Goodrich; price, $1.50. In addition to Mr. Cook's lecture we have "The seen and the unseen," by Rt. Rev. Thomas Clark, D. D.; "Moral law and its relations to physical science and to popular religion," by Prest. E. G. Robinson, D. D.; "Christianity and the mental activity of the age," by Dr. Thos. Girard; "The place of conscience," by Mark K. Hopkins, D. D.; "Development: its nature, what it can do, and what it cannot do," by Rev. James McCosh, D. D.; "A calm view of the temperance question," by Chancellor Howard Crosby, D. D. LL. D.; "Old and new theologies," by Rev. Geo. R. Crooke, D. D. LL. D.; "Facts as to devorce in New England," by Rev. Samuel W. Dike, (a timely discussion); "Significance of the historic element in scripture," by Rev. J. B. Thomas, D. D.; and the "Theistic basis of evolution," by Rev. John Cotton Smith, D. D. The committee in charge of the Monday lectures invited the before-named distinguished men to deliver these discourses, and they are given to the public through the press, not as the views of the committee by any means, but that every one may be able to learn just what is said upon these topics. The eminent character of the lecturers, and their acknowledged ability, is a sufficient guarantee that these discourses are full of interest and will well repay perusal.

—"How things do grow this weather," said the deacon to Brother Amos. "Yes, they do," replied the brother. "Last night I heard you say you caught forty fish, and this morning I heard you tell Mr. Smith it was one hundred and fifty."

—A Colorado judge recently cleared a desperado who had committed a foul murder, but the crowd hanged the rascal from the court-house window and told the judge that the next time he let a murderer go they would hang him. Thereupon his honor promptly sentenced three other murderers to be hanged.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. AROUND HOME.

The schooner Addie & Hattie sails today for cargo of lobsters.

The schooner Grace Choate sailed on Monday for a trip of salted fish.

The schooner Flying Cloud took in salt on Monday, and will make her next trip for salted fish.

The tug Clara Batemen towed the floating stage out to Appledore island on Monday morning.

We are glad to learn that Dr. B. W. Curtis, who has been quite ill for several weeks with erysipelas, is rapidly recovering.

Mr. John C. Stevens, superintendent of the Seamen's Home on State street, has recently purchased the Maxwell property on Washington street, at a good cash bargain.

Work upon clearing out the Swampscott river will commence on the first of June. Two scows are now on the ways at Kittery for repairs, to be used for the purpose.

All the real estate of the Kearsarge mills corporation in this city, consisting of several lots of land and buildings, will be sold at auction by Samuel Hatch & Co. of Boston on the 31st inst.

Mr. George Blaisdell, who lives at the foot of Johnson's court, on the site of the old ropewalk south of the south pond, has two hundred and sixty chickens, and ninety ducks, raised this spring.

By request of several parties who were prevented by the storm from attending the exhibition of roller-skating last Thursday evening, the rink is to open again to the public on Wednesday evening, the 25th inst.

The last storm raised the mischief all around. We noticed on Monday that the net-work sign over the malt house at Jones' brewery got badly demoralized, and now reads in a rather disconnected and eccentric style.

The magnolia trees in the garden of Mr. C. A. Hazlett, on Winter street, are in full bloom. Out of many that have within a few years been planted in this city, these are the only ones that have withstood the severe winters.

A committee of Odd Fellows representing Mt. Pleasant Lodge, of Dover, has secured the refusal of the second story of the new building to be erected in Dover by Mr. J. Albert Walker of this city, with a view of leasing the same for a term of twenty years, for a lodge room.

The work on the new Episcopal church at the west end, which was suspended last week, was commenced again on Monday. In the grading of the field, several of the horses in going over soft places have been thrown down, though none have been injured. One of the workmen was taken ill on Monday noon, it is supposed from over-heating himself. Seventy-five men and a dozen teams are employed in excavating for the basement, and in putting up tool houses, etc. All of the men except the foreman are residents of this city.

The United States court of claims on Monday of last week decided the case of John P. Sherburne vs. the United States, giving judgment in favor of the plaintiff. This was a claim by the late Col. Sherburne for travel-pay from Washington, D. C., to Lexington, Los Angeles county, California, a distance of 3015 miles, at the rate of twenty miles for one day. Col. Sherburne was mustered out of the service Dec. 28th, 1870, and received the "one year's pay" allowed by a law passed July 15th, 1870; he claimed travel-pay under a law passed in 1812, and the claim has now been allowed.

Mr. Josiah H. Morrison arrived home on Saturday from the Arkansas Hot Springs, where he had been for some weeks for the benefit of his health.

Surveyors were running lines on Monday for the new street which it is said the county commissioners have decided the city shall build through the Raynes shipyard.

Dr. S. C. Whittier was called in consultation with Dr. Spalding of Dover on Sunday over the case of Rev. Father Blodgett, the Catholic clergyman of that city, who was fatally ill with brain fever. Nothing could be done for the reverend gentleman, who died on Sunday afternoon.

The tickets for the grand vocal and instrumental concert to be given at Music hall on Thursday evening went on sale at Preston's on Monday forenoon, and there was a brisk call for them during the day. With the attractions offered there should be a crowded house, and probably will be, the price of tickets being very low while the concert will be of a high order.

The case of J. Horace Jenness against William E. Hadley as collector of taxes, and the assessors of the city, was on trial in the common council room on Monday, before Hon. Lewis W. Clark as referee, Mr. Jenness claiming satisfaction for arrest and imprisonment for non-payment of taxes. Frink and A. R. Hatch for Jenness; Gen. Marston and City Solicitor Foster for the respondents.

Boston papers report that at Exeter, one night last week, the students of Phillips academy to the number of fifty-two serenaded the faculty with fish-horns, devil's fiddles, tin pans, policemen's rattles, etc., as an expression of indigation "at the unfair action of the faculty in expelling several of their number." The account adds that "the school is in a state of riot, and serious consequencos are apprehended; and it is believed forty students will be expelled."

The mail between this city, York and Cape Neddick, which hitherto has been left at the Kittery depot office, will after the commencement of the next fiscal year be carried through each way without stopping; many complaints have in years past been made by visitors and landlords at the beaches of York, concerning the tardiness of the mails, as letters which arrived in this city via the Concord railroad would not arrive in York until the next day. The contract for carrying the mails for the next four years has been awarded to parties in Vermont.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, May 23; Batchelder, J.

Charles Reddymaker, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; paid. Reddymaker was drunk on Sunday night while in charge of a team, and after cruelly over-driving the horse managed to smash the carriage on Salter street, where he was found by the police.

John Hartnett, who was committed without bail by the police court on Saturday, on a charge of manslaughter, was on Monday admitted to bail by Judge Lewis W. Clark of the supreme court, sureties in $2000 being required for his appearance.

MEMORIAL DAY.

At a meeting of the committee on evening exercises for Memorial day, held on Monday afternoon, the programme was fully arranged, and will be given to the public in a day or two. The tickets will be placed on sale at Preston's on Thursday morning at eight o'clock, the price of admission to be ten cents, including reserved seat privilege. In order to avoid any misunderstanding the committee herewith notify those intending to purchase tickets that previous to the sale thereof a sufficient number of seats will be reserved for the widows of deceased soldiers resident in this city. The evening exercises promise to be of varied interest, and a rapid sale is confidently expected.

"REFORM IS NECESSARY."

Mr. Editor: There is an inviting field for the anti-cruelty society to work in right here at home, if statements made to me are correct and the society can procure evidence, in stopping the abuse of livery-stable horses by young men who get drunk when in charge of the animals, and then cruelly over-drive them. I am assured that the horse killed Sunday night at the Creek because its leg was broken, broke its leg by falling from sheer exhaustion, having been heartlessly over-driven by two young men; and that the horse which threw out its drunken driver and cleared itself from the carriage at the south end on the same night, gave evidence of being shockingly used up. How the society can get evidence against such brutal fellows I cannot advise; the owners of the horses will apparently not give it voluntarily; but every humane person will hope that some method may be devised to prevent such occurrences as those of last Sunday night, which I am told were unusual only in being brought before the public notice by their results.

GROWLER.

THE LAKE SHORE RAILROAD.

The Dover Democrat closes a column article in advocacy of the granting of the charter for this "connecting link," with the following rose-colored sketch of the possible and not improbable results to this city of the construction of such a road:

It will also be apparent that the construction of this Lake Shore connecting link of road is the only feasible thing to be done. It will tie the Boston, Concord & Montreal and the Boston & Maine together at Alton Bay and Laconia, and the Boston & Maine and Eastern together here in Dover, and thence over the Portsmouth & Dover road to Portsmouth, where all ocean freights out and in are always available and can be easily increased a thousand fold, indefinitely in fact, and make Portsmouth the great shipping centre of all this trade and commerce. An important consideration is that will cost our neighboring city not a dollar to obtain these facilities and all this growth and increase of business and prosperity, because other parties are ready to complete the Lake Shore road as soon as the charter can be obtained. There will be no difficulty about this. It is not a project to involve the credit of any city, town or place, but simply, shall the Lake Shore be charted? Of course with the trade thus opened with the west and with Canada it will be necessary to enlarge and extend the business facilities and conveniences at Portsmouth. There must be store houses, elevators and wholesale mercantile establishments constructed and maintained there, and these things will just make business boom as never before in the only seaport of New Hampshire. We submit that these things are just what are needed to make Portsmouth one of the most lively and important business places on the entire length of the coast.

Another important consideration is worthy of special notice, because of especial interest to the two cities, Portsmouth and Dover. The two cities own more than half a million dollars' worth of stock in the Portsmouth & Dover road. It is a six per cent stock, and worth to-day say 105. With this new through line completed and all the increased traffic going down the Portsmouth & Dover road, it will become one of the most profitable lines in the whole country, thereby enhancing the value of the guaranty by the Eastern of the dividends, or the interest on city bonds given for the stock, and in all human probability send that stock booming up to 125 or 150, thus enabling each city to pay its whole bonded debt in aid of the Portsmouth & Dover road and have a handsome surplus besides. This is no imaginary thing we are figuring about, but we say the chances are that with the government borrowing money at three per cent, a good six per cent stock will be worth not less than 125 to 150. We submit that it is a reasonable calculation of the Lake Shore road as a connecting link to bring the traffic this way.

We might further enlarge upon this subject, but will defer to another time. We only add that it must be for the best interests of everybody in this section, and at Portsmouth particularly, to go for the charter of the Lake Shore road.

Rev. Hosea F. Ballou, son of Rev. Hosea Ballou and formerly of this city, died in Wilmington, Vt., last Friday afternoon, aged eighty-two years. He was but a boy when he lived here.

The finely-situated farm of Mr. Thomas E. Foye, in Newington, will be sold by auction on Monday, June 20th. The buildings on the place are good, and the land is of superior quality. The land, buildings and standing grass will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, to the highest bidder, without reserve. See advertisement.

Wine and Drunkenness.

Says a man in California: "We find here that a wine making community is a community of drunkards." Said a man of fifty to him—a man who drinks liquor whenever he wants it, and always has: "My neighbors when they commenced making wine were sober men; they are now drunkards. I have a small vineyard, and make a little wine, and last winter used a keg of it. It was very nice; but I noticed that our youngest son, a lad of seventeen, liked it better than any of us. 'If we want to make Edward a drunkard, we had better keep wine in the house.' That was the last wine we ever had, and we mean to have no more." Another friend says: "I know a man whose home is a perfect paradise for outward beauty. His trees, oranges, olives, English walnuts, number by thousands, besides figs, etc., and vines without number. Said he to me: 'If I had my life to live again, I would never plant a vine except for table use.' And he utterly refuses to make any more wine or brandy while he lives. And why? Because the mischief has come down on his own head, and the miseries of drunkenness have entered his household. I have visited another county—I will not copy the names—and everywhere I find the wine makers and the wine drinkers are drunkards, and—the wine is pure! This experience, which they may rely upon, may save some people time, trouble, and perhaps sorrow, in making the experiment for themselves. So we leave it." Such are some of the considerations which impel me to deprecate the introduction and use of home-made wines. Will those still in favor of home-made wines think for a moment of the wine-made homes?—Pacific Censor.

A Crazy Pigeon.

A correspondent of the English journal, Nature, tells this curious story about a crazy pigeon: A white fantail pigeon lived with his family in a pigeon house in our stable-yard. He and his wife had been brought originally from Sussex, and had lived, respected and admired, to see their children of the third generation, when he suddenly became the victim of the infatuation I am about to describe. No eccentricity whatever was remarked in his conduct until one day I chanced to pick up somewhere in the garden a ginger-beer bottle of the ordinary brown stone description. I flung it into the yard, where it fell immediately below the pigeon-house. That instant down flew pater-familias, and to my no small astonishment commenced a series of genuflections, evidently doing homage to the bottle. He strutted round and round it, bowing and scraping and cooing and performing the most ludicrous antics I ever beheld on the part of an enamored pigeon. Nor did he cease these performances until we removed the bottle; what proved that this singular aberration of instinct had become a fixed delusion was this: Whenever the bottle was thrown or placed in the yard—no matter whether it lay horizontally or was placed upright—the same ridiculous scene was enacted; at that moment the pigeon came flying down with quite as great alacrity as when his peas were thrown out for his dinner, to continue his antics as long as the bottle remained there. Sometimes this would go on for hours, the other members of his family treating his movements with the most contemptuous indifference, and taking no notice whatever of the bottle. At last it became the regular amusement with which we entertained our visitors, to see this erratic pigeon making love to the interesting object of his affections, and it was an entertainment which never failed, throughout that summer at least. Before next summer came round he was no more.

—A lad was watching a man beat a carpet, and said, "That man's boy must have good times. Why, that man could'nt lick the stuffing out of a ten-cent doll."

Naval Affairs.

Orders have been given out to fit out the Essex, at Philadelphia, immediately for service. Similar orders have been given in reference to the fitting out of the Juniata at New York.

In consequence of the scarcity of men for the navy, rendezvous are to be opened at New York and Philadelphia, and two months' advance is to be given on proper enlistments. The number of men and boys in the navy has not for a long time past been up to the maximum authorized by law.

The Minnesota is to be made a receiving ship for naval apprentices at Coasters' Island harbor, Newport, R. I. The New Hampshire, for a long time past at Port Royal, S. C., is to be prepared at Norfolk for service at Coasters' Island harbor. The steamer Wyoming, on her arrival from the European station, will be sent to Port Royal to take the place of the New Hampshire.

The sloop-of-war Dale and the tug Standish, practice ships for the Annapolis cadets, are at Norfolk, in readiness to receive their officers and men. The tug Mayflower will be ready for service as a practice ship for the cadet engineers early in June.

The Wachusett sailed from Honolulu April 24th, for San Francisco via Maui, one of the Sandwich islands. The Pensacola arrived at Hilo, Sandwich islands, from Callao, April 20th.

Lieut. Commander Benjamin P. Lamberton has been ordered to proceed with the draft of men for the Rodgers to the navy yard at Mare island, in California. After delivering them to the commandant of the yard he will return and resume his duties at Washington.

The leave of Pay Inspector A. J. Clark, attached to the navy yard at New York, has been extended one week from May 20th.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

Orion Esterburg, eighteen years of age, committed suicide last Thursday near Chicago, by placing the muzzle of a rifle to his heart and pulling the trigger with a poker.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

Thomas Cherry, alias Tommy the Kid, was shot dead in a drunken spree at Amargo, New Mexico, on Friday, by a companion. Both belonged to the Durango outlaws.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Tony Scott shot his brother Oliver dead last Friday, in Marlboro county, S. C., and is in jail. Cause, a woman.

One Moment, Please.

When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against billious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Femedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

The massive monument for the late Hon. Zachariah Chandler, recently completed at the quarries in Hallowell, Me., will soon be sent to its destination. The spire is nearly forty feet in length, of fine proportions, and weighs upwards of thirty tons. The base is one huge block. Taken altogether the monument will be one that cannot fall of attracting universal admiration.

A Cure for Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. D. Fall River.

Chester M. Dawes of Chicago, son of Senator Dawes of Massachusetts, was married last Thursday at Chicago, to Miss Ada Byron Laflin of Pittsfield.

—A Chicago man at Plainfield, Ind., desired to leave his travelling-bag and overcoat while he walked to a place twenty miles distant. He put them in a field, unprotected from thieves except by the sign, "Small-pox—beware!" and when he returned they were right there in the field. But they were twenty feet under ground, buried by health officers. Oh, it takes a Chicago man to be smart.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap1592

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use the pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

Cameos.

The kinds of shells now employed for cameo-cutting, and which experience has shown to be the best for the purpose, are the "bull's mouth," which has a red inner coat, or what is known as a sardonyx ground; the "black helmet," has a blackish inner coat, forming what is called an onyx ground, and which shows up white on a dark claret color; the "horned helmet," white on an orange-yellow ground; and the "queen conch," with a pink ground. The latter shell is about ten inches long, with a rose-colored aperture and an extremely broad lip, rounded above. The "bull's mouth" and the "black helmet" are the best shells, for the "horned helmet" is apt to separate from the ground, or to "double," as the French workmen express it. The "queen conch" seldom has the two colors distinctly marked from each other, and the pink of the ground fades on exposure to light. The red color of the bull's mouth" extends but a short distance within the mouth of the shell, and becomes paler as it proceeds inwards; hence this shell affords only a single cameo enough for a brooch and several small pieces for shirt studs, while the "black helmet" furnishes on an average about five brooches and several stud pieces. The "queen conch" yields only a single good piece. The "bull's mouth" shells are derived from India and Ceylon, and the "black helmets" and "queen conchs" from the West Indies.

Preparing a Law Case.

I will repeat an anecdote which I feel sure that Webster gave at that dinner, as I made no note of it, it is just possible that he told it in my presence at some later date. The conversation was running upon the importance of doing small things thoroughly and with the full measure of one's ability. This Webster illustrated by an account of some petty insurance case that was brought to him when a young lawyer in Portsmouth. Only a small amount was involved, and a twenty dollar fee was all that was promised. He saw that to do his clients full justice, a journey to Boston, to consult the Law Library, would be desirable. He would be out of pocket by such an expedition, and for his time he would receive no adequate compensation. After a little hesitation, he determined to do his very best, cost what it might. He accordingly went to Boston, looked up the authorities and gained the case. Years after this, Webster, then famous, was passing through New York. An important insurance case was to be tried the day after his arrival, and one of the counsel had been suddenly taken ill. Money was no object; and Webster was begged to name his terms and conduct the case. "I told them," said Mr. Webster, "that it was preposterous to expect me to prepare a legal argument at a few hours' notice. They insisted, however, that I should look at the papers; and this, after some demur, I consented to do. Well, it was my old twenty-dollar case over again, and, as I never forgot anything, I had all the authorities at my fingers' ends. The court knew that I had no time to prepare, and were astonished at the range of my acquirements. So you see, I was handsomely paid, both in fame and money, for that journey to Boston; and the moral is that good work is rewarded in the end, though, to be sure, one's own self-approval should be enough."—Quincy.

Down a Mountain.

The most hair-raising episode that ever happened to a New Mexican mountain railway train fell to the lot of Conductor Blessingham Thursday afternoon, at three o'clock, on the west slope of Glorieta Summit. The train comprised nearly thirty loads, and as it entered upon the descent, Jake Brown, the engineer, threw on the brake, but found it was broken and would not work. Brown called for brakes, but the trainmen had already set every one, and realized that the train was beyond their control. Seeing that nothing could be done to stop the mad course the train was going, Brown jumped from the car while going at the rate of sixty miles an hour, and landed twenty-two feet distant, actual measurement. Blessingham, who was in the caboose with Pawnee Charlie and wife as passengers, fearing that the train was going to destruction, cut his way-car loose and checked it with the brakes, while the train continued its velocity down the long grade. The fireman stood at his post like a hero, and while the engine was plunging down the flight at a giddy speed, he crawled out on the footboard and poked sand through the sand box, thinking that it might assist the wheels in getting a grip upon the rails. As the train sped about Material curve, which is short and steep, the velocity was so great that the locomotive ran on one rail, and over-balanced so greatly that it came within an ace of losing its equilibrium. The brakeman on deck were obliged to lie flat and cling to the running boards for safety. For six miles those badly frightened men stuck to the ship and faced the horrors of death. Below Canoncito is a natural basin, with three miles of level track, and it was on this stretch that the runaway train was mastered and stopped.—Las Vegas Optic.

"I don't want that Stuff"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

Concord Railroad Meeting.

The 40th annual meeting of the stockholders of the Concord railroad was held in Concord on Tuesday, the president, J. Thomas Vose, in the chair. After several unimportant motions had been disposed of, a ballot was had for directors, with the following result.

Whole number of votes	23,695
Necessary for a choice	11,548
Frederick Smyth had	18,088
Samuel N. Bell	18,088
J. Thomas Vose	18,088
Benjamin A. Kimball	18,088
Frances B. Hayes	17,981
Henry C. Sherburne	18,088
James W. Johnson	18,088
John H. Pearson	5,144

The treasurer was directed to preserve the ballots as cast, and the meeting adjourned.

Northern Railroad.

The annual report of the directors of the Northern railroad, for the year ending March 31st, says:

For several of the winter months the through business going easterly was diverted from this road, which also had its effect in diminishing the gross receips while largely increasing the expense of carrying the traffic westward. The problem of how to carry the large and increasing through traffic at the minimum cost can only be solved by putting the road, equipment and track in the best possible condition to do safely and cheaply all the business coming to it, and with this view the directors have authorized the purchase of steel rails sufficient to lay the track entirely with steel, amounting to 2,200 tons. During the past year 498 tons of new steel rails and 54,186 new sleepers have been placed in the track; and about 2,000 tons of iron rails have been welded and relaid, and two locomotives and eighty-seven freight cars repaired or rebuilt in the shops of the company. During the year the number of passengers carried was 151,355; number of tons of merchandise carried, 466,266. The indebtedness of the corporation remains the same as last year. No arrangements have been completed for the connection of the Peterboro & Hillsboro' railroad, but it is hoped this may soon be accomplished, and some returns made for the investment in that concern.

The report speaks of the sale of the Sullivan railroad, and states that the relations with connecting roads continue to be friendly. Protracted negotiations have been and are still pending for the settlement of all differences relative to the Central Vermont and western business, and there is reason to hope that new and more satisfactory arrangements may be effected. The financial statement is as follows:

The earnings for the year ending March 31, 1881, are as follows:

Gross income		$506,016.73
Expenses	$293,986.20
State tax	21,252.32
New rails	20,553.82
		$337,792.54
		$168,223.69
Balance of interest acct.	78,661.28
		$150,884.27
Paid dividend of Dec. 1, 1880, $3 per share	$ 89,919.00	$234,571.55
Dividend payable June 1, 1881, $3 per share	89,919.00
		$179,838.00
Balance of income account		$144,733.88

A Quiet Time.

There was quite a large gathering at the annual meeting of the Concord railroad on Tuesday. Mr. John H. Pearson was in attendance, with several lawyers in his interest, and cast the votes upon his shares in accordance with what he claims to be the recent act relating to minority election in corporations, which able lawyers deem not a legal act, a similar law having been held to be invalid in another state. The meeting was quiet in the extreme, and none of the anticipated speeches found vent.

The peculiarly acceptable manner in which Mr. J. Thomas Vose, president of the corporation, presided, and the easy, courteous and graceful manner in which he discharged the duties of the chair, were especially remarked. As Mr. Pearson's stock has a high market value and pays large dividends, and his property is ably managed, he should be, and doubtless is, highly pleased with the result. Certainly a very large majority of the stockholders at a meeting where more shares were voted upon than ever before, have given a good endorsement to the administration.

New Hampshire Items.

An infant daughter of Dr. Charles W. Coolidge of Bristol was instantly killed on Monday by a cupboard falling on its head.

George Fletcher, who broke jail at Haverhill some weeks ago, and escaped to Canada, has been arrested at Coaticook, province of Quebec, for stealing harnesses.

About nine hundred people witnessed a game of base ball at Hanover on Monday, between the Dartmouth and Brown college clubs. Brown won, five to two.

Mrs. Jane Bickford, an employe in the Wallace shoe factory at Rochester, was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs while at work, Monday afternoon, and died before medical aid could be summoned.

Geo. A. Marden, the clerk of the Massachusetts legislature, in giving the members the accustomed taffy, after a vote of thanks tendered him, in addition to a liberal salary, told the legislaters of the man he once knew in Milford in this state, who said "he always bought his crackers by the barrel, in order that he might have some in the house, when he got out!"

News and Notes.

During a circus performance in Milwaukee, Wis., Monday, one Butler attempted to shoot a potato from the head of a man named Baughman, using a rifle. Butler brought down the potato, and also the man, the bullet hitting the latter over the right eyebrow and penetrating the bone. The wounded man may recover.

A despatch from Sioux City, Dak., says: Three men were arrested at Pierre who turn out to be the party pursued by Lieut. Cherry at the time he was reported murdered. Their names are John Halstead, T. Jackson and John Roberts, alias Dick Burr. This clears up the mystery of the killing of Lieut. Cherry, who was reported by a sergeant who ran away from the fight to have been shot by one of his own men.

The business men of Bath, Me., propose to go into the business of building iron steamships. One gentleman offers to put in $100,000 toward establishing a yard, if the citizens will contribute $200,000 more; and he will also take $25,000 or over in the first vessel built. A citizens' meeting was held on Friday of last week, and $100,000 pledged.

The mystery in which the assassination of Prof. Crowley of Mt. Vernon female college in Cincinnati has been buried for twenty years, has been dispelled by the confession of a dying man in the hospital at Nashville, Tenn., that he and two companions committed the crime because Crowley defended a lady whom they were insulting. All the parties are dead.

In order to obtain money with which to begin housekeeping, James L. Robbins committed a number of forgeries in Gardiner, Me., and obtained quite a handsome sum. He was arrested at the home of his intended bride's father, and the money recovered.

John Troyner and a Swede named Ivan Olsen propose a trip from Bath, Me., to Havre, France, in a dory fourteen feet long. The boat is now being built. Her crew will consist of the two men and a kitten. Traynor expects to make the voyage, 3,350 miles, in two months. He intends to leave Bath the last of June.

We have received "The Folio" for June, containing the following pieces: "The Orang-Outang," song, by Louis C. Elson; "In the merry mazes," waltzes, by James B. Adams; "Waking Morn," polka mazurka, by T. P. Ryder; "The voice of Peace," memorial hymn, by C. A. White. Also a portrait of Tommaso Salvini.

Col. Thomas A. Scott, at the time of his decease, was only fifty-six years old, his death having been hastened by injuries received in a railroad collision at the west twenty-five years ago. Col. Scott was a man with rare genius for business. He rendered inestimable service to the country during the civil war, by superintending the transportation of troops and material. He rescued the Union Pacific railroad from confusion, peril and loss, and the Pennsylvania railroad, as it stands to-day, is his best monument.

Atkinson, Me., has a sensation in the matrimonial line. A young man twenty years old has just been married to a miss of fourteen summers, which causes considerable gossip, as well as astonishment.

Naval Affairs.

The Tennessee and Yantic left Hampton roads on the 23d inst., for New York.

The Wyoming arrived at Fortress Monroe on the 21st inst., from Europe.

Capt. S. L. Breeze is detached from command of the Wabash, May 31st, and ordered to command the Tennessee on the first of June.

MATTERS IN RYE.

RYE, May 23d.

It's not often that a real whale comes ashore at Rye beach, but when such an event does happen, it produces a commotion everywhere within a radius of twenty-five miles at least. Such crowds as have for the past few days been to Ragged neck to see the whale were never seen there before since that point was discovered by Capt. John Smith in 1627. Even old residents, who have lived almost in sight of that locality for seventy-five years, visited it for the first time in fifty years during the past week; and the number from the interior towns in Rockingham and Strafford counties, who perhaps never had even heard of Ragged neck before, may be counted by hundreds. It was an incredibly short period after his whaleship was first discovered before the teams began to go down Sandy beach road; and from that time (Tuesday noon) until Friday night, notwithstanding the wind, rain and mud, there was a continued stream of vehicles of all sorts and kinds, from a "one-horse shay" to a six-horse barge, passing in procession to and from Ragged neck. Talk about "Barnum's Greatest Show on Earth" or "Forepaugh's Stupendous Aggregation of All Things Combined!" Why, both of them together, with their several miles of curiosities and circus added, wouldn't have begun to draw the crowd this humpback whale has. ["Humpback" is written with a full knowledge of its having been put down at first as a "finback;" but when an old fisherman tells the writer personally that it is a "humpback," he at once concedes that it is so, makes a record to that effect immediately, and considers the question settled, as there is no reason whatever to doubt the altogether superior knowledge of his nautical friend on the subject of whales, to his own.] It is no exaggeration to say that four thousand people have seen him; and they still continue to go, although he is pretty well dissected at this writing—and if one only gets in the right place, he can enjoy such a smell as only a big dead whale can produce. There may not be so many distinct smells as there are at Cologne, but if this one smell is not as powerful, then the smell there must be immense. Anybody has a right to guess on his weight, and I will only say that estimates vary from four tons to two hundred! If anybody had been smart enough to have put a fence around him, several hundred dollars might have been realized by charging a small sum for seeing him; but as it is, C. L. Brown will have all the profit there is to be made from him, as the selectmen made a bargain with Mr. Brown to remove it within a certain time in consideration of their making him a present of it, and his "butchers" have been busily at work since Thursday in getting the huge carcass asunder, and with such success that in a day or two no sign of a whale will be left on Ragged neck.

Mr. N. A. Stoddard, "star route contractor" of Camden, New York, got the contract for carrying the mail from Rye to Greenland depot for the next four years, daily, Sundays excepted, for $160, which is $23 less than it ever was carried for before. It was not supposed by any one here, that he could find any person who did not consider his time worth more than fifty-one cents for a half a day, to say nothing of a horse and wagon, but an agent of the contractor was here last week, and it is reported that he found a man willing to do the work for $135 a year, which gives him the munificent sum of forty-three cents a trip. For this sum he has got to travel nine and one-quarter miles a day, and carry a mail bag which some days weighs forty lbs.; and the schedule time takes five hours to do the service in. If the post-office department can hire the service on all the "star routes" at a like rate, they can in the next four years make up for all the loss that has been incurred by the swindling operations in the western states and territories, and have a balance left to turn into the treasury.

Now that pasturing time has come, and the grass is luxuriant and green on the sides of the highway, it is not at all strange that owners of horses and cows who have not convenient pasturing should think it no harm to turn their stock out into the road to feed; but if they only knew what an intolerable nuisance such stray animals are, in many instances, to their neighbors, it would seem that the practice would at once be discontinued. Twenty head of cattle started from this town on Thursday for summer pasturing in New Durham

Not much planting done last week, but the grass was growing all the time. From appearances, there will be quite a "blowth" on the apple trees, while pear and cherry trees indicate a full crop of those kinds of fruit. In fact, the face of nature is looking at the present time as well as the most sanguine could wish.

At the very last school meeting held in the south district it was voted to give the building of the new school house to David Moulton of North Hampton, his proposal being the lowest. In the meantime a petition is being circulated to have a special meeting called, to see if the district will vote to sell the lot which was purchased a year ago, and repair the old house instead!

AROUND HOME.

Saleladies wanted. See advertisement "Drawer 1179, Boston, Mass."

The stock of cloths and trimmings, the store fixtures, and two good sewing machines belonging to the estate of the late John Malsbenden, will be sold by auction to-day (Wednesday) at store No. 101 Congress street, at ten o'clock.

Mr. Charles E. Joy, of Dover, prepares plans and specifications, furnishes estimates on short notice, and attends to all other business properly coming under the cognizance of an experienced architect. His office is in Wendell's block on Third street, Dover; and persons too far away for personal calls will receive prompt answers to communications by mail.

The Sea View house at Rye beach has undergone extensive alterations and improvements since last season; the parlors have been elegantly refurnished, many apartments newly frescoed, additions made to the former spacious piazzas, and a plank walk is already far on its way to the beach. Mr. Willard C. Bayniew, for three seasons past steward for Mr. Philbrick at the Farragut house, will this season be at the Pavilion hotel, Wolfeborough.

The following-named pupils in the public schools were neither absent nor tardy during the year ending Dec. 31st, 1880: Ethel M. Greene, Carrie Wain, George C. Grey, Frank C. Hoyt, Willie Jones, Charles H. Lovell, Frank Moore, district one; Frank Bradford, Clara Goss, Jacob Green, Bertha Hodgdon, John Keating, Henry Moulton, district two; Anna Holmes, Charles Kehoe, John Mortimer, Cora Smart, Charles Lowd, Mabel Morrill, district three.

Reports from York say that the storm of last week at the beach and York harbor was the worst one for years. At Union Bluffs large stones were thrown twenty feet up on the bank. The waves washed the piazzas of the cottages at the "yellow rocks," and did some damage. The sea presented a magnificent spectacle in the vicinity of the Nubble, heavy sprays being sent over the top of the lighthouse. Considerable wreck stuff, and large piles of sea weed, were washed on shore at several points.

A very great improvement has been made at the junction of Chestnut and Congress streets, by the removal of the unsightly fence which has disfigured the corner opposite the Kearsarge house for so long. And not only is the improvement in the look of the place, but a crossing which has always been dangerous in the extreme for teams is greatly improved. The short double turn from Chestnut street into Vaughan is now much less liable to cause a collision with teams going up Congress street, than when the view was obstructed by the fence. The new stable is already occupied by some very fine animals and new carriages, and is in the best position of any in the city for catching transient patronage. No visitor to Portsmouth can get down Vaughan street from the railroad stations without learning where he can get a team if he wants one.

A correspondent writes from York to the Dover Republican as follows: "I am happy to inform you that our committee on road from York to new bridge have reversed the decision of the county commissioners in full. Now we shall get the nearest and best road possible from York to Dover, and the result from this road will be a great benefit to both towns. It has been a hard fight, but we now take great satisfaction in the knowledge that our rights and interest are at last secured. When this road is completed Dover will get a large trade from York, more I think than the most of you in Dover are aware of. The new road will shorten the distance from your city to York beach two and one-half miles. Another road has been laid out from Eliot bridge toward Eliot for a distance of about four hundred rods, a saving of one-half mile and four rods.

A gondola loaded with lumber to be used in putting up the new cottage on Appledore island, was towed to the Shoals by the tug Clara Bateman on Monday.

The wrecking schooner Only Son arrived at Branford, Conn., last Thursday, with a cargo of steel from the schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, formerly of this port, which sank four miles off Branford in March last. The captain of the wrecking schooner has been unable so far to discover the sunken vessel's deck-load, and thinks the wreck lies directly over it.

The Concord Monitor of Tuesday thus makes honorable mention of one of the candidates for a position in the next House of Representatives: "The friends of Wallace Hackett, Esq., of Portsmouth, think his prospects of an election to the assistant clerkship of the House are very flattering. There can be no question of Mr. Hackett's ability or fitness for the office; he is a young lawyer of unusual promise, and a stalwart republican; and should he be chosen he would perform his duties acceptably to all concerned. He is unfortunate only in having so many able and deserving competitors."

To-morrow (Thursday) evening, at Music hall, the finest musical entertainment offered to a Portsmouth audience for a long time will be presented. Four numbers on the programme are given to the orchestra, which will include twenty pieces, being a combination of Harlow's orchestra of this city and Eastman's orchestra of Manchester; Mr. Ralph Reiswald is set down for a cornet solo, Miss Fannie Hoyt of Newington for a solo on the violin, and Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard for a piano solo; Mrs. Fenderson, Miss Edith Wendell and Miss Grace Varrell will furnish the vocal part of the entertainment, solos being assigned to each, in addition to which Mrs. Fenderson and Miss Wendell will give a duet; and there is one number for eight violins. The tickets have sold largely, the prices being what the showmen call "popular," but good seats can yet be secured at Preston's,

ELBRIDGE GERRY BROOKS.

"The Life-work of Elbridge Gerry Brooks, minister of the Universalist church, written by his son, Elbridge Streeter Brooks," has been issued by the Universalist publishing house in Boston.

Mr. Brooks was born at the foot of Garrison hill, Dover, in July, 1816, and during the first year of his life his parents removed to Portsmouth. It was at the corner of Congress and Vaughan streets, on one July day, when the boy at the age of nine years met with the accident which crushed his right leg, and made him a cripple for life. But this loss of bodily powers only served to stimulate his mental vigor to greater activity, and he afterward determined, as he was compelled to forego the cherished project of so many boys of Portsmouth of that day to follow the sea, that he would become a minister of the gospel. In the High school on State street he was the schoolmate of Judge Samuel Treat of St. Louis, the lamented T. Starr King, whose father was the Universalist minister in Portsmouth, A. Tappan Akerman, late United States attorney general, and Rev. Massena Goodrich, now of Pawtucket, R. I., while several others to whom we have spoken of Mr. Brooks recall the school-days on State street. Of such material were the boys in our public schools a half a century ago.

The Universalist denomination was a sect founded upon a distinctive theory upon the subject of salvation. In 1835, when Mr. Brooks began his preparation for the ministry, which was to be only a reading with some of the leading lights in the denomination, not a college course, the evangelical societies had none of that liberal spirit which has so toned down the harsh tenets of their creed—in preaching at least, if not in belief—and men were apt to be either extreme Calvanists or ultra Universalists, as their reason prompted.

Mr. Brooks' first sermon was delivered in the Universalist church on Pleasant street, on a bleak November Sunday in 1835, and his second Sunday as a preacher was passed in Dover. Mr. Brooks, with disinclination to receive aid in acquiring an education, declined the proffered help of certain friends who wished him to go to college at their expense, and began to study law, in Maine. This profession did not seem likely to suit his tastes, and after a short trial he gave up the idea of becoming a lawyer, and gave his whole heart to the ministry. The biography is a recital of his struggles and his triumphs, his sacrifices and his labors.

We are not often convinced that a son is capable of being a proper biographer of his father. The work can be done better by a friend than by a filial hand, and in the "Life-work" there is less of plain recital of facts we would like to have standing by themselves, and more redundancy of language, more bringing in of matter not germane to the work, than is in good taste. We, and the denomination which is especially interested in the book, wish to know how a man who declines college advantages, for satisfactory reasons to himself, and makes up the deficiency in education and training by sheer hard work and practical observation of men and things, succeeds, not in his own estimation, or that of his admiring relatives, but according to the candid judgment of the world in which he moved; and it is not a panegyric to which we wish to listen, but an impartial account of the results of a life devoted with so much zeal and energy to the work of a Christian minister.

Mr. Brooks had many friends in Portsmouth, who appreciated him as a friend and a preacher. And even now as they go down town and pass the "Portsmouth Store," at the Vaughan street corner, there come to not a few of those who are rapidly becoming our oldest inhabitants, most kindly recollections of the former Portsmouth boy who was educated in our schools, played in our streets, and preached his first sermon in one of our churches.

Experiments with Toads.

Led by the various statements in regard to the poisonous character of the European toad, I during the past summer made a number of experiments to ascertain whether its American representative was equally venomous. My plan of operating was simply to press upon one of the glands until a drop of fluid exuded, collect this on the point of a lancet, and then, with a few sharp scratches, usually on one of the limbs, inoculate the animal to be experimented upon. Toads vaccinated with their venom, or that of other toads, are—unlike snakes, which quickly die from the effects of their own poison should it be introduced into the blood—not in any way affected.

Upon reptiles, such as the tortoise, the fluid acts as a powerful irritant. The wound made by the lancet widens, sloughs, and finally leaves a hard, round tumor, which is after a time absorbed. To pigeons it is a powerful poison. The part inoculated becomes swollen, purple, very hot. The pigeon, almost unable to stand, squats in corners, with shut eyes and rumpled feathers, refusing food, but drinking much water. In one upon which I operated the whole outer muscles of the leg sloughed away, but it, like all I have experimented on, recovered in a few weeks.

This secretion has in my hands proved to be almost harmless in its action upon mammals, such as rats and rabbits; its effect being that of a simple irritant, producing no more inflammation than would the same amount of acetic acid under the same conditions. Lastly, upon my own skin only a slight redness is produced by the application of this fluid.

From these experiments, I think we may justly conclude that this secretion, which European naturalists call in the Buffo vulgaris (common toad of Europe) the "venom," is in the Buffo Americanus incapable of producing in man, even when brought in contact with an abraded surface, more than a very slight degree of local inflammation. The use of this secretion is evidently to protect the animal from the attacks of carnivorous animals. It is a well known fact that a dog will not take a toad in his mouth. This is because his tongue and lips are burnt by the acid fluid, and he has learned by experience it is best to leave toads alone.

But not only is the toad not venomous, it is a most useful little animal, eating in a single summer thousands of injurious insects, thus ridding the farmer of one of his greatest enemies.—Cor. Independent.

"Women Never Think."

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.—Picayune.

—The meanest thing was done at Keokuk, Iowa, the other day, by the heirs of the Magoun estate, who got together and settled their differences. The estate is worth fully $75,000, and the lawyers had only got $14,500 of it. It is believed there has been trickery.—Milwaukee Sun.

Henry's Carbolic Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all kinds of skin eruptions, freckles and pimples. The salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Be sure you get Henry's Carbolic Salve, as all others are but imitations. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

Dr. Green's Oxygenated Bitters

Are a cheap and simple remedy for dyspepsia and billiousness in all their worst forms. It is a well known preparation, and has been known and endorsed by physicians for many years, and has been used by thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world as a standard and reliable remedy.

—The height of fashion at the court of Dahomey is a costume consisting of blue, gold, green and red labels carefully peeled from the medicine and pickle bottles brought by Europeans into the king's dominions. The labels are gummed on to the naked body, and the effect is, at any rate, startling.—London Society.

As now improved, Dr. Holman's Pads well deserve Prof. Loomis' high endorsement: "They are nearer a universal panacea than anything in medicine."

—"Don't you think we ought to separate our husbands?" said a lady to her friend. "Do you not see how excited they have become? They are beginning to call each other 'ox,' and 'ass' and all sorts of disagreeable things." "Oh, no," was the calm reply. "Let them go on; they have known each other for more than twenty years, and ought to know what they are talking about."

Professors John M. Carnochan; Egbert Guernsey; Wm. Tod Helmuth; A. K. Hills; M. W. Noxan, and hundreds of the most eminent physicians of New York city endorse and prescribe the Liebig Co's Arnicated Extract of Witch Hazel. Beware of cheap imitations. The Liebig company offers no cheap goods. It offers only honest preparations at honest prices. Arnicated Witch Hazel cures piles, salt rheum, catarrh, rheumatism, lumbago, painful periods and other female complaints. Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes.

—"I do believe, Mr. Heffelspin," said his wife, "that you mean to kill me with your everlasting conundrums. 'Why is the feline sitting up straight like Niagara?' You knew I couldn't guess it." "Well, I will tell you," rejoined Heffelspin; "Because it is a cat erect." Mrs. Heffelspin pulled down her spectacles and started for the broom, but Heffelspin had business down town just then.—Rome Sentinel.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 350 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

Vermont Railroads.

On June 1st the short strip of railroad known as the Sullivan railroad, extending from Bellows Falls to Windsor, Vt., on the New Hampshire side of the Connecticut river, which has for many years been under the control and management of the Central Vermont railroad company, will pass into the hands of the Connecticut River railroad company. This will cut off an important link of railroad track by which a connection has been made between the main line of the Central Vermont road (running through Montpelier and White River Junction, Vt.,) and the Cheshire and Fitchburg roads, to Boston. The Central Vermont company therefore intends to use its Rutland branch, running from Burlington to Bellows Falls, as a main line for freight purposes, and all through freight trains between Boston and the west over that line will be run via Rutland and Burlington, instead of via Montpelier. Improvements are being made along the line of the Rutland division with that object in view, and the side tracks at many of the stations are being extended.

The American Revised New Testament.

"The Literary Revolution" is prompt with its edition of the Revised Testament. The British monopolists "unchained" their edition on the morning of May 20th, and at 8:40 P. M., that day the American edition was all in type, and of the various editions of the entire Testament and the Gospels published separately as many as 50,000 copies a day will be manufactured till the demand is fully met. The prices for the handsome editions, in type nearly double the size of the British edition, are as follows:

The New Testament complete for ten cents.

The Gospels complete for seven cents.

The Gospels separately, each for two cents.

And in various forms and styles, up to full Turkey Morocco, gilt edges, for the new and old versions on pages facing, for $1.50.

This edition is for sale by the leading booksellers of the United States, or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Liberal terms are allowed to clubs. Address, "American Book Exchange, 764 Broadway, New York."

Terrible Disaster.

The steamer Victoria, plying between London and Springbank, Ont., when about a mile below London on the evening of Tuesday, the 24th inst., suddenly careened and sank. She had on board at the time over six hundred passengers, all of whom were plunged at once into the water, many of them being held under by the debris of the upper deck, which collapsed when the boat went down, the water at the place where she sank being about twelve feet over the wreck. Up to midnight on the 24th over 150 bodies had been recovered, among them being J. C. Meredith, clerk of the division court and father of W. R. Meredith, M. P.; Maud Meredith, daughter of W. R. Meredith; Mr. Roberison, manager of the bank of British North America; Mr. William McBride, secretary of the western fair association; W. H. Millman, a well-known commercial traveller, and many ladies. Efforts were made to resuscitate some of the drowned ones, but were of no avail, and the bodies were laid side by side on the river bank. The scene was lit up by bonfires built on the shore to assist willing hands that worked to recover the bodies from the wreck. A large staff of medical men were on hand and did all in their power, but to no purpose. It was feared the total loss of life would reach one hundred and seventy-five.

News and Notes.

In a recent lecture in New York, Col. Forney stated that the duel of Hamilton and Burr arose out of a quarrel in which "there was a lady." C. G. Dahlgren denies this, and says: "The duel was premeditated by Burr, and forced on Hamilton in revenge for Hamilton's defeat of Burr's political aspirations—whether in the gubernatorial contest, when Clinton was elected, or in the presidential contest, when Jefferson was elected after nearly forty ballots, I cannot say; but it arose from one, or both. In conversations with Burr he never spoke of any lady in the case, and I have heard Chief Justice Marshall, John Randolph, Henry Clay, Col. Benton, Gen. Gaines, Gen. Scott, Andrew Jackson, Swartwout and others ascribe Burr's action to political reasons."

The body of Miss F. M. B. Kendall, formerly principal of a seminary at Madison, Ind., was cremated at Washington, Pa., on Monday night, May 23d.

J. Austen and F. Brannon fought a duel with revolvers about a young woman at Cedar, Ark., May 22d. Brannon was killed and Austen fled.

It is reported by an internal revenue collector at Atlanta, Ga., that twenty-five or thirty men went to Morganton, Fannin county, while the superior court was in session, broke in the wall of the jail, and released the prisoners charged with violations of internal revenue laws and burning property.

For wearing men's clothes in public, Martha Purdy of St. John, N. B., has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

Miss Sarah Williams of Williamstown, Mass., dropped dead Sunday morning, May 22d, in her chamber, while getting ready for church, and was believed to have been poisoned. On the 24th the medical examiner held an autopsy, but found no traces of poison, though the examination revealed the surprising fact that in less than three months she would have been a mother. She has borne a high reputation, was the daughter of a widow lady, and an active member of the Methodist church of that town. The affair created quite a sensation. She was twenty-four years old.

David Allen Towner, a bookkeeper and a resident of Boston, killed himself with a revolver in the cemetery where his mother is buried, in Middletown, Conn., May 24th. Trouble about money matters is supposed to have been the cause. He had wealthy and influential relatives in Middletown.

Libels were filed on Tuesday, May 24th, in the United States district court, in Boston, against the steamship Pembroke,—one in behalf of the owners of the steamship Ganos, claiming $175,000 damages, and another by the owners of the cargo, in which damages are claimed to the amount of $250,000.

Statistics just compiled, relative to the exports of provisions, tallow and dairy products from thirteen of the principal ports during April of this year and of last year, show a decrease of over $1,800,000, against April of this year. The falling off in exports of bacon and hams amounted to $2,700,000, and in the exports of lard to $1,800,000. The trichinæ scare in Europe has undoubtedly had something to do with this decline.

New Hampshire Items.

The Great Falls Manufacturing Co. pays a dividend June 1st.

Mr. Faulhaber of Exeter will read before Gov. Bell and council on Thursday, June 2d, immediately after the inauguration exercises, a congratulatory message on the part of the German citizens, and a second one from the patriotic French Canadians of this state. These messages are written in French and German, signed by prominent citizens of Manchester, Nashua and Dover, translated by Mr. Faulhaber, and properly attested by the authorities of the cities named. This is a "new departure" in this state, but customary in the west, where the foreign population more abounds.

Erastus Wadleigh of Sutton, seventy years old, hung himself May 21st.

A son of John Galway of Charlestown, aged seven years, was drowned in the river at that place May 22d.

The anniversary exercises at Colby academy, New London, will take place on the 21st, 22d and 23d of June.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Nora Jerome's beautiful book, and other poems selected from the 'Cloth of Gold' and 'Flower and Thorn,'" by T. B. Aldrich, has been published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. The selection contains Mr. Aldrich's poem "Baby Bell," and other lines familiar to the friends of the poet. The little book will be appreciated by our readers in the city where the editor of the Atlantic made his first literary efforts. The book is for sale by all booksellers at $1.00.

"The Emerson Birthday Book." Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $1; in Morrocco, $3.50. This little volume, in many respects similar to the "Longfellow birthday book" which has been so eagerly sought by buyers, contains judicious selections compiled with much care from the writings of Mr. Emerson, both of prose and poetry. Few writers have such a rich and varied treasury of thought from which to extract beautiful excerpts as the gifted Emerson, and with this choice arrangement of some of his best lines, added to the excellent new portrait and twelve illustrations, the book will always be a favorite volume to own or to present to a friend. For sale at Myers' and at Goodrich's book stores.

THE EXETER "RIOT."

Concerning the previously-mentioned trouble at Phillips academy, Exeter, the Boston Traveller's correspondent on Tuesday of this week said:

The facts are that two students were expelled for drinking and gambling. In accordance with a time-honored custom the students were required to refrain from associating with the expelled ones, who persisted in remaining in the place, much to the prejudice of good discipline in the institution. One of the seniors, on a recent public day, took occasion to break over the rule in a most conspicuous and obnoxious manner, locking arms with one of the expelled students and going to his room. After due consideration the offending senior was expelled. This aroused the ire of some twenty of the students, and the uncomplimentary serenade followed. The destructive acts were done by the outside town roughs who joined the party. It is probable that some seven or eight of the ringleaders will have to leave, but there has been no riot and there is great excitement among the students, who are devoted to their school.

The Advertiser of May 24th contained the following from Exeter:

The report sent hence to-day to the effect that twenty students were expelled Monday night, and that there was great indignation and disapprobation among the students and townspeople on that account, and that redress would be demanded of the trustees, is a decided misrepresentation of the facts and feelings in the school and among the citizens of the town. In the first place, only seventeen students acknowledged having had any connection with the serenade, and these were disposed of as follows: Seven were expelled, three suspended for the remainder of the term, and the remaining seven were allowed to withdraw from the academy. * * * In dealing with this matter the faculty were placed in a very delicate position. Last week the instructors were informed by some of the most influential citizens of the town and also by the business men, that unless some decided measure was taken the civil authorities of the town would immediately proceed against those students engaged in the serenade, etc., and when the decision was made known several of the leading citizens expressed their strong approbation; for while the students are popular among the townspeople for the most part, yet the latter think that some of the boys have been going too far of late. The report that the townspeople will unite with the few disaffected students in demanding redress of the trustees is laughed at by both students and townspeople. There is no doubt that after a day or two, when the fellows who have been expelled leave town, there will not be the least feeling in the school.

Preserving Wood.

The new method of preserving wood by the application of lime is said to be found to work well. The plan is to pile the planks in a tank and to pour over all a layer of quicklime, which is gradually slacked with water. Timber for mines requires about a week to be thoroughly impregnated, and other wood more or less time, according to thickness. The material acquires remarkable consistence and hardness, it is stated, on being subjected to this process, and the assertion is made that it will never rot. Beechwood prepared in this way for hammers and other tools for ironworks is found to acquire the hardness of oak, without parting with any of its well-known elasticity or toughness, and it also lasts longer.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Trochet" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained world-wide celebrity among the few staple remedies of the age. AROUND HOME.

Major Urch sends two of his marine bicycles to Boston on Saturday, by steamer Acushnet.

The whale—or what there is left of it—at Ragged neck, Rye, could be smelled at Rye Centre, a mile and a half distant, on Wednesday.

The grand concert, vocal and instrumental, comes off in Music hall this evening. A choice entertainment, and low prices. See advertisement.

Hon. E H. Rollins, in company with Chas. E. Joy, architect, of Dover, visited this city on Monday and examined one of our finest recently-constructed houses. The senator intends to rebuild at Dover, during the summer.

The treasurer of the Portsmouth branch of the Land League on the 23d inst. transmitted to the treasurer of the National Land League the sum of $75, voted by the local branch some time ago to aid the people of Ireland in their present struggle.

An elderly lady, who maintains herself by sewing, on Wednesday lost a pair of spectacles somewhere between Hancock and Deer streets. The finder will do a worthy act by leaving them at this office, as the loser cannot easily bear the loss nor get another pair.

The Biddeford Times of May 23d says: "The extension of the Eastern railroad to Old Orchard is now being pushed. One hundred men have arrived, together with a large number of horses and dump carts, and work commenced this morning. The crew camp out in a big tent one hundred feet long."

The Dover Democrat says that Hon. Frank Jones and Hon. E. H. Winchester have purchased the remainder of the lot of land in that city of which Mr. J. Albert Walker recently bought a part, and that the three gentlemen named will jointly erect a magnificent block to cover the entire lot.

A gentleman from Dover recently moved into a house in this city, and was quite surprised to learn (what he did not know when he moved in) that the name of the street and the number of his house were the same as those he had just left in Dover. He will have no difficulty in remembering where he lives.

The funeral of Rev. H. S. Blodgett of Dover took place on the 25th inst., from the Catholic church. The funeral procession was one of the longest ever seen in that city. The mills were shut down, and schools and places of business closed, during the time of the funeral. Bishop Healey of Portland officiated.

One of the "benefits" of the telegraph consolidation is the reduction of help in the single office in this city. In other words, the office is closed evenings after eight o'clock until eleven, to the great inconvenience of our citizens, who had been accustomed to greater facilities while competition existed. Where is the new line between Portland and Boston? or must we continue to support the W. U. T. without any of the advantages of a healthful competition?

The annual meeting of Sub-Association No. 9, Provident Mutual Relief, was held at the Rockingham House on Wednesday evening, May 25th. Samuel C. Whittier, Wm. P. Walker and Alfred Stavers were elected trustees for the ensuing year; and Stephen W. Clarke, A. C. Hoyt and Alfred Stavers were chosen representatives to the annual meeting of the association at Concord in June. The report of the clerk shows the Portsmouth association to be in a very prosperous condition, having ninety-seven members, a gain of twenty-eight during the past year. The membership is now sufficient to pay the full amount of $2000 on the death of a member.

Mr. Oscar J. Pfeiffer of this city, a student in the Harvard medical school, has been selected to pull our number three in the Harvard University crew this season.

Among the wreck stuff thrown on shore at Cutts' island, Kittery, during the recent long storm, were the carcasses of two large bull-dogs, supposed to have been swept off the deck of some passing vessel.

Preparations for launching the U. S. S. Lancaster from the ways into the dry dock are rapidly approaching completion; yesterday the bridge over the ways was removed and the hydraulic ram taken from the "head-house" and tested; the ram will be put in position to-day, so as to be ready to ram the ship into the dock on Friday, should the programme as now arranged be carried out.

Quite a crowd of people gathered on Market square, Tuesday evening of this week at about half-past seven o'clock, to watch a lot of swallows going down the chimney of Pettigrew's store; and on Wednesday evening the birds were seen flying one after another down the chimney of the Treadwell building, corner of State and Pleasant streets, until at least a hundred of the little creatures had disappeared.

We learn that arrangements have been made by the agent of the steamer Acushnet with Captain "Rashe" of the Mystic to transport to Kittery and the navy yard all the light freight consigned to those destinations, so that the Acushnet will not be obliged to touch at either the yard or Kittery except to land freight too heavy or cumbersome to be transferred as above. Passengers will also be taken at Kittery, for Boston via the Acushnet; tickets for sale on the Mystic.

On Monday of this week Mr. Lewis Holmes raised a hickory flag-staff at the head of Commercial wharf, from which he will display a flag during the day, and at night will show a red and green light as a guide into the dock for any of his boats which may be out. Considering a salute the proper thing whenever a flag-staff is raised or other important undertaking completed, Mr. Holmes on this occasion fired one from an old flint-lock musket which did service in the war of 1812, and has a bore as big as a two-year-old cannon.

A NEEDLESS CONFLICT.

The annual appropriation bill is not yet passed, there being a dispute between the two boards concerning one item, the common council insisting on appropriating $2000 for a new reservoir near the court house, and the aldermen as strongly insisting that no such appropriation shall be made. The Times of last Friday had a local editorial on this matter, in which, after reciting the doings of the city councils on the previous evening, including the adjournment of the lower board without passing the bill, it said—

For the mayor and aldermen this was too much. The mayor looked daggers. The city clerk was mad, and some of the aldermen were on the point of voting to disband the council, and do all the business of the city themselves.

This article roused the indignation of one of the councilmen, who writes to the Times that:

The council, in times past and present, have been merely a machine, and have been about as much disgusted with proceedings as the honorable board. The aldermen have done all the business, simply asking the council to pass appropriation bills, and then "you can adjourn to the call of the mayor, till we want more money in the shape of deficiencies" which they have spent in excess of the appropriation. Now we do not understand why the honorable board, if they have the power, did not disband the council, as they were about to do, and not crush a good motive upon its conception.

We agree with "Member Common Council" that to disband the council would be a good thing, though why the aldermen should think of voting to "do all the business of the city themselves" we cannot understand, as they always have done it all, the council being no more a part of the city "government" than a dog running behind a wagon is part of the wagon. The council is of late only to bear a part of the blame if "the councils" do what is wrong; it has not the slightest power to control or compel the expenditure of a single dollar of the thousands appropriated, after the appropriation bill is passed.

The contest which has been going on over this reservoir question is a foolish one, on the part of both boards. On the part of the council, because if the appropriation for a reservoir is carried, the aldermen will not spend the money—at least not for a reservoir—and the council has no power to compel them. On the part of the aldermen, because they know that appropriating money for any specific purpose does not necessitate their expending it for such purpose, and while they alone may not be able to appropriate money for building a reservoir, they have full power not to build a reservoir even though the appropriation be made.

We herewith proceed to pour oil upon the troubled municipal waters by making the suggestion that the board of aldermen do as they have always done in such cases, viz.: Allow the common councilmen to have their way as to making the appropriation, the aldermen afterward to do exactly as they choose with the money—either to expend it for the purpose it was appropriated for, or in some other way by "transferring" it to "cover a deficiency" at the close of the fiscal year. Let us have peace.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, May 25; Batchelder, J.

Frank Goings, aged ten years, and William Wallen, aged twelve years, were examined on charges of twice breaking and entering the store of James R. Yeaton. They were adjudged probably guilty, and held for a higher court.

John W. Reardon, charged with assault on Daniel Lynch with intent to kill, was discharged. This case had been continued a number of times. The affray took place in a store at the west end; Lynch was the aggressor, and Reardon, who was cutting tobacco when assailed, stabbed Lynch. The accused has been in jail about a month, awaiting the conclusion of the case.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

The Rockingham County Sunday School Association at the late meeting elected officers for 1881-82 as follows:

President, B. R. Jewell, Esq., South Hampton.

Vice Presidents, Prof. A. C. Perkins, Exeter; Rev. M. Howard, Kingston.

Secretary and Treasurer, Frank R. Drake, North Hampton.

Executive Committee, Rev. J. A. Lowell, Danville; Rev. N. Day, Newton; Rev. Albert Watson, Hampstead; Rev. B. F. McDaniel, Exeter; Rev. W. E. Bennett, Greenland.

The annual convention at Hampstead, May 17th, was well attended, and the exercises very interesting. There are now one hundred and three schools in the county, with a membership of 10,356.

THE WENTWORTH.

This famous establishment opens this season for the reception of guests on the 18th of June, with increased facilities for caring for visitors.

The Roxbury Horse Guards, Capt. Young, with Higgins' band, will reach the Wentworth on the 22d of June, and pass the night, having a ball in the evening.

Portland Commandry of Knights Templar, Eminent Commander L. W. Fobes, numbering with ladies accompanying the Sir Knights one hundred and fifty persons, with Chandler's Portland band, twenty-five pieces, will visit the Wentworth on St. John's day, June 24th. The Sir Knights will arrive by a special train over the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad, and after parading in the city will be conveyed in barges to the Wentworth for dinner, and return home on Saturday, the 25th.

The Massachusetts Press Association, impressed with the idea that the Wentworth and its surroundings present attractions which their members and guests ought to enjoy, are quite desirous of stopping at the Wentworth on their return from their June excursion to Mount Desert. Their plan was to arrive at Portsmouth on Friday, June 24th, dine at the Wentworth, and visit Hampton and Rye beaches, the Aquarium and Fort Constitution, and take a trip to the Isles of Shoals.

The managers of the Wentworth seem to have judiciously made it known that in many respects there is no more attractive spot upon the New England coast for a sojourn, than at the Wentworth; and the prospect is that the season of 1881 will eclipse even the brilliant record of the past year. It is safe to assert that with its natural attractions and the unsparing efforts of the proprietors to make the Wentworth entirely superior to any resort of the kind upon our coasts, the success of this establishment in the hands of its present liberal management is fully assured.

LODGE ANNIVERSARY.

Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., celebrated its 37th anniversary on Tuesday evening of this week in right royal style. The new hall was filled to overflowing with the brethren and their ladies, making one of the most brilliant audiences ever assembled there. The oldest and the largest lodge in the city, and the wealthiest in the state, it has also had the reputation of being somewhat old fogyish; but this latter charge cannot hereafter be sustained, for never was there a merrier, jollier party (consistent with dignity) of old and young, than were the four hundred who sat down to the sumptuous tables and afterwards participated in the dances of the evening. One of the noticeable features of the evening was the many elderly gentlemen present—fathers in odd fellowship—renewing their youth. We noticed on the floor during one of the old-fashioned contra dances, fifteen members whose combined ages amounted to over one thousand years, entering into the spirit of the occasion with more vim and enthusiasm than did many of the others with not half the years resting upon them. The committee of arrangements are to be congratulated for the excellent entertainment provided, and the smoothness with which everything went off; and also upon sparing the audience the long and prosy essays which are usually doled out on such occasions. May Piscataqua's future anniversaries be as happily observed. c.

Quince Seed Curls.

Every one knows that the little loops and curls of hair which lie flatly down against the forehead of the girl of our species do not thus maintain themselves naturally, and nearly every one who has had the curiosity to ask them about it knows now that the gum of the quince seed is employed to make these curls "stay put." The quince seed gum has peculiar properties which make it suitable above every other article for this purpose. It would even hold smoothly down the quills upon the fretful porcupine. An ounce of quine seed contains albuminous gum enough for innumerable bangs. Three years or more ago, before the bang had assumed its sway, an ounce of quince seeds could be bought for five cents, or a pound, which would supply the requirements of a large family of girls for a year or more, could be had for forty-five cents. Five pounds was the ordinary stock which a dealer in drugs kept on hand, and there was almost no demand at all for the seeds. They are imported chiefly from Russia, and not over 500 pounds in a year were in those happy days brought to this country. As the present whim in hair-dressing became more popular the demand for quince seed quickly improved, until at present the stock in the market is almost exhausted, probably not over 100 pounds being distributed among the drug dealers of New York. Now nearly 10,000 pounds are imported in a year, and the price is from $3.50 to $4.00 a pound. A wholesale dealer said yesterday:

"We could sell all we could get of it if it was to be had at all. We have not over ten pounds in stock now, and can't get more. The agents in Europe have scoured the market, and got about all the seed there is to get, I think."

Bandoline, which contains gum tragacanth and glycerine, is much used because of its greater cheapness, but quince seed mucilage is considered better for bangs.—New York Sun.

—Perhaps it is called the "upper-crust," because you have to pass it to get to the real meat and strength of society.

—The editor of a country paper, having received a bank-note detector, returns thanks, and modestly asks for some bank-notes upon which to test its accuracy.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

Mrs. Bell, wife of the inventor of the telephone, is a deaf mute. It is frequently the subject of remark that it is a most singular coincidence that the inventor of the telegraph and the inventor of the telephone, Professors Morse and Bell, should each have had a deaf mute for a wife. Edison, the inventor, is as deaf as a street-car driver.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

A farmer living in Markham township, Canada, twenty miles from Toronto, has discovered a pit on his farm containing 500 skulls and five times as many leg and arm bones. Dr. Wilson of the university believes that it is an Indian ossuary, and that the remains have been under ground 200 years.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

A Quebec report says that five pilots were drowned off Bic, May 21st, by the upsetting of a boat. A batteau was sunk with four men on board, opposite Chaudiere. A small boat with four men was capsized opposite Etchemin, and all were drowned; and a portion of the crew of the ship Oscar were reported drowned.

One Moment, Please.

When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against billious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Femedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

Thomas Brennan, secretary of the Irish Land League, was arrested at Naas, Ireland, on the 23d inst., and put in jail.

A Cure for Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. D. Fall River.

Fifteen barrels of Danforth's fluid exploded in a celler at St. Joseph, Mo., May 24th. A saloon and billiard room was kept by a colored man over the cellar, and all persons in it lost their lives. The number is estimated from fifteen to forty-five.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. lap15,82

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of The Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

Daily Chronicle.

A Cunning Criminal.

There used to be in Queen Anne's county, Maryland, in the days of Judge Hopper, of cherished memory, an old offender, whose name is forgotten, but who for the purpose of this story shall be called Kildee. This person was, court after court, brought before Judge Hopper, charged with fighting somebody or breaking the peace in some way. The judge fined him until he got tired, and finally told Kildee that if he was ever brought before him again he should send him to jail. Kildee assured the judge that he would be peaceable in the future. But when the next term came, Kildee was there, charged with assault and battery. Judge Hopper, vexed and indignant, reminded Kildee of his charge only six months before, and asked him what palliation he could show for breaking a promise made in open court.

"Yes, judge," said Kildee, "I remember it all, and I expect to go to jail. You must keep your word. I didn't intend to go back on you, judge; but the way of it was this: This man, whom I whipped, heard me promise you that I wouldn't fight any more; and so one day he met me, and abused me, and cussed me, and called me everything he could lay his tongue to. I stood it all, judge, for I remembered what you told me and what I told you, and I said to him he wouldn't abuse me in that way if I hadn't promised Judge Hopper not to fight any more. He then commenced to cuss and abuse you, judge. And I couldn't stand that. I lit on him and licked him quicker than lightning. I am willing to go to jail, judge, but if I have to spend half of my time there, no man shall cuss Judge Hopper when I'm around, and go off with it."

Kildee's sentence was a very short one.

A Generous Deed.

There is nothing so noble and touching as a really spontaneous act of generosity, after all. The other day a rough, careless-looking stranger was walking up Mission street, near Sixth, when he observed a lot of hoodlums clustered round the gate of a small farm-house, in front of which a poor woman was weeping bitterly, surrounded by her terrified children. A scanty array of household goods on the pavement showed that it was a case of ejectment. "What are you abusing that woman for?" demanded the "man from below," addressing an ill-favored individual who was carrying out the furniture. "I ain't abusing her," growled the landlord; "she can't pay her rent, and I'm going to bounce the whole outfit, that's all." "I've a good mind to bounce you," said the stranger, indignantly; "what's the amount she owes you?" "Twenty-two dollars." "Here, take it out of that," and the angry man took out his wallet and handed over $100 greenback. The evicter respectfully turned over a receipt and the change. Forcing an additional "V" on the happy woman, the stranger walked rapidly away. "Centric cuss that," said the house-owner, looking after the philanthropist, musingly. But the philanthropist said nothing until he turned the corner, when he murmured softly to himself, as he put on a little more pedestrian steam, "It's no use talking—virtue is its own reward. I couldn't have gotten another such a chance to work off that counterfeit in a year."—San Francisco Post.

—The old-school doctors at Washington are reported to be a good deal stirred up because Mrs. Garfield has been attended by a homeopathic physician, and a woman at that. This is understood to be the first instance in which either a homeopath or a woman has been employed in the executive mansion. Why don't the old school fellows resign, and be in fashion.—Nashua Telegraph.

"I don't want that Stuff"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

—The other night a policeman observed a man hanging around the entrance to a Michigan avenue hall in a queer sort of way, and he asked him if he belonged to the order in session upstairs. The man replied that he did, and the officer inquired, "Then why don't you go up?" "Well, I was thinking of it." "Haven't been expelled, have you?" "Oh, no." "Aren't you afraid of anybody?" "No." "And haven't you lost your interest?" "I might as well tell you," said the man, after beating around awhile longer. "I went down to Toledo a few days ago, and somehow the story came back here that I was drowned. My lodge thereupon passed resolutions to the effect that I was honest, upright and liberal and a shining ornament, and that what was its loss was my gain. I wasn't drowned, as you see, but I kind o' hate to walk in on them and bust those resolutions. I've tried it three times, and I can't get higher up than the fifth stair before I weaken."—Detroit Free Press.

Nashua & Lowell Railroad.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nashua & Lowell railroad at Nashua, May 25th, the following officers were elected: Directors, F. A. Brooks, F. V. Parker, G. K. Richardson, Boston; J. W. White, C. V. Dearborn, W. W. Bailey, Nashua; A. M. Shaw, Lebanon. Treasurer, Charles B. Brooks, Boston. Corporation Clerk, Walter A. Lovering, Nashua.

A Fact Worth Knowing.

Travelers, tourists and all persons arriving at or leaving the city of New York by cars from the Grand Central depot to visit Niagara, Saratoga, lake George, White mountains, Atlantic City, Coney island, Long Branch, and the thousand other summer resorts, will find, opposite the said Grand Central depot, the Grand Union hotel, a very popular, well kept house, first-class in all its appointments.

The proprietor having purchased the adjoining property on the corner of Fourth avenue and Forty-second street, and added it to this hotel, gives to the Grand Union 450 elegant rooms, furnished and fitted up at a cost of over one million dollars. Notwithstanding this large outlay, single rooms are reduced to one dollar and upwards per day. Elegant suites for families on the European plan. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel in New York city.

The restaurants, cafe, lunch and wine rooms are supplied with the best. A number of rooms are elegantly arranged for dinners, suppers and lunch parties, large and small. The cuisine and wines are of superior merit. Cars, stages and elevated railroads convey you to all depots and to all parts of the city. Guests' baggage taken to and from the Grand Central depot free. Toilet rooms for guests to leave their valises and parcels, free. Give the Grand Union hotel a trial.

News and Notes.

The steamboat disaster at London, Ontario, is even worse than at first reported. Up to the evening of the 26th inst. two hundred and thirty-eight dead bodies had been recovered, and it was believed that others were still under the wreck. The boat appears to have been a weak affair, and recklessly over-loaded. All business in London is suspended, and the city in mourning.

At Newburyport, May 24th, L. H. Mitchell of Methuen, Mass., on trial for manslaughter in shooting to death Maurice Sullivan of Lawrence, was acquitted by the jury. Sullivan was one of a gang of five men who were engaged in robbing an orchard in Lawrence on a Sunday in August last, when Mitchell and a special officer named Horace P. Whittier attempted to arrest them. The roughs knocked both officers down, and were beating and kicking them in a most brutal manner when Mitchell drew his revolver and very happily killed one of the ruffians. He might have killed several more without doing the world any harm.

Mrs. John Tyrrell of Trumbull, Conn., died in a coach while attending her husband's burial service in the town cemetery. Heart disease aggravated by grief and excitement caused her death.

Edwin Foss of Amesbury, Mass., thought he knew how to handle himself in a hammock, but has discovered his mistake. He will not die, but his broken bones will keep him in doors for some time.

George Washington Morrison Nutt, well known to the public as "Commodore Nutt," died on May 25th at the Anthony house, New York city, his death resulting from Bright's disease. Commodore Nutt was thirty-seven years old, and was but forty-three inches in height. His father, Rodney Nutt, was a farmer of Manchester, N. H. In December, 1861, the commodore visited the celebrated showman, P. T. Barnum, at the latter's museum in New York, and the result was he was engaged at a large salary to be exhibited, since which time he has travelled extensively. He was married about three years ago.

An unknown man, aged forty years, was found dead in the cattle guard of the Boston & Albany railroad at Worcester, Mass., on Wednesday night, May 25th. The appearances are that the man was murdered and thrown there. He had a coupon ticket to Gardner, Mass.

Cilina Laplant, a French girl, has disappeared from her home in Malden, Mass., under circumstances that lead to a suspicion of foul play.

Mr. Barnes, one of the selectmen at West Stockbridge, Mass., has been fined $50 and costs for selling cider without a license.

A house in Shrewsbury, Mass., occupied by Peter Leroy and family, was burned Tuesday, May 24th, and a six-years-old boy perished.

"Nana's Daughter." T. B. Peterson & Brothers have just published a book which will create a great sensation, being no less than a continuation of, and sequel to the great Paris realistic novel of "Nana," by Emile Zola. The new novel is entitled "Nana's Daughter," and is said to be one of the most absorbing stories ever given to the public. The heroine is elevated upon the stage of Parisian fashion, and is more natural than realistic.

Rev. O. J. Wait of Franklin says: "An alais, making pretensions of fitting for the ministry, is exhibiting letters, as from ministers, commending him, and on which he obtains funds. He is using my name with others. His letters are forgeries, and he is a scamp. Will all papers in New England, favorable to good morals, please copy, or summarize this notice."

Robert Ray of East Hampden, Me., attempted to enter a coach at Medway when some nitro-glycerine cartridges which were in his coat pocket exploded. One of them went directly through his right wrist, making an ugly wound, the blood spurting two feet. Another would have passed through his body but for a watch he carried in the same pocket, which was shattered into small pieces and which saved his life.

Naval Affairs.

The Tennessee and Yantic arrived at New York on Tuesday, May 24th, from Hampton roads.

The Wachusett arrived at San Francisco on Sunday, May 22d.

The Vandalia, from Boston with the Ossipee in tow, arrived at Philadelphia May 24th. The Ossipee will be rebuilt in every respect the same as the Juniata, lately completed by Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn. The estimated cost of rebuilding is $200,000.

Passed Assistant Paymaster George A. Deering has been detached from the Tallapoosa, and ordered to settle his accounts and hold himself in readiness for duty on board the Quinnebaug. Passed Assistant Paymaster Curtis H. Thompson has been detached from the navy pay office at Baltimore, and ordered to duty on board the Tallapoosa.

Rear Admiral Edward T. Nichols has been detached from duty as inspector of the third lighthouse district on the reporting of his relief, and ordered to report at the navy department and assume the duties of chief of the bureau of yards and docks.

Lieut. Israel H. Washburne, U. S. M. C., was promoted to be a captain in the marine corps on May 19th.

THE "LADIES' DEPOSIT."

The Boston Globe publishes a list of names of depositors in the late lamented "Ladies' Deposit" of Boston who have proved their claims against Mrs. Sarah E. Howe, the president of that remarkable institution, with the amount of the claims allowed them by the insolvency court. The list contains the name of 799 persons; it should be remembered, moreover, that even this large number by no means includes all who have had dealings with the institution, for apart from those who were fortunate enough to get their money out before the crash came, there are doubtless many creditors who have not presented their claims, preferring to bear the loss of their money in silence rather than to have it known that they had deposits in the "bank." The sum total of the claims against Mrs. Howe is simply enormous. Few of the deposits fall much below $200, and several of the unfortunate fair ones were induced to put in $1000 or more each. The list includes names of women scattered from Maine to Chicago and from Florida to San Francisco, all eager to get eight per cent a month interest, paid quarterly in advance—and no wonder, when banks and bankers are glad to get a sure thing on three and one-half per cent a year, payable at the year's end. In the list published by the Globe we find the names of two Portsmouth ladies, whose claims are for $254.40 and $329.20 respectively; Greenland has two victims, Charlotte H. Young for $408, and the same person as guardian of Constantine Young for $414.67; in Dover, Permila A. Chase, Ella Grindall and Anna M. White have claims of $254.40 each, and Ruth Cole, a minor, a claim of $169.60; Ida F. Coggeshall of Exeter was taken in to the tune of $549.60, and Mary Conner to the amount of $169.60; and South Berwick, Me., is credited with one victim, Mary E. Cushing, who would like to recover $508.80 from the wreck. Some few of the swindled women apparently went into the affair with their eyes open, probably intending to "get out" before the inevitable crash came; one of these fair gamblers, a Boston lady, under her own name and two fictitious ones, claims $763.60; and another one, in Salem, Mass., asks for $1910.94, which stands to her credit under her own name and four aliases. Unless it had been demonstrated by actual experiment, it would not have been believed that the extravagantly absurd promises and pretensions of the "Ladies' Deposit" could have captured so many "gulls."

Notice to Mariners.

A whistling buoy, painted black, has been placed in ten fathoms of water about 200 yards from Whale rock, Narragansett bay, on the following compass bearings: Dutch island lighthouse, northeast by north 3-4 north; Beaver Tail lighthouse, east 3-4 north; Brenton's reef light vessel, southeast by east 1-2 east; Whale rock, north by west. Masters and pilots are requested to give early notice of the disappearance or displacement of this buoy, or of any defect in its working, to Rear Adm. E. T. Nichols, U. S. N., lighthouse inspector, Tompkinsville, N. Y.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable LUNG DISEASE or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. 4w,th & f o1jan82

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

ROUTE OF PROCESSION.

Through High, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Cabot and Middle streets to Cass street, where it will countermarch, then down Middle street to Richards avenue and South street to Sagamore road, entering the cemetery by the South gate. A square will then be formed, and the following exercises take place:

1. Reading of General Order by Adjutant.
2. Prayer by Rev. John A. Goss, chaplain.
3. Music, American Band.
4. Decoration of Graves.
5. Recall of Procession.
6. Volleys by Marine Corps.
7. Music, American Band.
8. Benediction.

The procession will then return as follows: Through main avenue, South, Pleasant, State, Middle and Congress streets to Market square.

A battalion dress parade will there take place, Maj. George Butler, U. S. M. C., commanding,; Lieut. G. C. Reid, adjutant.

J. HORACE KENT,
Chief Marshal.

The programme of the evening exercises is arranged, and will be given to ticket holders at Music hall on the night thereof.

AROUND HOME.

The new time table on the Eastern railroad goes into effect Monday next.

Mosquitoes had a big chorus of singers out on Wednesday night of this week.

The schooner Maud S. Wetherell went on the railway at Kittery at noon on Thursday last.

Steamer Appledore goes on the ways at Kittery to-day, for a new suit of paint, and necessary repairs.

It is reported that the schooner Celia, one of the fishing vessels which sails from this port, is to be sold.

Commodore William H. Shock, chief of the bureau of steam engineering of the navy, is at the Rockingham house.

The last dance of the season in Kittery will be held this evening, at Trefethen's hall. Grand march commences at nine o'clock.

Special services will be held at the Pearl street church on Sunday afternoon, in which the Grand Army of the Republic will be present in a body. The church will be decorated, and a discourse written for the occasion will be delivered.

William Wilson and William Haber, two boys, were arrested on Wednesday of this week for stealing books from one of the public schoolhouses.

The steamer Hudson, which started from this port some three weeks ago for New York, was at Hyannis on Saturday, May 21st, repairing a broken shaft.

It is reported that a whale one hundred and eighteen feet long drifted ashore on Duck island, Isles of Shoals, a few days ago. Either the story or the whale is a whopper.

A horse belonging to a grain and flour firm on Market street had a runaway on Wednesday, but was stopped by Capt. Burgess of the schooner J. D. Hart, before doing any damage.

Mayor Sise will station officers at the south cemetery on Memorial day and for several days afterward, to check the stealing of flowers from graves, which has been so disgracefully prevalent in past years.

The frame of the cottage house to be built on Appledore island was put on board the gondola Edgar Weston, on Tuesday of this week, with twenty thousand feet of lumber, and towed out to the Shoals by the tug Clara Batemen, discharged her cargo, and returned to the wharf again in about six hours. Joiners have commenced work on the house.

The announcement through the daily papers that the sale of tickets for Memorial evening would begin on Thursday morning at eight o'clock, at Preston's, attracted a large number of purchasers, and the indications are for a full house. The free list, except in the case of the widows of deceased soldiers, has been entirely suspended this year.

The tug Naumkeag towed the schooner Bedabedec, with two hundred tons of coal on board to South Newmarket on Wednesday, the 25th inst., and on Thursday took up two scows to the same place to be used in picking up stones in the Swampscot river. On her return she towed out schooner J. D. Hart. She made her trip from South Newmarket to Portsmouth bridge in an hour and a half.

Portland Commandery, Knights Templar, has voted to make an excursion to Wentworth, N. H., June 24th. The commandery will have a special train, going and coming, and will be accompanied by their ladies. Chandler's full band will also be with the party. They will stop one night at Wentworth, at the magnificent hotel of the same name, opened last year, and enjoy a grand hop in the spacious parlors. Wentworth is situated about three miles from Portsmouth.—Portland Advertiser.

Should nothing interfere with the present arrangements, the work of putting the U. S. S. Lancaster into the dry dock will be commenced this forenoon at nine o'clock, and will continue throughout the day and possibly part of the night. Parties desiring to witness this really interesting operation are referred to the time tables of the steamers Mystic and James Sampson; and we can assure them that an hour spent on this visit will not be wasted.

The screen or breakwater that was put down a few days ago on the eastern side of the "band-stand" on Gangway rock, for the purpose of protecting the diver from the full force of the strong tides, has been carried away, and the debris was towed to Kittery by the tug Ann last Thursday morning. We thought when it was put down it might do for some placid waters, like Lake Lucerne, but was hardly up to the standard for checking the raging Piscataqua.

The real estate of the Bartlet mills corporation at Newburyport was sold at auction on the premises in that city on Wednesday afternoon of this week, and was knocked down to Mr. Joy, of the firm of Joy, Langdon & Co. of Boston, for $24,000. Mr. C. H. Coffin, representing a Newburyport combination, claims that he also bid $24,000, and that the property is his, he having tendered $1000 in gold to bind the bargain, which was refused. A lawsuit will probably result. Mr. J. Albert Walker of this city bid $23,900 for the property.

The committee on flowers for Memorial day have succeeded in obtaining a bountiful supply of evergreen, which has been carried to the court house, and is there in charge of one of the members of the Grand Army post. The court house will be open all day Friday and Saturday for the purpose of working the evergreen into wreaths, a very large number of which are required. It is hoped that the ladies who have so kindly volunteered in this work in years past will again assist in this undertaking. There is work enough to occupy a large number both days. It has been thought better to commence this work on Friday and have it all completed Saturday night, than to be obliged to work all day Sunday as was the case last year.

THE CONCERT.

The concert given under the direction and for the benefit of Mr. Harlow on Thursday evening was a genuine success. Mr. Harlow had, as he has told us, taken great pains with the programme, which was extremely liberal. Mr. Harlow is an enthusiast in his profession, and doubtless many in the audience had grateful recollections of his long and untiring service as leader of the Naval band; his numberless efforts at different times to give Portsmouth good music, out of doors, in halls, in churches, at private parties, everywhere, the care he has shown in educating to proficiency his many pupils, some of whom on this occasion shew their artistic advancement; the satisfaction in having a competent orchestra leader, ready at the shortest notice to draw the bow; the memories of the enjoyments of the merry dance—all of these came up in thankful recognition of the beneficiary. It was, we hope, in a large degree this that brought many to Music hall, whose construction Mr. Harlow watched with unflagging interest in the pleasurable anticipation of having in our city a place of resort where could be rendered the best entertainments, musical and dramatic, the country could afford.

With such a liberal programme the most captious could but be satisfied. The orchestra, from the overture to the close of the "Firemen's polka," was in good tune and thoroughly enjoyable. Miss Edith Wendell received generous applause, as usual, and as usual deserved it. She was persistently encored, and received a number of beautiful floral gifts. Mr. Reinewald's cornet solo was a feature which all appreciated. The violin solo of Miss Fannie Hoyt shew a remarkable proficiency for one so youthful. She appears to be a natural musician, displaying great powers in violin playing, and does the utmost credit to her teacher. Her execution seems to be without effort, and yet artistic and "professional" for one of her years. Miss Grace Varrell, whom the programme designated as the "petite soprano," sang "Grandma's old arm chair" in a very satisfactory manner for so young a debutante, and she bids fair to become a successful singer, as she increases in years and receives instruction in the art. Her enunciation is beautifully distinct, and she and Miss Hoyt were both encored, both also receiving floral tokens. Few ladies have so delighted a Portsmouth audience as has Mrs. Ella C. Fenderson, the justly celebrated contralto of Boston. Her great power seems to consist in her eloquence in song, her capacity to give utterance to the sentiment of the poet, and her full appreciation of the text. This of course, with no omission in the artistic requirements of the music, enables her to charm her auditors. Mrs. Fenderson doubtless is aware of her powers, but she wears none of the "stagey" airs which musical proficients are prone to assume. There is no demand for ovation, no catering for applause. It all seems heartfelt, sincere and natural, and instead of feeling demonstrative, the listener becomes reflective as if there was something heard and enjoyed which deserved not so much loud commendation, as appreciative, silent admiration. Mrs. Fenderson never disappoints us, and we always long for another opportunity to listen to her sweet, expressive and chaste musical notes. Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard, as accompanist, was all that need be asked, and was heartily applauded for a very pretty piano solo.

We can hardly attempt from our unartistic standpoint to say where in the entire programme the rendering could have been materially bettered. Every one went to enjoy the concert, and we hope every one appreciated it. Indeed, we should have been satisfied with less liberality in the programme; but Mr. Harlow had long had this entertainment in anticipation, had labored early and late, had been unsparing in his time, and unceasing in his efforts to give a concert which should prove generous in its numbers, choice in its selections, varied in its style, and acceptable to all. Two classes especially enjoyed the entertainment; one, those who could appreciate to the full extent the professional excellence of the several parts; and the other, those who were not only glad but anxious to show to the worthy beneficiary that his labors in our community for the past twelve years have received, as well as merited, the gratitude of the people of Portsmouth. The audience was not only a very large but a very select one.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, May 26th:

Mrs. Haven asked leave to open Mulberry street, and Dennis Shea to open State street, for purpose of repairing drains; granted.

Requests of John Laskey for repair of sidewalk on South street, and Caroline Wendell and the owners of Congress block for relay of sidewalks, was granted.

William S. Hadley's request for repair of drain on McDonough street was referred to committee on drains.

Ald. Noyes offered a resolution requesting this city representatives to use all honorable means to secure the passage of a bill to charter the Lake Shore railroad, providing that said road shall have its terminus at Dover. Referred to the mayor, Ald. Noyes and Hartson.

A request of the temperance organizations asking the mayor to close the rum shops on Memorial day was referred to the mayor, who was authorized to notify the city marshal to request the owners of liquor shops not to sell liquor on that day.

Committee on drains, to whom was referred the request of Dr. Langdon for extension of drain to Puddle dock, recommended that the petitioner have leave to withdraw. Accepted and adopted.

Committee on bills on second reading reported that the ordinance on discount on taxes, and the transfer of unexpended appropriations, be ordered to their third reading and passed. Accepted and adopted.

Committee on claims reported on the claim of George Cox for damages, recommending that he have leave to withdraw. Accepted and adopted.

Committee on gaslights recommended that the agent of the gas company lay pipe at foot of Daniel street, the city to pay for same. Accepted and adopted.

Common Council notified the board that they had unanimously voted to adhere to the appropriation of $2000 for the reservoir.

The aldermen voted not to concur, and a committee was appointed consisting of Aldermen Vaughan and Hartshorn, and Councilmen Anderson and Senter.

Adjourned for one week.

The Work of Volcanoes.

Cotopaxi, in 1738, threw its fiery rockets 3,000 feet above its crater, while in 1794 the blazing mass, struggling for an outlet, roared so that its awful voice was heard at a distance of more than 600 miles. In 1797 the crater of Tungurugua, one of the great peaks of the Andes, flung out torrents of mud, which dammed up the rivers, opened new lakes, and in valleys 1,000 feet wide made deposits 600 feet deep. The stream from Vesuvius, which in 1773 passed through Terro del Greco, contained 33,000,000 cubic feet of solid matter; and in 1793, when Terro del Greco was destroyed a second time, the mass of lava amounted to 45,000,000 cubic feet.

In 1760 Ætna poured fourth a flood which covered eighty-four square miles of surface. On this occasion the sand and scoria formed the Monte Rosini, near Nicholosa, a cone of two miles in circumference, and 400 feet high. The stream thrown out at Ætna in 1810 was in motion at the rate of one yard per day for nine months after the eruption, and it is on record that the lava of the same mountain, after a terrible eruption, was not thoroughly cool and consolidated for ten years after the event.

In the eruption of Vesuvius, A. D. 79, the scoria and ashes vomited forth far exceeded the entire bulk of the mountain; while in 1870 Ætna disgorged more than twenty times its own mass. Vesuvus has sent its ashes as far as Constantinople, Syria and Egypt; it hurled stones eight pounds in weight to Pompeii, a distance of six miles, while similar masses were tossed up 3,000 feet above the summit.

Cotopaxi has projected a rock of 100 cubic yards in volume nine miles; and Sumbawa, in 1815, during the most terrible eruption on record, sent its ashes as far as Java, a distance of 300 miles, and out of a population of 12,000 souls, on the island of Sambawa, only twenty escaped.

—Going home from church she remarked to her husband: "Did you notice that bald-headed man in front of us, and how young he looked? I never saw any one so young before with a bald head." Then he shut her up by replying: "My dear, I was bald-headed before I was a year old."

"Women Never Think."

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.—Picayune.

—Pleasure is a dangerous will-o-the-the wisp. It leads a man scampering through life until he stumbles over a tombstone and falls into his own grave.

Henry's Carbolic Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all kinds of skin eruptions, freckles and pimples. The salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Be sure you get Henry's Carbolic Salve, as all others are but imitations. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

Dr. Green's Oxygenated Bitters

Are a cheap and simple remedy for dyspepsia and billiousness in all their worst forms. It is a well known preparation, and has been known and endorsed by physicians for many years, and has been used by thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world as a standard and reliable remedy.

—A good story is told of Nathaniel Deering, the last of the class of 1810 of Harvard, who has died recently. At one time "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was being played at Portland in a theatre that belonged to him, and he became so excited when Legree bid off the girl in the auction scene for $5000 that he sprang from his box on to the stage and exclaimed, "The villain shall not have her; I bid $6,000."

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,82

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest praise, both in this country and in Europe, and is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

The law term of the supreme court begins at Concord on Tuesday, June 7th. The business of the counties will be taken up, commencing with that of Rockingham.

The morning train from Bartlett on the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad struck a man by the name of Daniel Grant, who was walking on the Saco river bridge, just above Glen station, May 26th, killing him instantly.

The receipts of the Concord horse railroad are now about $50 per day, and the expenses about $20. The road is succeeding beyond the anticipations of the friends of the enterprise.

The woollen mill at Ashland is about to change hands. The hosiery machinery and some of the hands are to be carried back to Ipswich, Mass., and a new firm is to start the mill up on blankets.

Naval Affairs.

Lieut. Wm. A. Hadden is ordered to the Kearsarge. Lieut. John F. Merry is ordered to Newport, R. I., for instruction in torpedo duty.

Capt. David B. Harmony is detached from command of the Tennessee, and ordered to command the receiving ship Colorado. Capt. Bancroft Sherrard is detached from command of the Colorado, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieut. Comdr. T. F. Jewell is detached from the training ship Constitution, and ordered to Newport for torpedo instruction.

Asst. Engr. R. R. Leiten is detached from the Vandalia, and ordered to the Ashuelot on the Asiatic station.

The Yantic is to be sent to Merida, Mexico, to enquire into the alleged seizure of the Boston barque Acacia by the Mexican officials.

A board of naval officers from Washington, comprising Commodore A. C. Rhind, Capts. John L. Davis, James A. Greer and Edwin P. McCrea, Medical Director A. L. Gihon, Pay Inspector Henry M. Denniston, Chief Engineer John W. Moore and Capt. Richard S. Callum, U. S. M. C., arrived at Fortress Monroe, May 25th, to inspect the United States steamer Wyoming, just arrived home from Europe.

Women Who Suffer.

The greatest sufferers in the world are women; their delicate organization being peculiarly susceptible to derangement and disease. Among those who have been cured by Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" we will name Mrs. S. A. McIlwain of Fergusonville, N. Y., Mrs. John F. Brinkerhoff, Highland, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Meyers, of Rondout, N. Y., and many others. "Favorite Remedy" purifies the blood, invigorates the system, and fortifies it against the disease. All druggists have it.

—The fence between the Bemister and Grace farms, near Utica, is the subject of a lawsuit. The ground involved is worth about $3, and thus far $3,000 have been spent in litigation.

They Have Never Failed!

I have been sick more or less for the last ten years, which has cost me many dollars in doctors and druggist's bills. The last two years it only cost me three dollars. Why? Because I used Sulphur Bitters instead of employing doctors. They cured me of jaundice.—J. J. Boyd, Hoboken.

—The Zulus with Coup's circus have queer names. While one of them was throwing the spears at the target in the show on Thursday, and missing it every time, the manager said to him: "Damifibill, step up nearer or you won't hit it all day."—Pittsfield Eagle.

At the annual meeting of the Suncook Valley railroad, held in Manchester May 26th, Samuel N. Bell of Manchester, Natt Head of Hooksett, Rueben L. French of Pittsfield, Frederick Smyth of Manchester, Charles H. Carpenter of Chichester, Lemuel Towle of Epsom and Martin V. B. Edgerly of Manchester were unanimously chosen directors, with Samuel N. Bell president, and Lewis W. Clark clerk.

The annual meeting of the Northern railroad was held in Concord, May 26th, and the following directors chosen: Henry C. Sherburne, Concord; George W. Nesmith, Franklin; Uriel Crocker, Boston; Francis B. Hayes, Boston; Joseph H. Benton, Jr., Boston; George E. Todd, Concord; Alvah W. Sulloway, Franklin.

The annual meeting of the Manchester & Lawrence railroad was held at Manchester May 27th, and chose as directors Benjamin F. Martin and Nathan Parker, of Manchester; Edward A. Abbot, Asa Fowler and John A. White, of Concord; Joseph W. Smith of Andover, Mass.; William A. Tower of Boston; president, B. F. Martin; clerk, S. N. Bell; treasurer, George B. Chandler.

The Steamer "Victoria" Disaster.

The horrors of the steamboat disaster at London, Ont., are not in the least softened down by further details. In several cases entire families were wiped out; one old man was left alone, his children and grandchildren all perishing, among them being his youngest daughter and her husband, who were only married on the previous day. Several cases of robbing the dead are reported. The captain of the steamer, Rankin, in his statement concerning the disaster says:

After we started, a number of people on the lower deck began singing and moving around. Presently I noticed a slightly different action on the boat, and being unable to leave my post at the wheel, I sent a boy down to the engineer to ascertain if there was any danger. She was listing some to starboard, and as I was getting more anxious I sent the boy down again. He returned with word from the engineer that unless we could straighten the boat there was danger. I was looking forward to a sand bar about two hundred yards ahead, on which I intended to beach the boat. That was my determination, because I was beginning to get anxious. Just then a couple of row-boats came alongside, the occupants of which were racing, and the crowd rushed to the side of the boat to see them. The engineer then sent word that we must try and get the crowd to go aft, because the water was coming in. Just then the crowd made a rush to the port side, and as they did so the vessel just took a lurch and went over to port, bow down. Then the boiler shifted from its position and went through the side. I believe the vessel would have recovered herself only for the boiler going over, and as it went it carried the main deck, and that let down the top deck with the crowd above.

John R. Law, of London, Ont., was one of the upper deck passengers, and says, in considering the causes of the disaster, that one not of the least was the effort put forth by a number of men, some of whom were intoxicated, to create excitement among the women and children before the disaster by cries of "Get to the other side," "Get on life preservers," "There she goes," etc. Feeling well able to take care of themselves, they seemed to derive some gratification from the nervousness and excitement they were producing among those who are always most helpless when disaster comes. Could the excitement have been kept down and the crowd quieted till the steamer got into shallow water, the loss of life would undoubtedly have been much less.

Mr. Montgomery, a merchant of Toronto, furnishes a detailed account of his experience on the Victoria. He is sure that the steamer was overloaded, but a graver statement upon which he ventures is that the upset would not have been attended with half as fatal results had the steamer been properly constructed. "Why," said he, "she keeled over to the port side, which was not more than forty feet from the bank. Many or perhaps nearly all might have been saved had it not been that they were swept down by the sudden collapse of the flimsy upper works, and buried in the wreck, where strong men and prattling children were alike helpless." In speaking of the suddennss of the collapse of the miserable structure, Mr. Montgomery remarked that she went to pieces just as one would sweep a house of cards off a table.

The ill-fated boat is reported as of a gross tonnage of forty-four tons, and registered twenty-eight tons; she was flat bottomed, scow-shaped at both ends, and was licensed to carry 400 persons. There is hardly a question that she was a cheaply-built, flimsy affair, and recklessly overloaded at the time of the disaster.

News and Notes.

Harry Byram, an old man of eighty years, residing in the suburbs of East Bridgewater, Mass., last Thursday evening fired into a crowd of young men who had visited his house and were throwing stones, and otherwise annoying him. Warren Wentworth, a boy of sixteen, was seriously wounded in the face and body, and is in a critical condition. The young men, it is alleged, have persecuted Byram for a year or more, and he had previously threated to shoot some of them.

Elizabeth, New Jersey, a city which owes over five millions of dollars, proposes such a scaling of rates of interest as will open the eyes of purchasers of the many wild-cat "securities" on the market at this time.

David Davidson, aged seventy years, of Ansonia, Conn., was killed by the up ward train on the Naugatuck railroad at that place last Thursday night. He was lying across the rails when struck.

J. H. Coveney was shot at Portland, Me., May 23d, and seriously, though probably not fatally, wounded. He has tried to keep the affair a secret, and refuses to tell how it happened.

Guy C. Merrill of Parkman, Me., aged twenty years, has been missing since May 22d. He has probably committed suicide in Dexter pond, by the shore of which his hat has been found.

Jose Sylvia, his wife and two children, of Little Compton, Mass., have been poisoned by drinking water from a well into which some person had put arsenic. One child is dead, another cannot recover, and Mr. Sylvia and his wife are very ill, but will probably survive.

The new opera house in Lawrence, Mass., was dedicated on the evening of May 26th by Maggie Mitchell and her dramatic company, who played "Jane Eyre."

Wednesday night, May 25th, a body of armed mounted men rode into town at Mountain Home, Ark., and broke into the store of J. H. Talbot, robbed the safe of $4,000, plundered the store, and then blew it up with gunpowder. The robbers escaped with their plunder.

A young girl named Sarah Potter, walking on the railway track at St. Catherine's, Ont., May 25th, was waylaid by six ruffians, bound with ropes, and outraged. She died next morning.

The barn of Andrew Lewis, four miles north of West Jefferson, Madison county, Ohio, was burned May 26th, and four small children of the owner perished in the flames. They had been playing in the barn, and it is supposed they set it on fire.

The Steamer Tropic, which arrived at Philadelphia from Jamaica with a cargo of fruit on the 25th of May, had a fire break out in her cargo next morning, and 30,000 cocoanuts were destroyed, the total damage to vessel and cargo amounting to $18,000. William Conners, fireman, and Michael A. Leary, of Boston, were suffocated to death, they having been left on board to watch the vessel. Every effort by firemen to rescue them was unavailing.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 25th, a lady named Carr had her pocket picked in an Eastern railroad car between Lynn and Swampscott, Mass. As she had $30 in her pocket-book she spoke of her loss to some of the other passengers, and suspicion was soon directed toward a young man who appeared ill at ease, and who soon jumped off the train while it was running at thirty miles an hour, near the Swampscott station. The man was picked up by the station master, and sent back to Lynn on the next train; he is short and stout, with a pug nose, and in his jump from the train received a pair of black eyes and had his face cut and scarred. What his name is was not reported.

The Naked Truth.

The truth, the bare, naked, awful and solemn truth is at times the most disagreeable thing in the world. It is in fact about the only thing that some of us are afraid of. A complimentary falsehood is frequently more soothing to our feelings than the most honestly and candidly spoken words that were ever uttered. Indeed we wonder at times whether falsehoods dressed up in the garb of flattery—as the physician coats his bitter pills with sugar—haven't just as important a mission in this wicked world as the truth. Of one thing we are absolutely certain, that the candid man, who says just what he thinks, has about the same effect in the social circle, and is just as welcome, as a mad dog. Our whole vocabulary attests this fact. We never say in these enlightened days that a man deliberately lies, but that he wrestles with the truth unsuccessfully; and when a man cheats his creditors we delicately refer to his conduct as "an irregularity," or, if we are scientific, we hint that Dr. Hammons has hypnotized him. Here is a fearful illustration of a bold, blunt, outspoken and atrocious truth-teller: A gentleman who always meant to pay his debts, but could never make up his mind to do so, drove a pair of splendid bays.

"Ah! my friend," said he "how do you do? How do you like my horses? Very costly. What d'you think I gave for the pair?"

The false, inhuman friend, or rather fiend, simply grunted:

"I guess you gave your note."

The victim of this man of antediluvian custom whipped us the animals, and with a sigh simply said: "Good mawning, sir," and was soon in the park among people who could appreciate him.—New York Herald.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s 4g jan22

AROUND HOME.

The U. S. S. Lancaster was placed in the dry dock at the navy yard on Friday.

Monday, the 30th, is a legal holiday, and all notes due on that day are by law payable to-day.

Dr. F. E. Potter and wife leave this evening for a trip to Denver, Colorado, to be absent for two weeks.

Schooner Maud B. Wetherell, Hontvet master, will sail for the banks on Monday. Her complement of salt for the trip is 250 hogsheads.

There was a grand "boom" in Eastern railroad stock at the brokers' board in Boston on Monday, a large number of shares changing hands at from $52 to $55 per share, 1725 shares going at the latter figure.

The Boston Post of May 27th says: "Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Laighton, of the Isles of Shoals, who were married Wednesday, remained at the Hotel Vendome until Thursday, leaving then for Providence, R. I."

Richard C. Yeaton, who died at his residence on Richards avenue, Friday morning, was one of the oldest members of the Mechanics' Association, having joined that organization in 1843. He was also one of the oldest members of the Piscataqua Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Commodore W. H. Shock, engineer-in-chief of the navy, visited the navy yard on Friday to witness the placing of the Lancaster in the dry dock, and received the regulation salute. He left for Boston by the afternoon express train, and will visit the Charlestown navy yard to-day.

It is stated that the long spell of easterly weather which complaining people feared would never change, had one good effect; it caused the death of all the canker worms. Just before the storm set in, millions of the small pests were upon the linden, elm and fruit trees, but now they are not to be seen.

Mr. William Hurley, formerly apothecary with Dr. F. E. Potter, having recently graduated from the medical school of the New York university has been appointed visiting physician to the New York east dispensary. Dr. Hurley is home on a brief visit, looking thinner than he used to do, but feeling quite good-humored over his successful "passing of the board."

"James T. Fields." The discourse of Rev C. A. Bartol, delivered in the West church of Boston, commemorative of the late Mr. Fields, has been published by A. Williams & Co., at the "old corner bookstore." It is an admirable production, showing how well the pastor knew the parishioner. What we want is a good biography of Mr. Fields, showing his history from boyhood's happy days at the South end, up to and through his Boston life. His career well delineated would prove at the hands of a competent biographer one of the most interesting books of the day. It is intimated that Mr. E. P. Whipple may prepare such a sketch.

George A. Walker died somewhat unexpectedly Saturday afternoon. He had been in feeble health for ten or eleven years, and was cared for by his father, George R. Walker, since they came to Nevada in 1871. Prior to his illness deceased was a first-class mechanic, but for years he has been unable, except at rare intervals, to perform any kind of labor. He was respected by all who knew him, and had not an enemy on earth. His funeral took place from Centennial hall yesterday, almost everybody in town attending it. The services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Trousdale, and, at request of his father, who is a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, the body was interred in the Masonic cemetery.—Winnemucca (Nev.) Silver State, May 16th.

Mr. Walker was a native of Newmarket, N. H., and moved to Nevada about ten years ago.

TO THE LADIES.

We were considerably surprised, Friday afternoon, at being informed, that not one lady appeared at the court house that day in response to the appeal for help in making wreaths of evergreen, of which a large number will be required for the purpose of decorating the soldiers' graves on Monday. The committee on flowers have procured an abundance of evergreen, and are anxious to complete their work this evening, so far at least as to obviate the necessity of working on Sunday, and all Monday forenoon; but this can only be done by the generous assistance of the ladies. The court house will be open from seven o'clock this morning until nine o'clock to-night; and it is hoped that every lady who can give the day, or any part of it, to the work, will do so.

EASTERN RAILROAD.

The spring arrangement of trains on this road, beginning on Monday, makes but a slight change in the Portsmouth trains, save that train No. 28, leaving here at 7:15 o'clock A. M., runs express from Ipswich, stopping only at Salem and Lynn, reaching Boston at 9:05, making the time in one hour and fifty minutes—as it ought to have done years ago. We are glad the line is waking up in this respect. No. 28 will be the favorite summer train for all business people. No. 42 leaves Portsmouth at 8:20, and makes the run in two hours and a quarter, reaching Boston at 10:35. The last afternoon train leaves Boston for Portsmouth and Dover at 4:40, instead of 4:45 as heretofore, and reaches Portsmouth at 6:45, or in two hours and five minutes; stops at Lynn, Salem, Beverly, North Beverly, Wenham, Ipswich, and intermediate stations between Ipswich and Dover.

The summer arrangement will give additional trains, especially for mountain travel.

A QUEER AFFAIR.

Mr. Editor: In your report of the last meeting of the city councils, you say the mayor was "authorized" by vote of the board of aldermen "to notify the city marshal to request the owners of liquor shops not to sell liquor" on Memorial day! I am under the impression that the sale of liquor in this city is an illegal act—made illegal by the law of the state; and that the city marshal, the officer whose special duty it is to enforce the law, should be instructed to "request" obedience to it, seems amusing—or saddening, according as you may look at it. The city marshal will "request" lawbreakers to observe the law—for one day—having been "instructed" to make that request by the mayor, who has been "authorized" by the board of aldermen to issue such instructions to the marshal! That seems to be getting authority down to a pretty fine point. Is it the rum power, or the city councils and mayor, that should be called "the city government?"

PINT BOTTLE.

THE LAKE SHORE RAILROAD.

The resolution introduced in the board of aldermen at the late meeting, requesting the city's representatives in the legislature to use all honorable means to secure the approval of a charter for the Lake Shore railroad, (which as projected will extend from the Boston & Maine railroad at Alton Bay to Laconia, at the latter place intersecting the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad,) conditions the favor of the Portsmouth legislators upon the charter of the new road "containing a clause and stipulation that connection shall be made at Dover with the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, and that half of the through passenger and freight trains shall be run over that road to or through the city of Portsmouth,"—which is just what the Boston & Maine railroad doesn't wish to have done, as that road would very naturally prefer to transport to and from Boston over its own iron all the traffic accruing from the new line. Look our for a cat under the meal.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION.

The item concerning the ancient articles found in the Frost house at Eliot, and published by this paper last week, was first seen by us in the Biddeford Union and Journal under its Eliot correspondent's head, and so credited by us. The Biddeford paper, according to the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, took it from their letter without credit.—Portsmouth Journal, May 14th.

The DAILY CHRONICLE is in error. We did not take the item from the CHRONICLE. The Journal's credit was correct. For such a famous kleptomaniac as the CHRONICLE to growl even if we had "borrowed" the item is surprising. It frequently makes up the greater part of its "York County Items" from York county papers, and almost invariably without giving any credit.—Biddeford Journal.

We are grieved to see that our Biddeford brother's hopeless yearning to say something smart has led him into misrepresentation; if he knows as much about the CHRONICLE as his item implies, he knows that his statement is untrue,—and even were it true it would concern him but little, for it would be a keen scissorer indeed who could find much worth stealing in the columns of the Biddeford Journal. And we neither said anything as to where the Biddeford paper got the item referred to, nor "growled" at its being "borrowed;" we simply suggested to our nearer neighbor, the Portsmouth Journal, that the unimportant item which it so carefully credited to its Biddeford namesake had some time previously appeared in the CHRONICLE—which it did, and subsequently appeared in the Biddeford Journal word for word as we wrote it.

MR. LOYNE'S RETIREMENT.

FAITH HOME, PORTSMOUTH, May 26th.

It will I doubt not have been a surprise to our friends and the public to hear that we are about to close our labors in this city. During the past six years I have labored as volunteer city missionary, and out of the work has grown up the Faith Home and Seamen's Bethel. We have also conducted services at the almshouse and city jail. Our work has been very pleasant, and it is with regret that we feel it our duty to make a change, which is entirely voluntary, and on account of the poor health of my family. The trustees of the Faith Home have accepted my resignation as trustee and superintendent, and they will appoint my successor; and it is to be hoped that the friends of the mission and bethel will be able to continue the mission work. We do most sincerely thank all who have contributed towards the support of the work. I have accepted a call to the People's Mission church, Manchester, N. H.

WILLIAM A. LOYNE.

Summer boarders have already commenced to arrive at the boarding houses along the sea coast of York.

The German measles are (or "is," just as you like) so prevalent in school district No. 6 of Kittery—the Bra' Boat Harbor district—that the school there will probably be closed for a short time.

The schooner Maud B. Wetherell, which went on the ways at Kittery on Thursday, was taken off during the night, and on Friday the steamer Appledore was hauled out, to receive a coat of paint and whatever repairs might be found needful.

A few days since Thomas Ward stumbled over pair of tongs in Dixon's blacksmith shop at the Kittery end of Portsmouth bridge, and tore the lid of his left eye on a nail, so badly that it was feared he would lose the eye, though it is now probable it will be saved.

The pear trees in Kittery, from the point to York harbor, are reported as promising a large crop of fruit this season; but the outlook for apples is not encouraging. The grass in all that section is looking finely, and is already high enough to wave in the wind.

Horace Mitchell, Jr., of Kittery Point, who is to be clerk of the Marshall house at York harbor this summer, has been appointed Deputy State Commander of the Knights of the Maccabees for the state of Maine, under the Osgood dispensation.——North Star Tent, No. 193, Knights of Macabees, of Kittery Point, now numbers fifty members, who are enthusiastic in the cause they espouse.—Journal.

The work of repairing the damages caused to the weirs off Gerrish's island by the "big storm" was commenced this week, a spile-driver having been towed down by the steamer Fearless on Tuesday, to reset the poles knocked over by the sea, and drive new ones where the old ones were entirely carried away. On Wednesday a light-draught coasting schooner was prowling about among the islands, and sailed through one of the weirs, making a very sizable gap in the netting.

Mr. Porter R. Emery, manager of the Burnham farm on Gerrish's island, Kittery, this week purchased of Mr. George Bragdon of York twenty extra cattle on the farm's account, making thirty-three head now belonging to the farm, of which nine are cows. All the butter made on the farm, and all the eggs taken from the extensive henneries, are sent direct to the Parker house in Boston, and command the highest market prices. In addition to the stock owned on the place, as many other cattle as the pastures will properly support have been taken for the summer.

Use the Sunny Room.

If you are fortunate enough to have large windows in your house, do not darken them with shutters or heavy curtains until only a struggling ray of sunshine can be seen. If bay windows are too expensive, a very desirable substitute can be had by placing two ordinary-sized windows side by side, with a wide capacious ledge at the bottom for seats or for plants. A room with a window like this cannot fail to be cheery, and its effect in a simple cottage house is quite sumptuous. There is likewise in its favor the fact that it is less exposed than the deep bay window to the outer heat and cold. "To sleep on unsunned beds in unsunned chambers, and to work day after day in unsunned rooms is the unrepented sin of half a nation," vigorously affirms a prominent writer. Dwell in the sunniest room your house affords; if you have a north-window apartment, reserve it for the guest-chamber, which is seldom used.

—The world never knows the great respect lawyers have for each other, until one dies and there is a meeting of the bar.

Little Johnny on Dogs.

One time there was a feller bot a dog of a man in a market, and the dog was a biter. After it had bit the feller four or five times he threw a cleeline over its neck and led it back to the dog man in the market, and he said to the dog man, the feller did, "Ole man, dident you use to have this dog?" The man he luked at the dog, and then he thot awhile, and then he said, "Well, yes, I had him about hat the time and the other hat he had me." Then the feller was fewrious mad, and he said, "Wot did you sell me such a dog as thins for?" And the old man he spoke up and sed, "For four dollars and seventy 5 cents, loffle money." Then the feller he guessed he wude go home if the dog was willing. Uncle Ned, wich has been in Indy and everywhere, he says the Mexican dogs don't have no hair on 'em. Dogs howl loudern cats, but cats is more purry and can wok on top of a fense and blow up their tail like a bloon when they want to spit.—San Francisco Wasp.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—The fellows at the opera go out between acts and "see a man" to take a glass, and while they're gone the ladies take a glass to see a man.

One Moment, Please.

When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against billious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Femedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

A Cure for Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. D. Fall River.

—"This is a mighty nice ride," said F. C. Clark. This was at Messilla, New Mexico, and the account says that the road "lay among giant cotton-woods, and bright flowers that perfumed the air." Yet it was strange that Clark thought the ride enjoyable, for he was sitting on a coffin on his way to be hanged.

By the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the blood is speedily vitalized and purified, and so made capable of producing a sound mind and body.

—John Hensley had long suffered from a damaged spine. Found an unprotected hole in an Indianapolis street, carefully fell into it, sued the city for damages, and got $1,500. Then he went to Chicago, fell into another hole, instituted a suit, and got $2,500. Furthur profit from that spine is cut off by Hensley's arrest for perjury.

Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. sep15,82

AN ORDINANCE

Relating to the Public Library and providing for the government thereof.

Be it ordained by the City Councils of the City of Portsmouth:

SEC. 1. That, to promote intelligence among all classes of the community, a Public Library for the use of all our citizens, subject to such rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary and proper for its maintenance and government, be and hereby is established.

SEC. 2. That in the month of May A. D. 1881, the Mayor shall appoint, subject to the confirmation of the Board of Aldermen, six persons, two of whom shall be appointed for three years, two for two years, and two for one year. And annually thereafter he shall in the same manner appoint two persons to serve for three years next ensuing.

SEC. 3. That these six persons, with the Mayor, the President of the Common Council and one member of the Board of Instruction, to be chosen by said board in April or May, 1881, and annually thereafter—shall constitute a Board of Trustees of the Public Library.

SEC. 4. The Mayor shall be President of said Board ex-officio.

SEC. 5. When any vacancy shall occur in said Board, by death, resignation or otherwise, such vacancy shall at once be filled by appointment or election, according as the person formerly serving was appointed or elected—such election or appointment to be for the unexpired portion of said term.

SEC. 6. Women shall be equally eligible with men for election or appointment on said Board.

SEC. 7. Said Trustees shall have power:—

1. To receive all money that may be raised, appropriated or donated for the establishment and increase of said Library and to pay out and expend the same in all proper and legitimate ways for said Library.
2. To appoint annually a librarian and such other agents as they may deem necessary; and to fix their compensation, subject to the approval of the Board of Aldermen.
3. To elect their own secretary, treasurer, and such committees of said Board as they may deem expedient.
4. To make and establish from time to time such by-laws and regulations for the government and management of said Library as they shall deem expedient.
5. They shall, either by themselves or by agents appointed for said purpose, solicit and receive from the citizens of Portsmouth and elsewhere donations of money or of books and other publications for the increase of said Library, and shall use their best effort to promote and perpetuate its growth, prosperity and usefulness.

SEC. 8. The Board shall hold regular meetings at least once a month, and special meetings may be called in the discretion of the president or on the written request of two members. A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 9. The Board shall annually submit to the finance committee of the Board of Aldermen their estimate of the amount of money necessary to be appropriated by the city for the ensuing year. They shall annually in the month of December report to the Board of Aldermen all sums of money received and expended by them and all other matters relating to said Library and their management thereof.

SEC. 10. Said Trustees shall receive no remuneration for their services.

SEC. 11. This ordinance shall take effect upon its passage.

Passed April 28th, 1881.

JOHN M. CLARK,
President of the Common Council.

WILLIAM H. SISE, Mayor.

Back Ache POSITIVELY CURED BY Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First. Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second. Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third. Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth. Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth. Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth. Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

Daily Chronicle.

A Cent.

One of the things which goes with advancing civilization and increasing population is the small coin. In the new country, where the dealings are in the crops of great farms or the products of rich mines, the people despise the small coin. Twenty years ago one would hardly see a cent on the borders of the Mississippi river; the smallest purchase was five cents' worth, and the Pacific states have indulged the same prejudice until quite lately. Everything there was sold by the "bit," a bit being twelve and a half cents. If the buyer bought a bit's worth and handed the dealer a quarter, he got a ten-cent piece for change, and if he handed over a ten-cent piece it was all right, but one party or the other lost two and a half cents. That stage has passed away. The hard times have brought down the Pacific coast to the standard of the rest of the country, in a great measure. At first came the five cent nickle, and soon the cent will be as common there as it is here. It is one of the curiosities of progress in populations that the larger they grow the smaller the coins in use. In China the coin is so small that one can buy a half-dozen melon seeds, and the larger purchases are made in silver and gold by weight.

Theatre Going.

The New England Conference of Methodist churches when in session at Worcester had the subject of theatre-going under consideration, somebody having offered a resolution denouncing the practice on the part of young local preachers and candidates for the ministry. A committee was appointed to consider the resolution and the subject matter, and report. Probably the Methodist clergy do not support the theatres very extensively, but the query will naturally suggest itself to many persons if it is well to impose any restrictions of this kind upon either the clergy or the laity, and if it would not be better to leave all such questions to each person to decide for himself. No conference and no church can properly decide whether or not it is wrong for a person to attend a theatre, or to dance, or attend a circus, but every person can answer that question for himself. A justly distinguished Massachusetts divine, now deceased, used to sometimes tell his people in the later years of his ministry, by way of illustrating that many lines of action were neither sinful or otherwise in themselves, that many years before he had assented to the action of his church in excommunicating a member for playing nine-pins, "and yet," said this honored trustee of an Andover seminary, "nobody now knows or cares who plays nine-pins or ten-pins. The vital question," he added, "is, do you play nine-pins or enter into any other amusement with a right spirit? If so, the act is not necessarily harmful, though there might be circumstances attending it that would render it unwise." Common sense and a right motive will tell people when to go and when to stay away.—Lawrence Eagle.

Fretting.

There is one sin which seems to me is everywhere and by everybody underestimated, and quite too much over-looked in valuations of character. It is the sin of fretting. It is as common as air, as speech; so common that unless it arises above its usual monotone we do not even observe it. Watch an ordinary coming together of people, and see how many minutes it will be before somebody frets—that is, makes a more or less complaining statement of something or other, which, most probably, every one in the room, or the stage, or the street-car, or the street corner, as it may be, knew before, and which, most probably, nobody can help. Why say anything about it? It is cold, it is wet, it is dry; somebody has broken an appointment, ill-cooked a meal; stupidity or bad faith somewhere has resulted in discomfort. There are always plenty of things to fret about. It is simply astonishing how annoyance and discomfort may be found in the course of every day's living, even at the simplest if one only keeps a sharp eye on that side of things. But even to the sparks flying upward, in the blackest of smoke, there is a blue sky above, and the less time they waste on the road the sooner they will reach it.—Helen Hunt.

"I don't want that Stuff"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

—A Michigan girl went to the parson's with her young man to get married, but just before the knot was tied she was called to the door. She did not come back, and then it was found that she had gone straight to another parson's and married a rich widower who had sent word he was waiting for her there.

Blame Wrongly Placed.

The Journal does great injustice to Secretary Blaine when it says "had Mr. Blaine manifested one half the zeal in Chandler's case that he did in securing the confirmation of Robertson as collector of New York, Chandler would have been confirmed by a large majority." A few lines above, in the same article, the editor remarks that the democrats do not propose to have the laws enforced in every state, and so opposed the confirmation of Mr. Chandler; how he could have been confirmed after the retreat of Conkling and Platt, with a solid democratic vote against him, is "what no fellow can find out." Mr. Robertson is an able man, and there was no question as to his fitness for the position, no political issue in the question of his confirmation as between democrats and republicans. In Mr. Chandler's case it was different. He required every republican vote, and when most needed, the New York senators like spoiled children "got mad and would not play any longer." Would the Journal like to have seen Mr. Blaine leave his portfolio to go around among democratic senators to urge their voting to confirm a man against who they have the objections which in its article it so well sits out?

News and Notes.

There is considerable excitement in Skowhegan, Me., over the discovery that Elias W. Rarick, who has been in that section some time as a book agent, and who married Miss Augusta Tuttle of that town a few days since, has a wife and three children in New Jersey. The whereabouts of Rarick and the deceived woman are not known.

Louis La Plant, a French resident of Medford, Mass., has been arrested for the murder of his daughter Celina, whose dead body was recently found in the river at that place.

Quite an excitement has been created in democratic circles at Washington over the misdeeds and misappropriations of money by one of the democratic officers of the House. It is understood that ten or twelve thousand dollars of other people's money have been gambled away, and that the person implicated is the present clerk of the House, Mr. Adams, formerly member of Congress from Kentucky. Mr. Adams, at the organization of each Congress since he became clerk of the House, has elected a number of members who had been defeated at the polls; it would seem that some of these men should now help him out of the tight place he finds himself in.

At Lasalle, Ill., on the night of May 26th, an earthquake shock was distinctly felt in the southwestern part of the town, and next morning six fissures, nearly two inches wide, running nearly parallel northwest and southeast, 600 feet in length, were discovered. Walls and foundations of buildings, and furnace masonery in D. E. Steiger's factory, were cracked in numerous places, and it is estimated sank six inches.

Isaac Farwell died at Dorset, Vt., last week, at the age of 102 years. He voted for Garfield and Arthur at the late presidential election.

The News of Denver, Colorado, says that W. H. Canty, who is sentenced to be hanged at Colorado Springs, June 17th, for the murder at Buena Vista last April of Deputy Marshal Perkins, is a nephew of Ben Butler, and that his right name is Wm. H. Salisbury, of Salisbury, Mass. He was forced to leave home on account of recklessness, went to California, made a fortune in the gambling and saloon business, afterward lost all, and went to Colorado three years ago. He has two sisters, one married and wealthy, living at Lawrence, Mass. Since the murder his friends have been doing everything to save him. Massachusetts lawyers are in Denver, working in his behalf.

Undeterred by the fate of young Foster, thieves undertook to steal Abial Wilson's horse and carriage at North Andover, Mass., on Wednesday night of last week. The appearance of the old man with his dog frightened them off.

According to the Portland Press, Coveny, who was shot by an enraged Portland man, had been too familiar with the latter's wife. The person who did the shooting is not positively known, but is believed to be Edward A. Miles.

Near Cochran, Ga., May 27th, Mrs. Tiny Garrett and her daughter quarrelled, whereupon the daughter seized a shotgun and shot off the top of her mother's head. When her father came home he whipped the girl nearly to death. The mother and daughter are reported to be dying.

John C. Holmes, son of John S. Holmes, Esq., of Oxford, Me., was drowned on Wednesday of that week. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

Jim Baker shot and killed Alexander Osborne and two Ryner brothers, and mortally wounded another man whose name is unknown, at Osborne's Ford, Scott county, Va., May 26th. Jim Stapleton killed Sam Killigore, with a knife, at Nickellsville, Va., on the same day. The difficulties are supposed to have grown out of the municipal elections.

Capt. A. C. Holt, of Ellsworth, Me., brought from Para, on his last voyage, seventeen boa constrictors, which he has sold for $35 each. The voyage lasted thirty days, during which time the serpents had nothing to eat.

It is reported that there are two cases of yellow fever in a Hayden family at Harwinton, Conn.

A vessel of about one hundred and fifty tons, bottom up, was passed on the night of May 25th, about twelve miles southeast of Thacher's island, by the schooner Yankee Blade, bound for New York from Bangor.

Immense ice fields and large numbers of huge icebergs—more than were ever seen before—are reported moving southward past Newfoundland. One steamship, the Rawzani, struck a berg May 23d, and reached Newfoundland with her forward compartment full of water.

One man was killed and ten wounded, seven fatally, by a collision on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad near Leadville, Col., Friday morning.

At Mitchelltown, county of Cork, Ireland, on Friday, a body of 250 police, assisted by foot soldiers and a troop of dragoons, attempted to evict five tenants on an estate belonging to the Countess of Kingstrom, but were resisted by 10,000 people, and had to give up the attempt. Many persons were hurt, but none killed.

President Porter of Yale college has decided to hereafter use the revised Testament in chapel.

The success of the Chinese Methodist mission in San Francisco reports as good results from their religious endeavors as those attained by like labors among the whites. There are ninety-seven full members, and ten on probation. The Chinese of California, connected with the Congregational churches, gave $2000 for missions.

Harrison Munsey of Jefferson, Me., is a venerable Methodist and a prominent pillar of the church in his town. On Sunday morning, May 23d, Mr. Munsey looked out of his window upon his cornfield and saw a flock of crows at work devastating the piece, whereupon he fired at them with an old musket that had been loaded for years. The result was that his shoulder was broken in three places by the recoil, and now he is satisfied that it was a "judgment" on him, desecrating the Sabbath.

So much dissatisfaction was expressed with the manner in which the census was taken in some wards of Fitchburg, Mass., last year, that the city government authorized the enumerators of school children, on May 1st, to take the sensus of the whole city. The work was thoroughly done, and the population May 1st was 13,263, against 12,045 returned by the enumerators last year.

A clergyman in Island Pond, Vt., recently married two couples who had walked fifteen miles to be married, and who at once started, on foot, for wedding tours of thirty-five miles.

Henry Groft drank a quart of whiskey on a bet at Chicago, Friday, and dropped dead. The saloon keeper was arrested.

Harrison C. Thayer, a young man driving team for H. H. Wolfe of Bellows Falls, has just been left a legacy of $15,000 by a friend in Portland, Me. Mr. Thayer did him a service once, and he in turn did not forget it.

The authorities of Haverhill, Mass., enforcing the new law which prohibits the attendance at certain police court trials of boys and youths under twenty-one years of age.

Five officers of the Brazilian navy visited the torpedo station at Newport, R. I., Friday. They were honored with a torpedo salute. They are attached to a Brazilian man-of-war at New York.

It is said that Mr. Irving has received an offer of $100,000, and all expenses paid, for a seven months' theatrical tour.

"Patience," Gilbert & Sullivan's last production, is said to be even a greater success than "Pinafore." The plot, which is most ingeniously complicated and absurd, is a stalking horse behind which Mr. Gilbert shoots his wit at the "æsthetes," hitting them invariably in the tenderest places.

Although Oliver Wendell Holmes talks rapidly, never hesitating for a word, he writes laboriously, crossing out, interlining, and studying dictionaries for the best word. "He is now preparing," says a recent visitor, "an address to be delivered at the centennial of the Massachusetts Musical Association. The original manuscript will be a curiosity. The small portion I saw had been entirely re-written two or three times, and looked like a series of hen-tracks in the mud."

—Valuable information from a bachelor: May is one of the unlucky months for marriages. The other unlucky months are January, February, March, April, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December.

—A question of veracity has arisen between a Dr. Hardinge, of Columbus, Ohio, and his wife. The latter writes a local paper to say that "Dr. Hardinge's leg was not broken in New York, and he has not been on a drunken spree, as stated in your issue, Friday, 13th." The journal in question supplements this with: "Dr. Hardinge is authority for the information that he had been on a spree."

New Hampshire Items.

The remains of Commodore Nutt reached Manchester, where he was born, Friday forenoon. The funeral took place on Sunday.

George Wilkins, aged twenty-two years, was drowned in the Merrimack river Friday forenoon, a short distance below Amoskeag falls, Manchester, while attempting to cross to a small island on a raft of logs.

The annual meeting of the Photo-Electrotype Engraving & Manufacturing company was held at Concord last Thursday, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year; President, James H. Stark of Boston; treasurer, Wm. H. Mumler of Boston; secretary, Edson C. Eastman of Concord.

Head & Doost have taken a contract from the Amoskeag company of Manchester to build 112 houses, in six blocks. Three and a half millions of bricks will be used.

The evidence in the case of the Manchester & Keene railroad vs. the city of Keene, involving about $200,000 of gratuity money, closed Friday, he case having been on trial before referees since May 10th. Messrs. Frye and Scruton of Maine, and Colony and Hale of Keene, are the plaintiffs in interest.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons have adopted this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s 4gnyk82

AROUND HOME.

Memorial day being a legal holiday, no paper will be issued from this office to-morrow.

Mr. Faunce, tenor from the Warren street Baptist church in Boston, sang at the Unitarian church in this city on Sunday.

The real estate and other property of the Kearsarge Mills corporation will be sold to-morrow on the premises, by Samuel Hatch, & Co. of Boston, auctioneers.

Persons having flowers which they are willing to give for decoration purposes, and wreaths or bouquets which it is desired to have placed on special graves, are invited to leave the same at the court house this forenoon.

The steamer Lottie, of Exeter, came down the river from that town on Saturday with a party of fine-appearing people. Her owner has invested the best part of his pecuniary means in this steamer, and hopes his enterprise will meet with adequate returns; the boat's machinery has been improved, and she has been fitted with a new pump, a sufficient number of life-buoys, etc., since last season, when she was the prettiest and most speedy of the small steamboats on the river. Mr. W. W. Carmen of Exeter owns her.

Thursday last was not a very bad day ashore, but was one of the worst days of the season for squalls on the river and outside the harbor. The squalls placed several fishermen in perilous positions. Mr. Elvin Newton, Jr., started from the Shoals with a boat load of salted fish, and had got but a few miles from Londoner island when the squalls struck him, almost running his wherry under. He shortened sail, but the heavy sea washed into the boat, nearly filling it, and bringing the gunwale down to within an inch or two of the water. Mr. Newton is a young man, but has had considerable experience in bad weather, which with good judgment enabled him to get into port. Several others who were out on that day had hard times, and thought themselves fortunate in getting into harbor.

Messrs. Benjamin M. Bailey of this city and Charles Cole of Eliot have been for some time at Lake Village, engaged in calking various crafts. One of the vessels they will yet operate on is an old side-wheel steamboat seventy-five feet long, belonging to the Lake Co., and used as a tow-boat; they have calked four "boxes" or scows, and a dredge, all belonging to the same company, and which are to be used in dredging at the Weirs under contract with the United States government. Another job they have engaged to do is the calking of a new steamer, a screw propeller not yet named, built on Long island in the lake, by Boston carpenters, the model coming from New York, and the machinery from Newbergh; this boat is owned by a Mr. Lamprey. Messrs. Bailey and Cole during their stay in Lake Village have boarded at the Mt. Belknap house, L. B. Brown proprietor, and Mr. Bailey speaks in the highest terms of that hotel.

Fred Beal, a young man belonging in South Newmarket, on Friday evening took passage on the tug Naumkeag, which had in tow the schooner Bedabedec. On the arrival of the vessels at the Concord & Portsmouth railroad bridge, a splashing was heard in the water which was found to be made by Beal, who was rescued only in time to save him from drowning. It seems that feeling sleepy he laid down on the mainsail of the schooner, and in a state of somnambulism got up to board the tug, and fell between the vessels. In his fall he struck his right shoulder, and it is feared that the injury may prove serious. Captain Amee of the Naumkeag made him as comfortable as possible, and on his arrival here he took the first train home. He is a reputable young man and has relatives in this city, whom he intended to visit.

The schooner Creed took a cargo of lumber to the Shoals on Sunday.

A few mackerel were taken from the Gerrish's island weirs on Saturday.

The comic opera of "Billee Taylor" will be given in Music hall on Wednesday evening, June 8th.

The proprietors of the Stratham bridge are to build a pier in connection with the draw, and will also place moorings on both sides of the bridge, for the convenience of vessels going up the Swampscott river.

N. T. Hopkins will have charge of the tonsorial rooms at the Wentworth the coming season. A competent assistant from Boston will be at the Rockingham to attend to customers at that place, and patrons will be served at either establishment to their entire satisfaction.

The schooner Mayor Jones arrived at Doane's wharf on Saturday with one hundred barrels of mackerel. The schooner Helen F. Tredick came into the lower harbor on Saturday afternoon, for bait. The schooner Addie & Hattie arrived on Sunday morning with 5000 lobsters for Randall & Caswell.

Mr. William Quinn was driving through Middle street on Saturday, when the breeching of the harness broke, and the whiffletree striking against the horse's legs started him on the run. The animal was brought up in front of the residence of Mr. Charles H. Mendum, no serious harm being done, though a young man who was riding with Mr. Quinn was tumbled out of the wagon, striking his side and bruising him somewhat.

The telephone wires reached this city from Newburyport on Saturday. The wire is extended upon the old poles of the International telegraph company, which had been stripped of their wires by the Western Union Co., and become disused. It is said that the poles were sold by the Western Union Co. for six hundred dollars. The line runs over the Lafayette road and the old stage route between Newburyport and Portsmouth.

M. E. Johnson invites purchasers to examine the new stock of hair work, which is selling at bargains. Hair nets for crimps, large size, eight and ten cents apiece; hair switches for fifty cents, and upwards; and old ones made as good as new. Special attention is given to the making up of grey switches. A good assortment of wigs is always kept on hand, and old ones made over in the most approved manner. The latest styles of hair work are being constantly received.

Train No. 28 on the Eastern railroad, which passed through this city on Saturday afternoon for Portland, consisted entirely of new cars—baggage car No. 33, and passenger cars numbered 123, 160 and 161. Conductor W. Auld and Baggage-master Hintze in honor of the occasion treated a party of friends to a set-out in the baggage car, among those present being Mr. Sanborn, master of transportation, other railroad men and the express messengers. The three trains from Portland to Boston are to be composed entirely of new cars.

The schooner Satellite, Adderton master, last week discharged a second cargo of fertilizing material for the Burnham farm on Gerrish's island. As she draws but very little water when loaded, and none at all worth mentioning when light, she is well fitted for such business. To put out the first load she ran on the beach in the cove just westward of the farm buildings, and carts went alongside of her at half tide to receive the cargo. The second cargo was landed in the same way, in the cove north of Pocahontas point. The schooner had been waiting some time for a chance to discharge, she having arrived from Boston just before the "big storm" set in.

The Erie (Pa.) Herald of May 26th says: "Last Tuesday the Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, at Warren, was the scene of a sublime and impressive ceremony. The occasion was the advancement of Rev. G. A. Holbrook, of Erie, to the priesthood. Bishop Y. T. Seymour, of Springfield, preached the sermon, and Dr. Purdon of Titusville presented the candidate. The ceremonies were participated in by the clergy of Franklin and Warren. Rev. Mr. Holbrook is the assistant rector at St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city, and since his connection with that congregation he has shown by his real earnestness the most satisfactory evidences of a brilliant future." The gentleman referred to is a son of Mr. John R. Holbrook of Portsmouth.

Mr. Editor: All my concert bills are in, and I want the public to know about it. As everyone has been so kind to me, I have no doubt they will be interested in the result. The receipts from the sale of tickets amounted to $325.85. Expense, or cash paid out for singers, musicians, printing, ect., was $182.28, leaving $143.57. While not enough to retire on, it is a nice little sum of money, and will keep me in violin strings for some time to come. I feel as if I was the richest man in the city, not so much on account of the money as of the expression of the citizens. I can't half begin to express my gratitude to all who have so kindly helped me—the members of the press, my own orchestra, scholars, and the many friends that have put in a kind word or given a good shake of the hand. Don't find fault with me, please, for a week or so, if I appear a little large for my clothes, I can't help it. I will return to my usual size as soon as possible.

H. L. HARLOW.

J. HORACE KENT,
Chief Marshal.

The programme for the evening exercises at Music hall has been carefully arranged, and will be distributed at the hall.

BIG FIRE AT EPPING.

B. F. Hoyt's shoe factory at Epping was burned early Saturday morning. It is the most serious fire that ever occurred in the town, and a large number of persons are thrown out of employment by it. The loss on shop, machinery and stock is estimated at $85,000, with $45,000 insurance. By great exertions the fire was confined to the factory, with the exception of a small house owned by Mr. Hoyt, which was burned. The fire is supposed to have caught in the engine room, though some persons suspect incendiarism.

Cannot Col. Hoyt be induced to establish his shoe factory in Portsmouth, where advantages superior to his location at Epping could be offered.

Naval Affairs.

Commander Cooper of the United States steamer Alliance, at Norfolk, Va., has been ordered to prepare his ship to go in search of the Jeannette, between Greenland, Iceland and the coast of Norway. The vessel is to be strengthened by strong oak sheating and iron guards to protect her against ice drifts.

Lieut-Commander Francis W. Dickens has been ordered to the training ship Constitution; Midshipmen Arthur W. Dodd and George W. Durfield to examination for promotion. Assistant Paymaster Richard T. M. Ball has been detached from the receiving ship Colorado, and ordered to the practice steamer Mayflower; Cadet Midshipman George D. Miner from the training ship Minnesota, and ordered to the Alliance.

The Adams arrived at Callao May 1st, all well.

The Juniata is to be towed from League island to New York by the Vandalia, to be docked and fitted for sea.

The Wyoming arrived at the Norfolk navy yard May 26th. Her crew has been discharged and her battery taken out. On the arrival at Norfolk of the New Hampshire, the latter's crew will be transferred to the Wyoming, which will then proceed to Port Royal, S. C., to take the New Hampshire's place as a storeship.

The steamers Powhatan and Kearsarge, which went to Port Royal, S. C., to tow the sailing ship New Hampshire to Norfolk, had not left Port Royal up to May 25th, being detained by easterly winds.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land combined prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

$5 TO $20 per day at home. Samples worth $5 free. Address Stinson & Co., Portland Maine.

Immense Distance of the Stars.

Astronomers have found the distance from the earth of many of the stars. If we measure these spaces by miles they amount to millions of millions still multiplied by millions, and hence convey no adequate idea in the mind; therefore some other mode of measurement must be used, and the velocity of light has been considered the most convenient. It has been proved that light travels at the rate of 192,000 miles a second—or between the ticks of a watch a ray of light would move eight times around our globe. It comes from the sun to us, a distance of 190,000,000 of miles, in eight minutes; thus the space passed over by a ray of light in that time could not be travelled by one of our express trains in less than 250 years. With this immense velocity it requires three and one-half years for the light of our nearest star to reach the earth. It requires forty-six years for the light to reach us from the North Star, and to-night, as we look at that northern luminary, those very rays of light which make it visible to us, started on their journey forty-six ago. The light from stars of the twelfth magnitude require 3,500 years to reach the earth. And if that beautiful constellation, the Pleiades, were this moment blotted out of existence, it would continue to be visible 3,500 years. Or if such a star were now created, 3,500 years would elapse before it would be perceptible to the inhabitants of the earth. And some of the more distant stars are so far away that their light, moving off with the velocity of 192,000 miles per second, requires 50,000 years to reach our eyes. These great distances are not imaginary, but astronomers have ascertained the distances, motions, sizes and even the weights of many of the celestial orbs, with as much certainty as they have foretold the eclipses of the sun and moon. What hosts upon hosts of worlds! They move and shine, amid a solemn and majestic silence. Not a rustle of a leaf nor a ripple on the ocean of space. Our ears are not dimmed, but our souls are awed. Truly "the heavens declareth the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth his handiwork."

—A bouncing baby—A rubber doll.

—A directory is a useful book to inform you where a man lived before he moved, when you're looking for him.

—An Alabama father committed suicide because he thought his wife loved their daughter more than she did him; a California girl because her father married a woman who was her junior; a Rhode Island mason because he carelessly built a wall out of rubbish; a Georgia negro because he felt that he had not a satisfactory quantity or quality of piety; a Maine farmer because a balky horse exasperated him; and a Michigan bride because her husband of three days swore at her.

"Women Never Think."

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.—Picayune.

—Josh Billings says: "I haven't much doubt but that man sprung from the monkey, but what bothers me is where the cussed monkey sprung from."

Henry's Carbolic Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all kinds of skin eruptions, freckles and pimples. The salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Be sure you get Henry's Carbolic Salve, as all others are but imitations. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

Dr. Green's Oxygenated Bitters

Are a cheap and simple remedy for dyspepsia and billiousness in all their worst forms. It is a well known preparation, and has been known and endorsed by physicians for many years, and has been used by thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world as a standard and reliable remedy.

—Gambetta made a speech recently in favor of giving woman her rights, and said that for one thing she must have an education "which will banish absolutism and sophism, an education which shall be made of the marrow of lions. And what is the marrow of lions in our age? It is the result of the discoveries of all the pure sciences." And Paris was much amused by that "marrow of lions."

HOLMAN'S PAD

TRADE MARK.

ACTS BY ABSORPTION THROUGH THE NERVE FORCES AND THE CIRCULATION.

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis's high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine!"

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which rots when increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognised by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at 25 per cent.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

Naval Affairs.

Master Charles W. Deering has resigned.

Lieut. W. I. Moore was detailed as a member of a general court martial which convened at the Norfolk navy yard last month for the trial of two marines for misconduct while on guard duty.

Capt. Charles C. Carpenter, U. S. N., was president of a general court martial which convened at the Charlestown navy yard last month, to try two marines for desertion.

Commander N. H. Farquhar, commanding; Lieut. Comdr. Chas. W. Kennedy, Chief Engr. Oscar H. Lackey, and the other officers of the Wyoming have been detached, and all placed on waiting orders with the exception of Paymaster H. T. Skelding, who is ordered to settle his accounts.

Asst. Engr. Reynold T. Hall is detached from the Alliance, and ordered to the Vandalia.

The Yantic sailed from New York for Yucatan, May 26th, to co-operate with the United States consul at Merida, Mexico, in investigating an alleged outrage upon an American vessel.

The Vandalia sailed for New York from League Island May 28th, with the Juniata in tow.

The training ships Portsmouth and Saratoga sailed from Norfolk for Hampton roads May 28th, to leave in a few days for a cruise to the eastward.

The Navy Mutual Aid Association has 473 members, and funds to the amount of $2,362.68.

The Army and Navy Register says: "It is not true, as stated in some of the papers, that Captain James Forney, U. S. M. C., was nominated to the Senate for promotion to the grade of major. Promotions are suspended in the corps pending the decision of the attorney-general, raised in the case of Captain George P. Houston, viz: whether examinations are required as a condition of promotion in the marine corps."

The case of First Lieut. George C. Reid, U. S. M. C., versus the United States, in the court of claims, (a claim for sea rations,) will not be re-argued until the next term of the court.

From the Hub.

There is perhaps no tonic offered to the people that possesses as much real intrinsic value as the Hop Bitters. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach needs an appetizer, or the blood needs purifying, the cheapest and best remedy is Hop Bitters. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure; don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.

—The independence of man and his wife, where property is concerned, is nowhere carried to such a point as among the Indians of Central America. Every day the husband buys his meals from his wife, who purchases from him raw material for the table.

The celebrated Liebig Company of New York, Paris and London, has attained its great reputation by adhering to two rules. It offers no cheap goods. It offers only honest preparations at honest prices and consequently in buying preparations having the name and seal of this reputable company, one is certain of purity and excellence. The Liebig Company's Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel, for instance, although sold at the same price as the quack, colorless weak trash, sold under the name of Witch Hazel, is so much superior in every way, that once used, is sure to cause it to be used always thereafter. It cures piles, salt rheum, skin diseases, rheumatism, catarrh, painful monthlies, sore throat and neuralgia. Be sure to ask for Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel. Remember the market is flooded with worthless imitations." (Editorial in Scientific Supplement of El Ranchero.) Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes.

—"Seizing the gigantic Indian around the waist, the brave boy lifted him into the air and flung him headlong down the chasm. Panting, the boy stood and watched the Indian's body fall from crag to crag, until it disappeared in the darkness below. Just at this moment ——" Just at that moment the father of the boy who was reading the trash came along, lifted the youngster by the ear, and in the woodshed matinee that followed, the boy had no thought of flinging the old man down a chasm. There was no chasm handy.

—Mrs. Burchell of Trenton, N. J., left her three-years-old boy in charge of the baby while she went out on a fifteen minutes' errand. Returning she found the baby fastened to the floor by tacks driven through its dress, and the boy gone out to play.

When you come across a weary-looking, wan-eyed man or woman who, being asked what is the matter, places a hand upon the stomach region and says, "Oh, I feel such a weary sinking and 'goneness' here!" rely upon it, that person must either be rescued soon or shortly die. It is a case of general debility and "breaking-down," beginning at the stomach, and the proper treatment is Dr. Holman's Liver and Stomach Pad.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children, Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—The Milky Way—from the cow shed to the pump.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes says, in answer to a letter, that a free public library "is as necessary to a town as a nest is to a pair of birds. Scholars are sure to be hatched in it sooner or later, and, in all such institutions, you will see a good many old birds love to nestle and find themselves very warm and comfortable, whether they breed and sing or not."

Brace Up.

There is serious meaning in this expression. That wearied step, languid eye and feeling of general lassitude, come from "spring sickness." Be assured, a serious, and perhaps, fatal disease is close in its wake. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins. "Favorite Remedy" will do this; it will give new vigor to the body, brightness to the eye, a glow to the countenance and elasticity to the step. One dollar a bottle. Every druggist has it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

—"Miss, can I have the exquisite pleasure of rolling the wheel of conversation around the axletree of your understanding a few minutes this evening?" The lady fainted.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

—The coal in the world is worth about three times what the silver is; and it is frequently apparent when a coal-bill comes in.

His Ignorance cost me $150.

I was sick abed for three months. The doctor said I had prolapsus uteri, which was untrue. He didn't try to cure me, but wanted to make a $1.50 every day. My uncle is a druggist, and he told me to turn the doctor off and try Sulphur Bitters. I did so, and five dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me of general weakness and debility.—Mrs. S——, New Haven.

The Popular Judgment.

It has been justly remarked that the popular judgment, deliberately made up, is correct and reliable. It stamps with its own peculiar seal whatever it approves. The reputation which survives its searching and critical tests is established on a firm foundation. The really meritorious article finds favor at first, but slowly and with many rebuffs; its inherent virtue continually asserts itself; its elasticity rebounds higher with every check, until it reaches the height of favor to which it is entitled.

Burnett's Cocoaine for the hair and Burnett's Standard Flavoring Extracts for cooking purposes are articles in point. They have been before the public many years; one by one they acquired friends, then they counted their hundreds; then their thousands. Success created rivals; competition assailed them, but their sterling merits withstood all opposition, and the popular verdict was largely rendered in their favor.

These, together with Burnett's other toilet articles, are now "household words," and in household use throughout the states and in many foreign countries.

They are of such admirable make as to combine substance with elegance—the supply of a genuine want with an appeal to the imagination in the poetry of their composition. And for these reasons Burnett's preparations will enjoy an ever-increasing sale, and an ever-brightening reputation.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1881.

[Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N.H., as second-class matter.]

New Hampshire Legislature.

The republican legislative caucus at Concord, Tuesday evening, nominated John Kimball of Concord for president of the senate, and Chester B. Jordan of Lancaster for speaker of the house. Emmons is to be clerk of the house, and Jones assistant clerk.

The New York Senatorial Fight.

The New York senate at noon on Tuesday voted for a United States senator to take the place of Roscoe Conkling, with the following result: Conkling 9, Jacobs 6, Rogers 5, scattering 12. For a senator in place of Thomas C. Platt the vote was: Platt 8, Depew 7, Kernan 7, scattering 10. The assembly's vote for a senator to succeed Conkling was: Conkling 26, Jacobs 47, Wheeler 15, scattering 38. For a senator to succeed Platt the vote was: Platt 21, Depew 15, Kernan 47, Cornell 12, scottering 33. The democrats voted solidly for Jacobs and Kernan.

State Treasurer's Report.

The report of the state treasurer for the past financial year shows the receipts and disbursements to have been as follows: Cash on hand, June 1st, 1880, $116,-270.50; receipts during the year, $1,000,-758.47; total, $1,117,028.97; total disbursements, $1,079,521.60; cash on hand June 1st, 1881, $37,507.37. Net indebtedness June 1st, 1881, $3,372,770.05; reduction of debt for the year, $139,696.10; revenue for the year 1880-81, $529,500.

News and Notes.

In Swampscott, Mass., May 29th, George H. Bushby and Oscar Kenneston were racing horses when they collided with another team, and both were thrown out, Kenneston being fatally hurt. Bushby has been arrested.

At Lynn, Mass., May 29th, Charles S. Milliken died in the Universalist church, where he was attending the Memorial service with his wife. He was an aged man.

A locomotive blew up at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 28th, and killed two men.

A train ran into an open switch at Bear Swamp station, four miles from Trenton, N. J., Monday afternoon; two men was killed, one fatally wounded, and twenty others seriously hurt. Among the passengers were Louis and Alice Harrison, Miss Carrie Daniels and others of their troupe, and several members of Rice's Surprise Party, one of the latter, Miss Lulu Campbell, being considerably injured.

Severe thunderstorms prevailed in portions of Massachusetts on Monday. At Newburyport a house was struck by lightning, and at Pittsfield a man was killed while driving a team. Large hailstones fell in some localities.

It is announced that Secretary Blaine and the British minister, Sir Edward Thornton, on Saturday came to an agreement regarding the claim of our government for damages inflicted on American fishermen at Fortune bay, Newfoundland, and Aspee bay, Cape Breton. The claims aggregated $108,000, and Sir Edward Thornton agrees that his government shall pay £15,000 sterling, our government giving a receipt in full. Nearly the whole of this amount will go to Gloucester fishermen and owners of vessels.

A bailiff went to serve writs on the property of a Mr. Hutchins, near Mallow, County Cork, Ireland, on Saturday, May 28th. Some women gathered around and seized him, destroyed the writs, and then stripped him naked and threw him into the river. They caught him as he came out, and thrashed him with furze. The unfortunate man, more dead than alive, was then tarred and feathered, and hunted through the country. A large party of police went out from Mallow to rescue him, but after scouring the country were unable to find him.

Frank Alger, a very young man of Taunton, Mass., on the 27th ult. eloped with Mamie Bacon of Hopewell, a girl of fifteen years, and married her. They went home next day, were forgiven by their parents, and went to housekeeping. Walter Eddy, aged nineteen, and Emma Willis, aged sixteen, eloped from Taunton on the evening of the 27th, taking the steamboat train for New York.

The western lawyers rejoice to learn that John Walruff has $70,000 invested in the brewing business at Lawrence, Kan., which has been imperilled by the prohibitory law. He reports that he laid the case before the brewers' congress at Chicago, and was offered aid to the amount of $75,000 to take the question of the constitutionality of the law to the United States supreme court, for which purpose papers have already been prepared.

Bishop J. B. Thompson, of the Southern African Methodist conference, stoutly maintains that any man, white or colored, can live peaceably in the south, provided he attends to his own business and "keeps his tongue quiet." But is that freedom?

New Hampshire Items.

Samuel Shepherd of Nashua has been granted a patent for a nailing machine, and A. Ball of Claremont a patent for a roller for spinning machines.

George A. Wilkins, aged twenty-two years, was drowned at Manchester last Saturday.

An attempt was made to wreck the afternoon train from Boston to Concord last Sunday. A sleeper was placed across the track just below Hooksett, which was struck by the engine, but no injury was done, as the speed was slackened in time to avoid it.

The annual meeting of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad was held in Plymouth May 30th. The old board of directors were re-elected, as follows: J. T. Vose, P. Butler and J. P. Spaulding of Boston; J. P. Pitman of Laconia; S. N. Bell of Manchester; J. A. Dodge of Plymouth; W. F. Daniell of Franklin. J. T. Vose was re-elected president, and C. M. Whittier of Plymouth clerk.

Mrs. Ellen Beach Rollins, wife of Hon. Edward Ashton Rollins, died in Philadelphia on Sunday last and her remains were taken to Great Falls. Mrs. Rollins was greatly admired and beloved by a large circle of friends. She was a woman of wonderful earnestness and strength of purpose and character, and of the finest and highest perceptions, both in literature and in her daily associations and conversation. Her pictures of rural New Hampshire life in "New England Bygones" will now be of especial value and beauty to her friends. She was the daughter of the late Josiah H. Hobbs of Wakefield.

A large grindstone in the Scythe Co.'s shop at Littleton flew to pieces Monday morning, hurting a man, knocking down a brick partition, and doing damage amounting to $150.

YORK COUNTY, MAINE.

Mr. Fred Frisbee of Kittery is to open a boarding house at Long beach, York, this summer.

The steamer Appledore came off the marine railway at Kittery on Tuesday, looking neat as a new pin.

T. Wells & Son, grocers of Wells Depot, are in trouble, their liabilities amounting to $10,000, with nominal assets of about $5000; their affairs will be adjusted in insolvency.

The graves of deceased soldiers and sailors in Kittery were not neglected on Memorial day, as four of their surviving comrades procured flags and flowers, and honored their departed friends.

The directors of the Kittery & Eliot Mutual Fire Insurance Co. held a meeting in Eliot on Tuesday, and elected Warrington Paul of Kittery president, Alexander Junkins of Eliot secretary, and Samuel Clark of Eliot treasurer.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Geo. Staples, of Ogunquit, Wells, was out in a boat when he was capsized by a squall. He managed to climb on the boat's bottom, and stuck there for over an hour before his situation was discovered by Capt. Moses Perkins and son, who were out fishing, and who after some time consumed in fruitless attempts managed to run near enough to the capsized craft to throw Mr. Staples a rope, by means of which he was drawn on board the Perkins' boat.

YORK CORNER, ME., May 30th.

Mr. Editor: During the storm and high tides of last week the dam which Capt. F. P. Emerson has been erecting on the Barrell mill-pond burst out the boxing at the channel, and now the main pond is salt water. However, the captain has good courage, and is again repairing. He has also built a dam above, where he makes quite a pond of fresh water, in which he has placed a large number of alewives.

The excavating and filling the highway at "Bass Cove creek," amounting to about 7000 cubic yards, has been awarded as follows: On the east side to Horace W. McIntire, for 7 1-4 cents per yard; on the west side to C. C. Barrell, for 8 1-2 cents per yard. Bids were made by sealed proposals, and ran as high as 20 cents per yard. F.

MILITARY VISIT.

The Roxbury (Mass.) Horse Guards, Capt. Charles H. Young, will visit this city and Newcastle on the 22d and 23d of June. The visitors, accompanied by Higgins' band, will arrive on the 12:15 P. M. train from Boston, June 23d, and will be received at the depot by the Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. E. D. Coffin; after a short parade, the visitors will take barges for the Wentworth at Newcastle, where they will dine. In the evening the visitors will hold a reception at the Wentworth, for which a large number of invitations will be issued. A reception committee has been selected as follows: Ex-Gov. Ichabod Goodwin, Col. Wm. H. Sise, Chief Engineer David B. Macomb, U. S. N., Capt. Louis E. Fagan, U. S. M. C., Col. Charles A. Sinclair, Mr. Samuel Dodge, Capt. S. B. Cunningham, Lieut. R. Hamilton Perkins, Capt. E. D. Coffin, Collector Alfred F. Howard, Capt. Elbridge G. Peirce, Jr., Col. Daniel J. Vaughan, William Russell Foster, Esq. Following the reception will be a grand ball, the floor managers from this city being Wallace Hackett, R. Edwin Rider, Albert H. Sides, Charles A. Hazlett, Andrew P. Preston, Henry Wendell, Shirley B. Cunningham, D. Webster Barnabee, William W. Cotton, Frank Williams.

The arrangements for the second day are as follows: Returning to this city about nine o'clock, the Guards will have a street parade, closing with a review by Mayor Sise and other officials, after which the visitors will dine at the Rockingham. An open-air concert complimentary to our citizens has been arranged by Capt. Young, to be given probably on the lawn in front of the Rockingham, the time and the programme to be hereafter announced. The Guards will return home on the 5:30 train, on the afternoon of the 23d.

Burnett's Cocoaine

Is Renowned as a Pure and Effective Hair Dressing in Every Quarter of the World.

For thirty years it has been a favorite with the people and a leader with the trade. The name "Cocoaine" has become a valuable property. Burnett & Co. have established their sole right to its use in several suits at law, thus protecting the public and themselves from imposition.

The superiority of Burnett's Flavoring Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength.

Two Jolly Philadelphia Teutons in Luck.

Mr. Alexander Beyer and his chum, C. Bander, got one dollar each in a letter and sent to M. A. Dauphin at No. 212 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., (the same addressed "New Orleans, La.," would answer just as well), and received in return half of ticket No. 76,671 in the April Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, and each put in his pocket $1250, with which they purchased neat little houses in Philadelphia. The Grand Semi-Annual Drawing takes place June 14th, when over $500,-000 will be scattered under the supervision Gen'ls Beauregard and Early.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s 4y jan22

Cure for Sore Fingers.

Generally a compositor's sore fingers result from lye, low cases, splinters, scratches in handling brass rule, paper cuts, type poison, etc., and often occasion loss of time, expensive doctoring and great pain. "Though frequently meeting with these drawbacks," a correspondent writes, "I have never lost an hour from business, nor been put to more than a trifling expense. Plentiful and frequent applications of laudanum has been my panacea. It also cleanses, draws the soreness, and rapidly heals old sores. Blood blisters may be prevented from forming by immediately rubbing the bruise briskly with any non-poisonous hard substance."—London Phonetic Journal.

AROUND HOME.

Steamer Mystic towed the schooner Maud B. Wetherell to the lower harbor on Tuesday, on her way to the Grand banks.

Mr. H. R. Stoddard on Tuesday received from Boston a new landau. On the same car was a new street-sprinkler for the Wentworth.

Rev. Father Murphy, formerly of this city, leaves Augusta, Me., by direction of Bishop Healey, to take charge of St. Mary's church at Dover.

Mrs. George P. Goodwin of Chicago, and Miss Mary I. Goodwin, a daughter of Hon. John M. Goodwin of Biddeford, Me., are among the early guests at Rye beach.

Mr. John R. Holbrook of this city is making the suit of sails for the three-masted schooner now being built at Bath, Me., for owners in Dover and Portsmouth.

Mr. Wm. F. Fernald on Tuesday bought the livery stock and good will of the business of the late Woodbury Locke, and will continue the business at the same place.

To accommodate militia companies and others who wish to attend the inauguration of Gov. Bell, a special train will be run on the Concord railroad on Thursday, leaving this city at 7:10 A. M., and Concord at 5:15 P. M.

Solomon A. Bolster, past eminent commander of Joseph Warren Commandry of Knights Templar, of Boston Highlands, was in this city on Tuesday, to see about making arrangements for a visit by the commandry to this city on the 17th of June.

We are informed that a young schoolmistress in one of our neighboring towns has introduced a new method of punishment for the juveniles entrusted to her "tender" care; it is very simple, consisting only in placing upon the culprit's tongue that mild article known as Cayenne pepper.

A petition has been circulated asking the city authorities to take measures to abate a nuisance consisting of an ill-flavored slaughter house, whose odors reach to Richards and Miller avenues. Officials sworn to enforce laws should heed requests without waiting for petitions to be filed in this mode.

The body of a man, recognized as that of Augustus N. Carter, salesman for Eastham, Hunting & Carter of Boston, was found in the river near the Boston & Maine railroad bridge at Dover on Monday. The body had been in the water several days. There were no marks of violence, and his death is not accounted for.

Miss Mary J. King on Monday evening jumped out of the second story window of the residence of Mr. William Muir on Court street, where she was visiting. Mr. Daniel Earing, who was passing by at the time, caught her as she alighted, breaking her fall and saving her from serious injury. She was taken to the insane asylum on Tuesday by direction of County Commissioner Johnson.

Mr. James D. Ackerman, formerly of this city but now residing at Cape Elizabeth, Me., and up to Saturday last a locomotive engineer on the Eastern railroad, has been appointed "travelling engineer" for that road, and entered upon his new duties on Monday. This is a new office on the Eastern road, though we are informed that it has existed on the Maine Central for some time. The travelling engineer receives his instructions from the master of rolling stock, and his duties are to inspect engines, ascertain the consumption of fuel, oil, waste, etc., and report daily in writing.

Herbert C. Taft was last week appointed postmaster at Greenland Depot.

The schooner Christie Campbell, Jamson master, arrived from the banks on Sunday with a fare of 110,000 lbs. of cod-fish. Mr. C. Morris Tredick was the purchaser.

Charles Whiteman, a brakeman on the Eastern railroad, was jammed between two cars at Peabody, Mass., last Saturday morning, and it is feared sustained serious internal injuries.

A special despatch from Newmarket to the Boston Sunday Globe of May 28th says: "Rev. J. F. Browne, the divine and noted anti-Masonic lecturer, who received rather an unpleasant reception here some time since, has, within a few days, put in his appearance again. It is reported that he is about to institute legal proceedings against some twenty or more persons for inciting a riot and making other unlawful demonstrations at that time; also for the loss and destruction of property to the value of $50."

The second annual meeting of the League of American Wheelmen has just been held in Boston. A large number of bicyclers gathered in that city on Saturday, and there was a series of races at Beacon park. On Monday there was a grand procession of "mounted men," 750 or more being in line. A dinner in Music hall at five o'clock, followed by exhibitions of fancy riding, ended the official exercises. In the list of clubs represented we find the name of the Rockingham club of this city, Mr. Charles A. Hazlett, captain of the club, being one of the league board of directors.

LAKE SHORE RAILROAD.

In the act passed by the legislature in July, 1863, the Dover & Winnepiseogee railroad, now leased to and operated by the Boston & Maine railroad, was authorized to extend its terminus in Dover to the city of Portsmouth, provided, as the act of the legislature read, "that it is distinctly understood that no claim shall hereafter be made on behalf of the Dover & Winnepiseogee railroad, or otherwise, for the right or privilege of extending said railroad beyond Alton, its present terminus." This was the way the "Lake Shore railroad" was disposed of at that time the governor of the state being superintendent of the Concord railroad, and the lieutenant-governor being president of the Northern railroad. Whether the condition then enacted will now be insisted upon remains to be seen; as it was, the act of 1863 gave the Dover & Winnepiseogee railroad nothing, and took from it all it asked for.

The act incorporating the Portsmouth & Dover railroad allows that corporation to enter upon and use the Boston & Maine or Dover & Winnepiseogee railroad, but the Boston & Maine managers have never shown any disposition to develope the business over the Dover & Winnepiseogee by a connection with deep water at Portsmouth. Their policy has been to get what they could, but not to enlarge their business by allowing other roads to bring business to theirs, lest there might be competition somewhere. The experience of the Boston & Maine in their great outlay at Old Orchard beach is a case in point. Declining to take from the Eastern railroad at North Berwick passengers bound to Old Orchard, they now find that the Eastern, by a spur track, can come into full competitive enjoyment of the business of that station, or will seek to pool the earnings of both roads at that point. Whether the Boston & Maine railroad will care to accept the generous offer of aid from our city in securing an extension for the Dover & Winnepiseogee we are not informed. The policy of the road needs to be broader and more liberal, if it expects to extend its capacity for increasing its business.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The day was oppressively warm, but the programme as advertised was carried out. In the forenoon Storer Post, G. A. R., sent delegations to the several cemeteries which could not be visited in the afternoon, to decorate the graves of their former comrades in those places; and a detachment was detailed to fire volleys of musketry over those buried in the North, Union and Catholic cemeteries. The procession formed at 1:30 o'clock P. M., and moved promptly at two; it was not so large as in previous years, owing partly to the extreme heat, and partly no doubt to a feeling that has seemed to be gaining ground for several years as to the most appropriate method of observing the day, many persons thinking it would be more in consonance with the true intent of the memorial decoration of the graves if it were done in a quiet and unostentatious manner by the grand army post or citizens, with no special attempt at pomp and parade.

The cavalry turned out with nearly full ranks, and made a good show; the manner in which the horses were controlled was surprising, when it is considered that most of the animals are unused to cavalry evolutions, the wheeling especially being almost perfect. The Odd Fellows added much to the appearance of the procession, and the Col. Sise engine company looked neat and gentlemanly in their new uniforms. The City Guards paraded with not over half the full number of muskets, though those who did appear presented a soldierly appearance. The Grand Army post turned out well, considering the heat, over fifty of the veterans marching in the procession. The marines from the navy yard looked and marched finely, as is customary with the corps, and their proficiency in drill, as exemplified on Market square after the return of the procession from the cemetery, elicited the admiration of the numerous spectators. The music furnished by the American band was liberal in quantity, and good in quality—much better than might reasonably have been anticipated; the organization is well worthy of encouragement, and it is to be hoped will receive a generous share of it, for our city should certainly be able to maintain at least one good military band.

The evening exercises at Music hall were very interesting, and attracted a very large audience. The oration of Col. Russell H. Conwell of Boston was an appropriate and eloquent tribute to the patriot dead, and was warmly appreciated; he is certainly a pleasing speaker. Some very good vocal music was given by a double quartette of ladies and gentlemen, and was well received; and Miss Emma J. Flanders sang several pieces, and was encored each time. The exercises were closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," Miss Flanders singing the solo, and the band and audience joining in the chorus.

The following is a list of the soldiers and sailors of the Union service buried in the several cemeteries in this city:

SALE OF THE KEARSARGE MILLS PROPERTY.

Quite a number of persons, though by no means a large attendance, was present at the sale of the Kearsarge Mills property at one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Samuel Hatch of Boston, the auctioneer, read the terms and conditions of the sale, and other details as to the purchases.

The sale began with the offer of the mill site, and for a while not a bid was heard. Afterward a thousand dollars was offered, followed by $1500. Then by small advances the bidding proceeded until it reached $6800, and the property was knocked down to B. F. Webster at that figure.

The company then moved to lot No. 2, the repair shop, etc., which was sold at $2300 to S. C. Forsaith & Co., a Manchester firm of machinists, who also bought lot No. 3, the blacksmith shop and yard tools, for $375.

Lot No. 4, the office furniture and some damaged mill supplies, brought $330; lot No. 5, the trade mark, and right to use certain patent machinery, $120; lot No. 6, four upright boilers, $2500,—the purchasers of these lots being Wheelwright & Co.

Lot No. 7, fire pumps, machinery, drain pipe, etc., was bought by W. H. Thompson; price $630.

George Stott bought the lot of land corner of Hanover and Parker streets, with half of a house thereon, for $1200.

A lot of land between Pearl, Hanover and Rock streets, brought $2500. Bought by Charles H. Mendum.

House and land No. 1 Marlborough street brought $1175; house and lot No. 3 Marlborough street, $1075; house lot on Brewster and Marlborough streets, $340; house and lot No. 3 Sudbury street, $725; house and lot No. 1 Sudbury street, $775—all bought by B. F. Webster.

House and lot No. 1 Dover street brought $1000, Wm. Ward being the buyer.

The waste house was sold to Mr. Webster, for $260.

The Pindar house, on Hanover street, was bought for $950 by R. B. Adams.

The Hardy estate, corner of High and Hanover streets, was bought by John George, for $1650.

The auctioneer seemed anxious to take the three o'clock train for Boston, and toward the close of the sale the work was quick and decisive, much to the satisfaction of buyers. The total of the sales is $24,705.

ROCKINGHAM CONFERENCE.

The Rockingham Conference of Congregational and Presbyterian Churches will meet at Derry on Tuesday, June 7th, at ten o'clock A. M., and continue two days. The order of exercises will be as follows:

Tuesday forenoon, prayer meeting, sermon by Rev. Lyman White of Deerfield, choice of officers for the ensuing year. Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, reports of the state of religion in the churches; discussion on topic "The fellowship of Evangelical churches, its importance, and how promoted"—discussion to be opened by Rev. Edward Robie, D. D., of Greenland, and Rev. J. H. Stearns of Epping. Evening, at 7:30 o'clock, discussion on "How to make our Sunday school work more effective," to be opened by Rev. T. V. Haines of North Hampton and Rev. W. C. Reed of Candia.

Wednesday forenoon, at 8:30 o'clock, prayer meeting. At 9:30, discussion on "How may our churches secure the presence and work of the Holy Spirit?" to be opened by Rev. Charles Tenney of Chester and Rev. Albert Watson of Hampstead. At 10:30, discussion on "How can the pulpit and pew best unite their efforts in reaching the masses?" to be opened by Rev. W. A. McGinley of Portsmouth and Deacon James R. Leavitt of North Hampton. At 11:30, business meeting. Afternoon, two o'clock, sermon by Rev. W. C. Reed of Candia, to be followed by the Lord's Supper.

The Rockingham County Woman's Missionary Society will hold a meeting on Wednesday at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

Persons intending to attend the conference are requested to send their names to Rev. D. W. Richardson, Derry.

Rev. A. B. Peabody is secretary of the conference.

—There is no occasion for swearing outside of a newspaper office, where it is very useful in proof-reading, and indispensably necessary in getting forms to press. It has been known, also, to materially assist the editor in looking over the paper after it is printed. But otherwise it is a very foolish and wicked habit.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"The Illustrated Scientific News" has again reached our table. The June number is unusually full of handsome engravings, and interesting and valuable reading matter. Under the management of its new publishers, Munn & Co., the Illustrated Scientific News has risen to the front rank in this country, and being issued at a very low price, it is within the reach of all who are interested in novelties, science, the useful arts and natural history. The June number contains handsomely illustrated articles on the Chimpanzee and Gorilla, Ostrich Farming, New Fireless Locomotive, the Maxim Fire Boat, Perforating Machine, a new and novel Embroidering Frame, the new Electric Middlings Purifier, and a number of other handsome illustrations, besides a large number of interesting articles not accompanied by engravings. The subscription price of this handsome paper is $1.50 per annum, or fifteen cents per copy, and it can be had of all newsdealers, or from the publishers, Munn & Co., No. 37 Park row, New York.

The supreme court of New York has granted the order to change the name of the corporation of "Scribner & Co." to The Century Co.,"—the order to take effect on the 21st of June. The July issues of "Scribner's Monthly" and "St. Nicholas" will have the new corporate imprint.

—The dressmaker is the pattern saint of the women of America.

Don't Trust Them.

When you feel badly, and have pains here and there through your body that you don't know how to account for, it is the most foolish policy in the world to take the advice of people who say: "Oh! there's nothing the matter with you. Let yourself alone and you will come out all right." These folks know nothing about it, and may be trifling with your life. You may have kidney or liver trouble. Send right out to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" and then you will be all right, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

The Anchor line steamship Macedonia, from New York for Glasgow, struck a rock near the Mull of Kintyre, Scotland, during a dense fog on Monday morning, and filled with water. She will probably be a total loss.

When I Was Sick!

My room looked like a drug store, I had so many bottles in it. The more I dosed the worse off I was. Finally I paid my doctor and told him he needn't come any more. I was troubled with chronic rheumatism, and couldn't get out of bed alone. Six bottles of Sulphur Bitters cured me. —Fireman, Boston.

At Holbrook, Mass., May 27th, Mabel Porter, aged eight years, was fatally shot by Charles Ring, aged twelve. Didn't know it was loaded.

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that it is more important that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—New Haven Palladium.

The Turner hotel and stables at Skowhegan, Me., with twenty horses, and a number of other buildings, were burned May 28th. Loss estimated at $45,000 or more. Partially insured.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is compounded of the best natural healing extracts of bark, roots and gums in the world. It is a safe, reliable medicine, pleasant to the taste, and cures coughs, colds, asthma, and croup. Price, 35 and 75 cents.

The governor of New York has signed the bill to prohibit discrimination against any person on account of race, creed or color.

A Pure Article of Whiskey

Is obtained in the G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon, and at a reasonable price. See that the proprietors' firm name is over each cork—Chester H. Graves & Son. To be had of druggists and grocers.

Edward Dazendorf, a compositor on the New York Sun, shot his wife and himself May 29th. Rum, and domestic trouble.

HOLMAN'S

PAD

TRADE MARK.

ACTS BY ABSORPTION THROUGH THE NERVE FORCES AND THE CIRCULATION.

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine!"

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS,

Or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $2.00. Full Treatise sent FREE.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their 6% per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

"Jones on Chattel Mortgages," by Leonard A. Jones of the Boston bar, author of treatises on "Mortgage of real property," and "Railroad securities." Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $6.50.

Mr. Jones gives to the legal profession the results of his compilation of decisions of cases in the several states concerning this kind of security. Varied as are the statutes of different states, concerning the necessary form and mode of giving validity to mortages of personal property, yet in many essential particulars the laws of each state are applicable to others. The author does not waste his pages in giving us, as was the custom in making such books once, his ideas or deductions from real or suppositious cases, but takes the pith of decisions from all sources, and classifies the result under appropriate heads. The lawyer who quotes the work, cites an authority traceable to a tribunal which has determined the question under investigation.

The other works of this author upon similar subjects are cited as if preceding volumes were one work, but on different branches of the same subject. The book shows that Mr. Jones must have labored long and hard to have accomplished so much and to be able to compress such an extended and varied statement of the laws applicable to this species of securities, concerning which, perhaps as much as any other, the younger lawyer is called upon to advise in his earlier professional labors. As a book of reference, the author has done a good service in the preparation of the index; all figures in the index refer to sections, and the sections are the figures at the tops of the pages. The divisions of the chapters are upon the nature of mortgages of personal property; requisites of form and execution, mortgages of future personal property, delivery and possession of mortgaged chattels, statutory provisions as to recording, etc.; fraudulent mortgages, powers of sale, etc.; rights of parties before forfeiture, mortgage of vessels, attachment, removal, concealment and sale of mortgaged property, etc.; payment, discharge and redemption; the mortgagee's rights and remedies after forfeiture, statutory provisions relating to foreclosure and redemption, and foreclosure in equity and sales under powers. Thus it will be seen that the metropolitan creditor, by this compilation, can learn just what his rights may be in any state, from the full extracts from statutes and decisions of the several states, including the new ones, whence come such numbers of decisions to the Atlantic coast, where once was furnished the law of the land.

The treatise is dedicated to Hon. John Lowell, circuit judge of the United States for the first judicial circuit, and it will be regarded as an authority, not because the author has written what he conceives to be the law in this respect, but what are the legal enactments and the latest judicial decisions upon the often complicated and perplexing questions constantly arising relative to chattel mortgages.

—At the sale of the personal effects of the late Judge Forbes, of Northhampton, Mass., it was found that he left behind him twenty-eight razors, thirteen pocket-knives, four portable writing-desks, with a large assortment of toilet cases, pocket-books, drafting instruments, field and opera-glasses, seven stands and various other things in plenty.

Don't Trust Them.

When you feel badly, and have pains here and there through your body that you don't know how to account for, it is the most foolish policy in the world to take the advice of people who say: "Oh! there's nothing the matter with you. Let yourself alone and you will come out all right." These folks know nothing about it, and may be trifling with your life. You may have kidney or liver trouble. Send right out to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" and then you will be all right, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

Benjamin Stiggers and John Stiggers, brothers, were shot dead in the act of robbery in Henry county, Ohio, a few nights ago.

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that it is more important that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—New Haven Palladium.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1881.

[Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N.H., as second-class matter.]

New Hampshire Legislature.

The legislature organized on Wednesday, June 2d, by the choice of the republican nominees for officers, as follows:

Senate—President, John Kimball of Concord; clerk, James E. Dodge of Manchester; assistant clerk, Lewis W. Holmes of Keene; sergeant-at-arms, W. B. Fellows of Laconia; messenger, Lyman W. Hayes of Milton.

House—Speaker, Chester B. Jordan of Lancaster; clerk, Charles B. Emmons of Manchester; assistant clerk, Edwin F. Jones of Manchester; sergeant-at-arms, John Underhill of Chester; doorkeepers, George A. Dickey of Derry, Norris A. Dunckleo of Concord, Charles A. Horne of Rochester.

The New York Senatorial Fight.

The New York legislature on the 1st inst. met in convention, and balloted for a United States senator to take the place vacated by Roscoe Conkling, with the following result:

Conkling 34, Jacobs (democrat) 52, Wheeler, 22, Cornell 11, Rogers 15, scattering 15.

For a successor to Ex-Senator Platt the vote was as follows:

Platt 29, Depew, 25, Kernan (democrat) 52, Cornell 12, scattering 39. No choice in either case, and an adjournment taken.

The General Court.

The legislature successfully organized on Wednesday, June 2d. In the preliminary caucus of the republicans, Mr. Robinson of Concord withdrew from the contest for the speakership of the house in a neat speech, and Chester B. Jordan of Lancaster was nominated. John Kimball of Concord was nominated for president of the senate. The Manchester people insisted that as this was their off year, and they had no candidate for governor or senator in Congress, the clerkship of the house and the assistant clerkship of the house and senate would be all they would ask for, and they were passed over. Mr. Jordan and the other republican nominees were chosen on Wednesday. The speaker has had no legislative experience, and is unfamiliar with the routine business of the house, but has an aptitude which will enable him to master the art of presiding after a little schooling. Mr. Kimball has been an observer of the doings of the "Honorable Senate" and will be found to be familiar with all the duties of his office, and abundantly competent for the position.

The lobby were present in full force on Tuesday evening and Wednesday. Many of the veterans of former years were on hand, and the "Lake Shore railroad" project seems to have sent a new delegation to look after members, while men like Durkee, Gaffney and and H. B. Carter seem to have gone on the retired list. Dover has sent new recruits to urge upon members the importance of the Boston & Maine railroad being favored by legislation. The eloquence of some of the holders of free passes, for which they have exchanged their season tickets, was truly enjoyable to hear. The solicitude for the interest of Portsmouth, manifested by the B. & M. R. R., is a sublime evidence of generosity. Instead of going to the mountains by the "sea-shore line," or by way of the valley of the Merrimack, the B. & M. solicitors would have the members believe that a longer ride over a dusty and uninteresting route between Dover and Boston is what the public seek to endure. The stock of the B. & M. R. R. sells at $162. Its bonds pay seven per cent, and are at great premium in the market. The Conway branch of the Eastern pays no dividend, and the common stock of the Boston, Concord & Montreal allows only the income of a free ride on annual meeting days; and yet it is sought to impair the business which these roads have built up after long struggles, by allowing a third line to come into competition. The B., C. & M. R. R. and the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway road have with the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad been pushed into the heart of the mountain region, and at great cost,—so large that but little is left for the stockholders and bond holders in return for their outlay. Their efforts have added largely, quite largely to the means by which the population of the upper counties have thrived, and it would seem that before an unhealthy competition is permitted to deprive these lines of the long-labored-for results of their enterprise and perseverance, a reasonable degree of reflection upon the situation should be made by our legislators. The Boston & Maine have many retainers. The company seems to have spread its nets, and at the outset of the session caught many a gull, while the eloquent appeals of their paid agents seem cogent in the extreme; but the past history of the road in its endeavors to develope the resources of our state, as compared with the progressive liberality of the lines it now seeks to embarrass, is the criterion of what may be expected to be realized from the high-sounding promises of its present sponsors.

New Hampshire Items.

Gen. James Wilson of Keene died in that city May 29th, at the age of eighty-five years. He was born in Peterborough, March 18th, 1797, and attended school in Exeter and at Middlebury, Vt. He studied law with his father, was admitted to the bar in Cheshire county in 1823, and continued to practice in New Hampshire until 1841. He represented Keene in the Legislature for sixteen years, a portion of the time as speaker of the House; was in Congress in 1847, '48, '49 and '50, and held every office in the state militia from captain to major-general. In politics in early life he was a whig. He was made a Freemason in 1818, and has been grand master of New Hampshire, also grand high priest. He was a Unitarian in religion. He married Mary L. Richardson of Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 26th, 1823, and had eight children, four of whom are now living. He was intending to go to Concord, June 2d, to see Gov. Bell inaugurated, having witnessed his father's inauguration as governor, while he was speaker of the House. He has long been in feeble health, but the immediate cause of his death was angina pectoris.

Capt. Martin Beckwith died in Lempster, May 30th, at the reputed age of 103 years.

The depot of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad at Haverhill was burglarized on the night of May 30th.

The governor and council on the 31st ult. pardoned out of state prison Frank S. Wright, sentenced from Grafton county for manslaughter, and Jeremiah Cronin of Hillsborough county, sentenced for receiving stolen goods.

The State House at Concord, White's opera house, and the Eagle hotel, are handsomely decorated with bunting in honor of Gov. Bell's inauguration to-day.

News and Notes.

The Derby, the great English horse-race, was won on the 1st inst. by the horse Iroquois. Pierre Lorillard is said to have won $2,000,000 in one bet on the result of this race.

The governor of Massachusetts has commuted the death sentence of Stearns K. Abbott to imprisonment for life.

Twelve vessels have cleared at Summerside, Prince Edward's island, this spring, with over 50,000 bushels of potatoes, most of them for Providence, R. I., and Baltimore. Last fall the farmers there could get only ten or fifteen cents a bushel for potatoes, delivered at the port, and many would not haul them in, but let them rot in the ground. This spring they get from thirty to thirty-two cents a bushel.

The school committee of Lawrence, Mass., close the schools on Barnum's circus day, but did not close them on Memorial day.

A French girl named Bulley, nineteen years old, is missing from Marlboro', Mass. She went to Boston with a well-known French citizen of Marlboro' on the 19th of May, it is alleged to have an illegal operation performed, and is reported dead. She leaves one child, seven months old.

Billey Bones and Charley Hart, two desperadoes who have been implicated in numerous robberies and outrages, were shot and killed by Sheriff Martin in an attempt to escape after their capture, near Kyle Station, Texas, Friday night, May 27th.

Mayor King of Philadelphia has issued an order forbidding the manufacture, sale or exposure for sale of squibs, rockets, cartridges, toy pistols, etc., and announcing that the firing of pistols, etc., on July fourth next, will not be allowed. About two-thirds of the population call him blessed, while another third, mostly small boys, call him as incorrigible curmudgeon.

A man named Cassidy was killed by lightning at East Granville, Vt., May 30th, and Charles L. Swallow of Dunstable, Mass., was killed by lightning the same day while planting corn. Considerable damage was done to property by the lightning that day, in Massachusetts and Vermont.

At Caseyville, Kentucky, May 30th, the boiler to a portable saw mill exploded, killing James Read and William Read instantly, and seriously injuring Samuel Read.

Revenue Collector Davis telegraphs the treasury department from Chattanooga, Tenn., that he has captured John Welch, who is badly wounded. Welch is the man who shot Davis last December.

Holyoke, Mass., loses the postal card business because its manufacturers can use their mills and machinery to better purpose than to make the paper at the price offered. The contract with the Parsons company expires July 1st, and the paper will begin to be made at Castleton, N. Y., as soon thereafter as the mill is ready, while the business of printing the cards will also be removed there to save the expense of shipping the paper.

At Denver, Colorado, May 31st, a miner named E. L. Stickney entered a boarding house while the guests were at supper, and opened fire upon M. T. Campbell, a real estate agent. Two shots struck Campbell, killing him instantly, and a third shot pierced the heart of a Mrs. Devereaux.

—What has become of those astonishing trousers, tight from hip to knee, and below the latter point gradually expanding until the foot had the appearance of sticking out of the flaring mouth of a blunderbuss, which have in years past been so much affected by youths of original and rapid tendencies? Also the shoes which accompanied them, distinguished for their long and tapering toes, impudently turned up at the extremities? Moreover, where is the third item, the low-necked shirt, with its square-cut collar? Have the tailor, shoemaker and haberdasher unitedly taken their flight to a better world? Let us hope so.

Burnett's Cocoaine

South Newmarket is to have a new Catholic church, a site having been given by Patrick Quinn of that town; Haverhill parties have been awarded the contract for constructing the church.

Capt. John Lowry of Kittery, who for several years past has each summer had a weir set off Fort McClary, will this season place it nearer the harbor's mouth, not far from the Mitchell and Harding weirs.

The coroner's inquest on the body of William O'Leary, recently killed by a train on the Boston & Maine railroad at South Newmarket, found no evidence of foul play, and entirely exonerated the railroad employes.

A purple gloxyinia belonging to Mrs. Wm. A. Vaughan began blooming in December last, and since that time has produced more than a hundred flowers; last year there were twenty-one flowers on the plant at one time.

The U. S. S. Lancaster, which has been on the ground at the navy yard for several years past, receiving "repairs" which have made her a much better vessel than she was when she first left the ways, was floated out of the dry dock on Wednesday afternoon of this week, and moored alongside of the yard wharf.

The five members who represented the Rockingham Bicycle Club at the parade in Boston on Monday of this week, returned on Tuesday evening in good condition after the one days run of sixty-five miles by the road which they took from Boston. The run was a remarkable one considering that three of the number had learned to ride within three months, and had not before been over eighteen miles on any one excursion.

Capt. Levi Downs has sold all his right and interest in the schooner Mary E. Caswell—the hull, spars, anchors and chains, rigging, blocks, etc., to Mr. J. W. Maling of Kennebunkport, Me., for $150. It will be remembered that the Mary E. Caswell was wrecked on a rock off Wells beach some months ago, was stripped and abandoned, and having floated off the rock was afterward picked up and beached in Kennebunkport harbor. Capt Downs' new schooner is expected to arrive here this month; her model, a very handsome one, is at the ship chandlery store of Geo. T. Vaughan & Co., on Market street.

Attention is called to the Williams Evaporator advertised in another column.

In the United States circuit court the case assigned for the jury on Monday, June 6th, has been disposed of, and jurors have been notified by the clerk not to appear on that day, when only equity cases will be heard.

Portsmouth has no soldiers' monument; all it has is a place for one, with a wooden post in it. South Seabrook, with its hundred or so of voters, most of whom are democrats, has a monument on which are engraved the names of twelve men belonging to the hamlet who lost their lives in the war for the preservation of the Union; none of their bodies are buried in the town, but the monument is decorated in their memory every year.

About a year and a half ago a night clerk was put in at Preston's drug store, in order to accommodate persons in cases of sudden sickness at night, when the prompt procuring of medicines might be of the utmost importance. It was at the time supposed this would be a great accommodation to the public, but experience has not borne out this supposition, the calls at night having been few and far between; consequently, from and after June 6th no night clerk will be maintained at Mr. Preston's establishment, though all night calls will be promptly and cheerfully answered if made to Mr. G. W. Boardman at No. 3 Sheafe street, to Mr. W. D. Grace at No. 17 Richards avenue, or to Mr. Preston at No. 15 Middle street.

At about eleven o'clock on Tuesday evening of this week, Capt. "Rashe" Trefethen, of the Mystic, slipped off the landing stage at Kittery, and "landed" in the water. Being an old sailor, and consequently accustomed to being drowned, he cared nothing at all for this mishap; but what he does care for is the ruinous intimation which some suspicious people have set afloat, that he was probably engaged in celebrating Memorial day on the previous Monday, and had some of the celebration left over on Tuesday night. This most injurious suspicion we desire to combat; we are well acquainted with Capt. Rashe, and he isn't that kind of a man at all; if he was, of course we wouldn't acknowledge his acquaintance. The true inwardness of his performance that evening was, that he tumbled overboard while in a fit of deep thought, consequent on the day being the Mystic's anniversary, it having been just one year since he commenced to run the steamer on the river, during which time she had towed one hundred and fifty-six vessels of all kinds, and received a passenger patronage far exceeding his expectations when he started the enterprise.

PORTSMOUTH JAIL.

Sheriff Kent, in his report to the county commissioners, thus makes mention of the well directed efforts of some of our residents towards the improvement of the mental and moral condition of prisoners under his charge:

The following named ladies and gentlemen have kindly contributed appropriate reading matter for the Portsmouth jail: Mrs. Albert L. Jones, Miss Elizabeth Pearson, Mrs. John T. French, Mr. and Mrs. John Sise, Col. William H. Hackett, Rev. Mr. Elwyn, Edward P. Kimball, Esq., Hon. Wm. H. Sise, Lewis W. Brewster, Esq., Mrs. O. M. Knight, Ezra H. Winchester, Esq., and last, though not least, Alfred W. Haven, Esq., who, when able, always makes a Sunday morning call.

THE MARINE BICYCLE.

Major Urch's marine bicycles created a real furor during their recent exhibition in Boston. They were launched from the steamer Acushnet at Comey's wharf, Saturday afternoon, and immediately attracted a large crowd of curious spectators who shew their appreciation of the major's inventive genius by a loud clapping of hands as the bicycles were swiftly propelled up Charles river. The bridges under which they passed were crowded with lookers on, and many and curious were the observations and questions propounded to the Strawberrybankers as they glided by. Just before reaching Cambridge street bridge, a trial of speed was had with a small tug that was steaming up the river; the bicycles won, passing under the bridge several lengths ahead. So dense was the crowd on the bridge that that the horse cars were blockaded, and remained so until after the bicycles shot into the Union boat club landing, a mile above. Here was found a large crowd of wheelmen and boatmen from all parts of the country, who had been notified of the exhibition by "Telzah" in the Bicycling World. Major Urch may well be gratified at the reception he received at the hands of these gentlemen, and the admiration expressed at his unique invention. All day Sunday prominent wheelmen were spinning up and down Charles river, testing the speed of the machines, and no doubt delighting in the sensation of perfect safety one feels on a marine bicycle. Monday and Tuesday the bicycles were exhibited on the pond in the Public garden, where it is estimated that 30,000 persons saw and asked questions concerning them. So dense was the crowd at times that it was not safe to go near the shore; so eager were the people to get a look at the machines they would crowd and jostle each other into the pond, or on to the boats. The "Swan boats" were as snails compared to the major's invention; a trial of speed showed that the bicycles could be speeded around the pond six times to once by the swan boats, the latter being propelled by paddle wheels. Major Urch has taken orders from all parts of the country, and has been invited to exhibit his bicycles in Central park, New York, and Prospect park, Brooklyn. He is still in Boston, receiving orders.

SEA-COAST ROAD IN KITTERY.

At the last annual town meeting in Kittery it was voted to lay out a new road along the coast from the old road, which turns to the left of the Brave Boat Harbor school house, District No. 6, to the "Centennial" or Sea Point house. This house is at present a small building, situated close to the ocean, and during the warm term is frequented by sportsmen and workingmen of the navy yard, the latter of whom like to employ their leisure days in snuffing the sea breezes. In accordance with the vote of town, the selectmen proceeded to lay out the road, and awarded damages. It has now progressed as far as the farm of William Raynes, Esq., Cutts' island. The selectmen awarded to Mr. Raynes the sum of three hundred dollars; from this award he appealed to the commissioners of York county, who a short time since appointed three referees to consider the matter. These referees appear not yet to have announced their opinion. In passing through the land of Mr. Raynes the road would diverge to the right over the marshes, to reach the Centennial house. The proprietor demurs to what he considers a small award, and will continue to objection to any amount fixed in that proximity, because the proposed road divides his farm, which is a considerable one, and subjects him to many inconveniences. In watering his stock he would be obliged to take down bars; and in places along the marsh, from the action of the sea, it would be required that the fences should be continually looked after, and there are other matters which farmers readily understand. It is now reported that previous to the next Kittery town meeting an article will be inserted in the warrant proving for building a road from the "Centennial" through the land of John Thaxter, Esq., known as the Cutts' farm, which will pass by the historic grave of Champernowne to Brave Boat harbor; and the towns of Kittery and York will be asked to build a bridge to Raynes' neck, connecting with a road to the lower bridge across York river. This would enable the summer tourists who visit the beach houses of York, to enjoy a drive unsurpassed in ocean scenery by any along the northern coast.

After the war of 1812 an English naval officer met an American in England, and inquired from what part of the United States he came. He said from Portsmouth, New Hampshire. "Oh!" said the Englishman, "I know that place. I lay off there during the war, and I once went up the river by night with a boat's crew. We landed at a spot they called the spring, where I took the boys into a shop to take a drink." The "spring" was always a noted place, and the water used to pour out from the bank much more abundantly than it does at present. The quality of it was considered much better than now, and it had the reputation of keeping well on ships' voyages. But it seems to have lost its prestige, as some people say, because it soaks through filth. The old-fashioned spring market lost its glory long ago, and where the ancient market men and women plied their avocations so well and so famously, John Caswell now carries on an extensive fishing business. Even now, however, the river men are attracted there, from force of habit partly, and because attention is paid to them. The good old caterer retired from the famous "eating-house" many months since, making way for a modern table and a modern cook, to the fare of which seventy-five men sat down on Memorial day, composed of persons from the different river towns. V.

Naval Affairs.

The United States steamer Powhatan, with the sailing ship New Hampshire in tow, arrived at the naval anchorage below Norfolk, Va., May 30th, from Port Royal, S. C. Both vessels saluted the flag of the commandant of the yard on arrival, and the salute was returned by the receiving ship Franklin. The New Hampshire will be fitted out as a training ship, to be posted at Newport, R. I.

Lieutenant R. M. G. Brown, U. S. navy, has an article in the June number of the United Service on the "Types of vessels for the navy," in which he advocates the construction of two distinct types, one for coast defense and the other for cruisers, both to be sheathed, with deflecting armor. He considers speed to be the first essential quality, the second being handiness in steering, and the third an effective battery of great guns. He is totally opposed to large ironclads, carrying two feet of solid armor, and thinks that no effort should be made to stop the enemy's projectiles, but only to cause them to glance by striking an inclined plane. The monitors now on hand he considers as next to worthless in their present condition, although they might be altered so as to be of use in harbor defence.

—A Georgia boy was aiming a gun at a robin. A little girl begged him not to shoot the bird, and, when he would not desist, scared it away. The exasperated young hunter thereupon shot the girl.

—Two tourists escaped the importunities of hackmen and other robbers at Niagara by occasionally working their fingers like deaf mutes, thus giving the impression that talk would be thrown away on them.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,82

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Miss Mallows among the publishers." Some one has sent us this recital of the sad literary experience of a would-be "gifted authoress," in which it is contended that Hamlet's sire could not have been a literary man. We incline to the belief that he must have been a publisher, for he told his son that the cursed stuff that was "poured in his ear" killed him! After reading the effusion we confess a poverty of language in expressing our thanks to our friends "Tease & Lariat," "She, Leopard & Co.," "Holden, Sniffin & Co.," "Robert Le Diable" and others, for their consideration of the feelings of the newspaper critics in sparing them the threatened infliction. Never since Gail Hamilton many years ago undertook to—metaphorically speaking—box the ears of the late lamented Mr. Fields, in her "battle with the books," have we seen such an attempt to proclaim the rights and wrongs of the unappreciated. But have the public no rights which ambitious novices are bound to respect? Think of the results which would have followed the acceptance of the poetic or prose attempts of Miss Mallows! How the clever critics might have been obliged to put it out to be read, and to steer between the Scylla of truth and the Charybdis of good nature, to do justice to such a work. In the immense creation of new books it is a source of congratulation that such an apparent modicum of uniform good sense has been found among the critical readers of the publishing houses. Miss Mallows is smart, and we congratulate her upon her ability to keep her temper during her recital—and more than all, upon the wise course she has adopted since her escape from her projected purpose of book writing.

Forgot the Baby.

About eight o'clock on Monday evening, May 30th, a well dressed man went into the ladies' waiting room of the Eastern railroad station in Boston, and went out soon after, leaving what appeared to be a bundle on one of the seats. Soon cries were heard to issue from the bundle, and upon examination by the lady in charge, it was found to contain a three-weeks-old boy baby. Officer Benway was called and the little waif taken to the Charlon Street Home. About ten o'clock a dispatch was received by the railroad officials in Boston, from Salem, asking if the baby, which was forgotten by the parents and left in the waiting room, had been found. The names of the forgetful parents are suppressed.

From the Hub.

There is perhaps no tonic offered to the people that possesses as much real intrinsic value as the Hop Bitters. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach needs an appetizer, or the blood needs purifying, the cheapest and best remedy is Hop Bitters. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure; don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.

At Bridgeport, Ala., May 29th, a tramp named Mehan stabbed Wm. Copeland in the neck, causing instant death. The tramp was arrested, and while in jail Sam Reese, a cousin of Copeland, shot him dead and escaped.

Brace Up.

There is serious meaning in this expression. That wearied step, languid eye and feeling of general lassitude, come from "spring sickness." Be assured, a serious, and perhaps, fatal disease is close in its wake. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins. "Favorite Remedy" will do this; it will give new vigor to the body, brightness to the eye, a glow to the countenance and elasticity to the step. One dollar a bottle. Every druggist has it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

On Friday, May 27th, John P. Munley of West Virginia challenged George Munley, his nephew, nineteen years old, to fight a duel. They met on Campbell's creek, Saturday, and George Munley was shot in the mouth before he fired a shot, and was fatally wounded.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

There was a riot between two picnic clubs at Dudley's grove, near New York city, May 29th, in which about fifty persons, including a dozen or more women, were injured by clubs and stones, and two young men were shot.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

John Enrich, an ex-policeman of Indianapolis, Ind., whose wife applied for a divorce, shot her and her father, Monday morning, May 30th, and then shot himself. Enrich has since died. Mrs. Enrich's condition is critical. Her father is slightly wounded.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Back Ache POSITIVELY CURED BY Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First. Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second. Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third. Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth. Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth. Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth. Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

HOLMAN'S PAD

TRADE MARK.

ACTS BY ABSORPTION THROUGH THE NERVE FORCES AND THE CIRCULATION.

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine!"

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad. All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and discretion is disregarded or single, off on poor health or languishing, rely on Hop Bitters.

If you are a man of letters, or toiling over midnight work, to the fore brain nerves and waste, use Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, tonic or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

If you are suffering from any infection; if you are married or single, and feeling on a bed of sickness, use Hop Bitters.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of HopBitters

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, costiveness of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are sick, Hop Bitters will cure you.

If you are sick, Hop Bitters will cure you.

If you are simply weak and languid, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco, or narcotics.

A Struggle for Notoriety.

When people feel themselves to be hopelessly commonplace, they are apt to try in some grotesque way, to neutralize their commonplace-ness. There lives in North Carolina a family notable for nothing but an idiosyncratic fondness for being married in unheard-of and absurd places. The wedding of the youngest daughter has just taken place on a cliff near Cave creek, one hundred and fifty feet in the air, the place being, the old traditions says, an Indian refuge. The father and mother of the romantic young maiden took upon themselves the holy bonds in a balloon, which, by the way, became unmanageable before the bridal party came to earth, so that they barely escaped with their lives, passing the bridal night tossing about in a bank of very wet clouds, the bride being deadly sea-sick. The eldest son of the family kept up the traditions of his home by wedding his bride in a diving-bell, although in taking a second wife he contented himself with a simple marriage by telegraph. Another son made a marriage in a railroad car; and still a third brother contrived that his wedding should come in as part of a performance of amateur theatricals, no one beside himself, the bride, and the magistrate who performed the ceremony, being in the secret. What bizarre antics the next generation will devise it is difficult to imagine, but at least the fool-catcher need not consider his occupation gone while any of the family remain at large.

Butter vs. Human Life.

James Manning stabbed and killed Thomas Quirk, of Rondout, N. Y., for which he was sentenced to Clinton prison for two years at hard labor. Joseph Pfleigle stole fifty pounds of butter, for which crime he was sentenced to Clinton prison for five years at hard labor. We deduce from this that fifty pounds of butter is worth just two and a half times as much as a man's life, and that butter is very dear in this country or else human life is very cheap.—Catskill Mail.

A Specific for Small-pox.

Dr. James Moore of Ironton, Ohio, thinks he has discovered a specific for small-pox in lemon-juice, which he has used in his own case with such results as to mak him say: "So strongly am I convinced of the power of lemon-juice to abort any and every case of small-pox that I look upon it as a specific of as much certainty and power in small-pox as quinine is in intermittent fever. I therefore publish my experiment, hoping every physician having a case of small-pox will give it a fair trial and report the result to me."

Don't Trust Them.

When you feel badly, and have pains here and there through your body that you don't know how to account for, it is the most foolish policy in the world to take the advice of people who say: "Oh! there's nothing the matter with you. Let yourself alone and you will come out all right." These folks know nothing about it, and may be trifling with your life. You may have kidney or liver trouble. Send right out to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" and then you will be all right, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—A Boston lawyer did a lively business for a while by promising to get petty offenders off for $50 each, $10 of which, he said, went to the district attorney, $10 to the juror and $10 to himself. He aimed to secure only clients who, he thought, would be acquitted anyhow, and his exposure came when some of them were convicted.

His Ignorance cost me $150.

I was sick abed for three months. The doctor said I had prolapsus uteri, which was untrue. He didn't try to cure me, but wanted to make a $1 every day. My uncle is a druggist, and he told me to turn the doctor off and try Sulphur Bitters. I did so, and five dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me of general weakness and debility.—Mrs. S——, New Haven.

—A young lady was married in Louisville the other day, and a newspaper account of the event was headed "Mated in May." The New York Graphic supposes that "Joined in June" and "Attached in August" will be the fate of those who come later in the season. It is to be hoped that "Separated in September" will not be needed in any case.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1881.

New Hampshire Legislature.

The house met at nine o'clock on the 2d inst. Rev. C. E. Harrington of Concord was appointed chaplain, and Arthur F. Dennett of Concord and Charles W. Bickford of Manchester pages. At 9:15 the house and senate met in convention, the votes for governor and councillors were declared, a committee was appointed to notify Charles H. Bell of his election as governor, and the several councillors-elect of theirs, and a recess was taken till noon.

Shortly before one o'clock the convention reassembled, with Senator Mason of Conway in the chair. At 1:30 Governor-elect Bell, accompanied by Gov. Head and members of both councils, appeared. Mr. Bell subscribed to the oath of office before the president of the senate, and then delivered his inaugural address, which occupied a little over half an hour in reading, and was closely listened to.

In his message Gov. Bell recommends that the state tax be increased to $500,000 per year for the next two years, to provide for the payment of $450,000 of the funded debt which falls due Sept. 1st, 1884. Referring to the savings banks of the state, he said among other things that the deposits amount to between $90 and $100 for every man, woman and child in the state, about one-fourth of the inhabitants being depositors. He spoke favorably of the agricultural college and the state normal school, and suggested changing the name of the reform school to "Industrial school." The treatment of the insane poor, government of the state prison, insurance matters, military affairs, state library, equal taxation, election of United States senator, division of the state into two congressional districts, the necessity of reform in the divorce laws, the need of legislation in regard to appeals from justices' courts in criminal cases, the prohibitory law, the improper use of money in elections, and the subject of having the state represented at the Yorktown centennial, were all treated at greater or less length, and the message as a whole was one of the best ever delivered by any governor of the state.

The New York Senatorial Fight.

Two ballots were taken on the 2d for a successor to Mr. Platt, resulting as follows: First ballot, Platt 28, Kernan 53, Depew 28, Cornell 11, scattering 36; second ballot, Platt 28, Depew 30, Kernan 52, Cornell 13, the rest scattering. Two ballots were also taken for a successor to Mr. Conkling: First ballot, Conkling 34, Jacobs 52, Wheeler 19, Rogers 11, Cornell 21, scattering 14; second ballot, Conkling 33, Wheeler 17, Jacobs 52, Rogers 15, Cornell 20, scattering 13. No choice.

Distressed Ireland.

A telegram from Ennis, county Clare, says it is rumored that six persons were shot dead at Tulla, near Ennis, by the police during a riot.

Legislative Statistics.

It appears from the published biographical sketches of members of the New Hampshire legislature, that of the twenty-four senators, sixteen are republicans and eight democrats; twenty are natives of this state, two of Maine, one of Massachusetts, and one of Ireland; four are by occupation merchants, three farmers, three bank treasurers, the rest furnish one each to various occupations. The proportion of bank treasurers seems large, being equal to the farmers.

The members elected to the house number 301; of these, 182 are republicans and 119 democrats. The occupation of 119 is farming; forty-five are merchants, twenty-three are manufacturers, twenty lawyers, seven carpenters, seven shoemakers, and a smaller number of various trades; 256 were born in this state, twelve in Massachusetts, ten in Vermont, eight in Maine, four in New York, four in Ireland, and one each in Connecticut, Rhode Island, province of Quebec, England, Scotland and Prussia. The oldest member of the house is George E. Leonard of Warren, a democrat of seventy-one years; the youngest is Thomas M. Pray of Dover, republican, aged twenty-four. The average age of members is forty-eight years. Hon. Harry Bingham of Littleton has served longest of any in the house, fifteen years previous to the present.

News and Notes.

The Boston & Albany railroad pays its next quarterly dividend on the 30th of June.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hickey of Bridgeport, Conn., had a corn on one of her toes, which she had removed. It removing it a slight wound was produced, gangrene set in, the foot was amputated, and Mrs. Hickey is now dead.

At Westminster, Mass., on Memorial day, Whitcomb Seaver drank a large quantity of ice-water, and died suddenly a few minutes afterward.

A six-years-old son of James Wetherton of Portland, Me., fell into the Portland company's reservoir on the 31st ult., and was drowned.

William C. Battles, formerly a leading citizen of Bangor, Me., was recently thrown from a carriage and killed, in Salinas, Cal.

The Anchor line steamer Macedonia, which went on a rock near Mull of Kintyre light, Scotland, is full of water and has been abandoned. Her deck load of cattle was saved, and no human lives were lost. The steamer and cargo were valued at $350,000.

Frank Adams and Amos Adams, of Bellingham, Mass., were on the 1st inst. convicted of manslaughter in having caused the death of George H. Partridge, their brother-in-law. Partridge was a drunken ruffian, from whom his wife had been compelled to separate; on the day of the homicide he went to the house of the Adamses and made one grand row, which resulted in his death.

At North Brookfield, Mass., June 1st, Mrs. Nellie Murphy had her head cut off through getting it caught by an elevator.

It is reported as conclusive evidence of the fitness of Dr. Loring for his new position as commissioner of agriculture, that last Sunday, after he had been lulled into a deep sleep by a dry Washington preacher, an allusion in the sermon to "corn and potatoes" caused him to wake up and start up as if some one had shouted his name from the pulpit.

The ship Strathnairn, from Calcutta for New York with twenty souls on board, has not been heard from for more than five months, and is believed to have gone down in a cyclone, with all on board. The ship was valued at $40,000, and the cargo the same.

George Rines, aged eighteen years, fell in an ice house at Wiscasset, Me., May 31st, and the pick in his hand came down on the back of his neck, severing an artery. He bled to death in ten minutes.

Mr. McGlew, sixth auditor of the treasury, and his deputy, Mr. Lilley, have tendered their resignations in accordance with the request of Secretary Windom.

John B. McCormick of the Cincinnati Enquirer has resigned, to take the management of a theatrical company.

Jefferson Davis' old plantation is now leased to his former slaves, who pay a small rental and manage to earn a living from it.

President Andrew Johnson left a fortune of $100,000, which his heirs are now quarrelling over, and which the lawyers are feeding upon.

The board of aldermen of Gloucester, Mass., recently passed a vote not to license any billiard room, and another vote licensing the sale of fireworks from the 1st to the 4th days of July, inclusive. The mayor vetoed both bills, and neither was passed over the veto, so well-conducted billiard saloons will be licensed, while the sale of fireworks will not be.

Twenty-seven barrels of gasoline took fire on the platform of the Consolidated freight house at Springfield, Mass., June 1st, and were destroyed. During the fire o explosions occurred, and about forty ons were hurt, thirteen of them being ously injured.

The schooner Rambler, Chase mast. arrived at Gloucester on the 1st inst. from the southwest point of George's bank, with 287 barrels of mackerel; this was the Rambler's third trip this year, she having landed two fares, aggregating 428 barrels, at Philadelphia, where they found a ready sale.

On the first of June the schooner Herman Babson, Lawson master, sailed from Gloucester for Disco, west coast of Greenland, to engage in the halibut fishery. This is Captain Lawson's fifth voyage to Greenland. He takes out with him all the modern improvements for capturing the fish, and with a picked crew of fifteen men, who all go on equal shares, he hopes to accomplish his voyage and return to Gloucester by the 15th of September.

Seeing the Circus.

It cost Paterson, N. J., $50,000 on a recent Friday to see a circus—one dollar each for every man, woman and child of its entire population. Twenty thousand factory hands lost $25,000 in wages by their absence from the shop. At a silk-mill employing 1,000 hands only six were at work. The Adams & Phœnix Manufacturing company mills shut down entirely; also the Barbour Flax Spinning company. In fact, but one mill attempted to keep running, and that with indifferent success. In the locomotive shops about ten per cent of the men were at work, and at the great rolling-mill but eight per cent. The actual loss, therefore, to the working class in wages and outlay for tickets was about $35,000. The manufacturers estimate their losses (wages of overseers whose idleness was enforced, loss through non-production, water rent, interest on capital, insurance, and so on) as at least $15,000; grand total, $50,000. Moreover, the men, in many instances, became totally demoralized, and didn't feel like work on Saturday.

Farm Surgery.

A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker advises stock growers not to be in haste to destroy any animal that may break a leg, for by means of plaster of Paris and some bagging strips the limb may be set and supported until the fractured bone unites again. His plan has been both with calves and sheep, to wind the strips of bagging about the broken limb, plaster over with calcined plaster mixed to a thin paste, and other strips wound over that and more plaster applied, the leg fastened to splints of wood until the plaster sets. The animal would limp around for a few days on three legs, but recovered without blemish.

A Ghastly Relic.

The embalmed head of Oliver Cromwell is in the possession of a daughter of the Hon. Mr. Wilkinson, an English gentleman. It is carefully preserved, wrapped in costly envelopes, in a strong antique box. At the Restoration the embalmed body of Cromwell was taken from Westminister Abbey and hung at Tyburn. The head was cut off, a pike driven through the neck and skull, and exposed at Westminister Hall. The head is said to be almost entire, the flesh black and sunken, the hair remaining, and even a large wart over the eye. The splintered pieces of a pike and rusted iron are attached to the head.

—"I think the goose has the advantage of you," said a landlady to an inexpert boarder, who was carving. "Guess he has, mum, in age," was the retort.

AROUND HOME.

The schooner Wingersheek was taken on the Kittery railway, Thuesday.

The annual report of the county commissioners for the year ending May 1st, 1881, can be procured by calling at the office of the city clerk.

The steamer James Sampson was inspected by the government inspectors on Wednesday forenoon of this week, and found in good condition. The steamer made her afternoon trips as usual.

How would it do to start an establishment for the manufacture of marine bicycles in Portsmouth? As the negro minstrel remarked, in reference to the magnitude of our navy, "Think of the water we have," in which the machines could be tested.

The liabilities of J. G. Roberts & Co., liquor dealers, Dover, N. H., are about $5,300, of which $1300 is secured by mortgage on the stock. There are no unincumbered assets, hence the unsecured creditors look upon the failure as a suspicious one, and express much dissatisfaction in consequence.—Boston Herald.

The Boston Post says: "Among those in Texas who are prominently identified in promoting the construction of its numerous railroads and indeveloping the resources of the state, is Maj. John Wallingford Goodwin. Maj. Goodwin is a native of South Berwick, Me., and a graduate of Bowdoin college."

A gang of laborers employed on the new coal-pockets of the Eastern railroad at Beaver Brook station, Salem, on the 1st inst. struck for an advance in their pay, which has been $1.20 a day for each man. The gang consisted of about fifty Frenchmen and five Irishmen, all of whom have been discharged, and it is said will not be again employed by the road under any circumstances.

It is announced that Campobello island has been sold to Gen. E. C. Pike of Eastport, Me., for $50,000, and that a strong company will at once commence operations intended to make the island one of the most noted summer resorts on the coast. A similar scheme was started ten or twelve years ago, and Capt. James M. Hill, then of this city, was largely interested in it, but it resulted in nothing except financial disaster to its promoters, that we ever heard of.

THE COUNTY DEBT.

From the report of the Rockingham county commissioners for the year ending May 1st, 1881, we take the following statement concerning the indebtedness of the county:

County debt, May 1, 1880,		$30,126.69
Bonds due in 1881,	$29,000.00
" " " 1880,	31,500.00
" " " 1881,	30,000.00
	$71,100.00
Cash on hand,	9,874.02
County debt, May 1, 1881,		$61,225.98
Decrease of debt for the year ending May 1, 1880,		$27,700.71

Three years ago the indebtedness of the county was $122,000, in round numbers; and the foregoing statement shows that it has been decreased nearly one half.

A SUGGESTION.

We were called upon on the 2d inst. by a lady from Lewiston, Me., who wished if possible to find a newspaper-record of her marriage, which took place in this city on the 8th of August, 1868. She had previously searched the city records, where she found the intention of marriage betwen herself and her then prospective husband recorded, (the name only of the man being given, his age, color and all other particulars concerning him being omitted.) but there is no record whatever of their marriage. This is but a fresh illustration of what we have several times referred to—the absolute worthlessness for any practical purpose of the registration of births, marriages and deaths, as conducted in this city. If some member of the present legislature would introduce a bill providing for an efficient and thorough registration, compelling the person who solemnizes a marriage, and the head of the household in which a birth or death takes place, to register the same within a reasonable time after its occurrence, and imposing suitable penalties for non-compliance or neglect, it would probably become a law without any serious opposition, and would result in our city records of vital statistics becoming of some value, instead of being as they are now and always have been, worth but two or three cents a pound as waste paper.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, June 2d:

Mrs. Lerenda Patchen complained that at the time the Madison street reservoir was built the water was cut off from a well on premises belonging to her, and asked compensation. Referred to the committee on fire department, with power.

Mayor Sise reported the reception of communications from the city of Nashua, relative to municipal liability for accidents, and Messrs. Woodman of Dover and Furber of the Boston & Maine railroad, regarding the Lake Shore road.

The subject of fitting up a room under the court house for the driver of the city horses to sleep in at night, was referred to the committee on city lands and buildings, with power.

Wm. S. Hadley had leave to withdraw his petition for a drain on McDonough street.

Ald. Call, from the committee of conference on the appropriation bill, reported no agreement.

A resolution was offered instructing the members of the legislature from this city to use their influence to have a law passed exempting from taxation all material used in building either iron or wooden ships, for a term to be agreed on, and all vessels engaged in foreign commerce. James W. Emery, Esq., addressed the board in support of the measure, and it was passed, and an order made that each member of the legislature from this city be furnished with a certified copy.

The resolution in reference to the building of the Lake Shore railroad was passed.

Voted that the senators and repretensatives from this city be requested to use their influence in favor of the passage of a general railroad law.

Mayor Sise read to the board a bill drawn up by the city solicitor, to be presented to the general court, in relation to liability in case of accidents on highways, or through slipping on ice or snow.

Adjourned for one week.

FATAL FIRE.

Shortly after daylight on Thursday morning, the 2d inst., a house at Crockett's neck, Kittery Point, not far from the old Sparhawk place, was burned, with all its contents. The house was owned by Capt. Benjamin B. Frisbee, master of the schooner Herald, and the loss is estimated at from $1000 to $1200, which is partially covered by insurance. The house was occupied by a widow lady, Mrs. Mary Gilman, who lived alone, and who perished in the flames, her charred remains being found in the cellar. How the fire caught is not known.

Frauds in Coins.

"God hath made man upright," said the preacher, "but they have sought out many inventions." If the wise king had lived in these days, he would have found in the devices of swindlers illustrations of man's "many inventions."

The amount of "punched" silver coins in circulation shows that somebody is stealing from the money that belongs to the people. Silver dollars, half dollars, and quarters are frequently given in change, in which holes have been made so that from ten to fifteen per cent. of metal has been punched out. One hundred silver dollars thus mutilated pay the swindler at least ten dollars for two or three hours' work.

These "punched" coins are taken at restaurants and retail stores when offered by regular customers. The banks refuse to receive them. Out of three thousand dollars in silver sent to a New York broker, sixty-seven dollars were found mutilated.

The simple remedy for the prevention of this crime is for everybody to refuse to receive a mutilated coin. Then the swindler will find his occupation gone.

As no one but an ignorant person would receive a gold coin with a hole in it, unless at a discount, the swindlers do not mutilate gold eagles, half eagles, or quarters. But they tamper with them in other ways.

A new twenty-dollar gold-piece weighs five hundred and sixteen grains. The minimum weight at which they are received by the government is one-half of one per cent less, which is the allowance made for legitimate wear. The swindlers take advantage of this fact. They buy new gold coins, shake them up in a buckskin bag, and thus wear them. Then by burning the bag in a crucible they get the gold that has been rubbed off by the shaking.

Sometimes they bore a hole into a five-dollar piece from the edge, and taking out the gold, insert a copper wire. The coin is of the true weight, but it will not ring.

Another mode of operating is to take off one face of a twenty-dollar piece and bore out the gold until a mere shell remains. It is then filled with platinum, the other face added, and the edges remilled. Only a first-class expert can recognize these coins, which pay the swindlers about sixteen dollars for each twenty-dollar piece thus manipulated.

—A mad-dog scare in an Arkansas town resulted in the immediate execution of two hundred healthy dogs. In the meantime the original mad dog, having swallowed the bone that was choking him, went around wondering what they were killing all the dogs for.

—Schoolmaster to new scholar: "Now my boy, be industrious. Remember, what you have once learned nobody can take away from you." New boy—"Yes, sir; but it'll be just the same if I don't learn anything at all. I'd like to know what anybody can take away from me then?"

—The pins used in this country are made by fourteen factories, most of which are made in New England. The annual production, several years past, the number varying little from year to year, has been 7,000,000,000. The raw material is from the wire mills of this country, and much of the machinery is of American invention.

—This man is a Philadelphian. What a large hat he wears! The large hat is a sign of brotherly love. The Philadelphian is happy. See what a broad smile expands his features. Why does the Philadelphian thus relax his countenance? It is because New York can't have any world's fair. There are many Philadelphians in this world.

—Mr. Prim went fishing and on his return told some most terrific lies about what he caught. Said Sharp to him: "What do you want to tell such cussed yarns as that for? Tell something possible, if not probable. Don't you know that everybody saw that you were lying?" "Yes," answered Prim. "Then, what the blazes did you do it for?" "Why, I wanted them to know I was lying. I didn't want them to think I was eccentric."

—The Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier thus comments on southern journalism: "There has been during the last ten years an entire change in the standing of the leading newspapers in the south. They no longer rely, in any sense, on the favor of parties or the smiles of individuals. They are independent of the life or death of any of their managers. There is no more uncertainty now in the fortunes of a well-established newspaper than in the business of a merchant or a manufacturer."

—An intelligent actress says: "Men seek the notoriety of being known as admirers of actresses. They seem to take delight in being able to say 'Clara Morris, or Miss Davenport, or Miss Rogers,' as the case may be, 'yes, she is a charming lady—a personal friend of mine; we dined at such a place yesterday, or we are going to drive in the park to-morrow.' It is all selfishness. Once in a while, though, these men do fall madly and blindly in love with actresses, and when they do they are very tiresome."

—The Trenton Herald, published on the United States flagship Trenton, says that Miss Clara Louise Kellogg visited the ship while at Villefranche, France, and for the amusement of the officers and crew sang a number of familiar home songs, accompanying herself on the banjo. The account says that "Down on the Suwannee River" was better than a dozen Italian cavatinas, and the way she handled the banjo and sang "The Yaller Gal Dressed in Blue" would have made Sam Devere pause.

—A pair of horses in an English stable, whose box-stalls adjoined each other, were firm friends. The one who finished his hay first invariably received from the other enough to keep him busy until both lots were consumed. One day one of the horses made its way out of its own loose box, the door of which was unfastened, and found out a bucket of mash which was standing in the entrance of the stable, and, taking the opportunity while the coachman was in the loft overhead, he was helping himself freely to its tempting contents. The other horse, who was fastened to his own loose box, caught sight of his friend's proceeding, and neighed loudly, evidently demanding a share for himself, and the servant was astonished to see the horse which was enjoying himself fill his mouth with the mash and poke his nose through the bars of the loose box for his friend to take it from his mouth. This was done several times.

New Hampshire Items.

John W. Wheeler of Salem, in this county, has recovered a verdict against the Alliance Insurance company upon a policy of insurance on his woollen factory. The company claimed that their policy was voided by the use of naphtha contrary to the terms of the contract, thus increasing the risk taken by the company. The case was tried in Boston.

Mrs. Wallace L. Reed, of Newport, met with a painful accident May 23d. On taking a two-ounce phial of ammonia from a window, the expansion caused by the heat of the sun made the cork fly out, and the contents struck her in the face, taking the skin off from her lips, mouth, and throat, and injuring one eye.

A large black bear has been doing considerable damage by killing sheep in the pasture of Messrs. Ridout and Wilmot, at North Haverhill. He had been caught in a trap, but escaped, and has not been recaptured.

While a young child of Edson W. Palmer of Warner a few days ago was attempting to sew, the needle entered one of its eyes, and it is feared that the sight will be ruined.

A feature of the Decoration day exercises at Concord was the decorating of the graves of President Franklin Pierce and Col. Thomas Stickney. The address was delivered by Hon. F. G. Greenhalge, mayor of Lowell, Mass.

Poultry.

Keep your birds tame, says the Poultry Journal, so they will come to you quickly at the call, and eat out of your hands without any signs of fear or distrust. They will always be quiet and content, and will fatten and thrive much better. The matter is well understood by breeders of the larger kinds of stock, such as cattle, horses and sheep, while there are a sensible few who apply the same principle with poultry.

Many a fine nest of eggs has been destroyed by a wild and frightened hen—a hen which had early learned to fear her master or owner. If uniform kindness and gentleness had been resorted to, the hen would suffer herself to be handled while on the nest, and never once think of leaving it in such a hurry as to endanger the eggs. If the poultry on the farm is kept tame, it is not a very difficult matter to catch one or more when wanted for table or other uses.

A woman who has raised a large number of hens says that after vainly trying the recommended remedies for lice, she has hit upon the plan of giving them once or twice a week a large loaf made of Graham flour, in which a handful of sulphur has been mixed. The hens like it, and are freed from lice and kept healthy through the season. That is certainly the easiest plan we have yet seen suggested. As such, it is worth a trial.

Brace Up.

There is serious meaning in this expression. That wearied step, languid eye and feeling of general lassitude, come from "spring sickness." Be assured, a serious, and perhaps, fatal disease is close in its wake. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins. "Favorite Remedy" will do this; it will give new vigor to the body, brightness to the eye, a glow to the countenance and elasticity to the step. One dollar a bottle. Every druggist has it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

A New Haven trunk dealer received a trunk for repairs a few days ago, and in making the preliminary diagnosis he found in small drawers a gold watch, $30 in gold, two gold bracelets and a diamond and pearl set, besides a number of less valuable articles of jewelry.

When I Was Sick!

My room looked like a drug store, I had so many bottles in it. The more I dosed the worse off I was. Finally I paid my doctor and told him he needn't come any more. I was troubled with chronic rheumatism, and couldn't get out of bed alone. Six bottles of Sulphur Bitters cured me. —Fireman, Boston.

A fearful hail storm visited the south of McLennen and the north part of Bell counties, Texas, Saturday night, May 28th. A number of farm houses were torn down. One woman was killed and two men badly hurt in Leon county, and several houses unroofed. A hurricane visited Taylor, Texas, Saturday evening, which lasted forty minutes. No lives were lost. Mr. Train's house was blown down and two families sustained serious injuries. The Christian church was blown from its foundation, the Catholic church and Odd Fellows' hall wrecked, and nearly all the barns and out houses demolished. Scarcely a house in the town escaped damages. Fences were blown down and trees uprooted for miles around.

The celebrated Liebig Company of New York, Paris and London, has attained its great reputation by adhering to two rules. It offers no cheap goods. It offers only honest preparations at honest prices and consequently in buying preparations having the name and seal of this reputable company, one is certain of purity and excellence. The Liebig Company's Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel, for instance, although sold at the same price as the quack, colorless weak trash, sold under the name of Witch Hazel, is so much superior in every way, that once used, is sure to cause it to be used always thereafter. It cures piles, salt rheum, skin diseases, rheumatism, catarrh, painful menthlies, sore throat and neuralgia. Be sure to ask for Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel. Remember the market is flooded with worthless imitations." (Editorial in Scientific Supplement of El Ranchero.) Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

INTERNATIONAL Pavement Co.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.

All Danger from it averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons, few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substitute of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

THE PROMOTER AND PERFECTOR OF ASSIMILATION.
THE REFORMER AND VITALIZER OF THE BLOOD.
THE PRODUCER AND INVIGORATOR OF NERVE AND MUSCLE.
THE BUILDER AND SUPPORTER OF BRAIN POWER.

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Is composed of ingredients identical with those which constitute Healthy Blood, Muscle and Nerve, and Brain Substance, whilst itself is directly dependant upon some of them.

By increasing Nervous and Muscular Vigor, it will cure Dyspepsia, feeble or interrupted action of the Heart and Palpitation, Weakness of Intellect caused by grief, worry, overtaxed or irregular habits, Bronchitis, Congestion of the Lungs.

It cures Asthma, Neuralgia, Whooping Cough, Nervousness, and is a most wonderful adjunct to other remedies in sustaining life during the process of Diphtheria.

The expenditure of brain power too early or too severely in children often results in physical debility; the use of Fellows' Hypophosphites exerts a singularly happy effect in such cases.

Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name; no other preparation is a substitute for this under any circumstances.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and discretion or dissipated or single, old or poor health or languishing, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, strengthening or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood or liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

If you are a mother of feeble, invalid or worn-out women, suffering from any ailment, use Hop B.

Thousands die annually from the form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of HopBitters

Boy Farmers in Maine.

The boy farmers are excelling the older heads in farming. The have immensely more enthusiasm, more go-ahead, and it begins to look as though they know more about raising large crops than their fathers do. It will be remembered that over six hundred of our Maine boys last year competed for the Allen corn prizes, and that the larger part of them reported having raised at the rate of over 100 bushels of shelled corn per acre, while many raised over 150 bushels, a few 200 bushels, and one 240 bushels.

Now, we have reports published in the New England Farmer, of what the Vermont farmer boys accomplished last year, in competing for prizes for corn and potato-raising offered by the trustees of the Vermont Agricultural college. One hundred and two boys sent in reports of their corn crop on one-eighth of an acre. Of these, sixty-two raised over eighty bushels of shelled corn per acre; thirty-four raised at the rate of 100 or more bushels; twelve, 110 bushels; five raised at the rate respectively of 114, 117, 119, 121 and 122 bushels. These figures, when compared with the average yield of corn in the state of Vermont, which was thirty-nine bushels per acre in 1878, make a favorable showing in favor of the boy farmers as compared with the men farmers.

In potato-raising, one hundred and five boys reported the yield of one-eighth of an acre of Early Rose potatoes. Of these, forty-nine raised at the rate of 300 or more bushels per acre, while five, who won the prizes, raised at the rate of 443, 444, 450, 457 and 459 bushels per acre. The average yield of potatoes, in Vermont, in 1878, was 140 bushels per acre.

These figures speak well for the enterprise and skill of the boy-farmers in Vermont. The Vermont and Maine boys have shown that they have enthusiasm, enterprise, and "know a thing or two" about farming. New England farming seems likely to fall into safe hands when the boys take the helm.—Lewiston Journal.

How Could the Hole be Bored?

The professor of natural philosophy in a certain college recently gave the class a problem to think of during the night and answer the next day. The question was this: "If a hole were bored through the centre of the earth, from side to side, and a ball dropped into it, what motions would the ball pass through, and where would it come to a state of rest?" The next morning a student was called upon to solve the problem. "What answer have you to give to the question?" asked the professor. "Well, really," replied the student, "I have not thought of the main question, but of a preliminary one. How are you going to get that hole bored through?"

Scarlet Fever.

An eminent physician says he cures ninety-nine out of every hundred cases of scarlet fever by giving the patient warm lemonade with gum arabic dissolved in it. A cloth wrung out in hot water and laid upon the stomach should be removed as rapidly as it becomes cool. In cases where physicians are not easily obtainable simple remedies are not to be despised.

—Half the members of the junior class in the Indiana University have left because a professor would not allow them to go out in the midst of a recitation to fight the sophomores, who had captured the hats of the upper class and were rending them under the windows.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is compounded of the best natural healing extracts of bark, roots and gums in the world. It is a safe, reliable medicine, pleasant to the taste, and cures coughs, colds, asthma, and croup. Price, 35 and 75 cents.

—A man told his friend that he had joined the army, "What regiment?" his friend asked. "Oh, I mean the army of the Lord." "Ah, what church?" "The Baptist." "Why," was the reply, "that's not the army, it's the navy."

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir:—I have used other preparations of Hypophosphites; but they do not compare with yours, which I think is the best medicine for the nervous system I ever used. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites supplies matter for bone and blood, rendering it highly beneficial for feeble children.

—"Here's a fly in my soup, waiter." "Yes, sir; very sorry, sir; but you can throw away the fly and eat the soup, can't you?" "Of course I can; you didn't expect me to throw away the soup and eat the fly, did you?"

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that it is more important that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—New Haven Palladium.

The Railroad Extension.

We present the following communication from our valued friend, C. Carlton Coffin, Esq., who is enthasiastically in favor of the Alton Bay railroad extension. If this really meant a direct connection of the Montreal road with Portsmouth instead of the Boston & Maine controlling the business, the happy results which he pictures might be seen.

Mr. Editor: As you have very kindly made favorable mention of an address given by myself before the New Hampshire Press Association on "The Future of New Hampshire," and as your city has instructed your representatives to use their influence to carry out one of the features mentioned in that address, may I use your columns to say a few words additional in regard to it?

The construction of the road from Alton to Laconia will be felt by every household in Rockingham and Strafford counties, in bringing the breakfast tables nearer to the wheat fields of the west. The population of the two counties is 84,703. The bread production of the state is twenty pounds of flour per individual; the consumption per individual per annum is 370 pounds. Rockingham and Strafford produce but little flour, but, giving the farmers of those counties the full value of the statistics and reckoning the pounds purchased at 350 per individual, the aggregate is twenty-nine millions six hundred and forty-six thousand pounds, or one hundred and forty-eight thousand barrels.

Every pound of flour now obtained from the west is brought over the railroads of the state of New York, or by the Grand Trunk. The construction of these sixteen miles of road will open a shorter and cheaper line. Two years hence, Portsmouth will be more than 200 miles nearer Minneapolis than at present. That city is far ahead of all others in the world in the production of flour, turning out 25,000 barrels per day, to be increased to 30,000 the present year. A new mill is under construction which is to show a capacity of 8000 barrels per day, or 5 1-2 barrels per minute. If you can cheapen your transportation fifty cents per barrel, it will be $74,000 per annum saving to Rockingham and Strafford. If you can cheapen it even twenty-five cents, it will amount to $37,000 per annum. I repeat, the construction of that sixteen miles of railroad will be of direct benefit to every man, woman and child in Rockingham and Strafford counties.

I am informed that the project is to be opposed by all the power which a rich corporation paying ten per cent to its stockholders, can wield. Such a spectacle is one of the saddest of all the many sad phases of human nature. Will men ever comprehend that if one section of the body politic suffers the whole must suffer with it? Will they ever learn that by the largest, most free and full development of the whole state they will make their property all the more valuable?

It is to be hoped that there will be members enough in the legislature who will rise above all low, ignoble considerations, not only to grant the charter, but to pass a general railroad law, permitting everybody to build a railroad wherever they please, provided they can get the capital. C. C. COFFIN.

BOSTON, June 2, 1881.

New Hampshire Legislature.

The senate met at nine o'clock Friday, and shortly adjourned to Monday, when the committees will be announced.

In the house the speaker announced the standing committees, the chairmen being as follows: Revision of statutes, Stevens of Nashua; national affairs, Chandler of Concord; elections, Green of Hopkinton; judiciary, Marston of Exeter; railroads, Robinson of Concord; banks, Morrison of Peterborough; state prison, Colby of New London; insurance, Heath of Manchester; agriculture, Clay of Chatham; manufactures, Brown of Whitefield; education, Quimby of Hanover; agricultural college, Colby of Claremont; finance, Harriman of Concord; towns and parishes, Knowlton of New Boston; division of towns, Hale of Rollinsford; insane asylum, Quint of Dover; roads, bridges and canals, Shaw of Lebanon; mileage, Bean of Manchester; fisheries and game, Powers of Grantham; retrenchment and reform, Gerrish of Concord; military affairs, Aldrich of Manchester; incorporations, Smith of Manchester; reform school, Hodgman of Manchester; normal school, Yeaton of Rochester; bills on second reading, Moulton of Sandwich; printers' accounts, Prentiss of Keene; military accounts, Beckford of Bristol; claims, Dole of Lebanon; unfinished business, Simpson of Manchester.

The unfinished business of the last session was referred to committee, notices of several bills were given, and the house adjourned to Monday evening at eight o'clock.

News and Notes.

The steamer City of Merida arrived at the quarantine station below New Orleans on the 2d inst., from Vera Cruz, and was detained there. Gen. Grant and Capt. Eads were passengers by her, and were also detained.

Portland, Me., had a brilliant wedding on Thursday evening last, when Miss Helen Jose, daughter of Horatio N. Jose, Esq., president of the Cumberland national bank, was married at St. Luke's cathedral to Mr. H. H. D. Pierce of New York, son of the late Prof. Benj. Pierce of Harvard college. Bishop Neasley officiated, and the knot was tied beneath a beautiful floral bell suspended from the chancel arch. After a well attended reception at the elegant residence of the bride's parents, the happy pair left on the Pullman train of the Eastern railroad for their wedding tour.

The Newburyport Herald is authority for the statement that during a shower on the night of the 1st inst. a number of fishes "rained down" in two places a mile apart in Byfield. "They were of a species unknown in this vicinity, about three inches long, semi-transparent, and with broad tails; they were probably taken up in a water-spout that traversed their habitat, and dropped down from the clouds to be made an item of."

"Rev." I. S. Kalloch, mayor of San Francisco, is at Rockland, Me., and will preach at the First Baptist church next Sunday by invitation of the pastor. Kalloch was ordained over this church thirty-one years ago this month, at the age of nineteen years, and was its pastor for several years. He is a native of Rockland, where he has two uncles, an aunt and other relatives.

Texas is occasionally a lively place, in spots. At Springtown, on the 2d inst., a young man named Baldwin was knocked down by a stranger named Jones, who insisted upon fighting; Baldwin thereupon shot Jones dead, and was arrested and immediately discharged. At Brenham, on the same day, a number of convicts cut loose some cars of a work train while switching, and attempted to escape; two were shot dead, two mortally wounded, two crippled and captured, and one got away. At Jefferson, four young white men visited the house of a colored man named Dennis Brotlene, and got into a dispute; Brotlene opened fire, and killed two of the white men; the other two killed Brotlene, and fled that part of the state.

Suit has been brought in Washington, D. C., against the Terra Cotta company, of which John Lynch of Maine is trustee, on the charge of mismanagement. The bill of particulars shows that the principal shareholders are S. E. Spring, John Lynch and J. N. Winslow of Maine.

About ten miles from Leadville, Col., on the 1st inst., John Lynch shot and instantly killed Charles Lyles. The shooting was caused by a quarrel regarding a mining claim. Lynch lay in ambush, and fired while Lyles was not expecting it.

A committee appointed by the Arkansas senate at the last general assembly to investigate the books of the late state treasurer, have made startling discoveries in the shape of accounts paid by the clerk of the legislature preceding the last one. The accounts consist of overpaid newspaper bills of several thousand dollars, an advance on postage bills, and payment for copying journals for the printer when never printed.

Derastus Clapp, a native of Claremont, N. H., but for more than forty-four years connected with the police department of Boston, died in that city June 1st, at the age of ninety years. One of the noted cases on which he was engaged was the Webster-Parkman murder, the facts of which were brought to light under his direction.

Herbert C. Knight, state constable of Fairfield, Me., has been convicted of selling liquors seized by him, and fined $253.03.

Gold has been found on the farm of James Bradford, in Holland, Vt.

A boy four years old, named Mack, of Worcester, Mass., was a few days ago allowed to play with an unloaded revolver. Result, he now carries a bullet in his abdomen, but there are hopes of his recovery.

Henry W. Freeman, freight agent of the Portland, Bangor & Machias Steamship Co., dropped dead in Augusta, Me., June 1st.

The firm of Anthony & Bernard Schroeder, of Fenchurch street, London, and of Liverpool, have failed. Their liabilities amount to £400,000. Their failure is said to be due to over speculation in India and West India products.

A ringleader of the anti-Jewish riots at Kieff, Russia, has been sentenced to three and one half years penal servitude, and less of his civil rights. Three of his accomplices were sentenced to eighteen months, and twelve others to shorter terms of imprisonment.

Master Willie Brown of North Adams, Mass., fell from a bridge into the river. Forty men stood by and tried to save him by throwing a plank. Charles Davis saw the drowning boy from a distance, ran, plunged into the water and got the boy just as he was going down the third time.

The people of West Stockbridge, Mass., gave a majority vote for the prohibition of the liquor business in that town. This was brought about chiefly by the Congregationalists, against whom the ruined liquor dealers vowed vengeance. The Congregational church has since been destroyed by an incendiary fire, and $1800 is offered for the conviction of the criminals.

Frank Adams and Amos T. Adams, of Bellingham, Mass., convicted on the 1st inst. in the court at Dedham of manslaughter, in killing their brother-in-law, Partridge, were on the 2d sentenced to five years in state prison. Lena Daniels of Franklin, Mass., a young woman who was at the Adams place on the night of the homicide, and whom Partridge attempted to take liberties with, was put on trial in the same court on the 2d inst., for murdering her three-year-old daughter by tying her hands and feet and throwing her into a pond; the jury returned a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity, and the woman was committed to the Taunton insane asylum.

Charles H. Coffin of Newburyport has placed an injunction upon the delivery of the deeds of the Bartlet mills property, and will make a tender of $24,000 to the corporation. If not accepted, he will go to court with his claim.

Andre Larsen is very unpopular in New Haven, Conn., where he has been detected in digging up clothes worn by small-pox patients. Larsen is a second-hand-clothes peddler, and rag picker.

—A butcher who has killed cattle for twenty years says there is no use trying to make both ends meat; you will always have the hoofs and the horns.

Notice.

ON the first of January, 1880, to answer calls in cases of sudden sickness at night, necessitating medicine, a night clerk was put in at Preston's Drug Store. A trial until this time has proved it is not the accomodation it was expected to be, or that was believed to be needed; consequently on and after Monday, June, 6th, any persons needing medicines at night can obtain the same from my store by calling up

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
June 4, 1:30 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—

Rainy followed by clearing weather, northeast backing to northwest winds, stationary or lower temperature, followed by rising barometer.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, registered 46 degrees above zero.

Cloudy.

AROUND HOME.

Hon. Jas. W. Emery of this city will make a trip to England about the first of July.

The American band of this city has been engaged to give open air concerts here on the 4th of July. Proper.

Mr. L. G. Davis, the photographer, is building a house upon the high land near the Webster mansion at the west end.

The fine schooner Kate Wentworth, of Calais, is this week discharging 430 tons of Westmoreland coal at the Portsmouth Gas company's wharf.

Several of the members of the legislature from this city are of the opinion that there will be no election of United States senator at this session.

A buggy belonging to Henry R. Stoddard was upset near the corner of Union and Austin streets on Thursday last, and was badly injured in being turned over.

Admiral Craven's yacht is in the dock just north of the navy yard slip; it made the passage in four days from Lake Geneva, N. Y., to this city, in tow of a locomotive.

The contractors' sloop was towed from Gangway rock to Neal's wharf in Kittery by the steamer James Sampson, Friday, with a load of stone taken from the bottom of the river.

We learn that Major Urch is to form a company in this city to manufacture his marine bicycles. We hope this is true, and believe there is plenty of capital ready for such an enterprise.

Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell, of this city and Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, has recently loaded at the latter place his "pinque," the Lucy, Walter Haley master, with fish and oil for Gloucester, Mass.

Lovell's river bridge on the Great Falls & Conway railroad, above Centre Ossipee, was burned by locomotive sparks on Thursday. Running of trains was interrupted, but on Friday a new bridge eighty feet long was ready for use. Loss to the road, $400 to $500.

A man went into a grocery store in this city, Friday morning, bought a yeast cake for two cents, the profit on the same for the store-keeper being half a cent, and requested that it might be at once sent to his home a mile away. The store-keeper sent it as desired.

Mr. Samuel Lamprey, the veteran teacher of dancing, has invented a new waltz which is said to be a very fine thing in that line. He has also made great additions to the "racquet" by introducing the waltz, by which means he has transformed that jerky, ungraceful and inelegant—not to say indecent—dance into a very pleasing and graceful one.

A large and valuable young dog of the St. Bernard breed was sunstruck Memorial day on Richards avenue, broke away from his mistress, and made considerable excitement by his crazy actions for an hour or more, at the end of which time he fell helpless near the residence of Mr. B. F. Webster. He was put in a wagon and taken home, where he died a few hours later.

Mr. Elwin Newton of this city, who is this season conducting the fishing business at "Lunging" island, Isles of Shoals, one day this week received from there eight hundred lobsters and 2500 pounds of cod and haddock. Two halibut, weighing about 120 lbs. each, were taken off the islands a few days ago, and sold to a Boston dealer. Mackerel are reported as having been seen schooling in the vicinity of the Shoals on Wednesday, the 1st inst., and Mr. Newton has procured a seine at a cost of $550, and takes it to the islands to-day if the weather is favorable.

Among the passengers in the steamer at New York on Monday last, from Liverpool, were Mrs. Joseph B. Stearns and children, and her mother, Mrs. Joseph M. Edmonds, on her return from a twelve months' visit to her friends in Europe. We understand that they will renew their residence in this city.—Journal, 4th inst.

Fishing schooner Velocipede, of this port, and schooner John Q. Adams, managed to injure each other at a wharf in Gloucester on the night of the 1st inst., through the falling of the tide. The Velocipede had her stern injured, and the other vessel had her bowsprit broken.

Collector Young will remove the office of collector of internal revenue from Dover to the custom house in this city on Monday, the 13th inst. The rooms to be used by the collector are those lately occupied by the judges of the United States court and Deputy Marshal Kent, and are admirably adapted for the purpose indicated.

A dozen gentlemen were standing on the custom house steps, Friday morning, when one of the number was accosted by a gentleman coming across Pleasant street with "Good morning, Colonel!" Immediately a dozen hats were raised, each believing himself to be the person addressed. The scene as witnessed by a bystander was amusing.

Representatives from this city are on committees of the house as follows: On elections, Hoyt; on railroads, Peirce; on state prison, Freeman and Hawkes; on finance, Cunningham; on retrenchment and reform, Laighton; on military affairs, Coffin; on printers' accounts, Freeman; on claims, Ryder. Hatch of Greenland is a member of the committee on judiciary; Brown of Hampton on finance; Munroe of Newmarket on mileage; Pickering of Newington and Wiggin of Stratham on fisheries and game; Brown of North Hampton on retrenchment and reform; Knight of Hampton Falls, Hoyt of Epping, and Randall of Newcastle, on reform school; Caswell of Rye on bills on second reading.

Notice to Mariners.

William Hammond, a boat fisherman from Chatham, Mass., reports an unknown vessel sunk southeast by east from Chatham, and northeast from Pollock Rip light-ship, with mastheads about three feet under water, pointing north on an angle of about sixty degrees. She lies in the direct track of vessels, and is very dangerous to them when passing between Chatham and Pollock Rip.

Naval Affairs.

Master Samuel Gee has been ordered to the fish commission steamer Fishhawk. The orders of Assistant Engineer R. T. Hale to the Vandalia have been revoked, and he has been ordered to remain on the Alliance.

The Nipsic arrived at Gibraltar from Villafranche this week, bound on a cruise to Stockholm and the north, to return to the Mediterranean in September.

REFINED CIDER.
Of the different summer beverages manufactured at this establishment it is hardly necessary to say a single word. They have become popular "on their own merits," and can be found in many private families and on sale in every hotel, saloon and restaurant in this locality.
The Lagers bottled by me are from the best breweries in the country, and it is safe to say that there is no better in the world.
☞ Orders may be left at my establishment for any of the above, which will be delivered anywhere within the city limits without extra charge.

New Hampshire Items.

The Prospect house, on the summit of Mt. Moosilauke, is having an addition of thirty feet made. A large barn is to be built, and a telephone line is being constructed from there to the village, several miles distant.

Three prominent citizens of Nashua, all members of Rising Sun masonic lodge, were lying dead in that city one day recently. They were John F. Baldwin, a well known manufacturer, aged fifty-one years; Francis E. Nims, for many years manager of the Western Union telegraph office; and James H. Thurber, an insurance agent, aged forty-seven years.

Wilder & Co., manila paper makers of Ashland, are building a new mill on the river bank, 120 feet by eighty on the ground, with two wings each fifty feet by thirty, the whole two stories in height.

Several pieces of rendrock stored by the Mascot Manufacturing company in their shop at the mines at Gorham, exploded Wednesday night, the 1st inst., burning the shop, and causing quite a shock in the village.

Manchester's valuation this year is $18,013,854, an increase of $119,000 from last year.

It is announced that Hon. Jacob H. Ela, of Rochester, for many years past fifth auditor of the United States treasury department, is transferred to the position of sixth auditor, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. McGlew. Mr. D. S. Alexander, of Indiana, will succeed Mr. Ela.

Stilson Hutchins of the Washington Post and Manchester Union denies that he is in any way connected in the "Star route" robberies, and says he will defray the expenses of anybody who will furnish the United States attorney general with proof of the charge.

Distressed Ireland.

There was a riot at Bodyke, county Clare, on the 2d inst. Eighty police assisted a bailiff at evictions. As the police were nearing the house, fire was opened upon them from behind fences. The police advanced in skirmishing order, and returned the fire. The house was found to be occupied by armed men. The police smashed in the front door, and after a severe encounter dispersed the occupants and took possession of the house. Thirty prisoners were captured. When the police were retiring with the prisoners, they were again attacked and some men were wounded. One man, a farmer, was killed by a blow with the butt end of a gun. Several civilians were severely injured.

Daniel MacSweeney, "an American of Falconash, county Donegal," president of the local branch of the land league, has been arrested under the coercion act and conveyed to Kilmainham jail. It is said that he intends to claim the protection of the United States government.

A flying column of engineers, artillery, infantry and cavalry has left Dublin for New Pallas to assist in the execution of decrees, and capture the castle held by land leaguers. The engineers will repair the bridges broken down by the populace to prevent the passage of artillery.

—A Milwaukee paper endeavored to say during the late storm that a certain railway superintendent was blockaded, but the perverse types made it out that he was a "blockhead."

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—Lecturer: "Now let any one gaze steadfastly on any object—say, for instance, his wife's eye—and he'll see himself looking so exceedingly small that—" Strong-minded lady (in front row): "Hear! hear! hear!"—Punch.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—"Be you good? asked a little girl of her Sabbath school teacher. "Oh, no," was the becoming reply. "You ain't? Well. I always knew that you wasn't pretty, but I thought that you were good."

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—In our younger days we passed a good deal of time in the woods penetrating the mysteries of nature and setting snares, but the first time we ever saw a lobster roosting on an oak leaf was in the window of a ceramic shop.

From the Hub.

There is perhaps no tonic offered to the people that possesses as much real intrinsic value as the Hop Bitters. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach needs an appetizer, or the blood needs purifying, the cheapest and best remedy is Hop Bitters. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure; don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

Few enterprises now on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

Changing Vessels' Names.

The treasury department has promulgated the regulations to govern the changing the names of vessels under the new law of Congress. It is familiar that owners of ship are not allowed to name them anew at pleasure. If they might do so, one ill consequence would be that the public might be enticed to take voyages in old bottoms, supposing, from new paint and a new name, that they were new ones. Also, if the owner of the "Anna," after running her in debt for supplies, might change her name surreptitiously to "Zenobia," the ship-chandler might have to make a long search in finding her to enforce his lien. Yet satisfactory reasons sometimes arise why vessels' names should be changed. In the days when Tweed was a "statesman," a propeller plying from Buffalo was named the William M. Tweed. By 1874, her owners found that this name had ceased to "draw," hence they obtained a change of name to the "Newburgh." Instances in which a change has become desirable for reasons not so obvious, have been numerous. But in past years a special act of Congress has always been necessary, involving, of course, considerable delay, trouble and expense. Our last Congress decided to adopt a new method; and enacted (March 24) that these applications may in the future be made to the secretary of the treasury, and that he may, after making proper inquiry, under regulations to be established by him, grant an order changing any vessel's name. These regulations, as now issued, require the ship-owner to make a sworn application giving reasons for the change proposed. He must show that she is seaworthy, which may be done by an official certificate of inspection. He must also show that she is free from debt, which may be done by an official certificate that the public records at her home port disclose no claims against her. The new law requires any order for a change of name to be published at least in four issues of some daily or weekly paper at the place where the vessel is registered, and directs that the cost of procuring evidence and advertising the change shall be paid by the applicant.—N. Y. Tribune.

The law which made it necessary to secure the passage of a special act of Congress in order to change a vessel's name, was intended to do away with the custom, once common, of changing the names of vessels that were in debt, in order to defraud the creditors, or of vessels that were old and unseaworthy, in order to deceive the public. The immediate cause of its passage was the wreck of a steamer and the loss of many hundreds of lives, the vessel being an old rattle-trap that had been so notoriously "unlucky" that people would not patronize her until her name was changed and she was brought out as a new boat. The new law would seem to afford all needed protection to the public, while at the same time enabling a change of name to be made with much less trouble than during recent years.

It would not be a bad thing for the law to be so modified as to prevent more than two or three vessels taking the same name at the same time. Sometimes there is a positive mania for a particular name, and there will be so many vessels of one name in the same trade that it is almost impossible to identify them. For instance, in the lists of merchant sailing and steam vessels of the United States there are eighteen Alberts, seventeen Gazelles, sixteen Quicksteps, twenty Columbias, twenty-one May Flowers, twenty-one Favorites, thirty-nine Marys, twenty Lizzies, twenty-seven Belles, twenty-nine Annies, forty-three Emmas, and scores of other names which are repeated from a dozen to thirty times each.

News and Notes.

A New York report of the 3d inst. says: Negotiations for the transfer of the Panama railroad to the DeLesseps Panama Canal Co., which have been pending for some time past, have been virtually concluded, and the papers will be signed immediately. It is understood that the control of the railroad company is obtained by the purchase of its stock. The price agreed upon is 250, but the assets of the company are retained for the benefit of stockholders. It is said that these assets are equal to forty-five per cent on the stock, so that stockholders receive an equivalent of about 295 for their stock. The capital stock of the Panama railroad company is $7,000,000. The terms of the transaction for the transfer and control provides for the payment of $4,000,000 in cash on July 1st, and the remainder to be paid in instalments of one-fifth every year.

The New International Telegraph Company, with a capital of $10,000,000, filed articles of incorporation at Albany, N. Y., on the 4th inst.

A crazy emigrant named Albert Clark, at Peru, Ill., on Friday, the 3d inst., cut his wife's throat with a pocket knife, then seized a shot-gun and went on the street, and shot a man and instantly killed him, after which he cut his own throat with the same knife he used to kill his wife, and will die of the wound.

At Desplaines, Ill., on the afternoon of the 2d inst., H. Nieman and his wife were struck by lightning and killed, while driving in a team near their house. The horse attached to their buggy was also killed. When found they were both seated upright in the buggy. Mrs. Nieman's dress had taken fire, and was burned nearly off. There were no marks on their persons.

A shooting affray at Senatobia, Miss., last Thursday, between Russ McCracken, deputy chancery clerk of Tate county, and a barber named Blount, resulted in the killing of McCracken and the mortal wounding of Blount.

At Crisfield, Md., June 2d, Elijah Sterling became involved in a religious altercation with his wife, and in a fit of anger attacked her with a hatchet, cutting several frightful gashes in her head and neck. Sterling then tried to kill his son, who attempted to interfere, but the boy escaped with but a cut in the arm. Mrs. Sterling is dying. The man is supposed to be crazy.

Schooner Ringleader, of Boston, from Willingford for Gonaives, was found abandoned at sea by the whaling barque E. H. Hatfied, on the 20th of May, and a crew put on board, which took her into New London, Conn., June 2d. She had a cargo of hard pine.

Mrs. Smith, sister to Rev. George D. Lindsay, pastor of the Congress street Methodist Episcopal church at Portland, Me., and her daughter, a young lady of seventeen years, were among the victims of the Thames disaster at London, Canada. Mrs. Smith was made a widow by a railroad accident some years ago.

The boiler of the tug boat Jacob Brando exploded off Sandy Hook on Friday, killing the engineer and fatally injuring his son.

Albert S. Clark, claiming to be a railroad engineer from Boston, was arrested charged with stealing gold lockets at Thompson's jewelry store in Gloucester, Mass., and has been committed to Salem jail in default of bonds in $500 for his appearance before the superior court.

James A. Thorn, mate of the schooner Lucy K. Cogswell, in the harbor of Newburyport, was so badly injured Friday by the main sheet block striking him in the abdomen, that fears for his life are entertained, and there are no hopes of his entire recovery. He belongs in Maryland, and has a mother in Boston.

Three boys aged respectively eight, ten, and eleven years, were buried under a falling embankment in New York on Saturday, the 4th inst.

It is announced that work is entirely suspended on the jetties at Newburyport, the lowest bidders being unable to comply with the contract. The work will again be advertised.

E. T. Northend it is said will extend the Salisbury Beach railroad to Seabrook this season.

New Hampshire Items.

Josiah Hackett, late of Manchester, hung himself in the barn of his son-in-law, Kirk F. Brown, at Methuen, Mass., June 3d. He was sixty-six years old, and had long been an invalid.

Concord is to have a free postal delivery, beginning July 1st, with four carriers.

Ninety seven skein dyers of the Amoskeag company at Manchester went on a strike last Friday, for an increase of wages from $1.45 to $1.60 per day, which sum they allege is being paid elsewhere. They were informed on the previous Monday that if upon investigation it was found that higher wages were being paid in other places, their request would be considered. Not receiving the increase, they left work in a body. Friday morning they held a meeting in Lafayette hall, and passed resolutions pledging themselves to continue the strike, unless their demands were complied with, and requesting other skein dyers not to accept employment in their places.

Ex-Governor Head has contracted to supply the Amoskeag company with 3,000,000 bricks.

James Taylor, thirteen years old, only son of Thomas Taylor of Plymouth, was drowned on the afternoon of the 3d inst., while bathing in a pond at East Haverhill.

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Botanic Medical society at Concord, Friday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, N. L. True; vice presidents, A. J. Marston, L. B. Hamblet; secretary and treasurer, B. S. Warren; censors, J. M. Bishop, W. Wadsworth, N. P. Taplin, B. S. Warren. An address was delivered by Dr. Wadsworth on the responsibilities of the medical profession, for which the thanks of the society were tendered. A clinical examination was also held, and several interesting cases of medical practice were reported.

One of the most important questions for the legislature to decide is whether a United States senator to succeed Mr. Rollins shall be chosen this year, or by the legislature of 1883. We don't assume to settle a question concerning which "the doctors disagree," and which it requires a well trained legal mind to understand fully; but in view of the facts that the ablest lawyers in the senate have declared in favor of the present legislature, that the democratic senators have put themselves on record against admitting a man appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy which must otherwise occur, and that this action of our legislators will establish a precedent, one way or the other, it seems desirable that the present legislature should act in the matter. At all events, if our constitution will not allow this, then ought it not to be re-revised as speedily as may be?—belknap Tocsin.

Melton and Baker, two notorious burglars and horse thieves, were killed in Hayes county, Texas, by a deputy sheriff, while resisting arrest last week.

Burnett's Cocoaine

Is Renowned as a Pure and Effective Hair Dressing in Every Quarter of the World.

For thirty years it has been a favorite with the people and a leader with the trade. The name "Cocoaine" has become a valuable property. Burnett & Co. have established their sole right to its use in several suits at law, thus protecting the public and themselves from imposition.

The superiority of Burnett's Flavoring Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength.

AROUND HOME.

Dr. F. E. Potter returned from his western tour on Saturday.

The "pinque" Lucy, of this port, will go on the marine railway at Gloucester, Mass., for extensive repairs.

Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's lecture upon the new translation of the New Testament, on Sunday evening, was listened to with much interest.

On Saturday, in the police court, Thomas Collins, for drunkenness, was sentenced to the county farm for sixty days, and to pay $6.90 costs.

The house of Mrs. Patrick Mahoney, in Dover, was damaged to the amount of $450 to $500 on Friday, by fire and water, principally by the latter. Insured.

"Mr. and Mrs. C. Laighton, Isles of Shoals," were registered at the Rockingham house on Saturday. The happy pair left for the Appledore on Sunday.

The repairs on the church at Greenland Parade are well advanced; the architecture of the building has been so much modernized as to make it an ornament to that highly respectable town.

Miss Prince, who came from Boston to sing in the quartette at the Unitarian church on Sunday, was unable to appear, owing to the result of a severe cold contracted in her journey from the hub.

Nathaniel Wiggin, Esq., now a resident of Portsmouth, has so far forgotten politics as to be industriously engaged in agriculture. He has set out this spring a large apple orchard on his premises at the Tabor farm, on the Greenland road.

Some idea of the manner in which the patrons of the Eastern railroad hunger and thirst after righteousness may be attained when it is known that over three hundred copies of the new translation of the New Testament were sold on one day of last week at the Boston station.

George Herbert & Co. forwarded to Boston on Friday afternoon by the Eastern railroad, 970 lobsters, alive. They were packed in boxes, and safely reached their destination. The lobsters are brought into Portsmouth by small boats from all along shore, and purchased by the various fish dealers here.

There will be a very heavy crop of hay in Greenland and Stratham the present year. All other crops, so far as they have been planted and come up, promise well, though corn looks yellow as it needs the sun. The apple trees, considering this as an "off year," blossomed pretty well, and will produce a fair amount of fruit.

Mr. Daniel B. Cook of Kittery recently bought of Albert Wilson of that town a very handsome pair of dark bay mares, aged respectively six and seven years, raised in Kittery. Their mother was a Morgan mare, and the sire, Danbury Boy, was once sold for $2800. Mr. Cook will drive the span to Boston, and there dispose of them if he receives a favorable offer.

Rev. Arthur A. Waite is still travelling with his spiritualism-exposing troupe. He has added a new member to the company, "Pallais Stantone, the Mesmeric Wonder." The St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Index in a recent issue states that Waite's company intended to appear in the town hall of that village, and so advertised. When the day came, the selectmen forbade the use of the hall for such a purpose, and the company departed from the town leaving behind them unpaid bills.

It would not be very difficult for the reverend gentleman to find bills in this city which he should long ago have paid, but never has.

Second Asst. Engr. Frank B. Randall, U. S. R. M., of this city, is ordered to the revenue steamer Perry, stationed at Erie, Penn.

The judgment of the court of claims in the case of John P. Sherburne vs. the United States, already alluded to, gives to Col. Sherburne's estate the sum of $1,575.

The Boston Herald says: "Mr. John J. Braham, leader of the orchestra at the Boston Museum, will again take charge of the music at the hotel Wentworth this summer."

Mr. George Bragdon, of York, lost a valuable horse a few days ago through the animal getting into a quagmire in a pasture; it was extricated with the aid of a yoke of oxen, but lived only a short time afterward.

The remains of the late Mrs. Mary Gilman were taken from Kittery Point to Ossipee, N. H., on Saturday, for interment. There were suspicions among the people at the point that her death might not have been due to the fire which destroyed her residence, as she was known to have had money and bonds in the house, but these suspicions it is said have been set at rest by the discovery of the bonds.

There are quite a number of retail fish dealers in the towns in this vicinity, who obtain their stock in trade at this convenient point. Among others, the euphonious voice of Charles H. Johnson is heard in the towns of Kittery, Eliot, South Berwick, Great Falls, Farmington, Dover, Exeter and other places. Some of the neighboring towns are supplied with fish by water, others by rail, and others by teams from this city; all kinds of fish are furnished, but the bulk of the traffic is in mackerel during its season.

It seems that P. T. Barnum, the showman, who is to exhibit in Dover on Saturday, June 18th, has added one more department to his already immense exhibition. He has an agent whose sole duty is to arrange with every railroad centering at the points of his exhibition, to run cheap excursion trains at such hours as will enable the people at a distance to see the great show and its earlier processions, and return home afterward. This agent has under his employ scores of men, who go hundreds of miles along the lines, and bill the stations. There are parties making up to go from here, and the prospect is there will be a large attendance. The giant Chang, of Chinese nationality, the twenty elephants and comprehensive menagerie, and the long list of circus celebrities, make up such an entertainment as was never seen before.

The combination which gave such an excellent concert at music hall a few evenings ago, for the benefit of Mr. Henry L. Harlow, will give a similar one at Dover on the evening of the 9th inst., at Exeter on the 13th, at Epping on the 14th, and at Manchester on the 15th. If the several performers do as well in those places as they did here, singly and collectively,—and Mr. Harlow confidently asserts that there will be an improvement, in programme and performance both—the residents of the towns and cities named will be treated to one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever offered them. There was not a poor number on the programme here. Miss Fanny Hoyt, the young violinist, and Miss Grace Varrell, the "petite soprano" whose songs so effectually "brought down the house" at the Music hall concert, will make the round with the company.

Winnicut creek is a very pretty stream running down into the waters of the Piscataqua, between Greenland and Stratham. The alewives are now running up there, and the residents capture them in the shallow water by striking them on the head with clubs. Many think they furnish a good breakfast. Their progress further up the creek is stopped by the dam of the Union mill; otherwise they would proceed some miles beyond. If fishways were provided this might be easily accomplished. As it is, the waters abound in the usual kinds of freshwater fish, and others might well be planted there. There is a knoll a short distance up the creek, whence, if one stamps on it with his foot, a hollow sound is emitted; and the lightning strikes there frequently, which leads to the belief that minerals are contained below the surface. The water of this creek is very pure, and there are some springs which supply a water equal in quality to that of the Portsmouth Aqueduct company. Perhaps at some day they may be utilized.

Vennor's Weather for June.

Vennor says June is likely to prove warm, even hot and dry, up to about the 10th or 12th day. Beyond these dates cool and showery weather is probable up to the 20th, and frosts are likely to be experienced pretty generally both in Canada and the northern states. A snow-fall is not improbable in mountainous regions, and the neighborhood of the 22nd and 23rd days look, in the distance, particularly cool and frosty, while the 24th to 26th dates, on the contrary, smack of heat in many sections of the country. The neighborhood of the 28th is likely to prove stormy in western Ontario and western United States, the storm being in all probability accompanied by thunder and lightning, and hail. The month will end hot in most parts, with threatening weather.

—"Well, wife, you can't say I ever contracted bad habits." "No, sir, you generally expanded them."

—An elephant's extremities are finished off so nearly alike at both ends that it is a marvel how the beast knows whether he is going forward or backward.

—An English religious paper attributes the recent blowing-up of the war sloop Doterel in the Straits of Magellan to the fact that Mr. Bradlaugh was returned for Northampton.

—A Kentucky gentleman stole four hives of bees, carried them several miles, and did not get stung once; but if an honest man had gone within ten feet of the bees he would have been stung fifty times. The what's-his-name is good to his own.

—"Your husband is not in to-day, ma'am?" said a collector who called at the door. "No, he is not." "Do you know where I can find him?" "I guess he has gone fishing. He carried a glass bottle filled with something he called bait."

—The ordinance against profane swearing is so rigidly enforced in Avon, Ill., that a plain "damn" is a luxury which costs $3, while fancy oaths can only be indulged in by the very affluent. Avon newspaper editors will have to go out of town when they read proofs.—Lynn Bee.

—A white crow is a rare bird, but a yellow one, such as was recently shot in Colorado, is rarer still and probably even unknown before. The captor of this remarkable specimen skinned it and forwarded the prepared skin to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington by mail.

—One of the churches in Patchogue, L. I., has made a novel addition to its music by introducing into the church two dozen canary birds in cages. They sing with the choir and also when the choir is not singing, and their music is not complained of by either the minister or congregation.

—"What," said a teacher, "is that invincible power that prevents the wicked man from sleeping, and causes him to toss about upon his pillow; and what should he do to enjoy that peace which passeth all understanding?" "Sew up the hole in the mosquito-bar," was the prompt answer from the bad boy at the foot of the class.

—There was joy on the farm when Ben, the oldest boy, came back from college in his sophomore year, and the village was proud of him. "Cheese it, cully," he said when he met an old friend, the son of a neighbor who joined farms with his father; "cheese it, cully; shove us your flipper; clench daddles, pardy. How's his nibs, and what's the new racket?" And his proud old father said: "It was jest worth more'n twice't the money to hear Ben rattle off the Greek just like a livin' language."

—A Galveston (Texas) newspaper says that Mr. Jay Gould and his party ate fresh eggs at a farmhouse on the line of a railroad which they were inspecting in that state. The thrifty farmer wanted fifty dollars a dozen for his eggs, and when Mr. Gould remarked that eggs must be scarce in that region, the host responded: "There's plenty of eggs here; but fellows like you, that can afford to pay such prices, is scarce. That's why eggs is worth fifty dollars a dozen on this joyous occasion."

Women as Divers.

At low water numbers of boats put out from the villages, having one man and eight or ten women in each. The man manages the boat, while the women strip and drop quietly into the water. Each woman has a tub, which floats on the surface until filled by the owner's repeatedly diving and bringing a handful of weed up at a time. These women remain under water about thirty seconds, and on coming to the surface float about, as much at home as a lot of seals, diving again in a very short time. * * * * For two hours or more they will stick to their work; then, coming on shore, stand or squat round a huge fire, lighted on purpose, in some sheltered nook. Here they chat, and bake their olive-colored bodies to a good brick-dust red.—Wild Coasts of Nipon, by St. John.
